Wellington United Church was the setting on Saturday, June 1st, for a lovely double-ring wedding when Betty Anne Rutter of Wellington, daughter of Mrs. James Henry Rutter, of Wellington, and the late Mr. Rutter, became the bride of Ronald Gilbert Jeffery, of Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wellington Jeffery. The Rev. Gerald Alfred Poulter officiated before a background of lighted candelabra, and an altar banked with white Shasta daisy 'mums, bouvardia and ferns.

Mrs. Jack McNeill rendered the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Shirley McCabe, of Toronto, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony and "Through the Years" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Clarence Rutter, of Picton, wore a charming bridal gown of original design of imported pure silk organza, featuring a bustle back caught with lilies of the valley, cascading into a chapel train. She wore a crown of lilacs and finger-tip veil of tulle illusion and carried a bouquet of stephanotis and pinnacle poms.

Mrs. Ruth DeGray of Oshawa, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Beverly McFarland, of Picton; Miss Joan Archard of Wellington; Miss Elizabeth Squier, of Belleville; Mrs. Helen Smith, also of Belleville, and Miss Jackie Rutter of Murter of Trenton. All were gowned alike in beau blue crystalette in cocktail-length, fashioned on princess lines, with white accessories, and semi-pill box hats. They carried cascades of Shasta 'mums.

Mr. Maurice Jeffery of Trenton, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, with Messrs. Ted Jeffery, Bob McMurter, both of Trenton; Jim Lonergan, of Oshawa; Jack Rutter of Wellington, and Allan Smith, Belleville, were ushers.

The reception was held at the Royal Hotel, where a delicious buffet luncheon was served. The bride's table was appointed with lighted candles and centred by a four-tier-pillared wedding cake surrounded by white tulle and topped with pink rosebuds. Silver candelabra, bouquets of carnations and gypsophilo pomp added a lovely nuptial accent.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing pure silk misty blue gown of organza with imported lace and rhinestone trim; pink accessories, matching hat and corsage of pink Sweetheart rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a floor-length Chantilly lace over satin made on princess lines with deep lilac accessories, matching hat and corsage of blue ageratum and lily-of-the-valley. Mr. J. Earl Hartwick-Picton, proposed the toast to which the bridegroom responded, the toast to the bride's attendants and introduced each to the guests.

Following the reception the bridal couple left for the Pocono Mountains, the bride travelling in an ivory linen brocaded dress and jacket, straw hat, avocado and brown accessories, and corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Out of town guests attended from Picton, Belleville, Trenton, Toronto, Ottawa, Kingston, Oshawa, Montreal, Syracuse and Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery will reside in Belleville.

Sparkling 'Variety Show' Held By Dimant School of Dance

Terpsichorean layers were thrilled on Thursday evening by the presentation of a sparkling "Variety Show" presented by the Dimant School of the Dance in the Wellington Collegiate Institute. Mr. Doug Bannon presided as master of ceremonies, and ensured the success of the splendid assembly of parents, friends and pupils.

The program, which opened with a "Calypso Song and Dance," was outstanding in its delightful color effects of the costumes, the artistic interpretation of movement; and the pleasing rhythm qualities, of the group dancers, as well as the solo numbers.

The 30 "Tiny Tots," the girls in their bright red skirts and white blouses, and the boys in their white hats, bow ties, and bright red knee-pants, made a pretty picture in their kindergarten scene, and were most appealing in their embryonic rhythmic steps, so much so that a tiny tot in the audience did a little imitation of those before the footlights.

DISTINCTIVE NUMBER

A distinctive number was the "Gladiolus Rag," in which the white uniforms deftly touched with red, executed a routine of step, and expert baton twirling resembled more the disease in a professional rather than that of the amateur.

The tap dances, solo, and group numbers were well carried out, showing fine timing, and interesting routines in accompanying music, as did the ballet numbers, which showed their stylph-like movements exemplifying the poetry of motion. The solos which were outstanding; that of the white-costumed ballerina in the classical toe dance which depicted a lovely merchild, dreaming of the pretty descent sequin scales, awakening from her sleep upon the "Bells of Ballerina," a duet of "Claire de Lune," to captivate the audience; the tap dances, earthwise, glides, splits and rolls, and the other, that of the "Spanish Dance," when the danseuse literally floated through the air; a commendable finale display of co-ordinating muscles and rhythm of motion.

The "Can Can" in the skirt of the bagpipes that not only the feet, but every muscle, moved to their weird music, and watch intently the flinging feet of the "Highland Fling the "Sword Dance?" This was finely executed by a little lassie in her Highland uniform as she crossed and re-crossed the flashing steel.

Gail Juby presented two song and dance numbers, "Rock-a-by My Baby," and "Dungaree Doll," which were well received.

The "Black Out" showed the three dancers costumed in white with white trim on their costumes, in perfect timing, and graceful movements.

There were many other numbers on the program which were all laudable, but time and space forbid their mention.

PRESENTATIONS

Following the recital, the whole cast appeared en masse on the stage, while presentations were made to Barbara Graydon, the lovely diamond studded wrist watch and bouquet of carnations, by Mary Lou Cleland, in appreciation of her fine teaching abilities in the sphere of terpsichorean activity. Presentations were also made to the assistant teachers, Brenda Archer; Gail Hendricks; Gail Juby, and Barbara Woodbeck and to the pianists, Evelyn Warham for the tap numbers, and Barbara Graydon for the ballet dances.

Much credit is due Miss Dimant for her splendid recital.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Ireland's Third Patron Saint

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, June 9 — Everyone knows St. Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland, and many people know he shares that position with St. Bridget. But hardly anyone realizes Ireland has three patron saints The third is St. Columba (or Columcille) whose memory is honored today.

And a very great man he was —every bit as gifted and inspirative as St. Patrick, with his tremendous stature, his booming voice, that could be heard a mile off, and his depth of piety and learning.

Columba was an Irishman born and bred, which Patrick was not. He was born in Donegal in 521, about 60 years after Patrick had died. His family, on both sides, was of royal blood. This is not to disparage St. Patrick, but rather to say it is strange he should so greatly have overshadowed as important an Irishman as Columba.

SELF-IMPOSED EXILE

Columba, a priest at 34, spent 15 years travelling up and down Ireland organizing churches, schools and monasteries just as St. Patrick personally had done.

Then, suddenly, with 12 companions—all relatives of his—he exiled himself from his beloved country and went to the rocky island of Iona, off the coast of Scotland, where he set up a monastic community. He landed on Iona on the eve of the festival of Pentecost.

The reason for this self-imposed exile is not really known, but there is a persistent legend about it. The story is that Columba had a feeling of guilt over his part in starting a battle in which 3,000 men were killed and, to settle his conscience, he resolved to go to another country and win at least 3,000 new souls for Christ. The accuracy of the legend cannot be verified, but there is no doubt that Columba greatly exceeded his goal of 3,000 converts.

There are many stories of how the robin got his red breast, but one of the loveliest comes from the lore connected with St. Columba.

"Have you a song, redbreast?" the good man said to a robin which had alighted on his window sill—and the robin sang to him of how on the day of the Crucifixion he had been in his nest near the Cross of Calvary.

The Lord looked at him with eyes so full of pain and sorrow that the robin flew to Him and pulled out the thorns piercing His forehead. In this act of mercy the bird's breast was covered with the Precious Blood, and that is how the robin got his red breast.

DAY OF THE HOLY GHOST

Also Sunday — Today is called the feast of Pentecost by all Christians except Episcopalians—they call it Whitsunday. It is always the seventh Sunday after Easter.

Jesus had told His followers that after He left them He would send the Holy Ghost to them. This promise was fulfilled on the Jewish feast of Pentecost, which the disciples were observing at the time. St. Luke (Acts, chapter 2, verses 2 and 3) tells there was a sound "as of a rushing mighty wind" and tongues of flame hung over the heads of the startled Christians.

In their wild new enthusiasm they rushed to the Temple and began to proclaim their new faith to the crowds there. According to the Bible story, they were able to speak in languages utterly foreign to them and thus miraculously to communicate with people who would not normally have understood them.

Some scholars have seen in this "speaking with tongues" the resolution of the confusion that began centuries earlier when the men who were building the tower of Babel (Genesis, chapter 11) were suddenly unable to understand one another's speech. Man in his own pride cannot reach his fellow man —man filled with the Holy Spirit of God speaks clearly to all.

As the disciples, particularly St. Peter, spoke, 3,000 converts requested baptism and at that moment the Christian Church began its spread across the world. For this reason Pentecost is often called the birthday of the Church.

The name Whitsunday is a corruption of "White Sunday." In the early Church the newly baptized members wore white robes from Easter until Pentecost. This festival was the climax of the seven-week period and was known as "Dominica in albis"—Sunday in white.

Built-in controls, dramatize a beach beauty's silhouette.

When bathing suits branched out and entered the dressmaker sweepstakes, some girls balked at the lack of figure control. But this year's beach beauties take a firm command of figure as well as fashion in a light and lovely way. Swimsuits and beach playsuits are seen in every flattering fabric and color—and what's more, they are subtly shaped with built-in control.

Elastic figures in every model —in play bras, in shorts, and bathing suits. Play bras and bathing suit tops are sometimes aided by boning, sometimes enhanced by absolutely imperceptible padding. Long line and bandeau styles discreetly conceal inner bra shaping. Back bands in many styles are prettily shirred and elasticized for added fit and control. Some sun bras are designed to fit over foundation strapless or padded bras, and can be attached to the bra itself. Even the fuller figure type can wear flattering strapless play bras, thanks to light and flexible boning that allows for carefree beach exercise.

"Hidden" panetie girdles with controlling inner boning are a boon to the full-hipped figure in youthful-styled bathing suits that are designed to produce a slim silhouette.

Girls who have reluctantly forsaken play shorts because wearing a girdle underneath was uncomfortable will rejoice in this season's shorts that "build in" figure-molding panetie girdles as an integral part of the garment.

Of course, to keep these "beach buddies" fresh and stylish, they should be thoroughly washed in soap or detergent suds after each beach trip. This care preserves their bright colors, and also serves to keep the inner foundations snug and shapely.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU ARE WRONG, RO

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 17 and hopelessly in love with a man of 30 who is not of my race. When my parents discovered that I had been seen with him, they strictly forbade me to see him any more.

He lives in the same town that I do, and I find myself for months, trying not to see him, and now I know it's hopeless. He also has struggled with his emotions and he, too, has found it hopeless.

My mother has told me that if I continue to go out with this fellow my family will be disgraced and heartbroken, and my father has even gone so far as to talk of disowning me if I marry him. God knows I've tried not to love him, but to forget is impossible. Even to be away from this man is torture. He has agreed to elope with me, but I couldn't hurt my parents so.

Please give me a solution if it's at all possible. — Ro

Dear Ro:

Even if there were no such problem as exists in your case, I would counsel you that you are entirely too young to be thinking of marriage. And if I were you, I would try to have the honesty and courage to look at the matter from that viewpoint.

At 17, marriage to anyone at all is unwise, in the vast majority of cases, because marriage, as such, brings its own problems—and very few teenagers are ready to meet them. If, to the inevitable problems of married life, you add a highly specialized problem, the outlook is unpromising, to say the least. Downright grim, might describe it more accurately.

At 17, also, you certainly have a right to require you to do as they think best, and it strikes me as rather strange that you should feel you couldn't hurt them by eloping with this man, if you're perfectly willing to hurt them by continuing your association with him. Does that make sense?

My advice is that you try to be mature enough to realize that, as you already said, you're much too young to appreciate all the difficulties in this situation, or to take matters into your own hands and have the strength of character to break off with this fellow and wait for time to bring you a more appropriate romance.

As Conducted by Mary Moore

Question: Being devout followers we use fresh wheat germ — last summer pranced into grocery store for supply but too late discovered "no more until cold weather." Trying to avoid this situation this summer. I wish grocers would put huge stock in deep freeze to dole out in hot weather. (I assume this would keep the wheat germ in good condition.) Next idea is to put it in cellophane bags in my own freezing compartment but other things need some space too. Last idea is to keep some on hand in freezing unit and toast several pounds on cookie sheets in about 250 degrees — this would stabilize the WG to certain extent I believe. Would you advise toasting a supply and storing it in washed, dried, sterilized containers? We very much like the flavor and texture of the toasted WG. Lots of other questions but let's get this one done first. I don't know how you keep up with what you do. (What does Emem do do?) Now I'm getting silly! Mildred A.M.

Answer: Emem is Mary Moore and you know very well what she does does! I don't know that the toasting process is as simple as you propose. The commercially packed toasted wheat germ is vacuum packed which removes the oxygen from the jar. Oxidation is what causes the vitamin content of wheat germ to deteriorate. However there is a bright side to all of this. In summertime, when the grocery stores do not stock the fresh wheat germ, we are all out-of-doors so much and have such a wonderful variety of fresh fruits and vegetables if we eat them fresh and don't let them lie around, or boil or cook the living goodness out of them we don't need the wheat germ. We get the Vitamin B1 it is so precious for. Here is my current favorite wheat germ recipe:

BANANA WHEAT GERM MUFFINS

One-half cup butter or shortening, 2/3 cup white or brown sugar, 2 unbeaten eggs, 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup fresh or toasted wheat germ, ¾ cup mashed banana, ¼ cup sour milk. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs until light. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and soda; stir wheat germ into these dry ingredients, then add mashed bananas through sieve and add to milk. Stir in dry ingredients alternately with milk-banana mixture. Do not overstir. Fill greased muffin tins 2/3 full. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes. This makes 1 dozen large muffins.

ADDRESSING NOTE OF SYMPATHY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The mother of a dear friend of mine died very recently. This friend is married. When I wrote my letter of sympathy, I addressed it to my friend only, since it seemed to me this was the natural thing to do, and made it far easier for me to write to her personally about her mother, whom I loved very much. In my note I did include my sympathy to my friend's husband. But even so, my husband contends that I should have addressed the note to both my friend and her husband. Was I in the wrong about this?

E.A.

No . . . you were entirely right to address your note of sympathy to your friend only.

The fifth annual National Hockey League Golf Championship will see all six clubs represented when the event is played at Montreal's Islesmere Club, July 3rd.

Established with the first Labatt Open, the NHL matches have been annual feature of Canada's biggest golf event. Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs have been represented in the NHL golf competition each time and in 1954 Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins were represented as well. But this is the first time vacationing puck stars from all six NHL clubs have been able to represent their teams on the fairways.

For the fifth successive season the Leafs will be represented by Teeder Kennedy, veteran forward. Jimmy Morrison, the Leafs defenceman who has played the golf event with Kennedy on two previous occasions will be back again for the competition.

Jean Beliveau, the Canadiens centre, will represent the Canadiens for the third season. Last summer he played the NHL golf Championship on his home course at Boischatel, Quebec. At Islesmere he will be joined by "Boom-Boom" Geoffrion.

Boston Bruins will have Johnny Pierson, their centre and a former Montrealer, as well as Fleming Mackell, on the tee in the July event.

Marcel Pronovost, another Montrealer who has had a chance to test Islemere's course will be paired with Gordie Howe to show the Detroit Red Wings competence with a round while puck.

Two other local boys who saw Montreal ice a little better than its greens and fairways, Bruce Gardiner and Lorne (Gump) Worsley, the Rangers goalie, will be wearing New York's colors for the NHL golf tournament.

Chicago Black Hawks' contingent is not yet finalized, but Glen Sloan and John Wilson are expected to fly up from Windsor, Ont., to take a fairway fling for the Hawks.

The NHL Golf Championship is the opening fixture of the Labatt Open which has netted some $35,000 for charitable causes in the past four years. This time the pockets will play for two trophies. The winning team will again receive the Connie Smythe trophy. Additionally, Kiwanis Club of Montreal, is offering a trophy for the best performance in the NHL event. Kiwanis Charities will again receive the net proceeds from the Labatt tournament this year. Two years ago at Montreal the Kiwanians received more than $22,000 for the event.

Reach Third With 6-4 Win As Senators Whip Tribe 11-7 Cincy Edged in Overtime

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The story goes that Jack Sanford had to threaten a club official with a poke in the nose to stick with Philadelphia Phillies this spring. It seems incredible—now that the fast-balling right-hander is 7-1 and tops the National League with an .875 percentage.

In early April, however, it almost figured that Sanford might have to put the slug on somebody to ever make the majors. He was 27 and had kicked around in the minors for seven years.

He had pitched 11 no-hitters—but six were in high school, and the others were in service at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

He was 1-0 in three games last year, winning with a seven-inning job against Chicago Cubs after joining Phils when he left the army late in the season—but in his last full season in organized ball he was 5-14, with Syracuse in 1954.

13 STRIKEOUTS

An incredible yarn? Sanford made it virtually preposterous Friday night. He three-hit Cubs, striking out 13 for a 2-1 victory—his second consecutive shutout, in which he has allowed only five hits and issued but four walks—and the third-place Phillies within a half-game of fourth-place Cincinnati. He now is tied for the National League lead in strikeouts with Brooklyn's Don Newcombe and Cincy's Joe Nuxhall, each having 59.

The 13 Chicago Redlegs lost their sixth in the last 10 games, beaten 6-3 by second-place Brooklyn and the three-hit pitching of Roger Craig—who hadn't had a complete game in 77 starts before beating the same Redlegs 5-2 last July 26. The Brooks' fourth victory in a row put them just three percentage points behind Redlegs.

Fourth-place Milwaukee moved to within two games of the lead, beating Pittsburgh 5-0. And St. Louis beat Cincinnati 5-3 in 11 innings.

Sanford, who two-hit Brooklyn and struck out 11 in a 3-0 victory last Saturday, picked up where Dodger pitching left off, against Cubs. The last-place Bruins had whiffed 13 times in losing two of the Brooks, and—now have fanned 35 times in three games.

The Phillies managed only four hits off loser Dave Hillman and Turk Lown, who pitched the eighth, but made it six out of eight with Chico Fernandez' sacrifice fly in the fourth and single by Ed Bouchee and Rip Repulski, sandwiching three runs and 4 walk had loaded the bases.

Solo home runs by Rube Walker and Don Zimmer brought Dodgers a 4-2 lead in the fourth against Lown. Duke Snider tripled, Craig made it good, giving up only Ed Bailey's one-out homer in the ninth after Walker lagged for two runs in the second on a walk and his error.

Warren Spahn, the shutout king, blanked Pirates on seven singles to win his 12th, 5-0. Crandall's two-run single bagged it in the second against Bob Purkey, but Braves added three more in the seventh to make sure.

A two-run homer by Del Ennis, his only hit in five at bats, won for Cards, who had been blanked by rookie Curt Barclay for four frames. Larry Jackson won his seventh (he's lost two) with Lloyd Merritt's 11th-inning relief.

Do the mighty New York Yankees have a "Tiger complex?"

Probably not, but Detroit Manager Jack Tighe tossed the question around just for kicks after Tigers subdued the New Yorkers 6-3 Friday night for their fourth win in five starts against the defending world champions.

Last season Tigers were the only club with an edge over Yanks, beating them 13 times and losing 10 times.

"If our boys get keyed up more for the Yankees than for any other club," said Tighe, "I can't notice it. You know they always say there are a lot of clubs who have a 'Yankee complex'. Well, maybe they've got a Tiger complex."

BIGGEST CROWD

The victory, achieved before baseball's biggest crowd of the season—43,474 paid — snapped a four-game Yankee winning streak and kept Tigers into third place, one-half game ahead of the Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland was dropped 11-7 by the last place Washington. It was the Tribe's fifth defeat in nine for the Tribe who haven't had such a long losing streak since 1953. Also, they're more stopped the leading White Sox 3-2 in 11 innings and Kansas City Athletics and Boston Red Sox fought toss in a row, 6-3.

Tigers marvelled from behind with four runs after two were out in the seventh. Frank Bolling's single, double off Bob Grim, who relieved Don Larsen, opened the uprising. Then Al Kaline's sacrifice, lifted for a pinch-hitter in the rally, won his fifth with a nifty fly to Mickey Mantle who had circled outs. Mickey Mantle homered for the Yanks in the second, leading the right field roof, and J. W. Porter slugged one for Detroit.

Washington broke up a 7-7 tie with a four-run eighth. Senators collected 15 hits off Tom Morgan, who has given up 53 runs in the five-game nose dive.

Louis Berry's single drove in the winning run for Orioles, who broke a 4-4 tie against Boston. Harshman on an eighth - inning double by Dick Williams. Gerry Staley got credit for the win.

Hal Smith walloped a home run and two doubles for three at As, who wrapped it up with four runs in the second against Willard Hunter and Ike Delock.

Homeric went in 5, striking out seven and keeping Ted Williams hitless in an eight-hitter.

They'll Do It Every Time

Larks Will Try Out Young Players

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon Kennedy, managing director of Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football League, said Friday night seven young Hamilton football players have been invited to the Als' tryout camp next month.

The players, most of them with the Alouette-sponsored Hamilton Wildcats of the Big Four Junior League are: Bill McCoy, 21, halfback; Ormal Stanbope, 21, guard; Joe Sardo, 19, end; Ron Bush, 21, halfback; Mich Wasic, 20, tackle; Len Gargarello, 19, halfback; and Ed Morradian, 20, tackle.

Kennedy also disclosed the Alouettes have purchased linesman Fred Salvatore and Art (Bud) Peer from Toronto Beaches of the Ontario Rugby Football Union Senior League.

Salvatore, 30, has been with Beaches two seasons, weighs 205, is 5 feet, 10 inches tall and plays offensive guard and defensive end. Peer is a guard and line-backer. At 23 he stands 5 feet, 10 inches and weighs 220.

Pitching—Jack Sanford, Phillies —rookie righthander struck out 13 while permitting only three hits to beat Cubs 2-1 for his seventh victory and second shutout.

Hitting: Hal Smith, Athletics went four-for-five, including a home run and two doubles, in 6-3 victory over Red Sox.

HURLS NO-HITTER

MONTREAL (CP)—Johnny Anrable, 19-year-old right-wing star with Ottawa Canadiens last hockey season, pitched a no-hitter Thursday night in a Mount Royal junior baseball league game halted after 4½ innings. His team won 7-0.

Cloudy Skies, Fast Track Greeted Queen's Plate Nags

TORONTO (CP)—Cloudy skies and a fast track were in prospect as 12 crack Canadian three-year-olds awaited the call to the post today for the 98th running of the Queen's Plate.

Chopaddle and Lyford Cay, running as an entry for Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Taylor of Toronto, were odds-on favorites to win the renewal of Canada's most glamorous horse race, oldest in North America.

Starting time was scheduled for 5:30 p.m. EDT. The race was to be broadcast and telecast by the CBC Trans-Canada network and an 18-station TV network.

Owners of the 12 candidates left from an original total of 219 entries, made their final payments of $250 each Friday, assuring a record purse to the winner of $28,435 plus 50 guineas from the Queen The old mark was set last year when Bill Beasley's Canadian Champ pulled down $25,285.

PERFECT TRACK

Showers forecast by the weather bureau were expected to hold off until evening. The racing strip at luxurious New Woodbine track near Malton, 18 miles northwest of Toronto, was described as in perfect condition.

Clocker Tom Bird, who has been timing horses for the Ontario Jockey Club for 62 years, predicted the winner would cover the 1¼ miles in better than 2:04. This is the first time since 1923 the Plate is being run at the longer distance. In intervening years it was 1¼.

Among thoroughbreds rated a chance to beat Chopaddle and Lyford Cay were Lad Ator, owned by Mrs. M. Wolfe Wolfson of Miami and Ali's Pride, entered by Will Farr of Weston.

The Taylor horses, winners of each of the two sections of this week's plate trial, were expected to open at odds of 4 to 5. Avelino Gomez was slated to ride Lyford Bay and Chris Rogers Chopaddle but Gomez was given the privilege of switching any time until the start of the post parade. Ali's Pride, rated at 8 to 1, was to be ridden by Vic Bovina and Lad Ator, 6-to-1 shot, had Eddie Pilasa aboard.

PROBABLE ODDS

Probable odds on other entries were: Senor Teddy 10-1; Flying Atom 13-1; Holiday Ted, Count Teddy and Henry B. Good 15-1; Wild Sinbad, The Schreiber 20-1, and Mild Blue 50-1.

Mild Blue, owned by the Assiniboine Stable of Winnipeg, is the only horse entered from outside Ontario.

Ali's Pride, which took over the winter book favorite role from Lad Ator, whipped both Lyford Cay and Chopaddle as a two-year-old while winning $15,288 in purses. For Taylor in 1951 and Canadians in 1953, were owned by the millionaire industrialist. None of the other owners of horses in today's race has ever had a Plate winner.

Hardboiled Haggerty, Atkins Snatch Win From Tolos Bros.

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Will someone suggest to Mayor Frank Tumey that he should put "seeing eye" dogs in the ball park?

The third week in a row Mayor Frank has paraded his fanatical fans without benefit of white canes.

First it was Jos (don't call me Sammy) Gallop, then came Hardboiled Haggerty last night and the puderous Bert Maxwell. Sammy (don't call me Sam) has yet to put in an appearance—or has he? He has.

Next week the afternoon Mayor Tumey could close his eyes and stick a pin in an official. They're all alike.

Take last night in Memorial Arena Flintstone!

Hard-Boiled Haggerty and Fred Atkins, the Austrylian, as Jethro Tolos once called the James boys and the Daltons ran wild with Bill Stewart, bad-mannered their way to a third-fall decision over the handsome Tolos Brothers, Chris and John, in cleanest duo, if ever there was one.

Atkins and Hard-Boiled dug up every rule in the book, reversed it and used it thataway. They even made up a few of their own while the portly Maxwell nonchalantly looked on. Brother, that guy wasn't taking any chances.

At times he teetered precariously on the ringbelt trying to ascertain whose shoulders were pinned—if any. Actually that is the way one of the falls ended. What wrestling officials need is a periscope or two. They would help no end.

Hard-Boiled won the first fall after Atkins, apparently tiring of mayhem, ably assisted by friend Freddie, had put the Tolos Twins in the seat of the pants. Then Atkins, apparently refreshed, then inserted his bear-hug as the Tolos did not like it.

The second fall went the other way. This was where the unpopular Atkins of his company-pance. Chris, or was it John Tolos, tired of the shenanigans, suddenly lashed out with an aerial attack. He drop-kicked the Atkins jaw clean out of its 5 o'clock shadow, then whirled him high overhead and slammed him to the canvas for the count. That grinding noise you heard was Hard-Boiled grinding his teeth.

From there was skullduggery in the third fall. John Tolos aggravated at the treatment brother Chris was getting, leaped into the ring to his assistance. Brother Maxwell pushed John back into the corner and stood there reciting something or other. Meanwhile Hard-Boiled smashed a fist into the other Tolos' tummy while Atkins was working him over and by the time Maxwell came to to the referee counted the second-angled for the count.

Don Lewin was forced to say "uncle" in the semi-final to long-haired Baron Gallon. However brother Mark and Jack Walker battled in one of the best preliminaries seen here in many a month, with the nod going to the Lewin.

Majors Down Welland 9-2

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Jays team around second place in the Great Lakes-Niagara Senior Baseball League was broken Friday night and much of the credit goes to pitcher Roy McKay of London Majors.

McKay hurled a neat six-hitter as Majors downed Sanitmen 9-2 in Welland and took over sole possession of the second spot. They had been tied with Welland and North Tonawanda.

Majors, with a 3-1, record, trail unbeaten Hamilton Beavers by a game and a half.

In the Nickel Belt Senior League, Frood Tigers moved into first place with a 5-1 decision over Creighton Indians and Coniston Red Sox pounded out a 12-3 win over Garson Greyhounds. It gave Red Sox a 1-1 record while Garsons have lost both their starts.

There were no Intercounty Senior games. A scheduled game between St. Thomas and Galt had been advanced from Thursday night and then postponed because of rain.

Eskimos Sign 'Original'

EDMONTON (CP)—Three Canadians, including an Eskimo "original," have signed with Edmonton's Grey Cup football champions for the 1957 season, the Western Interprovincial Football Union club announced Friday.

They are tackle Mike Volcan, halfback Don Stinson and lineman Bill Briggs.

Simon, a 26-year-old Edmonton native, is the sole member of the 1949 Eskimos, Edmonton's first post-Second World War team, still with the club.

Volcan, 26, a native of Hamilton, is starting his third season. Briggs, a 32-year-old veteran who served for several years with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four, has signed for his eighth campaign with Edmonton.

Salesgirl 'Slips' on Camera But Audience Misses Boat

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mary Costa looks the picture of ease as she plies the sponsor's product on TV. But she isn't.

The lovely blonde salesgirl on The Thursday night Climax show is one of the most successful in a highly competitive business.

"Doing the commercials on TV looks like a breeze," she said. "That's the way it's supposed to look. But you can't let up for a moment. If you do, you get in trouble.

"I always pull my boo-boos toward the end of the show when I feel it's almost over and I can relax. Or when I think it's going to be an easy show and I decide I'll use the prompter instead of memorizing."

The most famous of Mary's fluffs came a few weeks ago when she finished extolling the low-cost aspects of an automobile. Then she added that prices start at "$7,232." Fortunately, her sidekick, Bill Lundigan, caught the error immediately and said it was "$2,732."

Mary's face was red, but her employers didn't mind a bit. The boner was printed widely, thus advertising freely the car's price. Now the company president uses the incident in speeches outlining the value of publicity.

"Then don't object when I make an error," Mary said, "and the public seems to enjoy it. It makes me seem more human to them, and I get a lot of mail when such things happen. Now I have people listening carefully to the commercials, hoping that I'll make a mistake."

The audience never saw one of Mary's most embarrassing moments. She was wearing a full-skirted dress one night, and one of the lights started slipping right in the middle of her spiel. Quick-thinking Mary stepped out of it as the camera caught her in a close-up and continued talking.

WIN FOR TAYLORS

TORONTO (CP) — La Belle Tosse, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, won the $10,000 Woodbine Stakes at New Woodbine Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor started a three-horse entry and won first, third and fourth moneys. Tally Smash, owned by Lanson Farms, came very fast through the final furlong to finish second and spoil a clean sweep for the Taylor filly ies. Touring was third and Touring was fourth.

AT THE McCARTHY — A juror discusses the murder weapon with Henry Fonda, a fellow juror, during a murder trial. The picture, "12 Angry Men", a United Artists release was produced by Henry Fonda and Reginald Rose. It is slated to open Monday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

AT THE PARK — Gary Cooper is the personification of the frontier marshal in the exciting Stanley Kramer film "High Noon", winner of four Academy Awards, opening Monday at the Park Theatre. On the same program is the hilarious story of the triple-threat romance starring William Holden, David Niven and Maggie McNamara.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, June 10, 1957 —

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Mildly favorable influences — especially for family and domestic matters, farming, handling food products, etc. But day, on the whole, suggests cautious action.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Influences should help to make this a happily productive period for daily tasks, routine affairs, for domestic interests. Rare and unusual matters also favored within reason. Be careful in signing documents, contracts.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Not your most lively or encouraging day, perhaps, but one that challenges your clever handling and direction. Take your time about making decisions, changes. Maintain a steady pace and you will win.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Your Moon in good position. Personal interests, your occupation and other activities can advance. The unusual in method and presentation favored.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Be moderate in your demands, plan well and be patient, and you will have beneficial results. Cleverness, sound procedure and reasonableness always pay.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Your Mercury's aspect stresses close attention to details, care in signing legal and other important papers. Curb worry, impatience; don't undertake more than is reasonable.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Venus is neither restrictive nor stimulating. The day's matters and the activities you enjoy or for which you have talent are in line for extra credits, if you work at them intelligently, calmly. Be careful of your health.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Rays are mildly favorable for certain familiar interests but don't especially encourage the unusual. You will have to put forth more than ordinary effort in such activities.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Friendly rays still linger from yesterday's Jupiter aspect. Still you must keep up-to-date, and be alert to fresh advantages and smart ways of capitalizing on your talents.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Much will depend upon your own initiative and how ably you use the materials at hand. Without anxiety, stop long enough to check which way to start and at what tempo. Seek real benefits.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — You and the Sunspace are more favored planetarily than many because of Uranus and Neptune aspects. First, tackle urgent matters, get them sturdily in hand; be patient with details. Then try something new.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Personal affairs, joy in life and the activities you enjoy or for which you have talent are in line for extra credits, if you work at them intelligently, calmly. Be careful of your health.

You born today have talent galore and a personality that can bring you friends, popularity, value. But always remember that you must be thoughtful, not too restless or changeable in mood. Keep cultivating your talents, and don't switch from one line of undertaking to another before you have given the first chance to show value.

Birthdate: Robert Schumann, German composer; Sir Henry Stanley, African explorer.

LAMBERT-ROLLINS Construction Ltd.

Are to start this development as soon as you contact us to pick out your lot, and fill out the application forms.

This announcement does not mean the builders are not prepared to carry on with their custom building independently, as in the past, the forming of this Limited Company is only to bring this development to Belleville, as the builders feel that by uniting in this project they will serve the people with lower down payments, by-passed in the last 2 years by Belleville builders. We have typed spec. plans drawn, a list of requirements, a plan to choose your lot from, and any other information needed. If our down payment is still too high and you make application, we can do a good wage, call for an answer better.

This development is for the working man and we will meet your budget (if possible). But - don't delay, remember the plan only calls for 15 split levels. Sign up now and have your choice of lots. 3 homes have already been spoken for.

CANADIANS

Two cabinets withdrew at the last moment. Defence minister Pierre Nelson Castonguay Wednesday night announced the withdrawal of Social Credit Ralph Medgessy in Toronto Davenport and Independent Liberal Amable Ouellet in the Quebec riding of Matapedia-Matane. Deadline for withdrawals is 8 a.m. local standard time today.

ONE DEFERRED

The election in one constituency —Wellington South in Ontario— was deferred until July because of the death of Liberal candidate Henry Hosking in the last week of the campaign.

If the record of past elections is a guide, two-thirds of the 7,- 401,963 persons or 67 per cent of the 8,401,291 eligible cast ballots. More than 60,000 ballots were spoiled.

The record turn-out for a federal election was in 1949 when 5,903,572—74 per cent—of the electorate voted.

All members of the armed forces are eligible to vote. They now number some 117,000. About 7,000 wives of servicemen and 8,000 war veterans in federal civil service are eligible. Their ballots are for candidates in their home constituencies.

More than 200,000 immigrants are on the voters list for the first time in this Canadian general election. Some 8,000 members of the Doukhobor sect, mainly in British Columbia, enjoy the franchise for the first time under a change in the voting regulations.

VOTED PREVIOUSLY

Members of the armed forces began the voting Monday. Advance polls for certain civilians who work away from home election day were open Thursday, Friday and today.

Among the few denied the franchise are 900 official Canadian representatives in 55 foreign countries and Mr. Castonguay as chief electoral officer.

In a brisk six-week campaign, the candidates took their message to the electorate by stumping the hustings or entering individual homes through radio and television. It was the first time that TV played a major role in a Canadian general election.

Mr. St. Laurent and Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker travelled across the country, visiting some areas more than once.

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell and Mr. Low spent much of the campaign in their home provinc cnc ldencies. Mr. Coldwell suffered a mild heart attack in February but Mr. Low was similarly stricken in late 1955.

SET HEAVY PACE

Mr. Diefenbaker, 61, the only new party leader since 1949, set an almost killing pace. He travelled the farthest of all the candidates and made the most speeches —about 100, not including whistlestops and chats in small groups.

Among the leaders, Mr. St. Laurent encountered the only serious hecklng. In Montreal, several persons were ejected from one of his meetings.

The prime minister, in the West, hinted that he intends to stay around for the next election. How 75, he scoffed at Conservative remarks that he was too old for him – 100.

Women took a smaller part this year than in 1953 there are 101 women candidates—13 CCF, six Conservative, five Social Credit, four Liberal, one Independent-Liberal and one Labor-Progressive—compared to 48 in the last election.

There were four women members in the last Parliament—three Conservatives and one Liberal.

Mr. St. Laurent changed existence of a Diefenbaker-Frost axis by which the Ontario premier would get preferred tax treatment by Ottawa, at the expense of other provinces, if the Conservatives were elected. The Conservatives said Mr. St. Laurent had been unmasked as the avowed advocate of national unity, that he was trying to create chronic disparity to win votes.

Party standing after the Aug. 10, 1953, election was Liberal 172, Conservative 51, CCF 23, Social Credit 15, Independent 3, Standing at dissolution April 13 was Liberal 168, Conservative 50, CCF 25, Social Credit 15, Independent 2, vacant 7.

Heads of University Told They've Forgotten Emphasis On Higher Education

OTTAWA (CP) — A Montreal public relations expert told Canadian university heads Friday they've forgotten that their institutions are supposed to be citadels of higher education.

Small wonder, said Leonard L. Knott, past president of the Canadian Public Relations Society, that universities are not understood by the public.

He challenged his listeners at the annual meeting of the National Conference of Canadian Universities to abandon the "ivy curtain," decide where they stand and, with help of the best public relations advice available, let the public know about it.

The universities, said Mr. Knott, have been deluded by industry and commerce into abandoning their rightful field—learning — to become the handmaidens of machines and commercial statistics. And by neglecting public relations universities had "merely sought through publicity to gain public sympathy and financial help for a situation which shouldn't even exist."

UNIVERSITY REPLY

The universities replied through J. Alex Edmison, assistant principal at Queen's University, Kingston, to effect that they feel they are doing all right the way things are.

"Perhaps never before in Canada has the man in the street had such understanding of . . . needs and of our problems, present and future.

A campaign of public speaking by university heads and the important of work by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and various royal commissions concerned with Canada's cultural and economic problems had "created much formidable propaganda on behalf of all our universities."

But Mr. Edmison added that all this good public relations work can be shattered by a few students deciding "to initiate a Hollywood setor by shaving their heads or perhaps some others start a goldfisheating contest."

"A publicity deluge results, far more than for all our carefully planned releases on more legitimate campus matters . . . it keeps those of us conducting university public relations both frustrated and humble."

The exchange of views came during a symposium conducted by the NCCU, which opened its annual meeting today as part of the current Conference of Learned Societies at the University of Ottawa.

Texts of the debaters' arguments were released to the press before delivery.

Elsewhere in the conference, a football-long get-together of the country's intellectuals, the Canadian Association of Geographers and the Canadian Association of Classicists held sessions.

They are to be joined Saturday by the Canadian Association of Slavists. By June 17 more than 3,000 delegates are expected to have participated.

Dr. G. Edward Hall, NCCU president and head of the University of Western Ontario, said the advent of the Canada Council means the NCCU will play "an increasingly significant role" in advising on scholarships, awards and fellowships abroad. It had reorganized itself to meet the task and has set up a headquarters in Ottawa.

Drs. Donald Kerr and Jacob Spelt of the University of Toronto told the geographers' meeting a survey they made of manufacturing in downtown Toronto showed it to be an ideal "incubator area" for new industries.

Most of them more than 150 firms in downtown Toronto preferred to stay there.

Dr. Spelt said: "A preliminary conclusion, that still is open for correction in later phases of the study, is that if industry is needed to be decentralized in the interests of civil defence, the impetus toward it will not be from industry itself."

CHILD SUFFOCATES

HAMILTON (CP)—Five-month-old Sandy Soddy, found dead in his crib Wednesday, suffocated while suffering from an advanced stage of pneumonia, a post-mortem examination showed The infant was found dead when his mother went to attend him at 8 a.m.

RENT BILL PASSES

LONDON (Reuters)—The Conservative government's controversial rent bill passed its final stage in the House of Commons Wednesday night. The bill abolishes the rent ceiling on about 800,000 houses and apartments and eventually will raise rents of more than 6,000,000 other dwellings.

The Week's News

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The baffling battle of words over nuclear bomb tests left the man on the street even more bewildered and uneasy.

Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize-winning biochemist, said that 2,000 American scientists have demanded an international agreement—forthwith—to halt the tests.

A U.S. Senate subcommittee quickly subpoenaed Pauling for questioning to find out whether any Communist organizations are behind the no-tests campaign, then as quickly changed its mind and dropped temporarily its plan to question the scientist.

Britain's second H-bomb blast, it was reported, generated heat nearly 2,000 times that on the sun's surface and set a Pacific island ablaze. The U.S., meanwhile, tested a "pip - squeak" atomic device suspended from a balloon.

The U.S. Congress heard new scientific testimony that fall-out from nuclear explosions could wreck the health, or shorten the life of thousands, if not millions of persons—and may cost mankind 1,000,000 babies in future generations.

President Eisenhower said he has no choice but to accept the "authoritative" opinion of the National Academy of Sciences, which has said there is no great hazard to health from atomic weapon testing.

ARMS DEADLOCK

Despite millions of words on the subject and new statements by the opposing leaders, there seemed to be no essential change in the disarmament impasse.

President Eisenhower said again the U.S. is willing to end nuclear tests, but only as part of a general disarmament which would be subject to fool-proof inspection.

Premier Bulganin of Russia also said his country is ready to negotiate a disarmament agreement, including nuclear tests, but he seemed to skirt the inspection angle.

BRITISH TRAVEL

The British government finally relented after 10 years and lifted the "dollar curtain" that prevented tourist travel to Canada and the United States.

British newspapers hailed with delight the announcement that Britons will be allowed £100 a year for travel to dollar countries.

In New York, a suburban Long Island newspaper quickly jumped on the act with an article assuring the British that they can have a fine time on this side of the Atlantic on £100, which comes to $280

RED TOURISTS

Premier Bulganin and Communist party secretary Khrushchev of the Soviet Union arrived in Finland for a state visit.

They were greeted coolly and Premier Sunelainen, in a dinner speech, emphasized Finland's neutrality in the Cold War.

CANCER WARNING

Dr. Daniel Horn, who conducted a massive study for the American Cancer Society, estimated that heavy cigaret smoking speeds death seven to eight years before your time.

The study also concluded that regular cigaret smokers run a 40 per cent to 50 times more frequently than non-smokers. Another conclusion was that smokers run a 70 per cent greater risk of fatal coronary heart disease than nonsmokers.

The tobacco industry's research committee issued a statement reiterating its stand that "the causes of cancer and heart disease are not known to medical science."

ALGERIAN BLOODSHED

The French reported that 135 Algerian nationalists were killed in a three-day battle, much of it hand-to-hand, in mountain caves and ravines.

Altogether more than 170 Algerians were listed as killed in new battles and terrorist attacks in Algeria and in clashes in France. The French admitted losses of 16 killed and 20 wounded for the same period.

In Paris meanwhile, Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, 42-year-old wartime resistance leader, struck down a new government to succeed the fallen administration of Premier Guy Mollet.

VOTE BEGINS

The first votes for Canada's federal election Monday were cast in Egypt.

Canadian soldiers and airmen of the United Nations Emergency Force were the first overseas servicemen to vote, and they visited the polls in temperatures of more than 100 degrees.

Results will be counted in London, flown there by special plane.

Garden Notes

Vines Prove Versatile in Garden

By FLORA M. BAVILLE

Vines can be the answer to several garden problems. They can provide a screen to block out an unsightly view, provide a degree of privacy for family outdoor living, give shade, break up a bare wall or provide a background for a border of flowers.

The vines may be the hardy woody type which are treated as shrubs, or annual vines which grow quickly from seed and last until frost kills them in the fall.

To screen a building, an old fence, or a service yard a fairly thick foliage is desirable. If the vine is to act as a backdrop for other plants, or is used where it is under close observation attractive leaves, stems, flowers or fruits are of added value. Clematis and bittersweet are two good ones to fill this need. There are several varieties of each.

To hide an ugly building or fence we must choose a vine which needs no additional support, one that will cling to the wall, fence or surface. One of the vines, or Virginia creeper will do here.

FOR SHADE

For shade a vine which will cling to a trellis, or can be trained to the veranda pillars or over wire supports will be right. A good circulation of air is wanted where we sit to read or rest, here the vine should be open, rather than one that grows into a tangled mat. Dutchman's pipe vine would be a good choice here.

Among the various members of the clematis family you will find large and small flowered types. The large flowered types are hardy enough for sheltered position, but often winterkill in severe winters in exposed positions. They range in color from deep velvety purple through red, lavender and white, with flowers six to eight inches across. Japanese Clematis is a fall flowering type with masses of small white scented white blooms. This needs a protected place. In south wall is ideal. A native of eastern Canada Virgin's bower, also a member of the clematis family will grow to twenty feet in height. This is a rapid grower. Travellers Joy another member of the same family also spreads rapidly.

Koreen clematis has yellow flowers, is gaudy, ornamental and blooms in August and September. Western Virgin's bower is very hardy, and will withstand drought. The foliage will dark green and glossy.

COVER WALLS

Boston and English ivy make beautiful coverings for house walls and stone walls. Virginia creeper while often recommended is host to a number of pests, leaf hoppers, caterpillars and others. Unless you plan to carry on a vigorous battle, better choose another vine.

Silver fleece vine, has masses of white or pink flowers in late summer and Trumpet vine flaunts big scarlet tubular blooms. This makes an excellent cover for a pergola. One of the loveliest is Wisteria. The long racimes or long purple blooms are made up of pea shaped flower's. The Chinese type is perhaps the best, but the Japanese type is hardier. When the plant runs to foliage and refuses to bloom, root pruning is the answer. Matrimony vine is mentioned in some catalogues. This is a rampant grower. The roots run underground and throw up shoots where it is not desired. Avoid this one.

Japanese bittersweet has small berries than the American type, but they are more numerous and colorful. It is quite hardy, grows rapidly and makes a good fence cover.

Vines need the same good soil snrubs require, and should receive the same care. Keep the soil loosened around their roots, supply extra water in dry seasons and feed with a balanced plant food in early spring, or bone meal in the fall.

Blast Wrecks Home, Injures 3 In North Toronto

Drapes Flung Into Trees; Leaking Gas May Be Cause

TORONTO (CP) — An explosion blew apart a private home and shook a wide area of the Toronto northern suburb of Willowdale early today, sending three persons to hospital in serious condition.

Firemen and the Consumers Gas Company were trying to determine whether the blast originated in gas that couldn't escape.

The injured are Mrs. Margaret McKenna, her son, Michael, 6; and Mrs. Creasor, a next door neighbor.

Mrs. Creasor was described as in serious condition with burns and shock. Mrs. McKenna may have suffered a broken back. The boy's injuries are confined to burns and shock.

HOUSE DEMOLISHED

The house, on Empress Street and Nipigon Avenue, was demolished. Draperies hung in the trees on the side. Fragments littered all the walls of neighboring buildings. Concrete blocks were hurled into adjacent properties.

A constable at the Metropolitan police North York division headquarters said the house "looked as if dynamite had been exploded in the middle of it and touched off."

Fred Gardiner, a police photographer, said: "This is the worst thing I've seen in the line of duty since I started taking pictures in the house."

The explosion occurred between 6:30 and 6:45 a.m. The North York division switchboard was jammed with calls from alarmed house-holders.

The blast disrupted power service over a wide area. Early-risers in a mile away went to work without a hot breakfast.

Mr. McKenna and a son Leo, 9, had left the premises only minutes before the explosion.

Mrs. McKenna and a son Leo, 9, weekend at Bowmanville, 30 miles east of Toronto.

HEARD GAS AWAY

The explosion was heard at points three miles distant in Willowdale Township.

A sign advertising insurance, which had been on the house and bearing the inscription "Thinking About Protection?" was pierced by flying debris.

A budgie bird was blown out of the house, still in its cage, and found an hour later—still alive.

BURIED IN RUBBLE

Mrs. Creasor remained visible when neighbors spoed to the wreckage and Michael Mitchell of Chambly tumbled into the cellar. The two women were buried in rubble but the boy on the foundation boundary and had to be dug out by fireman and nearby residents.

Firemen thought baby Leo was still inside and dug for more than an hour before they learned that Mrs. McKenna was at Bowmanville with the tot.

Mrs. Yvonne MacMillan, the only known witness to the blast, said she was breakfasting at her bathroom window which faces the back of the stricken home. Mrs. Creasor resided.

Mrs. MacMillan said the roof of the house lifted into the air before the blast. "the air was filled with debris and I ducked." Then she heard another crash as a gas stove and an oil furnace. Both were investigated as possible causes.

SHARE HONORS

PORT HOPE (CP)—Three students split top honors at the 92nd annual Trinity College prize day ceremony here Saturday. C. S. Dunbar of Guelph and R. T. Hall of Peterborough each won the bronze medal for general proficiency with D. E. Cape of Montreal and shared the grand challenge cup for athletics, with Cape runner-up.

Headless Body, Believed Crabb, Washed Ashore

CHICHESTER, England (AP)—The headless, armless body of a man dressed in a frogman's dark rubber suit has been found three miles from the spot where Commander Lionel (Buster) Crabb mysteriously disappeared 13½ months ago.

Experts were attempting today to identify the body, which had been immersed in water for "some considerable time."

An admiralty spokesman said Crabb was the only person wearing frogman's diving gear known to be missing in the area.

FOUND BY FISHERMAN

The body was found Sunday by a fisherman in Chichester harbor, which adjoins Portsmouth harbor where the sea-bound World War II frogman disappeared on a mysterious diving operation near a Russian warship.

Tides and currents have often pushed the body of drowned persons from Portsmouth to the Chichester area. It was speculated the body came to the surface after the heavy oxygen cylinder which frogmen carry on their backs had become detached.

Crabb's mission has never been officially explained. Sir Anthony Eden, then prime minister, was questioned in the House of Commons about whether Crabb had been spying on the Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze, which brought Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev to Britain in April last year. Eden declined to answer, hinting that a navy might stir up international complications.

SAW FROGMAN

Russian officials on the Ordzhonikidze reported they saw a frogman — presumably Crabb — in Portsmouth harbor, but Britain and Russia protested. The British report expressed "grave concern" over that Crabb was doing was "completely unauthorized."

The admiralty would say only that Crabb was presumed dead after failing to return from a test dive on April 19, 1956.

Portsmouth and Chichester harbors adjoin. They are situated on a body of water protected from the English Channel by Hayling Island.

The admiral who commanded the visiting Russian squadron told Pravda on his return to Moscow he agreed the British story that Crabb was near the Ordzhonikidze without authorization. Pravda then published the Fleet charged later that "American spies and provocateurs" were behind it all.

TERRORIST BOMB BLAST IN ALGERIA KILLS SEVEN

Arms, Legs Blown From Abouot Dozen

ALGIERS (AP) — A terrorist bomb exploded under a bandstand Sunday night as French couples danced the cha-cha-cha in a fashionable seaside casino. It killed seven young persons and wounded 83 — many of them members of prominent Algiers families.

Authorities assumed the bomb was planted by Algerian nationalists who have stepped up their campaign of bombing and killing since the French premier rejected demands on the French government.

Arms and legs were blown from the dancers of the 300 persons attending a tea dance at the Casino de la Corniche, a bay-breezy stucco building in a palm garden overlooking the sea at suburban St. Eugene.

None of the dead was more than 20. Most of the casino's Lucky Strike orchestra were killed outright. The dead, all young, included several young children attending the dance with their families.

The bomb, timed to go off at 7 p.m., was hidden in the concrete base of the bandstand, about a foot above the level of the sunken dance floor.

French police searched the Algiers area for an Algerian suspect. All automobiles leaving his job at the casino before the bomb went off. One policeman said: "This is not politics, this is murder."

A week ago bombs planted in two Algiers cafes crowded bus and streetcar stops killed four persons and wounded 64 in Algiers.

Officials say the bombings apparently are aimed at getting a settlement to the 31-month Algerian rebellion from government-in-exile which recently replaces Socialist Premier Guy Mollet's caretaker regime. There was no indication that Premier-designate Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, now trying to form a cabinet, would soften the fight he directed as defense minister in the Mollet government.

Steal Ballots At Pistol Point

MONTREAL (CP)—Thugs stole about 100 ballots at a provincial election in nearby Longueuil constituency police reported today.

The ballot disappearance incident, a ballot box was stuffed in the neighboring riding of Chambly-Rouville.

Police Chief Edouard Lefebvre said the ballots disappeared in Longueuil riding said a gang appeared at a polling station at 9:45 a.m. and the ballots at gunpoint, presumably to be used in the illegal practice of stuffing ballots in favor of another person's name.

Provincial Treasury Minister Daniel Beauregard said a man dashed into poll 85, seized a batch of ballots at gunpoint, and then stuffed them into the ballot box before the startled officials could intervene. Mr. Beauregard said he had no information yet on how many ballots were stuffed into the box before the man fled.

The election was held by side on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River, just across from Montreal.

Ville Jacques-Cartier was the scene of the only other provincial election in which the Riot Act was read to quell threatening disorders by hired "goon gangs" from Montreal. Cars had been overturned, windows and houses smashed and voters threatened.

Police Chief Lefebvre said that the theft of ballots was the only incident reported there so far today.

'Here I Know My Friends Are True' So Winner of Pool Stays in Asylum

IPSWICH, England (Reuters)—Albert Steele, a middle aged man who had passed the time he was in a soccer betting pool, today has been committed to Nazareth House in the hospital because there would be too many "false friends" on the outside.

"My wants are simple and I am quite content to stay here now," Albert explained. He has been in the mental hospital for 28 years.

Albert was told by hospital authorities that he can leave by giving 14 days' notice. It would give him the chance to enjoy his big soccer pool win — along with money he has won on other pools during his years in.

But, Albert explains, "in the world outside I'd need a friend to help me, hangers-on and false friends. Here I know my friends are true."

He is allowed out to visit local movie houses occasionally, earns four shillings a week cleaning bicycles, gets the normal seven shillings and six pence a week pocket money from the hospital, plus £1 extra since his big pool win.

Betting on the pools and horse racing takes 10 shillings a week.

President Eisenhower Kept In Bed With 'Upset Stomach'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was kept in bed today by a "stomach upset" which came on about 10 p.m. Sunday. A physician was with him all night, and heart and intestinal specialists were called in today.

The White House said the visits from the specialists were "purely precautionary," and Vice President Richard Nixon indicated to reporters that the upset was not regarded as a serious matter.

"We expect to see him (Eisenhower) back in his office Tuesday," Nixon said.

Senator William Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, told reporters he had received a report from the White House just before noon that "they got the night.

Dr. Howard Snyder, the White House physician, was called shortly after 10 p.m. and remained with the president throughout the night.

Knowland said this word came from Maj.-Gen. Wilton Persons in a telephone talk. Persons is the White House aide.

Knowland said this word came during a meeting Tuesday with congressional leaders has not yet been washed off the calendar.

Reporters were called into another press conference by presidential press secretary James Hagerty—presumably to receive the latest news of the president's condition.

Jordan Expels 2 Egyptians, Charges Assassination Plot

AMMAN (AP)—The Jordan government today expelled two Egyptians and placed them on board a plane. They left by plane for Cairo.

A government announcement said Foreign Minister Samir el Rifai asked the Egyptian Embassy in Amman to withdraw its military attache, Maj. Fuad Hilal, after he tried to enlist a Jordanian in a plot to assassinate "certain official personalities in Amman."

The announcement said the recall of Mohammed Abdel Aziz, second general in the Jordan section of Jerusalem, was demanded for "reasons connected with security."

The Jordanian announcement was made several hours after Egypt's Middle East News Agency flatly denied a dispatch in Beirut, Lebanon, claimed that Hilal had been approached by an emissary of Aziz and the money from the Jordanian army chief-of-staff, Maj. Gen. Habes Majali. The report said Hilal arrested the emissary, obtained a written confession "that Majali sent him to involve Hilal in an alleged conspiracy against Feeds and the monarchy," and handed him over to the Jordanian authorities.

The Jordanian announcement told a different story.

It said Hilal "personally contacted a certain Jordanian citizen and tried to induce him with all sorts of material and moral promises to undertake criminal acts aiming at assassinating certain official personalities in Amman. He also promised to provide him with the necessary weapons to carry out the crime."

Destinies of Political Parties Now in Hands of Voters

By HAROLD MORRISON

Destinies of Canada's political parties are in the hands of a record electorate today.

Voters in cities, towns and hamlets, Canadians go to the polls to pick a new government. Every province from Prince Edward Island to Canada may help stimulate balloting among a pack of 9,000,000 eligible voters.

They will spell out the political fortunes of the 265 candidates seeking 265 of the Commons' 265 seats. Verdict on one in Newfoundland has already been given. Decision on another in Ontario is being deferred.

Only three parties — Liberals, Progressive Conservatives and CCF—have fielded sufficient candidates to form a government. The other, Social Credit, will be looking for a balance of power spot.

Polls open at 8 a.m. local standard time and close at 6 p.m. Within a few hours after polls close, while the count is still going on, the decision may be known.

Needed to form a government are 133 seats in this, Canada's 22nd general election in a 90-year history. The Liberals, seeking to extend a record 22-year reign, have 262 candidates; the Conservatives 235; CCF 161; Social Credit 116; others 26.

The number, while larger than the 849 of 1949, is smaller than the 896 of 1953 and below the record 954 in the wartime contest in 1945.

Those who poll less than half the ballots of the winning candidate face the loss of deposits. Five already have withdrawn and forfeited their deposits.

The Conservatives, with a new leader, are trying to smash the hold the Liberals, victorious in the last five elections. Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker, 61, is seeking his first mandate. Prime Minister St. Laurent, 75, is seeking his fifth.

The two have waged a bitter fight across the country in a seven week campaign, appealing for votes in all provinces. Mr. Diefenbaker has visited almost 20,000 miles; Mr. St. Laurent, about 14,000. They kept up a running battle until the final weekend.

CF-100 FIGHTER CRASHES AT SHOW, 2 AIRMEN KILLED

Plane Disintegrated In Formation Flight

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A CF-100 jet fighter flying at an Air Force Day show Saturday disintegrated while making a low altitude sweep across the airport. Both crew members were killed.

The plane broke up as it was completing a 300-mile-an-hour formation flight 600 feet above Crumlin airport.

The two men were identified as FO L. E. B. Sparrow, 26, of Powell River, B.C., the pilot, and FO D. A. Sheffield, 24, of Ottawa, the observer. Both were with No. 433 all-weather fighter squadron at North Bay.

Witnesses among the 9,000 spectators said a wing appeared to fall from the plane, sending it into a roll. As it climbed one of the men parachuted, but he was thrown above the opening silk.

PLUNGES TO DEATH

He fell back into it and plunged to his death. The plane crashed and exploded. The other man's body was thrown from the wreckage.

Most of the bits from the stricken fighter were thrown into the crew's cockpit by onlookers. Several strips of the flaming debris fell dangerously near the spectators but one was hit.

Police said at least six women fainted when the crash occurred. One was treated for shock at the RCAF hospital. Many of the victims fell to the ground for cover when the plane began to break up, but others were too surprised or shocked to move.

One youth, Ross Moore, 18, fell into the creek from which he was watching the show and broke an ankle.

ONE OF THREE

The CF-100 was one of three from North Bay to perform in the show, part in air shows at Centralia, Trenton and Aylmer, all part of the Ontario Air Force Day celebrations.

They were finished with the show at Crumlin but while refueling for the return flight the crew received word to make one more flight over the field.

It was then the crash happened.

Recheck Votes, Italian Premier May Resign

ROME (AP)—Adone Zoli's new government is reported wavering today in the midst of the most confused political crisis in Italy's post-war history.

Sources close to the country, 69-year-old premier said he had confided to associates he will resign if he does not get at least 301 of today's parliamentary confidence vote shows his winning minority Christian Democratic support.

Zoli, a staunch anti Fascist, had said a few days before the vote he would subtract any Fascist votes from his total.

The outcome of the recheck is to be announced in the Chamber of Deputies today by Premier Zoli's decision to resign or to continue as premier will follow soon afterward.

Egypt Clears Way for French To Use Canal

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt has technically cleared the way for French ships to use the Suez Canal despite France to do so would represent a sharp rollback in her policy.

A responsible source in the foreign ministry said President Gamal Nasser's government is ready to accept payment of tolls in terms of French shipping.

Originally Egypt wanted hard currency—U.S. dollars or Swiss francs—from British and French ships. Recently she agreed to accept sterling from the British.

The final decision on whether France will apply for passage in the canal must await the formation of a new French government to replace that of Premier Guy Mollet, who resigned May 21.

Five Bludgeoned To Death In Beds, Slayer Kills Self

'I Am Split Personality' Says One of Notes Left

TORONTO (CP)—Five persons were slain in suburban Long Branch Sunday, their deaths uncovered by a police hunt for relatives of a motorist who killed himself driving into a bridge abutment. Police said he slew all five, then committed suicide.

A policeman saw the car crash into the bridge abutment at top speed. Its lone occupant was Frank A. Sinclair, a 37-year-old electrician. When officers went to his home to notify relatives of his death, they found the bodies of his parents, wife and two small children.

On the dining room table, they said, were five entrance written by Sinclair and stacked in a neat pile. One said:

"I am a split personality."

BEATEN, STRANGLED

Bludgeoned in their beds with a club of pipe were James Sinclair, Sr., 74, and his wife, Helen, 72, who had come from the Isle of Arran, Scotland, for a four-month visit with their son. His wife, Margaret, 35, and his son, Ian, 7, were killed in the same way. Two-year-old Joy was strangled with a necktie, apparently because the walls of her crib made it difficult to beat her.

Police said Sinclair's note declared his wife and parents were restricted him to a way of life which prevented him from having friends or neighbors had been kind to him, but he had been led up with the idea he couldn't drink in the presence of his parents because it embarrassed them.

The way Sinclair police reconstructed it:

Sinclair awoke at 5 a.m. in the white stucco house he had built in suburban Long Branch, at Toronto's western outskirts, since he and his wife came from Scotland eight years ago.

Dressed in shirt and shorts, he went down to the basement of the house. He returned' upstairs carrying a 15-inch length of 2½-inch copper pipe. He went to one end, the leftover of a repair job on the kitchen sink.

Rainy Weather Brings Strangers To Backyards

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) After the rainy weather in Texas this spring, there's no telling what you'll find in your backyard.

But Mrs. R. W. Boykin wasn't prepared for the 2½ foot alligator she spotted when she took her baby outside to soak up some rare sunshine.

Her screams brought her husband and a neighbor, who trussed up the reptile and called police. The alligator had escaped from a nearby zoo.

Believe Mining Man Took Own Life in North

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Police believe John G. McCombe, 56, wealthy mining company president, committed suicide at an isolated camp late Tuesday.

They said Sunday they were rejected an earlier theory that he was attacked while in the Toll Lake area 60 miles northeast of here, retaking claims with his nephew and another man.

Inspector Robert Waddell of the provincial criminal investigation branch said he believes it a case of suicide. Friends of McCombe, president of Fundy Bay Copper Mines, say he was in a depressed mental state last summer when he flew to Toll Lake with his nephew, Robert Orr, and Robert Harris, 58, of Sioux Lookout, Ont.

Late Saturday, police released McCombe's two companions. No others are being held.

HAVE NO EVIDENCE

"Up to now, we have no evidence of foul play," said provincial police Inspector James G. Waddell, who flew into the area Saturday with a fingerprint and photograph expert.

Authorities said the dead man's body bore considerable evidence of violence and suggested the wounds may have been self-inflicted. They said the nephew found his uncle in critical condition bleeding from deep wrist, arm and body cuts at the camp Tuesday. The nephew applied tourniquets to stop the bleeding, but McCombe died.

Both McCombe's companions said they took him to Tuesday's death until the scheduled Friday arrival of the private aircraft to pick them up. It was because their signal fires were unseen. They were 25 miles from the nearest settlement, cut off by dense brush and rocky terrain.

The two companions said McCombe had died of a heart attack. A post-mortem was held, and the body has been sent by train to Fredericton, where it is expected once lived, for burial today.

McCombe, who had lived here three years, had three sons, James 25, an RCAF jet pilot; John 23, a mining engineer at Thomins, and Michael 26, an executive of the Fundy Bay Company.

James H. Cowan Dies Suddenly Of Heart Attack

A former hotel proprietor, coal merchant and well known resident in this city for the past 36 years James H. Cowan, 68, of Bridge died suddenly in Belleville General Hospital early on Saturday morning. About a week ago, returning from his summer home at Presqu'ile Point he complained of not feeling well and that evening at his home suffered a heart attack. He was removed to hospital and apparently was on the road to recovery, when he was again stricken and died suddenly.

The late Mr. Cowan was born at Codrington, north of Brighton being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cowan. He was born on a farm and during his entire life never lost his love for the agricultural life. He received his early education in his home community and came to this city for some time later leaving the farm for business in the urban centre. He was a proprietor of the hotel business and for many years conducted a hotel in Lisle bay and later in Hastings.

About 36 years ago he came to this city opening the coal business on the Crystal Hotel from the late George Kingsley. When the city's spiritual light became legal, he made extensive improvements to the hotel and owned it for a time later for years later disposing of his interest to Charles Ash of Toronto. Feeling he was too early to retire he purchased a coal business in the city and for many years operated the Cowan Coal Company and retired about 10 years ago to enjoy the fruits of his labor.

After he sold the hotel he became interested in civic affairs and during the years thereafter could have had the community through the Fair Board and again got close to the line. He also made a director and was in that position at the time of his death. Jimmy Cowan was a lover of horses. On the farm he owned the finest type of horse obtainable and all eyes, when he drove into town with his spanking percherons was a splendid type of road horse. All his life he admired the harness horse and the feeling that accompanied all fall fairs.

REGULAR VISITOR AT FAIRS

He was a regular visitor at every fair and was always well conducted and he served in many capacities to advance the exhibitors privileges. Mr. Cowan served as a judge in practically every fair in Eastern Ontario and his opinion was eagerly sought to make that type of sport more spectacular. On the Fair Board he was a member of the race horse committee and in many programs were the result of, his judgment.

The late Mr. Cowan was appointed by the City Council at the first of the year to the Parks Board and he was given the position of management of the Fair Grounds and in conjunction with a similar position on the Fair Board, he gave a great deal of his time and ability to improving the grounds one of the finest in the province. When he first arrived in the city he joined the Kiwanis Club and was an active member for years and later a lifeway was named an honorary member of the service committee. He served on many committees although he never sought office. At all times he was ready to assist on many worthwhile projects of that Club.

Mr. Cowan was a man well liked and highly regarded among a wide circle of friends. He enjoyed companionship and his home was always open and available for any visitor entering. He was a man of friendly nature, a kind neighbor, a fine citizen and his sudden death will be sincerely regretted. He was a faithful and devout member of St. Michael's Church and fraternally was a member of the Knights of Columbus. In politics he was a staunch Conservative.

Surviving are his wife, the former Neta Regan, two sons, Ernest J. Cowan of Penticton, B.C., Gerald H. Cowan with RCAF Station at Trenton and four sisters, Mrs. Harold (Rose) Dunn of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Francis (Reta) McAuley and Mrs. William (Lila) Collins of Toronto and Mrs. Michael (Agnes) O'Halloran of Codrington. One son, Frank Cowan, was killed in an auto accident in 1948.

Albert College Programs Start Pacific 'Tour'

VANCOUVER (CP) — E. R. Warriner, chairman of the Board of Governors of Albert College, Belleville, drove with friends to the coastline of Vancouver harbor Sunday and tossed three bottles into the water.

Mr. Warriner said he hoped they would cross the Pacific Ocean and "maybe some day arrive in Australia."

Inside the bottles Mr. Warriner placed three programs of the Albert College centennial celebrations last week. He said the idea of launching the bottles on the west coast came to him spontaneously as he spoke to a crowd at the college last weekend.

Later this week Mr. Warriner will attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society in Calgary. He is a national director.

Light Voting About City

If the vote does not turn out better during the afternoon than reported up till noon, there will be no records broken in this riding of Hastings South. At many of the polling booths only a scattered number had voted and this was especially true on the East Hill. The vote was a little heavier on the West Hill, especially at Queen Mary school section. In Coleman and the upper part of Bleecker ward the vote was heavier.

The Advance Poll was not as heavy as the last election in 1943. The number who both parties are sure that the heaviest vote will be after three o'clock when the staff start coming off their shifts — or home from their day's work. It is likely that most of the votes will wait to vote until their husbands come home. This will make the reception at the polls near the closing hours and there is a possibility some will be left out but all voters inside the poll at seven o'clock are entitled to cast their vote.

Spy Sentenced To Death, Verdict Postponed on 15

CAIRO (AP) — An Egyptian court today sentenced one Egyptian to death for spying for Britain but postponed verdicts on four Britons and 11 other men until Monday.

One court source said postponement of the other verdicts probably means the court contemplates no other death sentences.

The 16 defendants, among whom including Britons James Swinburn and James Zarb, on charges that they gathered secret military information while Egypt was in a "state of war" with Israel.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY

All of the defendants pleaded not guilty except Swinburn and Zarb, who entered no formal plea. The Egyptian sentenced to death was El Sayed Amin Mahmoud, 51-year-old schoolmaster. The sentence must be approved by the minister of Egypt, highest Moslem religious authority in the country.

Thrilling Air Show Brings 25,000 to Trenton Station

About 25,000 people flocked to RCAF Station, Trenton, on Saturday afternoon to view the static and air displays at the 11th annual Air Force Day celebrations.

Twenty-two other stations across Canada were open to the public for four hours on Saturday.

Two air disasters at Air Force Day flying displays elsewhere resulted in the deaths of three airmen. Two died at London, when their CF-100 disintegrated in mid air after making a low high-speed pass across Crumlin airfield, and a T33 instructor was killed at Gimli, Man., while doing aerobatics in his aircraft.

There were no accidents at the Trenton Air Station. A member of the parasrecue team, who jumped from a Dakota at about 1,500 feet over the centre of the field, was shaken up by his landing in a plowed field that Air Force Day in the Quinte district was unmarred by serious incidents.

UNVEIL REPLICA

The highlight of the local show was the unveiling to the public of the Silver Dart, a replica of the first heavier than air machine to fly in the British Commonwealth. Hon. J. A. D. McCurdy, former Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, was the guest of honor at the station and accepted the replica of the original control column with which he piloted the first Silver Dart over frozen Baddeck Bay, N.S., on February 23, 1909.

LAC. Lionel McCaffery of Calgary, who made a small circular plane for his master's show, supervised the making of the Silver Dart replica. He and two both parties set that the heaviest vote will be after three o'clock when the staff start coming off their shifts — or home from their day's work. It is likely that most of the votes will wait to vote until their husbands come home. This will make the reception at the polls near the closing hours and there is a possibility some will be left out but all voters inside the poll at seven o'clock are entitled to cast their vote.

PUBLIC THRILLED

For the next two hours the public thrilled to demonstrations of aerobatics by jet and conventional propeller driven aircraft. T33 Silver Star jets, the RCAF's jet trainer, a CF-100 from Central Flying School, the 426 Squadron CF5, many Harvard trainers from the Flying Instructors' School, Dakotas, Beechcraft, Noorduyn Norsemen, Chipmunk primary trainer, Cl19 Flying Boxcar transports and a Vertol 11-21 helicopter from No. 108 Communication Flight at the VIP Station, Rockcliffe, participated in the air show. Flying low speed passes at low altitudes and tricky aerobatics were demonstrated by the jets, a double and single engine Harvards and Chipmunks displayed their manoeuvrability by demonstrating various aerobatics.

The small-winged planes flew by the crowd at about 200 feet and a C119 passed by with one of its two propellors "feathered" or shut down. A North Star passed by in view with two of its four engines stopped.

The air show was by far the best ever performed at the station. Cool, yet clear, weather permitted the planes to exhibit their tricks with no trouble from low ceiling or poor visibility. Saturday was perfect "flying weather."

NEW STATIC DISPLAYS

While the air show progressed many people passed through the hangars to view the static displays of No. 4 (Transport) Operational Training Unit, RCAF Station, Trenton, and No. 6 Repair Depot.

For the first time, the public was allowed to inspect the CF-100, Canada's No. 1 all-weather jet fighter, at close quarters and to examine some of the components that go into the making of a CF-100.

No. 6 R.D. also demonstrated a "Quadrafet" hut in front of No. 5 hangar. This radar unit permits the operator to "pick up" an aircraft in the air 40 miles away, bring it in to a safe landing in inclement weather and park it at a certain spot without the pilot being able to see out of the cockpit of his plane.

Scores of other static displays were enjoyed by the public, including a display of aerodynamic aircraft and mobile equipment.

SUPPLY DROP MADE

Winding up the air show was a supply "drop" by a C119 transport. Nine packages fell from the slow-flying plane to drift gently to earth below parachutes.

Four members of the famous parascue team from No. 102 Communications and Rescue Flight parashuted over the field to complete the air display.

About 100 civilian personnel of RCAF Station, Trenton aboard a Dakota and North Star aircraft, their reward for holding a lucky program number. Each person was airborne for about 15 minutes.

The RCAF Station, Trenton, and No. 6 Repair Depot bands entertained the crowd before the air show started.

A display by the Station fire-fighters thrilled everyone by their promptness and effectiveness at putting out fires.A fire was "staged" on the grass in front of No. 5 hangar and the fire reels and crews raced from in front of No. 1 hangar to extinguish the oil blaze in a matter of seconds.

Devoted Duck Did Not Budge From Her Nest

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—A devoted duck didn't budge from its nest of eggs when 13 cars of a Burlington freight train slammed into a poultry barn on Ted Wilson's farm at nearby Dayton Sunday.

Eight hours later, the duck still was sitting there, in the middle of the splinters of the virtually demolished barn.

Oldest Man Dies

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio reported Saturday the death at Kirovgev, Kirovgrad, Russia at 157 years of age and "the oldest man in the world."

"During the 1812 Napoleonic campaign in Russia, Koroyev was a kitchen boy in the service of Gen. Aleksei Ermolov," Moscow said.

The broadcast said Koroyev died in the village of Ermani in the Caucasian republic.

Asian Influenza Reaches U.S., 96 on Ship Ill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A new kind of influenza which has been raging in Asian countries has reached American shores with patients describing it in stronger language than that of the usual U.S. public health service doctors, who examined passengers and crew members arriving from Manila Sunday on the liner President Cleveland, agree it is a "mild" variant of the A-type virus known in the U.S.

Chief quarantine officer Dr. Edgar Norris said the 96 passengers and crew members who had the new type during the 20-day voyage "didn't care whether they lived or died," and ran fevers as high as 104 degrees fahrenheit before the malady ran its course in three to five days.

DOCTOR STRICKEN

Dr. Francis Galbraith, ship's surgeon, said he came down with it after treating patients for it for nearly three weeks. While it was "quite mild" and "no worse than old-fashioned American flue," Galbraith said antibiotics did no good and he fell back on aspirin and codeine.

Pro-West Govt. In Lebanon Wins at Polls

BEIRUT (AP) — Candidates backing Lebanon's pro-Western government today held 15 of 22 parliament seats decided in the first round of the little Middle East country's general election.

At stake was the prestige and life of the first Middle East government to endorse the Eisenhower doctrine. A government defeat would have been a big boost for President Nasser of Egypt and his Soviet allies in neighboring Syria.

The ministry of the interior announced that government candidates, including Premier Sami Solh, won 10 of 11 seats in Beirut.

The other 44 seats in the newly enlarged 66-seat parliament will be filled by balloting in central and north Lebanon on the next three Sundays.

Graham Believes Hell Is Lonely

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham says a lot of people believe they'll have plenty of company if they go to hell.

But the evangelist told 19,000 people at Madison Square Garden Sunday night, "I've got an idea you won't even see anyone else. I believe that's part of hell—the great loneliness of it."

He also said a lot of people feel that when they die, the pain and the bad things they've done are separated and, if the good outweighs the bad, they go to heaven.

"That's not the way it is at all," he said. "You're judged entirely on the way you stood with Christ."

RIPE FOR REVIVAL

Graham on a television program Sunday described Russia as ripe for "the greatest religious revival in history."

He said he would like to preach there "without any strings attached."

Two Overcome By Heavy Smoke

HAMILTON (CP)—A 36-year-old restaurant owner and his 12-month old daughter died Sunday when they were overcome by smoke in a fire at their suburban Westdale home.

Firemen said Benjamin Mintz was trying to save Fern, his youngest child. Mintz was roused by a maid, 18-year-old Amelia Selmaryer, who escaped from her basement apartment when dense smoke awakened her.

He lifted his wife, Mildred, out through a window, carried four-year-old Mark to safety, and returned to the house to rescue his daughter.

Firemen found Mintz' body in a closet which he apparently stumbled into while searching for the baby's room. Smoke was so dense that firemen made three search attempts before discovering the bodies.

Officials said Mintz and his daughter were overcome by gas seeping from a faulty furnace.

Victim's Father Protests Crash

OTTAWA (CP)—The father of a victim of an Air Force Day crash at London, Ont., has protested to the chef of air staff about "unnecessary risks" taken in such displays.

A. G. Sheffield of Ottawa, father of 24-year-old FO D. A. Sheffield observer in the CF-100 jet plane that disintegrated Saturday 600 feet over Crumlin airport, said Sunday night he also asked that CF-100s be grounded "due to frequent structural and mechanical failures." The pilot also was killed.

Sheffield, a former RCAF squadron leader who presented his son's wings at 1953 graduation ceremonies, said he sent identical telegrams to Air Marshal Curtis Slemon, chief of air staff, and to the commander of No. 433 Squadron, North Bay, where the plane was based.

TEXT OF TELEGRAM

The telegram read:

Regarding fatal crash Air Force Day, London, in which observer son and (Pilot) Bert Sparrow were killed, I noted from TV news covering tragedy the fly past was below minimum and further failure in the aircraft structures gave rise to no chance to escape.

I must protest to the RCAF that air crews are assigned to a duty which is pointlessly dangerous. Investigate details of accident and of what action you are taking to prevent recurrence of such a tragic display.

I also request that the CF-100 be grounded due to frequent structural and mechanical failures.

Fire Constable For Evidence In Betting Case

TORONTO (CP) — Constable Glen Bazy, charged with perjury, was suspended from the Toronto police force Saturday by Morality Inspector Ellsworth Walker.

As undercover agent for the Toronto morality squad, Bazy gave evidence against Miles Podwinski, 51, of New Toronto. Podwinsky, convicted of taking bets on horse races, got the warrant for Bazy's arrest.

Bazy was retained after his arrest as the crown's main witness against Joseph Dionese, 49, of Toronto, charged with keeping a common betting house and engaging in bookmaking. Acquitting Dionese Friday, Magistrate R. P. Locke said "I wouldn't convict anybody on the evidence I've heard today. I disbelieve Bazy's evidence in its entirety."

Motion Picture To Help Decide Cause of Crash

ST. HUBERT, Que. (CP)—Air Defence Command headquarters says it has launched an "intensive investigation into the crash of an RCAF CF-100 jet interceptor Saturday during an air show at London, Ont.

An ADC statement said:

It is hoped that a motion picture was taken of the accident and will be available to the RCAF Command headquarters to assist evidence of eyewitnesses and to assist the investigators in studying the sequence of events in detail.

The film indicates that sudden structural failure occurred, and for reasons yet undetermined, the pilot and the observer failed to achieve a successful ejection.

AIRCRAFT POSITION

The statement said was in No. 2 position of a formation of three aircraft making a line-astern pass over the airfield. The leader of the formation and the pilot of No. 3 aircraft stated during interrogation after the flight that their aircraft were flying well within the limitations and that the manoeuvres carried out entailed in so far they could observe no stressing of the aircraft which was not normal to the day-to-day operations of the CF-100.

Both FO Sparrow, the pilot, and FO Sheffield, the observer, were well experienced and comprised a well-qualified air crew team. The fact of their tragic regarded young officers is sincerely and deeply regretted by Air Defence Command.

The technical investigation into the cause of the accident commenced Saturday evening and will be supported by the assistance of all agencies available to the RCAF.

VOTING IN THE UN

Dorothy Thompson, the distinguished columnist, has criticized the structure of the United Nations, declaring that its voting system militates, in the long run, against Europe and America.

Her criticism is based on the fact that all of the member states of the UN have one vote, but many of them are extremely small, 20 having populations under 5,000,000 each.

"The voting strength of these small states is obviously out of all proportion to capacity to exercise any form of real international responsibility or to their actual power—even to their power to defend themselves, and in most cases, to finance themselves or develop their own economies," she writes. "Their 'sovreignty, independence and integrity' are, therefore, in reality a legal fiction."

All that is true, but it is easier to see the flaws in the present system than it is to suggest any alternative which would provide both justice and efficiency.

Is population to be the basis for representation? If so, how can one quarrel with a situation, as Miss Thompson does, in which Asian-African members could almost, of themselves, prevent the forming of a two-thirds majority should they vote together?" Certainly, on the basis of population, Asia and Africa are entitled to at least as much voting power as that they now enjoy as the result of little states having a voting power the equal of the greatest nations. On population basis, Red China, if admitted to the UN, would have at times the voting power of the U.S. and 23 times the voting power of Britain. Would that please Miss Thompson? Would that provide a UN structure which does not "militate against Europe and America? Obviously not.

Moreover, if population is to be the basis of voting in the UN, if international questions are to be settled by counting heads, it becomes necessary to determine whether delegates actually represent the heads being counted. In the final analysis, this is an impossible task. Even in a democratic country, the governmental policy on any given question is not contrary to the wishes of a majority of the population. But, at least, it would be necessary, if "rep by pop" in UN matters was to be justified at all, to make certain that the people being represented had had the opportunity freely to select their representatives.

Miss Thompson's reference to the lack of "actual power" possessed by many of the member states of the UN seems to hint that she believes voting power should be linked to actual power, in the military and economic fields. This may shock some, but it is a realistic approach. It is, indeed, exactly what the founders of the UN had in mind when they gave the "Big Five" veto power in the Security Council. There is as much to be said in favor of this approach today as there was when the UN charter was drafted at San Francisco, save for the fact that it is hopelessly unrealistic to permit Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist China regime to retain veto power when it is, in fact, powerless to exercise power in the world. Even those who most vigorously oppose the admittance of Red China to the UN ought to be willing to agree that Nationalist China has no right to retain this veto power in the Security Council.

To apportion voting power in the UN in strict accordance with a nation's military and economic power would, however, strip the organization of any pretence of being an impartial body. The great powers ought to be subject to some check—and this is exactly what happens today in the UN Assembly, with each nation, large and small, having the same voting power.

The present system has indeed honesty forces one to admit that it is not even satisfactory. But it is extremely difficult to suggest any system which would not be open to at least as serious objections as those levelled against the existing one.

MEN AND MACHINES

After the installation of a three million dollar electronic brain, one man and a stack of punch cards will be able to operate the entire steel-rolling operation of Algoma Steel Corporation at Sault Ste. Marie. This is a portent of things to come in many forms of business, the substitution of the mechanical "brain" for the human brain—automation.

The effects of this form the most insistent problem in business and social future of man—how man shall control and wisely employ the machines he has built. (London Free Press.)

SURGICAL GOLF

With surgeons skillful, golf I've played,
And other feet it has seemed to me
That from the course their minds had strayed
They'd left some one in suffering greet
They could not for the time forget.
And more important was his fate
Than any putt they had to make.
Club presidents must give a year
Without reward to serve their pin;
So many with complaints appear
They cannot even beat the
Enough to concentrate they try,
Their thoughts on other cares expel;
When I was playing, even I
Could often beat our president.
Good golf is for the care-free few,
They think too much," as Shakespeare said.
Their shots are often off the
And on their minds are problems grave.
The older men have much to do

They have too many cares to win.

Counting Votes Of Servicemen

LONDON (CP) — Scrutineers sent from Canada have begun counting the votes of Canadian servicemen stationed in Egypt, Germany and the United Kingdom.

The results will be sent to Ottawa as soon as possible, and added to the total cast in today's federal election.

The marked ballots of Canadian servicemen overseas—plus those of their wives, voting for the first time—were conveyed to London by courier during the weekend. The number of votes was not disclosed.

Getting out the vote in Egypt was a job calling for just about every means of transport, except the camel. Buses, jeeps, staff cars and planes were among the methods used. A number of Canadian wives, living in Israel, made their way across the desert to participate, said reports reaching army sources in London. Names were not given.

Interest in the Canadian election remained high in Britain, with nearly all weekly magazines and Sunday newspapers publishing feature articles on aspects of the campaign.

BURNED BY FLASH

HAMILTON (CP) — A crane carrying a 60-foot-long steel beam came close to a high-tension power Friday and 115,000 volts of electricity which jumped the gap burned two Toronto construction workers. Gordon Gooderham, 27, and William Bibby, 37, are in fair condition in hospital with burns to hands, arms and chests. They were unloading the steel beam for the Burlington skyway project.

STUDENTS ARRIVE

MONTREAL (CP) — Sixty-eight Scottish and English students arrived here by plane Friday night to start a summer of "exploring Canada." James Pickett, travel director of the National Federation of Canadian University Students which arranged the trip, said most of the students will work in Canada this summer with a view to possible emigration after completing college.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

(By CHRIS LEGGAT)

St. Joseph's (12th Belleville) Cubs and fathers held their annual banquet on June 1st.

Grace was said by Rev. Father Buckley and 32 Cubs sat down with their fathers to a delicious turkey dinner prepared by the Cub mothers, under Mrs. Vince Muldoon. The ladies spared no effort to make this a banquet to remember. The tables were tastefully laid and shared honors with the wonderful dinner served.

Chairman Andre Mercier presented the guests, A.D.C. Phil Allcorn, Bill Meagher, St. Joseph's P.T.A., and Barney Smith, guest speaker, Mr. Smith delivered a very interesting talk on fire fighting and prevention.

Plays and demonstrations by the Cubs rounded out a most enjoyable evening.

The 12th is a comparatively new group with 26 Cubs. Wm. H. Sweet is the Okela and A.C.M. is Edna Lalonde. It is a very active pack with several boys almost ready to go up to Scouts. We will hear more of this growing group.

SCHOOL FOR DEAF GROUP

We are pleased to publish the story of the 16th. Belleville Scouts as told by Mr. Jack Hodgson, who, with the other members of the Ontario School for the Deaf, is doing a tremendous job. The entire success of the Movement is of course, dependent on the enthusiasm of the boys themselves. A few members of the Local Association visited the Cubs the other night and to hear the Grand Howl and see the demonstrations put on by these Cubs, provides proof of the careful training by the teachers and the wonderful co-operation of the boys.

To the Cubs, Scouts, Brownies and Guides we offer our sincere respect and admiration.

Here is Mr. Hodgson's story on the group:

The 16th Belleville Cubs and Scouts are a unique group, one of the few of this kind in Canada. They are all pupils at the Ontario School for the Deaf. Their scouters are all members of the teaching staff, specially trained to break through the "sound barrier" and bring to their lads so much that is good in scouting.

The Department of Education, through the school superintendent Mr. J. G. Demrau, is the sponsoring body. Their group committee, with Mr. Demrau as chairman, instead of being parents or neighbors of the boys, are men in close contact with them in school life. Mr. F. Harris, housefather of the Boys' Residence is treasurer; Mr. A. J. Clare, guidance teacher, is secretary; Mr. J. F. Wilson, bursar, is member at large, and Mr. J. W. Hodgson, teacher in the vocational department, is vice chairman and scouter (a representative to the Local Association.

The troop and pack must receive their training during the school year, missing out on summer camping and kindred activities. Even Saturday Scouting is different, for, unlike normal groups their Scouters have been with them all week.

Meeting place difficulties which plague many Scouters are no problem to them. A comfortably equipped permanent Scout room is used for instruction and equipment storage, while the spacious auditorium is available for group activities. The sponsoring body has done everything possible to make both Scouting and Guiding a success.

The language handicap has necessitated some re-arranging in the tests. The akela, Mrs. K. R. Graham, in consultation with the group committee, has accomplished this without eliminating any tests. Two ACM's who shared in Cubbing since the beginning in October 1955, Misses Jean Harper and Gwen Legault, are leaving the staff this June. Miss Shirley Boyce was appointed ACM last March. They have helped with five of whom are new this year. Clifton Carbin, Peter Sicoli, David Carson and Carl Masters are the Sixers.

The Scout troop under Mr. Bill Williams has 28 Scouts of whom five are new this year. At the moment there is no assistant Scout Master. John Cyopeck and Steve Chontos are the Patrol Leaders.

Participation in Apple Day, church parades, weekend Scout camps and many other shared activities have proven, both to fellow Cubs and Scouts and to the public, that their handicap makes little difference. Indeed after the recent Quboree events some wondered if they were not compensated by having such superior athletic ability.

Good Scouting O.S.D. Your Buchan Scouters are colors highly respected.

English Girls Seeing Canada By Motor Scooter

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two English girls touring by motor scooter stopped here to restore their finances after a trip from Toronto.

Pat Fitzgerald, 19, and Shirley Coulikett, 18, both of London, England, met last August on a lake trip from Toronto to Niagara Falls. They pooled their resources to buy the scooter and leave Toronto. Before either had left England, they had had the idea of working at different places in Canada so they could see the country.

They started out from Toronto with a stake of about $335, but spent most of it on the way. They went through Sudbury, Manitoba took a ship to the lakehead and spent three days in Fort William before continuing.

The girls went to work for a secretarial firm here to recoup their finances for the next jaunt. They travelling about 140 miles a day, they intended heading for Calgary, with a possible stop at Regina. And with the weather warming up, they figured on being able to use their tent on overnight stops.

Their ultimate destination is Vancouver, but time of arrival there is unimportant to them. Once they get there, they said, they have an open mind about what they will do next.

Memorial to Nellie McClung Is Dedicated

OWEN SOUND (CP)—A memorial to Nellie McClung, reformist and author, was dedicated Saturday on the farm near here where she was born in 1873.

The memorial was erected on the former Mooney farm near Chatsworth by the Grey County Women's Institute. Nellie Lillian McClung, journalist grandmother, of Edmonton, was present at the unveiling of the cairn.

A leader in the fight for women's suffrage and a tough battler against the liquor traffic, Mrs. McClung wove herself into the pattern of life in the Canadian West for 60 of her 77 years. She died in 1951.

Her granddaughter expressed appreciation to the Women's Institute for their 11 years of work on the project, and also to Dr. Charles Landon, chairman of the Historic Sites Committee of Canada for his co-operation. She also thanked Health Minister Phillips of Ontario, Tom Jacques, Canadian poet laureate and friend of Nellie McClung and Mrs. H. Pearce of Owen Sound, instrumental in the project.

Central Council H-S Assoc. Has Annual Meeting

The Central Council of Home and School Associations of Belleville and district held its annual meeting on June 5th.

Presiding at the meeting for the presidents of the Home and School Associations, or their representatives, was held at Latimer's Town Room.

The head table had an attractive arrangement of purple and yellow iris and spirea, flanked by silver holders with white tapers. Some 18 were invited to the dinner and to meet Mr. Lloyd Curtice, area vice-president of the Ontario Federation.

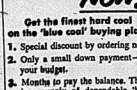
The group later adjourned to the Corby Public Library for a summary of the year's events. The recording secretary, Mr. H. Hall, in his report stated that the council, with the consent of the Board of Education, introduced a student accident plan for public school children that had met with the approval of a large majority of parents.

Personal prizes of leather book binders have been given to the winners of a spelling bee, and the annual "Open House" had been planned by the council.

Other items of interest included: guidance for the Mentally Retarded Convalescent Home for mentally retarded infants at Bowmanville; letters to parents the advantages of the branch libraries operated by the public library in certain schools; sending delegates to the regional convention and to the provincial convention held in Toronto each year.

Mrs. R. O'Neil, corresponding secretary listed a number of letters sent by the council. Invitations and invitations to the Workshop were among letters sent by executives to keep them informed.

Mrs. Charles Powell, president of the council, thanked the retiring officers for the valuable help she received during the year and for the support of each association.



Mrs. Lloyd Courtice was then introduced by Mrs. Powell. The link organization in the Federation was so necessary to keep councils and associations informed, she said, as a federation to have some one from Federation to do this. In her remarks Mrs. Courtice explained various phases of the Ontario Federation and the plans to help individual H. & S. Associations.

The question period followed with much information exchanged.

Following this Mrs. Courtice installed the executive for 1957-58: President, Mrs. Charles Powell; vice-president, Mrs. R. Jones; recording secretary, Mrs. C. Watson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. N. O'Neil; treasurer, J. Godwin; executive members, Mrs. J. Kilfedder, Mrs. R. Knowlton, Mrs. K. Silliker, Mrs. D. Garlepy, Mr. K. Parks; publications convener, Mrs. R. Hall; program convener, Mrs. W. Paradis.

She also expressed her best wishes for continued interest and success in each association.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Courtice on behalf of the council in token her first visit to Belleville in connection with Home and School associations. Several plans were discussed before the meeting was brought to a close.

STIRLING — On Friday evening over 300 people attended a dance recital by the pupils of Miss Freddine Smith in the Stirling theatre.

Some 35 children, who have been taking lessons in the Legion hall since last fall, and who are pupils in the Stirling school, presented a very colorful recital which was very applauded.

This group was augmented by a more advanced group of Belleville children, who contributed several numbers.

The theatre platform was decorated with baskets of peonies, tulips and other spring blooms while the back of the stage was decorated with scintillating colors which added to the attractiveness of the costumes in varied rainbow hues.

The colored lights enhanced the beauty and numerous relatives and friends took flash pictures throughout the evening. The performance lasted almost two hours and was well received by the audience.

Women's Activities

VICTORIA BAPTIST M.C.

The Women's Mission Circle of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church met recently in the church parlor. The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. A. E. Berry, in the chair, and Mrs. H. Wellbanks at the piano.

The Scripture was read from Acts 9: 36-42 by Mrs. J. Payne, and the Bible study was taken by Mrs. W. Neil, who chose as her theme "Christian Living" the Christian Era," following most appropriately the Scripture reading.

Mrs. Berry gave a most interesting report of the spring rally held at Calvary Baptist Church, Cobourg.

Prayer was read by Mrs. Madill (White Cross convener) from Dr. Grace Stuart's letter that the food box had arrived in good condition and that the Flour and cream cheese were especially enjoyed.

Mrs. C. Campbell had the honor of presenting Miss Leavitt with a life membership certificate in the Women's Mission Society.

The usual reports were read and business transacted.

BABY LAYETTE

On display was a lovely baby layette nearly completed and the ladies were informed that the White Cross hospital sewing was all finished and would be sent away soon.

Mrs. Arnold Orr had charge of the program for the evening and chose as her topic, "First Impressions of India," by the new missionaries recently arriving there as language students.

Plans were made to hold the June meeting in the form of a potluck picnic at Leavitt's Island.

A special White Cross offering was taken.

Mrs. Breese led in prayer for India.

Israel Labor Relations Begin In Home

MONTREAL (CP)—In Israel labor relations begin at home. Eyen housewives are organized, said Mrs. Idelson, Israeli delegate to the triennial conference of the International Council of Women.

"Housewives work easily as hard as the average factory worker or business girl," she said in an interview. "And as well, we want to stress the connection between the home and the union so that the women of the house can better understand her husband's affiliation with it."

These unions don't perform the usual union functions.

"They look after 18,000 children —orphans or from homes of working parents," Mrs. Idelson said. "Also, they assist in the domestic education of women from backward countries who are newly arrived in Israel and whose standard of living must be brought up to that of their new country."

FROM RUSSIA

Mrs. Idelson, a professional statistician, went to Israel from Russia 31 years ago and worked for four years on a collective farm before taking up women's work and politics.

She has been a member of the Israeli Parliament for the last nine years and is chairman of the 600,000-member Council of Women's Organizations.

There are 10 women in the 120-member Parliament, she said, representing the highest proportion of women in any Parliament but that of Finland.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

ON WELCOMING FIANCEE INTO FAMILY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My husband's son has just become engaged to a girl whom we have never met. We realize it is our duty to welcome this girl into our family, and to tell her of our business in the engagement. We also realize it is our duty to make the first social move to this girl and her parents, but we do not know exactly how to go about this as this boy's mother is living, and I am only his stepmother. His father's second wife. His mother has undoubtedly expressed her happiness in the engagement. Now his father and I would like to express our happiness, and welcome her into our family. We need your help about how to go about doing this. Could we write a note of congratulation to express our happiness in the engagement, and to welcome her into the family?

2. Also if we are invited to the wedding reception should we attend? Or should we just send the wedding present and not attend?

—Reader.

1. You did not tell me anything about the relations that exist between your husband and his former wife and their son, and of course this would doubtless have an important bearing on what part you should take in the "welcoming" of this girl you have not met. My judgment would be that it would, undoubtedly be the way of wisdom and discretion for you to leave to your husband, the father of the youngest young man, the writing of this important letter of good wishes and welcome. This is his responsibility, not yours, and with this I'm fairly sure the son and his fiancee would agree. Then from now on you should feel your way with a gracious sensing of the suitable part you should take.

2. Undoubtedly the bridegroom's father would be invited to the reception as well as to the ceremony (unless an extremely awkward situation would prevent this) and I'm quite sure you would then be invited also. You and your husband will have to decide whether he will go to the reception alone, or if you and he will go together. It is proper for you both to go to the reception if you are invited . . . and if the relations are friendly.

WHO PAYS FOR FLOWERS OF BRIDAL ATTENDANTS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My friend says that each usher pays for the flowers of the bridesmaid who is his partner. Is this right? — R.

No. The flowers of the bridal attendants are generally provided by the bride's parents . . . since these flowers are planned to be an important part of the color-scheme of the wedding. In some communities, however, these flowers are paid for by the groom (at his request) even though chosen by the bride. But the usher should not be expected to assume this expense . . . except sometimes they are made to feel that this responsibility is theirs.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

CONDITION LEGS NOW FOR SUMMER EXPOSURE

Legs massaged with a good lasolin lotion remain sleek and smooth even when exposed to the sun.

Hoseless days are just around the corner, and many's the sigh of relief we hear as pretty girls start packing away their nylons for the summer. Mingled with the sighs of relief, however, are the woe-begone sighs of girls who've neglected their underpinnings during the long winter months. For we might as well face it, girls, if legs aren't sleek and smooth and have a nice tan, they've just got to remain covered. Only the most attractive ones can stand strong sunlight inspection. So, what to do, if you've neglected yours? Get busy, that's what!

Now's the time to start giving your legs a daily beauty treatment so that you, too can doff the nylons on those summer occasions when hose are not required. Keep up the following program all through the summer—in fact, 365 days a year—and you'll never have to be ashamed of your underpinnings.

Legs should be scrubbed with a bath brush and lots of soap each every day. Incidentally, a soapy shower several times a day in warm weather is fine and refreshing, but bare legs need extra scrubbing if skin's to remain clear and fine. Use the brush briskly on toes, heels, the soles of your feet, and your knees, to discourage pesky patches.

If you have a heavy growth of hair (or even a fine one), use a razor or depilatory as often as necessary to keep them smooth. You won't neglect this if you examine your legs carefully every day.

Give your legs plenty of lubrication. Every night after your soap-'n'-water session, massage legs thoroughly with a rich emollient cream or with a lanolin lotion. This will not only keep them in their prime soft-textured state, but will ward off possible leathery-ness due to exposure.

Remember that the day before your vacation starts, or the night before an important week-end, is too late to start getting your legs in shape. Only daily care will keep them smooth and attractive enough to be displayed in public.

First Married Woman Minister Is Ordained

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Mrs. Elinor Leard has emerged from an ecclesiastical controversy as the first married woman minister in the 33-year history of the United Church of Canada.

However, church Moderator Rev. Dr. James A. Thomson has served notice he might exercise his "privilege" to appeal the decision to the church's judicial committee.

He sent his objections in a telegram to London Conference of the United Church before it decided Thursday night to include Mrs. Leard in ordination ceremonies along with 10 male candidates.

An overflow congregation of several hundred attended the ritual in First United Church where Mrs. Leard was ordained.

About 30 years old, Mrs. Leard is the wife of the Rev. Earl Leard, who is finishing a course at Colemen University while on furlough from missionary work in India. They have three small children, the oldest six.

ASSET IN MISSION FIELD

The attractive mother completed theological studies some years ago before marrying. She took no part in the dispute over her ordination but told reporters she thought it "essential" she be ordained in order to continue helping her husband in India.

Her chief opponent was Rev. Clare Oke of her home presbytery in Kent County—she is from Charing Cross near Chatham. Dr. Oke argued strongly on her behalf during the vigorous debates of the last two days.

In his telegram Dr. Thomson said Mrs. Leard's ordination would be contrary to regulations. He asked that the decision be left to the church's judicial committee.

The conference's committee on colleges and students had recommended the case be tabled for further consideration. The committee contended Mrs. Leard could not work full time because of her children and had let her name drop from the list of applicants for ordination two years ago.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

LEVIS AREN'T SUITABLE FOR SCHOOL

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

It is the custom in our school for girls to wear levis on Friday. The principal maintains that they are opposed to this, and in some of the neighboring schools it's not permitted on the ground that it's a vulgar and very sloppy way for the girls to dress. We don't agree, because the majority of the girls look very neat and anything but vulgar in levis.

Things are now reaching a point where some action will have to be taken, and we would appreciate some advice from you as an impartial bystander. — Confused

Dear Confused:

As an impartial bystander, my opinion is that, no matter how neat some girls may look in levis, this is definitely not proper attire for school. What is appropriate to wear in one place may be quite different from what is suitable for wear in another, and only a girl who is not yet grown-up enough to know how to dress appropriately for each time and place, would think of appearing in the wrong clothes at any place.

Why don't your girls show your teachers that you really are grown-up, and not still children, by dressing like the young ladies you should be?

PRINCIPALS MOVE

AMHERSTBURG — Harold Adrian of Chatham, has been named public school principal here. Mr. Adrian fills the vacancy created by the resignation of George Stephens who has accepted a position at Elliot Lake. Mr Adrian is now teaching near Sarnia.

Good Health Gives Adolescents A Head Start

By Mary Moore

You mothers of middle-teeners, would get a terrific response - I think - if you would direct them to these rules — Canada's Health Rules.

Our young people are genuinely distressed over a myriad of trifles, such as splitting nails, splitting hair, falling hair, straight hair, blackheads, pimples, bad breath, flatulence, buck teeth. Some are too short, too tall, too fat, too narrow, too thick, too thin.

Nobody seems to be exactly right except Miss Universe and Mr. Atlas and we don't know what is guessing at their secret hearts. Maybe she wants to be Marilyn Monroe and he wants to be popular like Elvis we.

I can tell you one thing. They are well on the road to reaching all their secret adolescence desires if they know and practice —

CANADA'S HEALTH RULES:

Pin up for all to see. (Approved by the Canadian Council on Nutrition, 1949.)

1. MILK:

Children (up to about 12 years): at least 1 pint. Adolescents: at least 1½ pints. Adults: at least ½ pint.

2. FRUIT:

One serving of citrus fruit or tomatoes or their juices: and one serving of other fruit.

3. VEGETABLES:

At least one serving of potatoes; and at least two servings of other vegetables, preferably leafy green or yellow and frequently raw.

4. CEREALS AND BREAD:

One serving of whole grain cereal; and at least 4 slices of bread (with butter or fortified margarine). Note from Emen: Preferably bread should be 100% whole wheat.)

5. MEAT AND FISH:

One serving of meat, fish, poultry, or meat alternates such as dried beans, eggs and cheese. Use liver frequently. In addition: eggs and cheese: at least three times a week each.

VITAMIN D:

At least 400 International Units daily for all growing persons and expectant and nursing mothers.

If they once adopt this regime, good health and happiness is theirs and all other goals are within reach.

Election Campaign

Will Improve Lot of Farmers Says St. Laurent

PC Leader Relaxes After Hot Campaign

QUEBEC (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent blanked a outlet that he would today allow ending his campaign for re-election to the Quebec East seat.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Laurent were to vote today in the Quebec federal constituency where their home at suburban Compton Heights, Que., is located, although Mr. St. Laurent runs for re-election in Quebec East.

He spoke on the farming theme at a rally in Quebec Saturday night, two of them in other constituencies, including his own Quebec East.

"Farming was a basic industry and just as dependent on general policy and more sensitive to the economy," he said.

At St. Croix in rural Lotbinière, Mr. St. Laurent said the Liberal government's scheme for "orderly marketing" would help farmers to get a fair market at prices "not too far removed from the cost of living."

Farming was a basic industry and just as dependent on general policy and more sensitive to the economy, he said.

At St. Croix in rural Lotbinière, Mr. St. Laurent said the Liberal government's scheme for "orderly marketing" would help farmers to get a fair market at prices "not too far removed from the cost of living."

At Quebec West, where he spoke for Liberal Rene Beaudin, who is running against Conservative Wilfrid Dorais, the progressive Conservative member of the last Parliament, Mr. St. Laurent said it is important that farming grow with the rest of the country's economy.

Mr. St. Laurent added that this policy of improving farming conditions did not mean consumers' interest will be overlooked. He said the Liberal government has shown in the past it is conscious of consumer problems.

He drew applause when he said he had learned from his daughter-in-law's family visit to Quebec "what a few weeks' vacation does for you."

"Some of my younger associates look all tired as I do not appear to be," he said.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Stumps again after six weeks of intensive campaigning across Canada, Conservative Leader Diefenbaker Monday will be awaiting today's returns by Candidian voters on whether his Progressive Conservatives will form the next government after 22 years of Liberal rule.

Mr. Diefenbaker had a busy schedule for election day, however. After voting at 9 o'clock (noon EST) today, he was scheduled to leave by plane in mid-afternoon for Regina where he is to appear in a television program tonight. He is expected to fly back to Prince Albert later in the night.

In an interview Sunday the 61-year-old Progressive Conservative Party leader said he was confident of victory and would "do the decent thing" which he travelled almost 30,000 miles.

He had western lawyer, making his first bid for the prime ministry, addressed his final campaign meeting at Nipawin Saturday night before an audience of about 200. Nipawin is 90 miles east of Prince Albert.

Earlier Saturday, Mr. Diefenbaker travelled by car to six small communities in his constituency, speaking for about five minutes at each stop. The places visited were Meath Park, Foxford, Wakaw, Hoey, Kingston, Choiceland and Whitebear.

At Nipawin, he outlined a "trade policy for Canada in the '60's" and stressed "the need of action in opening up northern areas of each of the provinces."

He told his audience that under a Progressive Conservative government, federal funds would be made available to the provinces towards implementation of roads-building programs.

"All social security measures would be preserved" if the Progressive Conservatives took office.

Mr. Diefenbaker was to end his campaign on Tuesday evening of this week—chairman, Don W. Rodgers; secretary, Duncan Montgomery; program chairman, George Lyons; advertising chairman, James Hall; correspondence, Harold C. Martin; finance, R. Bruce Bell.

6 European Nations Abolish Trade and Travel Barriers; New Treaty Signed March 25

PARIS (AP)—Six European nations have declared their intention to abolish trade barriers between their borders and to establish free movement of labor, capital and business enterprise among themselves.

The treaty providing for a common free trade area was signed in Paris by the six countries—France, Italy, West Germany, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and Belgium.

While the treaty is concerned mainly with trade and commerce, the European Statesmen who put their names to it see it also as a political completion. Its main moving spirit, President Spaak of Belgium, says in it the seed of a united Europe.

SCOPE FRIGHTENING

The thing is so enormous in its conception that most of the people who helped bring the treaty into being are beginning to be frightened of it.

Some industrialists and many farmers in each of the countries are against the plan, fearful it will confront them with competition such as they never dreamed of before. That is exactly what the treaty is intended to do.

By terms of this treaty all protective tariffs and protective quotas among the six countries disappear. Many of backward industry in France, Germany and Italy will be crowded to the wall.

Cheap German automobiles and chemicals can sweep into the French markets. Cheap Italian wines will dominate the German market. Some industries can be saved by new capital which will permit modernization. Some can't.

EUROPE NEEDS BOLDNESS

Spaak insists that without such a bold move as this, Europe will continue the decline begun after the War. It argues that by 1970 one of the six countries can now make the big automobile which will be their trade commodity to exchange for other goods, or the production of the six combined.

With their strength pooled, all that can be changed. Already the same six are working out a treaty for common development and use of atomic energy.

Introduction of the common market tariffs is not to be a sudden thing. The tariff cuts are spaced over a period of 12 to 15 years within the common market area.

But another important thing is that all six countries will impose uniform tariff barriers against outside countries. That starts right away, on Jan. 1, 1958.

This has already frightened many exporters in Britain and other Western European countries not included in the area of the common market.

These six countries are working out a considerable program of assistance to speed the trade area. This is called the "second phase" of the treaty.

What is the difference between the "common market" area of the six countries, and the larger "free trade area" which Britain is pushing as a supplement?

In the common market, all six countries progressively cut out all tariffs on goods shipped to one another. Then they agree on one common tariff schedule for all outside countries.

The free trade area would include the six common market countries plus Britain, Ireland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland, Austria, Portugal, Greece and Turkey. Spain and Yugoslavia might eventually join the plan.

Each country in this expanded area — except the six "common market" countries — reserves the right to fix its own tariffs to protect its own industry. But it agrees with other countries in the area to get rid of as many tariffs as possible, to eliminate as many restrictive quotas as possible and to put as many articles as possible on the "free" or no - tariff list.

Once the treaty is in effect all

'Subsled' Used to Cruise Over Top of Spawning Beds

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Stephen Mc-Glashan studying the love life of fish are watching the fish from a new perspective.

A 10-foot plastic sled called a submarine glider or "subsled" now permits a marine scientist to cruise leisurely over spawning beds and nurseries for a good look when he chooses.

The subsled which made its North American debut in the province earlier this month, is adapted from a European invention. It is the latest scientific device which the biological bureau of the provincial game and fisheries department has adopted.

PROGNAN "DRIVER"

The "driver" will be Dr. Gustave Prevost, bureau director, who lies on the 75-pound sled in finger-like pilot and is towed by a boat. Motory can be attached to the sled and may be later.

Regulation of compressed air tanks permits the sled to cruise at any desired depth or hover. With it a biologist can cover far larger territory as he could by swimming.

Dr. Prevost, charged with guiding the inspection, study, increase and protection of the province's fish life, already knows a thing or two about what goes on at the bottom of a lake.

There was the case of the vanishing lake trout in the Laurentians, a general phenomenon with one lake indicating that the decline had been mysteriously arrested.

Using frogman equipment, Dr. Prevost detected that lake trout which spawn in rocks, were being cobbled up at the egg stage by coarse fish which lack rocky areas too round and smooth to offer suitable hooks for the eggs.

In the lake where the trout were surviving, he found the spawning beds were furnished granite on a railway fill where protective rocks abounded.

MISSING TROUT

Dr. Prevost, who has six hatcheries turning out 30,000,000 game fish fingerlings a year, isn't always able to find the underwater answers. Still missing are some African trout imported and released a few years ago.

Quebec boasts about 10,000,000 lakes, most accessible by air alone, and an angling industry worth $75,000,000 a year. About 65 cents out of every $100 of this goes into fish and lake work, a figure which Quebec game officials boast have called "probably" a more drop in the bucket.

"Some existing lake claims in Quebec's northern limits now have not spent fishing but," says Deputy Legendre, chief bureau biologist, "either because of pollution or the inroads on game fish by coarse fish imported carelessly as bait."

He said it would take "millions of dollars" to restore angling in such areas. Meanwhile, the province's big task is an "inventory of natural resources" running down populations of the fish, their enemies and the plants, insects and other factors affecting their existence.

Successful lake restocking depends on such things, says the bureau headquarters at the University of Montreal employs a chemist, an ecologist, lake survey expert and a parasitologist among others.

Bauer 'Boner' Paid off If Not Funny

DETROIT (AP) — New York Yankees had their own private little joke today about "Bauer's beautiful bonus."

Manager Jack Tighe, whose Detroit Tigers dropped a 9-4 decision Sunday when Yankee outfielder Hank Bauer tried to steal second with the bases loaded—and ended the set into the winning run—thought the whole matter was very unfunny and called it "the rock of all rocks."

There was agreement on one point. Bauer conferred with Tighe parallel slow 4:04.4.

on the "rock of all rocks" statement and said it was the first time in his long career that he had run a teammate off base.

There were two outs, the score was tied and Yankee Bat the bases loaded in the eighth inning when Bauer lit out for second base, already occupied by Bobby Richardson. But before Tigers could tag Richardson for the third out when he left the bag, Bill Skowron raced from third base with the deciding run.

AUSSIE MILER WINS

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Australia's great mile runner Merv Lincoln, won his third mile four races in the United States when he beat out Laszlo Tabori of Hungary and Bobby Seaman of California in that order Saturday night. The time was a comparatively slow 4:04.4.

Jaguar Wins Car Race

JARVIS, Ont. (CP)—Jack Ensley of Indianapolis coasted his D-type Jaguar to an easy victory Saturday in the 100-mile Canadian Carrera for sports cars after the only other racer capable of giving him a battle was forced out in the early stages.

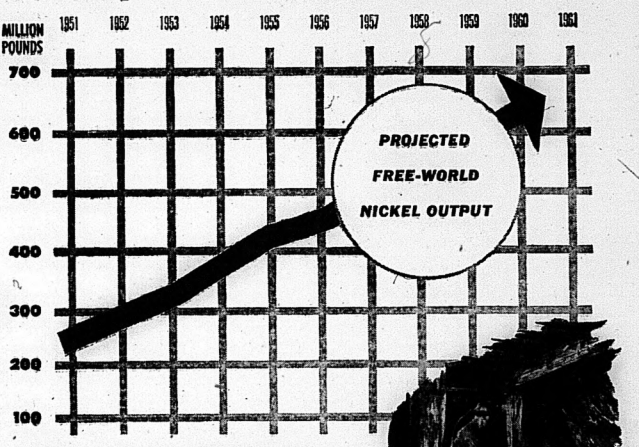
Ensley finished with almost a five-mile lead over Tom Gilmour of Toronto, who drove a polished race in a little Mark IX Lotus with only a third of the big Jaguar's engine capacity.

Art Bunker of Kansas City in a Porsche RS Spyder hung furiously on Ensley's tail for eight laps before suffering a breakdown, forcing the Jaguar to one lap of 89.9 miles an hour. Ensley eased off after that, finishing with an average speed of 77.80 mph.

Bunker, Index winner in the same Porsche at the 14-hour Sebring Grand Prix of endurance in March, easily outran the field in the event for sports cars under 1½ litres with Gilmour second.

A crowd of 5,000 watched the eight-race program.

FOURTH STRAIGHT TITLE



CHANTILLY, France (AP)—Henri de Lamaze of France won the French Amateur golf championship for the eighth time and fourth year in succession Saturday, defeating Col. Ken Smith of the United States Air Force, 7-6.

"Leave him in, boys. Them guys'll be so tired from running bases we're a cinch to win the double-header tomorrow!"

Inco Research helps Canada grow

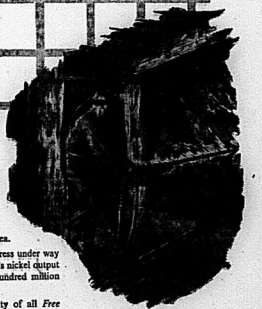
Nickel industry increases production capacity another 50%

Paced by Inco's new developments in Manitoba, producers put 1961 Free World nickel output at 650-675 million pounds a year—up 130% over 1951

In 1951, the nickel industry of the Free World produced about 290 million pounds of nickel.

Last year, the overall output of the industry set a new record high of 450 million pounds.

This was an expansion of more than 50% in five years—a substantial production boost that indeed benefited industry, but only after vital defense and government stockpile needs were given preference.



New Inco developments help set new goals

Right now Inco, with years of exploration behind the project, is pushing construction at its new Manitoba mines—developing in the far North a new, big-tonnage nickel-producing area.

In 1961, this, together with the progress under way at Sudbury, Ontario, should lift Inco's nickel output to 385 million pounds a year. A hundred million more than in 1956!

With the steadily increasing capacity of all Free World producers, in the next four years nickel production should be lifted to the all-time high of 650-675 million pounds a year.

With 1961 capacity anticipated at more than twice what it was in 1951—and with continuing research and exploration—nickel users are assured of more nickel in their future.

Orioles Turn Giant-Killers; Redlegs Take 2 From Brooks, Regain Lead

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

LOOE'S DAY OR IT IS DIET

It is not all beer and skittles running a law office, an alderman's job and a softball team. The aldermanic position with its many problems, such as city managers and what-not is not altogether a sinecure. The law business is good. At least every legal beagle in the city is well-dressed and has a well-fed look—but the softball business—ah, there's something that has its worries.

Ask one, Robert Temple, Boss Kitty of the Belleville Bobcats.

Young Robert has a problem. He needs a topflight pitcher for his Cats. And he needs one badly if he is going to get anywhere with his club. Likewise he needs some hitting ability if last week's performance can be judged a criterion.

True the Cats blanked Trenton 6-0 but they were weak at the plate with an 8-0 shutout in the hands of the Marines and an 11-7 setback in a clash with the unbeaten Ox Point nine.

And we are not taking anything away from the Marines Tommy Thompson, who came within an inch of tossing a no-hitter in 1951 stint against the Cats. Mebbe Maree Thomas Hocking spoke slightly out of turn. Remember the Rev. m'lad.

Meanwhile the Point Anne machine is rolling along its unbeaten trail. Today they are batting 1.000 with a 5-0 record mainly because of the rubber arm of Pat Marack. Pat has chalked up four of the team's five victories. And it appears the Ox Pointers are taking no chances. They have Maracle and Brannigan and recently added a southpaw—Mather, who might prove the answer to the Pointers championship prayers.

But it is a long way from here to the figurative Tipperary's championship circle. The Goyer Marines and Turk Barclay's Merchants, not forgetting the Bobcats and Bata crew in the very mix in the picture. The latter in a somewhat whacky schedule has played but two games, splitting the decisions while the Ox Pointers have played five, the Merchants six, the Bobcats five and the Marines, Trenton and Madoc four each.

The picture could change somewhat this week with the Frankford-Bata club in the spotlight. They clash with the Merchants tonight here and take on the Marines and Trenton Monday night at home. Thursday they meet up with the Ox Pointers at Point Anne—and that should be a thriller.

Point Anne should stretch their record to 6-0 tonight when they entertain the fighting crew from Trenton. Madoc will go after its first victory tomorrow night at Trenton while Wednesday the Bobcats try their luck at Madoc. Friday night the Marines wind up the week's schedule entertaining the Trenton club.

Currently Bobby Bowen is toppling the league's hitsmiths with a .471 mark. However, Bobby has been to the plate but 13 times. Davy Jones is actually the lumber king to the moment. Davy has a .459 mark created through eleven hits in 24 times at bat. The Jones boy garnered eight hits in his last two games out. Gerry Goyer, of the Marines and Guy Austin of Trenton, each have marks of .444 while also entering the with records of .421 are Claude Jones and Keith MacDonald of the Merchants and Jack Elliott of Point Anne.

Sorry, we cannot mention "Ole Peeve' 'in today's column. He hasn't "come t'rough wit da pay cheques" for the past month. He's saving his dough to go to L.A.

Hand Chisox Twin Defeats As Yankees Nip Tigers 5-4; Phillies, Dodgers Share 2nd

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Birdie Tebbetts thinks National League pitching is better this year than at any time since he became manager of Cincinnati Redlegs in the winter of 1953.

Back in his best oratorical form following Sunday's 3-1 and 3-0 doubleheader sweep of Brooklyn Dodgers, Birdie took time out to make a couple of other observations on the National League race as his team headed for Pittsburgh today, back in first place.

"I said back in March that Brooklyn was the team to beat for the pennant," said Tebbetts, "and I've seen nothing to change my mind although Milwaukee has been knocking us down every time they've played us. With the possible exception of Philadelphia Brooklyn has the finest young pitching in the league. The way Johnny Podres, Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax have been going, the Dodgers can't miss. Sal Maglie in the least."

Cincinnati today received some pretty good pitching of its own Sunday as Brooks Lawrence, Tom Acker and Hal Jeffcoat limited Dodgers to one run on 18 innings, boosting the Redlegs back into first place, a game and a half in front of Brooklyn. Jeffcoat's shutout not right was his first in the majors but it was the first complete game by a Cincinnati pitcher in the last 14 outings.

In other action, Chicago Cubs topped Philadelphia Phils 7-3 in the opener and played them to a 4-4 tie in the second game, called by the Sunday curfew after nine innings. Actually, Cubs had scored in the 10th but had to return to the ninth inning tie.

BRAVES IN FOURTH

Milwaukee finished the day in fourth place, 2½ games back, by splitting a pair with Pittsburgh, winning the first 2-1 and dropping the nightcap 5-3. St. Louis took a doubleheader from New York 2-1 and 10-7.

Don Hoak was the big man for Cincinnati, driving in four of the six runs with a homer in each game. George Crowe also homered for Cincinnati and Gil Hodges's eighth roundtripper was the only Brooklyn run in the 10th.

Lawrence was the winner in the opener with help from Acker after he was lifted for a 3-2 lead in the eighth. Jeffcoat struck out nine in taking the second.

It took an 11th inning single by Roberto Clemente to help Braves take the first game on Johnny Logan's double and Eddie Mathews' homer in each game, his 14th and 15th, tying for the lead.

Stan Musial played his 821st consecutive game, only one short of the league record held by Gus Suhr of Pittsburgh in 1937, as Cards split with Reds. Emil Boyer's homer helped Vinegar Bend Mizell pitch his first complete game of the season for Cards. Eleven Cards went to bat in the sixth inning of the second game scoring runs to nail the game despite a three-run homer by Don Mueller who had four hits.

On Saturday, Brooklyn walloped Cincinnati 9-4 and St. Louis edged New York 5-4. Philadelphia at Chicago and Milwaukee at Pittsburgh were rained out.

Herb Score Is on Mend

BALTIMORE (AP) — Indian pitcher Herb Score is en route to Cleveland for another examination of his right eye, injured by a line drive May 7.

Interviewed briefly on a network television show Sunday night, Score said he had a tentative date for Tuesday with Dr. Charles I. Thomas, Cleveland eye specialist. He will retain the Indians if the doctor approves, he said, but added that Dr. Thomas will approve at this stage of recovery.

Score told a reporter two feet away he hadn't make out his features "and two weeks ago I wouldn't have been able to do that at all. I'm satisfied I'm on the mend."

Moore Wants 'Sugar' Fight; Is Suspended

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

You can call them the Baltimore giant killers from now on after the job the Orioles did on Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees over the last two weekends.

Paul Richards' Birds edged into sixth place Sunday by sweeping a pair from their league-leading White Sox to make it three out of four in the series. Only a week ago they gave Yanks a dose of the same three out of four medicine in their own ball park.

Billy O'Dell, a 34-year-old southpaw making his first start of the season, struck out 11 while he was in Sunday's second game shutout, 5-0, after homers by Tito Francona and Bob Nieman helped Orioles ace reliever, George Zuverink, win his sixth in the opener, 7-5. Baltimore now has won eight of its last 11 games.

Moore Suspended

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Light - heavyweight champion Archie Moore plans to fly to New York tonight to negotiate for a title match with Sugar Ray Robinson.

The announcement was made Saturday by Moore's manager in Germany, Baron von Stumme. Stumme said they hope to stage the match in Los Angeles, where it would — as Stumme put it—"draw close to a million dollars."

Stumme said if negotiations are successful, the bout will be promoted by singer Frank Sinatra.

Moore was suspended Friday by the National Boxing Association when he did not appear in Detroit for a title bout with Tony Anthony.

Moore, who is on an exhibition tour of Europe, told reporters he had been unable to get to fight Anthony and therefore didn't appear.

Stumme said Moore's suspension has no effect in New York and California.

Meanwhile Moore was offered $100,000 to defend his title against third-ranked Hans Stretz of Germany next September in Los Angeles.

Gil Eaton, promoter of Los Angeles' Olympic Auditorium, made the offer Saturday to Moore's manager, Charley Johnson in New York.

Big Four To Adopt New Draft System And Sponsor Junior Clubs

TORONTO (CP)—Big Four pro teams decided Saturday to adopt a draft system for the junior league to replace the present individual sponsorship.

The semi-annual meeting of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union agreed to make the Canadian Junior Big Four a subsidiary sponsored league in the pros.

Big Four president Bob Moran said he hoped western teams would respect territorial rights involved and leave the junior teams alone.

Until now Toronto Argonauts have sponsored Toronto Parkdale and Montreal Alouettes have operated Hamilton Wildcats. Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders do not sponsor clubs in the Big Four although Ottawa sponsors Windsor AKO of the Junior Ontario Rugby Football Union. It will continue this sponsorship.

But instead of individual teams controlling players in the Junior Big Four, an annual draft will be held.

Under Canadian Football Council regulations, the western teams are prohibited from touching players with Parkdale, Wildcats and AKO. The Big Four is asking them not to attempt to sign the other six Junior Big Four teams—two in Toronto, and four in the Ottawa-Quebec area.

McFaddin said Storey was dropped because he has been only a part-time official, working early football games and then handling National Hockey League games when the hockey season began.

Asked why Simpson was not invited, he said only that "he wasn't offered a contract."

Seymour Wilson, rated the top official in Canada until he quit several years ago to handle the referee-in-chief's assignments, returned along with Sammy Richardson, sidelined for a year with injuries.

HOW TO BUY A GOOD USED CAR

HOW TO DETECT Piston Slap

In an old or badly worn engine the cylinders may be badly worn, causing the pistons to slap and make a noise very similar to detonation. Since piston slap is much more serious than detonation, it is important to be able to tell the difference.

Here is the secret: Piston slap tends to lessen as the engine warms up, while the noise of detonation becomes greater.

Herb Score is on Mend

BALTIMORE (AP) — Indian pitcher Herb Score is en route to Cleveland for another examination of his right eye, injured by a line drive May 7.

Interviewed briefly on a network television show Sunday night, Score said he had a tentative date for Tuesday with Dr. Charles I. Thomas, Cleveland eye specialist. He will retain the Indians if the doctor approves, he said, but added that Dr. Thomas will approve at this stage of recovery.

Score told a reporter two feet away he hadn't make out his features "and two weeks ago I wouldn't have been able to do that at all. I'm satisfied I'm on the mend."

It's always C·C·M· for safe fun!

Lyford Cay Breaks Record In Runaway Plate Victory

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — There's no denying Lyford Cay. Not after it's run the opposition here in circles in the qualifying heats to the point where it's left them all in the dust with the personal aid of the horse's sire, the great producer Hanover Hall, and the best driver in the business, Stanley Dancer.

But the question now is can Lyford Cay do it again? Tonight's running of the $50,000 added Canadian Trotting Classic for 3-year-old colts at Toronto Greenwood Raceway will provide the answer with a pay of $1,000,394 for the eight-race card, the first $100,000 harness event of the year and the richest ever staged on the home soil, the million-dollar mark.

PARI-MUTUEL BETTING

Over $1,000,000 alone was wagered on the Plate Stake for Canadian-bred three - year - olds over a distance of 1¼ miles. More than $100,000 of this wagered on Taylor's Dream and it was also the putting money in the bank as this gelding of Lyford Cay and Chocolette played one-two in that order, outclassing the 13-horse field.

There were about 18 lengths of daylight between the Taylor colors and Flying Atom which came in for the show money. Lyford Cay paid $5.10, $4.20 and $3.60 and Flying Atom $4.50.

Lyford Cay was timed in 2:02.3, nearly a second faster than the Canadian record of 2:02.2 established by Ballydonnell on the New Woodbine track last October.

Leif Aker, the 5-to-1 public favorite, and Ali's Pride, who succeeded the M. J. Boylen colt as the people's choice with inspectors eye eating workouts, were also-rans. Leif Aker never better than fourth, finished ninth and Ali's Pride was fifth.

It was a handsome pay-day for Taylor. As a matter of record the purse of $98,685 was the largest in the history of this oldest annual continuously run race in North America.

Taylor probably needs the money the way he does another horse. He has saddled three previous plate winners—Spic in 1949, Major Rose in 1951 and Canadiana in 1953—and brief three days that wound up in the winner's circle carrying the colors of other owners. They were McGill in 1950, Spartan in 1952 and Canadian Champ last year.

He has been Canada's leading breeder and money winner in recent years and his breeding farm in northeast Toronto is the largest in the country.

Lyford Cay developed sore legs after winning a division of the Plate Trial last Monday. This week's kinks outside the Taylor stable and the chalk-eaters made the Taylor horses prohibitive 1-to-8 favorites at the late-Saturday post time.

Lyford Cay, ridden by Avelino Gomez, the leading jockey on Canadian tracks the last three seasons, shoved his nose out in front at the quarter-pole mark and the race was won right there. The gelding gradually increased his lead over the field, was never seriously threatened, and his victory was one of the easiest in Plate races in years.

Chequette took over the second spot from long-shot Holiday Ted after three quarters and this colt, running under the colors of Mrs. Taylor, easily withstood all challenges.

WINS ON EXTRA HOLE

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Nick Westlock of Windsor Essex, no stranger to the winner's circle in Ontario golf, captured the Southern Invitation tourney and the C. C. Macdougall Trophy here Saturday afternoon but he had to do it the hard way.

Westlock, who saw an early lead fade when his game went haywire, wound up in a tie for the lead with Jack Kenny of London Highland, each with two-over-par 74's. Westlock won the event on the first extra hole.

Leafs Split With Columbus; Royals Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There are two former major league pitchers in the International League who will send a surprise to their opponents when in their mid-40's are ready for the big league. If you don't think so just ask Lou Kretlow and Johnny Schmitz.

Kretlow, a 34-year-old former American Leaguer, proved it to Toronto Sugar Kings Sunday when he pitched Buffalo Bisons to a 1-0 two-hit victory over the Cubans in the first game of a doubleheader. Havana came back in the nightcap to rout Buffalo, 12-3. Add Schmitz, a "real oldtimer" at 36, who spent more than 16 years in the majors, and your assortment of junk pitches to lead Toronto Maple Leafs to a 7-2 romp over Columbus in the second game of a twin-bill. Columbus edged Leafs in the opener, 5-4.

Rochester Red Wings took a firm hold on fourth place by defeating Miami twice, 6-0 and 3-0, and dropped Marlins into the second-division by one-half. Fred Kipp, after seven successive defeats finally came up with his first victory as Montreal Royals trimmed Richmond Virginians 4-1 in the first game of a doubleheader. The second game was postponed by rain.

Kretlow stopped Sugar Kings cold in the seven-inning opener, but Havana came back in the nightcap with a 13-hit assault off three Buffalo hurlers as the Cubans batted around in both the second and third innings for a total of 11 runs.

Jets blasted four Toronto pitchers for 7 hits in the opener, including Eddie O'Brien's first home runs of the season, and got to Schmitz for 5 hits. He had no trouble in gaining his third triumph as he had Jet batters swinging at his assortment of "junk" pitches.

Leafs got only four hits in the second game but they picked up an early lead in the first frame as bunching two doubles between two walks.

Skip Lockhed nine hits in getting his win but he fanned five and left Leafs on the bases. Royals got 11 hits off Jim Kite, the loser, and reliever Wimpy Nardella.

Royals scored three runs on a double, a single, another double and two more singles in the fifth inning.

In Saturday's games, Columbus doubled Toronto 8-4, Richmond edged Montreal 3 - 2, Rochester won over Miami 7-6, and Havana took a 4-3 victory from Buffalo.

FAMED SIRE DIES

LONDON (AP)—Nearco, Italian-bred race horse who became British sire's most successful sire, died Saturday.

The famed sire of Nasrullah, Dante, Nimbus and Sayajirao was 22. He won the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe in 1938 and was unbeaten in 14 races

He sired 568 winners, most of them running on British and American tracks. His granddaughter Carruzza won the Epsom Oaks classic for fillies Friday in the colors of Queen Elizabeth.

Oakville Loses First Game

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors are making a drive to catch unbeaten Hamilton Beavers who hold down first place in the Great Lakes - Niagara League.

Majors, who trail the Beavers only team to beat them this season—by one game, moved into second win in two nights as they blasted North Tonawanda Bisons 12-4 at Oakville Saturday night.

The visiting New York club connected a comedy of errors afield, committing 15 miscues to make a relatively easy task even easier for London, which now has a 3-1 record compared with Hamilton's 4-0 mark.

At Brantford, Niagara Falls Kerlins picked up their second victory against two defeats as they beat Red Sox 8-1 with a pair of ninth-inning runs on two singles, a sacrifice bunt and an error. Sox are winless in four games.

In the Intercounty Senior League, Milton Merchants blasted bases-loaded triple in the eighth to win his own game as Listowel Legionnaires edged Oakville Oaks 6-2 at Listowel.

Celtics Split With Spurs Over Weekend

MONTREAL (CP) — Glasgow Celtics scored two second-half goals Sunday to whip Toronto Hotspur 2-0 in an exhibition soccer match before 8,207 fans.

It was Celtics' first win of the four-game North American exhibition series with Hotspurs. Spurs won 3-1 Saturday in Toronto.

Neil Mochan, inside right, broke through the Hotspur defence midway through the second half to score the first goal. He picked up the ball 10 yards from the goal, turned and drove Ron Reynolds, booted the ball neatly over his head and between the posts. Three minutes later centre-half Bob Ryan charged in from the right, picked up a pass and sent the ball low into the right corner.

Spurs had been beaten only once before in four outings. They lost 2-0 to the British Columbia All-Stars in Vancouver.

Centre forward Bob Smith thrilled a crowd of 24,198 in Toronto's Varsity Stadium Saturday night as he scored all three Hotspur goals. He opened the scoring after 40 minutes in the first-half with a low shot into the left hand corner of the net. n.

Celtics' Bertie Peacock evened the score after 15 minutes in the final half before Smith came back with two more goals to wrap up the win.

'Cat's Kitten' Is Proving Apt Student

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — Remember Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, former St. Louis Cardinal southpaw who piloted National League hitters in knots a decade ago?

Chicago White Sox do after watching Billy (Digger) O'Dell of Baltimore chop up their American League lead Sunday.

O'Dell, a 24-year-old student of The Cat, now Baltimore's pitching coach, blanked Sox 5-0 after Orioles had whipped Chicago 7-6 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Brecheen, whose great career included three world series victories over Boston Red Sox in 1946 while hurling for Cardinals, has been tutoring O'Dell and predicts:

"He'll be one of the best pitchers in this league as soon as he develops a change of pace."

STRIKES OUT 11

O'Dell, making his first start of the season, limited the Sox to 6 hits, walked two and struck out 11.

"I wasn't worried," he said later in the clubhouse, "because I kept getting stronger as the game went on.

"Sure, I've copied Brecheen's style. What's wrong with that? He and Paul Richards (Baltimore manager) taught me everything I know. I never dreamed I could throw a fast ball until they got hold of me."

"He'll be a great one," said Brecheen. "Wait until he gets that change up down pat. Discounting Herb Score (Cleveland), he's the best young pitcher in this league. He has a lot of heart, good control and he isn't afraid. He's done well for us in relief. He went against Washington recently and faced 10 men, getting them all out. Just wait, he'll be a great one."

ITALY ADVANCES

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Italy won the doubles match from Brazil and Saturday to advance to the semi-finals of the European Zone Davis Cup tennis eliminations.

Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli, who had swept the opening singles matches Friday, defeated Vladislav Skonecki and Joseph Plateak, 6-2, 6-7, 6-2 to give their country a 3-0 lead in the best-of-five series.

Italy's semi-final opponent will be the Denmark-Sweden winner.

Quinte Country Club Golf

Ten foursomes teed off at the Bay of Quinte Country Club yesterday in a scheduled mixed two-ball match.

Winners of the low gross score with a 48 were Anne Acton and Doug Grant with first low net of 44 going to Doris Hogle and Dan Mahoney. Second low net was won by Doris McLean and Mike Tomaso.

The putting contest was won by Gerry Carlisle and Steve Bowerman.

The next two-ball foursome is scheduled for June 28.

Jake Mintz Dies of Heart Attack

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Fight manager Jake Mintz, who discovered Ezzard Charles and guided him to the world heavyweight boxing crown, died Saturday in hospital after suffering a heart attack. He was in his 60's.

He entered hospital last Tuesday after he suffered a heart attack prior to a boxing match in Ohio last Saturday night.

Mintz discovered Charles while promoting fights and making matches in Pittsburgh. The Cincinnati Negro won the heavyweight crown from Jersey Joe Walcott June 22, 1949.

Mintz, whose newest protege was Edmonton middleweight Wilf Greaves, worked hard to keep his fighters in the limelight. He entered the fight business as a boxer, campaigning some 40 years ago under the name of Jack O'Boyle.

Mintz was in Charles' corner the night he lost the world heavyweight crown to Rocky Marciano in a return bout July 18, 1951. Mintz said his ticker was responsible. He said Charles was not ready for the bout.

Mintz is survived by his wife and two daughters.

CERISOLES WINS

CHANTILLY, France (AP)—Cerisoles, owned by the Rothschild stables and ridden by jockey Paul Blanc, Sunday won the Prix de Diane, opening the French society racing season. Cerisoles was a favorite.

Palmer Nips Doug Ford in Golf Playoff

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer believes Doug Ford will win the national open golf championship this weekend at Toledo Inverness.

Palmer, 27-year-old former national amateur king from Latrobe, Pa., made his prediction Sunday after defeating Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., on the sixth hole of a sudden death playoff for the 54-hole golf laurels.

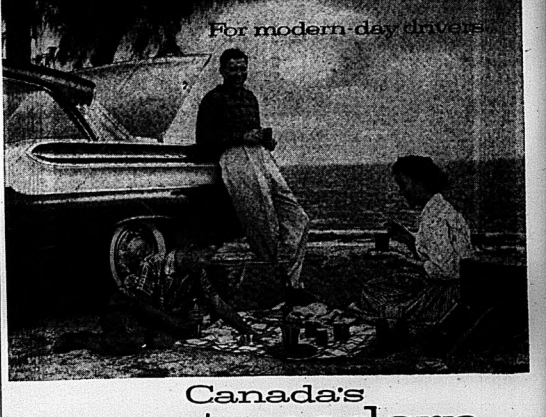
Two chip shots which found their way into the cup for birdies were the big difference. Palmer, first to win three PGA-sponsored tournaments this year, went into the final 18-hole round tied with Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., at 204.

The two 27-year-olds had a comfortable three-stroke lead over Ford, fiery Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles, and fourth-ranking Bill Nunnery of Dallas.

But Finsterwald couldn't get a birdie or a beater in the final round, finishing the card for a 77.

WRESTLING IN MONEY

Gerry Kenniking of Kildeer hit 36-26-72 for a 134 total, tied for 26th place and won $120. Al Balding of Toronto hit 34-40-74 for a total of 78 for 72 holes.



In the Houston Open Palmer defeated Ford by a stroke, but he said after Sunday's play:

"Doug is the best golfer around today. He's never in trouble, and trouble is what the Toledo layout here seems to be in hunches. Ford is on top of his game, and it's getting sharper. Look at his scores—70, 68, 70 and 68—he got better every day. I think he'll win the open."

CAPTURES BIKE RACE

MILAN (AP)—Italy's Gastone Nencini edged out the great Louison Bobet of France and a pack of favored foreign aces Sunday to win the 40th Tour of Italy, world famous bicycle road race.

Oakley Wins 1st Walk Race

TORONTO (CP)—Alex Oakley of Toronto finished 18 minutes ahead of his nearest challenger to win the Gladstone Athletic Club's first Oshawa-to-Toronto walking race Sunday.

Oakley, a member of the Toronto club who represented Canada in the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne, covered the 33-mile course from the city hall in Oshawa to the city hall in Toronto in five hours, 35 minutes, 35 seconds.

Second among the 11 finishers was John Rowe, of the same club, in 5:54.

Harry Loaman, 71, of Woodhaven, N.Y., oldest entry, and Pittsburgh's John Deni, 55, who walked for the U.S. in the 1948 and 1952 Olympics and was a speedskater in the 1936 Games, dropped out along with several other Americans after 20 miles because of chills.

Harness Racing

PETROLIA (CP)—The Boxer, owned by Norm McIntyre of Charing Cross and driven by Donc Campbell of Ailsa Craig, turned in the best time of the day, 2:08 2-5 for the mile in the first harness racing meet of the season here Saturday.

The Ramsay Stakes, run off in four sections, saw a four-horse crack up that sent Bud Gibson of Wallaceburg to hospital with a broken hip.

Gibson was driving Smith brothers' entry from Wallaceburg, Lily Chief in the final heat of the stakes race. His cart and three others became entangled on the first turn.

OTTAWA (CP)—Sally Sue from Arnprior captured both heats of the invitation pace at Connaught Park Saturday in times of 2:11 and 2:11 3-5. Sally was driven by J. Findley.

Trickie Grattan from Angers with H. Filion at the reins took second place in both heats.

In the C place, Bessie B. Sultan from Schomberg captured the first heat while High Lee Harvester from Galt took the second. The Schomberg horse was third in the second heat while High Lee failed to get in the money in the first one.

Smiths Falls horses claimed victories in a D trot and a D pace. Hi Acres Flynn handled by S. Craig took the trot and True Sue driven by C. Baker won the pace

W. Simmons brought Authentic from Owen Sound in for second money behind True Sue.

AT THE McCARTHY—Henry Fonda is the star and co-producer of the dramatic jury room film, "12 Angry Men", which opens today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre through United Artists release. His fellow producer, as well as author of the screen play is Reginald Rose.

tion in hazardous matters, handling machinery, vehicles, tools, etc., otherwise you can advance in your occupation, be happy in domesticity.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — This day's irresponses, with somewhat mild, can, nevertheless, challenge your fine ability to produce. Do more than is expected in whatever your occupation or line of endeavor. Create!

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Mark time, reflect, then start firmly on your schedule. A well planned program always makes for greater ease, and less anxiety, no matter how difficult the tasks. Be duly confident; don't worry.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Grand influences from your Uranus and the Moon should spur you on to bigger and better achievement. Get started early at your tasks, maintain a reasonable tempo and it should be a red-letter day.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — This day is in our hands — to mold and handle as your natural intelligence dictates. However, be careful to avoid extremes, over-confidence. Remember, even small achievement is gain.

You born today are active, versatile, imaginative, highly gifted and adaptable, are affectionate and self-sacrificing, but often your quality of nature manifests itself in moods which cause you to be misunderstood. Concentration of effort, steadiness of purpose and contentment with projects — at least until you have given them a chance to prove their worth — are needs. Curb shruginess, impatience, extremes. You have such varied talents and capabilities that you must not waste their possibilities through changeability. Birthdate: John

By FRANCES DRAKE

For Tuesday, June 11, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A lively pace and a calm, smooth disposition will help you get through places (if any) this stimulating day. Show extra initiative and interest for better results.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — A pleasant, resultful day for you sturdy, intelligent and practical folks. Merchandising, stock handling commodities of use to family; community and general needs now honored.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — This day's results will depend largely on you. Difficult matters may require more effort on your part; also more patience; familiar tasks can run smoothly, profitably.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Be careful about emotions and your personal attitude; it might be tempting now to let your temper or private opinions get out of hand. Your day is happy and resultful day if you wish.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Mild influences. Be wise. Don't let over-confidence or a tendency to dominate defeat the attainment which can be yours. Cooperate cheerfully, but hold firmly to your principles.

August 24 to September 22 — (Virgo) — The more serene you are, the easier will you handle any knotty problems — and you will come out a winner. Remember, everyone has disappointments; appreciate your blessings.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Similar now to Taurus and Cancer. Be your sensible well-balanced self; weigh important undertakings and decisions carefully and you can have success.

October 24 to November 23 — (Scorpio)— Saturn, inauspicious, stresses a need for sensible cau-

CANADIANS MOVE

FIVE BLUDGEONED

He walked into his father's and mother's bedroom and struck them on the head 10 times each. He went into his sister's room and bludgeoned him, too. Next he despatched his wife. Then he strangled his daughter.

Afterward, Sinclair went to the bathroom, removed his clothing, washed and dressed.

He scrawled five notes on envelopes and piled them on the table. A sixth note, which he jammed in the mail slot in the front door, said:

"Doris, or whoever gets here first, please don't go in. Call the police."

Police said Doris was a neighbor but withheld her identity.

Sinclair left the house, got into his car and drove to the Queen Elizabeth Way. He went half a mile along the highway in the wrong way until he reached a service station. He turned around. Then he drove at high speed into the abutment where Highway 27 overpasses the Queen Elizabeth Way.

HEARD THE CRASH

Constable Jack Burdon, a Metropolitan Toronto traffic policeman was just driving off the cloverleaf at Highway 27 when he heard the crash. He saw Sinclair's car bounce off one abutment and crash into another.

A provincial policeman from nearby Port Credit, constable Peddy Cain, went to the Sinclair home. His knocks were unanswered so he broke open the front locked back door, accompanied by a neighbor, Burton Mabee. Police called without a reply. Then they went to a funeral home for Mr. Mallin to call the coroner, Dr. Cook.

Another neighbor, Ralph Moore, noticed the back door open and saw the police Sinclair's hat on a dresser. The grandfather never went outdoors without his hat. Suspicious, Mr. Moore entered. He found bloodstained on the floor as he entered a bedroom.

The neighbors said Sinclair had taken great pride in his house and family. A cousin said Sinclair had looked forward to the reunion with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. E. Goss of St. Paul's United Church where the couple attended regularly. They sent their children to Dundas school, said the visitors would meet next Sinclair's parents and thought them all happy and contented.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — Sunday School and church services in Christ's Johnstown on Sunday afternoon. Rev. C. A. Puttenham's sermon was found in Deuteronomy 6th and Rev. 22nd taking the Jewish profession of faith "Hear, O Israel: the Lord is one Lord".

"Love the Lord with all thy heart" Gods when Israel went into Canaan: some worshipping Baal's Gods. The Bible said: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God and thy neighbor as thyself". Today the essence of religion is turning to God. One must love God first before he can love his self or neighbor.

"Some say, "How can I love God? It seems to be so vague and vague. This world seems so much more real and God gets crowded out. This is a real problem with many people. If the Book had said "God" would serve the purpose. This would have been problem enough. Real love grows with the experience of living with someone. We must do those things that will help us. Reading and fellowship ment on the heart will keep us from being in different about us and not forget God. Also in the RELIGION IN THE HOME

"The Israelite was bade to teach religion in the home. We should talk about religion in our homes for God will become more real to us if we talk about Him and our children will know Him better. To love the love of God is to have it on our tongues, with an outstretched hand to help others so that others will see God in us.

"Those who enter into the new Jerusalem will have a mark on their foreheads to show they have been redeemed. A Jewish custom was to put a mark on their doorpost so that all would know they belonged to God.

"We are too modern to have Scripture quoted to us in these days. We are wondering if that very thing has not helped one to find Christ. Scripture memorized has been in a tight place. God will use Scripture to bring comfort. It has been our close companion through the years.

Mrs. Fifty Tinney, of Campbellford, and Miss Ruth Dorman spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harry.

Mr. Arild Renne and Ola, of Oslo, Norway, were guests over the weekend of Mr. and Mrs. I. Inglis.

Mr. Arnold Meyers is spending a week with his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hubbs of Petrolia.

Mrs. C. J. Brunt spent several days with her friend Mrs. Smith of Trenton, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James McFarland and Carey, of Glen Miller, called on Mr. and Mrs. George McLean, on Wednesday evening.

The sympathy of the neighborhood is extended to Mrs. Joseph Hubbs in the loss of a husband and father, Mr. Morris Sickle.

The many beautiful flowers show how much Mr. Sickle was loved.

The Johnstown ladies spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bush were Saturday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon.

Sorry to report that Mrs. G. C. Sickle has had a heart attack in front of her daughter in Hamilton where she has been staying at Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mikel's.

The Johnstown women's association met in a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McLean, of Belleville, on Thursday afternoon.

The service opened with "Let the Beauty of Jesus be Seen in me" followed by the Lord's prayer. The scripture reading was by Mrs. Jack Ferguson, Job 2nd: 1-10 with the lesson story by Mrs. Alva Meyers.

"A man of great character was Job, for tempted came he through ways, personal suffering the loss of family and possessions, even death itself, and he said, "Though He slay me, yet I will trust Him".

We have no such things to bear as Job had. We live in a world of good changes; but changes are won for Christ if the world is to be saved, for God cannot work in the world without us. Let us ask God to save the nations beginning with our own.

"Our forefathers worked hard to make this nation what it is today. We are geographically and historically and naturally a favored people. We have much to be thankful for. We have so much and others so little in this world that God has given us. We are not such a nation if we are spared.

"The constant increase in temperance, gambling, sexual excess in this land indicates that we have forgotten the gifts with which God has entrusted us.

"Today, the race is not enough, they have to have two, also to stop quarreling, Jealousy, envy and hate in the room as well as having a large one downstairs. Let's pray people to be thankful for us rather than play them ourselves. Creativeness is such a world real we must have all but a few areas of life.

"In such a prosperous, but automatic world people tend to be conformists. This is the greatest evil which the love of Christ has to fight. People are afraid of being left out, afraid of nonconformity to be such Christians is to be different.

"The early settlers came here chiefly because they refused to conform to a political or religious dictatorship. It would be tragic if this heritage were sacrificed for which the Lord has given us. We should not be lost, and the only way this can be done is to be true to Christ to the truth of the gospel of Christ, that it is prosperity, and the fear that destroys moral fibre. A people are in greater danger when they are rich than when they are poor. It is necessary if this nation would save its soul that it be willing to offer its prosperity in response to man, and therefore to God.

Mrs. Clapp thanked Mrs. Wesden for the use of her home. A letter from Mrs. Lyon was read from Mr. G. McLean for flowers sent during his illness. A donation was given to the board. Mrs. E. Sickle and Mrs. Grant will have charge of the meeting in July and the strawberry money was collected.

Mrs. Maitland Harder will have the next meeting at her home. A duet and several readings were read, "Fear of old age", by Mrs. Jack Ferguson. "Old Age Has Its Star", by Mrs. Earl Alcock. "A Thought", by Mrs. Alex Meyers. A social half hour was enjoyed after the meeting closed.

DESTINIES

M. J. Coldwell, 55-year-old CCF leader, and Solon Low, 57-year-old Social Credit chief, followed less strenuous tours, sticking mostly to the western provinces. Each suffered a heart attack during the last Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker, selected as Conservative leader last fall, opened the main attack. Mr. St. Laurent, Liberal chief, followed him with a defence of his administration. He counter - attacked later in the fight.

The issues were varied. Mr. Diefenbaker charged the Liberals with strangling Parliament. Mr. St. Laurent said that was the "rankest kind of tommyrot."

Mr. Diefenbaker said he would increase old age pensions and reduce taxes. Mr. St. Laurent said the Conservatives' proposals would increase instead of reduce taxes.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he would help the provinces get a better tax deal from the central administration. Mr. St. Laurent said the Liberals would mean more for Ontario and less for the other provinces.

Mr. Diefenbaker committed the Mr. St. Laurent was trying to pit province against province in an effort to retain power.

TO BUILD DAM

The Conservatives, besides their proposals to increase and reduce taxes, made various promises, promised to help build the South Saskatchewan dam in Saskatchewan and provided payments for farm-stored grain on the Prairies.

Mr. St. Laurent promised "to do our best." But he intimated that something would be done eventually in providing federal aid for the Saskatchewan dam and for construction of a Seaville canal way to link Prince Edward Island with New Brunswick.

Mr. Coldwell promised increased social security measures, a national housing and building legislation; and parity prices for farm products. He related these proposals to earnings in other industries.

Mr. Low's main proposals was a universal old age pension. The current payment of $40 a month is $46 on July 1.

An issue in this campaign was Mr. St. Laurent's age. The 75-year-old Liberal leader, 18-year old leader would try to get the Liberals back into power and his retire. Mr. St. Laurent said that was a lot of nonsense. He said he had been re-elected right in 1961 or 1962.

On Sunday, Mr. Diefenbaker replaxed at his Prince Albert home, awaiting election results.

Mr. St. Laurent continued to stomp his home riding of Quebec East. He said that a prosperity continued, his government would see to it that all Canadians shared in it.

QUEBEC TRADITION

Sunday political speeches are a tradition in Quebec, marking the beginning of the campaign which could be found in large groups near many cities.

Of the 65 Commons seats, one has been returned by acclamation in the Newfoundland riding of Burin-Burgeo. Liberals. In the Ontario riding of Wellington South has been deferred until June 24 because of the death of Henry Hosking, Liberal.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis June election in history. In 1953 the vote was held Aug. 10. The standings: Liberals, 171; Progressive Conservatives 51; CCF, 23; Social Credit, 15; Independent Liberals, 7; Labor-Progressive, 3; Liberal-Labor, 1; total, 265.

Deaths, resignations and other events have changed the standings slightly. At dissolution of Parliament Tuesday, the 265 vote was: Liberals, 168; Conservatives, 50; CCF, 22; Social Credit, 15; Independent Liberals, 7; vacant 7; total 65.

SOME CAST

Some general balloting starts today, some votes already have been cast. Some of the 117,000 members of the armed forces and the 7,000 service wives started voting Monday. Polling stations were open last Thursday, Friday and Saturday for those who knew they'd be away from home on election day.

The season may have some bearing on the size of the vote. In the 1953 August balloting, many Canadians were on summer holidays. A total of 7,401,965 votes were cast—67 per cent of those eligible. In the June 27 vote of 1949, there was a record turn-out—74 per cent of those eligible or a total of 8,900,578 ballots.

Mighty Iron-Clad Battleship Suddenly Outmoded as 16th Century Spanish Galleon

WASHINGTON (AP) — For nearly 100 years the mighty iron-clad battleship ruled supreme as the sovereign of the seven seas.

Today most of them slumber in reserve. They may never stir again.

The U.S. Navy, briskly ordering full speed ahead into the guided missile era, says the battleship with its big 16-inch guns has suddenly become as outmoded as the 16th-century Spanish galleon.

Capt. John D. Lamade, deputy chief of navy information, gave four reasons why guided-missile cruisers, frigates, destroyers and submarines are superseding the battleship:

1. The battleship requires too much manpower—about 2,700 officers and men—by comparison with smaller ships capable of delivering knockout blows with long-range guided missiles.

2. The vast bulk of the battleship is no longer needed to provide firing platforms. Guided missiles need no such platform to sponge up recoil. Moreover, the development of nuclear power has eliminated the necessity of the battleship's huge space for fuel storage. Small atom-driven ships can now do the job.

3. The battleship is too cumbersome to manoeuvre with high-speed, quick-turning craft of the modern naval force.

4. And finally the battleship, costing more than $100,000,000, is too expensive in a day when even a submarine can pack a seven-ton version guided missile capable of hurling a nuclear punch at a target 500 miles away.

MISSILE FLEET GROWING

The swift trend toward an all-missile fleet is illustrated by the fact that the first U.S. guided missile ship, the converted cruiser Boston, was commissioned barely 18 months ago. It can fire a salvo of four radar-guided 1,700 m.p.h. terrier missiles every 30 seconds.

By latest count, the U.S. fleet has at least 21 guided - missile ships, including eight cruisers, 10 attack carriers, two submarines and one destroyer.

Today only two U.S. battleships, the Iowa and Wisconsin, both 45,000 tons, remain on active duty. Thirteen others have been tucked away in the reserve fleet. Their chances of seeing action in a nuclear war are considered negligible.

The navy says, however, they might serve in a limited role—such as convoy duty—in a conflict where nuclear weapons were kept under wraps.

Wear Victory Smiles

Wearing victory smiles following the defeat of Liberal Frank S. Follwell in yesterday's voting in Hastings South is Progressive Conservative Lee Grills with Mrs. Grills and daughter Betty. Mr. Grills, in his second contest of the riding, chalked up a plurality of 2611 over Liberal Frank Follwell and Social Credit Basil Kuglin. The win was celebrated by a victory dance at Tobe's County Gardens.

GEORGE S. WHITE

Madoc lawyer, who swept to an easy victory in Hastings-Frontenac, as he was re-elected on the Progressive Conservative ticket. Mr. White more than doubled the vote on his two opponents, Liberal Elmer Wood and Social Crediter C. R. Jenkins.

Lee Grills Wins Over F. Follwell, White Re-Elected

South Hastings Returns To Conservative Cradle

Hastings county returned to its traditional Conservative cradle in the Dominion elections on Monday, sending party standard bearers to office from Hastings South and the "share-riding" Hastings Frontenac.

Rounding out a complete sweep in this Central Ontario Tory bloc, Prince Edward-Lennox also elected a Conservative, all three being returned by sweeping majorities.

In Hastings South Frank S. Follwell, liberal representative for the past two terms, went down to a crushing defeat at the hands of Lee Grills, Progressive Conservative, whom he defeated by a 1,000 plus majority in the 1953 elections.

Mr. Grills polled 13,473 votes as against 10,862 for Mr. Follwell, with returns from eight polling booths in the riding yet to be received. Mr. Basil Kuglin, Social Credit candidate, polled 1,000 votes. Mr. Grills' majority was 2,611.

The polls not yet heard from because the returns were missing, wrongly made out and in one case forgotten, include three from Trenton, two from Frankford, one from Thurlow, and two from Tyendinaga.

WHITE WINS AGAIN

George S. White repeated his convincing 1953 victory in Hastings - Frontenac over whimsical Elmer Wood, Liberal, by a 4,732 majority. Like his Hastings South counterpart, Mr. C. R. Jenkins, Social Credit, never had a chance. These returns are from 139 polls of 160.

Clarence Milligan, Progressive Conservative of Napanee, easily swept aside the Liberal threat of Clinton Green of Prince Edward, winning comfortably by a 3,101 majority. Wilbur N. Crandall, Social Credit polled 525 votes. These returns are complete.

BELLEVILLE GOES PC

In Hastings South the greater part of the Lee Grills' majority came from the city electorate. Voters of Belleville did an about face at the polls giving Mr. Grills 5583 votes as against 4487 for Mr. Follwell with the Grills' city majority being 1076.

In the 1953 elections Mr. Follwell received 4866 votes as against 4442 and a city majority of 424.

The defeated candidate also lost ground at Station Trenton RCAF, polling a majority of 283 as against 355 in the previous election.

The city electorate in its about-face from the last federal election gave Grills a majority in thirty-nine of the fifty-six polling divi-

Phillip Says He and Queen Will Visit Canada in Fall

DORTMUND, Germany (AP)—Prince Philip smashed royal protocol today by announcing in a remote part of Germany that he and Queen Elizabeth will visit Canada in the fall, at which time the Queen will officially open a session of Parliament.

The statement, confirming widespread reports the Queen would cross the Atlantic in the autumn, was made as her prince consort, the Duke of Edinburgh, paid a quick visit to Canadian troops stationed near this Ruhr city.

The duke told the troops: "As you probably know, we—the Queen and I—are going to Canada in the autumn. The Queen has been invited to open parliament."

A burst of laughter greeted Philip's remark that "we do not know who will be prime minister of Canada when we get there."

But, he added, "we were invited by Mr. St. Laurent."

Mr. St. Laurent's Liberal government was swept from power by the Progressive Conservatives in an upset election Monday.

Although Philip made no mention of a visit to the United States, Buckingham Palace announcement is expected shortly.

The Canadian troops, dressed in fatigues and track suits, broke into three cheers when Philip concluded his brief speech, delivered during a driving rain at the Royal Canadian Regiment base at Fort York, 20 miles from Dortmund.

Previously government informants had reported the arguments for and against another royal visit by the queen so finely balanced that Prime Minister Macmillan and his ministers were leaving it to the Queen herself to decide if she felt she wanted to go.

The Queen and Prince Philip already have made state visits this year to Portugal, France and Denmark.

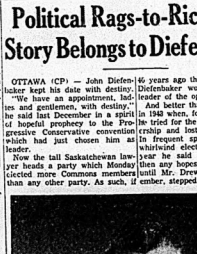
PCs Now Top Party in West, SC Gains, CCF Holds Down

EDMONTON (CP)—The Western Canada electorate turned hands down on the stand-pat campaigning of the Liberals in Monday's federal election, slashing the party's representation severely and pushing the Progressive Conservatives to the fore in the West.

The CCF and Social Credit parties, which will swing the balance of power in the new minority government Parliament, were given slightly increased strength.

The three parties that have sat in opposition during the 22-year reign of the Liberals cut the Liberals' western forces by nine from the 27 elected in 1953.

The Progressive Conservatives, led for the first time by 61-year-old John Diefenbaker who was elected in Prince Albert, elected 15 members and had a lead in the far-northern constituency of the Yukon, compared with their previous total of nine members in 1953.



The CCF, with 21 elected and one leading, maintained its position in the West.

Social Credit gained four seats to a total of 19, all in Alberta and British Columbia.

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell and Social Credit Leader Solon Low were defeated in their respective ridings of Rosetown-Biggar and Pembina.

Both said in post-election statements they would consider supporting the minority party in power so long as there was not a wide difference in policies.

Political Rags-to-Riches Story Belongs to Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (CP) — John Diefenbaker kept his date with destiny. "We have an appointment, ladies and gentlemen, with destiny," he said last December in a spirit of hopeful prophecy to the Progressive Conservative convention which had just chosen him as leader.

Now the tall Saskatchewan lawyer heads a party which Monday elected more Commons members than any other party. As such, if ember, stepped out.

46 years ago that the young John Diefenbaker would some day be leader of the opposition.

And better than his own outlook in 1943 when, for the second time, he tried for the Conservative leadership and lost to George Drew. In frequent speeches during the whirlwind election campaign this year he said he had put aside then any hopes for greater things until Mr. Drew, ailing last Sept-

What happened after that is a political rags-to-riches story.

The 61-year-old politician won the Conservative leadership on the first ballot, challenged the cost of living, "punish" his party by a vention to "punish" his party by a feeling of defeatism," and then took over as head of a 50-member group in the 265-seat Commons.

custom is followed and if the Liberals are unable to attract enough support from outside their party, Mr. Diefenbaker will be Canada's next prime minister.

The election victory was with a minority in the Commons—not as much as he could have wished—but better than the graduation yearbook forecast at the University of Saskatchewan more than

Liberals Flayed in Ontario, Howe, Harris Among Victims

TORONTO (CP)—A majority of Ontario's electorate voted to give John Diefenbaker to help crush the Liberals and provide the Progressive Conservatives with the largest slice of Commons seats.

In the biggest upset in more than a quarter-century, the Conservatives in Monday's general election captured 60 of Ontario's 85 ridings, while the Liberals ended up with only 20. Voting in one riding, Wellington South, is deferred until July 15.

It was a sharp reversal of the 1953 results when the Liberals won 50 Ontario seats and the Conservatives only 33. The CCF also helped themselves at the expense of the Liberals in Monday's vote, taking a record three seats, all from the Liberals.

The Socialists lost the one they held previously, York South, to the Conservatives who swept the Toronto and York area, taking 17 of the 18 ridings and leaving only one, Toronto Trinity, to the Liberals.

It was the biggest Ontario victory for the Conservatives since 1925 when they captured 68 of the 82 seats, leaving the Liberals with only 12.

Premier Frost said the result was due mostly to Mr. Diefenbaker's "inspirational leadership." The two stumped some of the ridings together.

He said voters "have endorsed our views on tax matters which we consider vital to this country." One of the big issues in the campaign was the federal tax-sharing arrangements with the provinces which Mr. Frost considered inadequate. Mr. Diefenbaker promised to attempt some new approach to help provinces out of their difficulties.

It was a record vote turn-out. Of the over-all popular vote in Canada, the Liberals got 41 per cent and the Conservatives 39. In Ontario the Conservatives got 49 per cent and the Liberals 37.

Think Diefenbaker To Get Task Of Forming Govt. As CCF, SC Hold Balance

Liberals' Big Majority Wiped Out With Nine Cabinet Ministers Beaten

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Parliament faced a stalemate in the Commons today, but a turnover of the government to the Progressive Conservatives appeared likely as the result of Monday's general election.

John Diefenbaker's Opposition party came up with the biggest block of seats but lacked a clear majority, and a new election within the year loomed as a distinct possibility.

The 61-year-old Conservative leader would need the support of smaller House parties to carry on. How long this could last was problematical. Social Credit Leader Low said his party would co-operate with whatever government is formed until "it becomes desirable to have an election to break the stalemate."

CCF Leader Coldwell said his group will not merge with any party but will be guided by what legislation a minority government sponsors.

Meanwhile, with the results in three seats still undecided, Mr. Diefenbaker held 119 of the 265 Commons seats against 103 for the Liberals, in power for 22 years.

NON-CMOMMITTAL

Prime Minister St. Laurent was non-committal on his future course Monday night, but it appeared almost certain he would decide to resign and recommend to Governor-General Massey that Mr. Diefenbaker be called on to form the government.

For the 75-year-old prime minister, it was the end of a House majority which he had led since taking office in 1948. It was apparently the end, too, of 22 years of Liberal rule that began under the late Prime Minister King.

All parties made gains at the expense of the Liberals as the latters' 168-seat representation was drastically slashed.

The CCF went ahead to at least 24 seats from 22, and the Social Creditors went to at least 19 from 15.

One seat was not at stake in the election. That was Ontario's Wellington South, where voting was deferred a month because of the death last week of Henry Hosking, the Liberal candidate.

As a record number of electors turned out Monday, the Conservatives made their strongest showing since. Their greatest field was Ontario, where they took 60 of 85 seats to boost their representation from that province by 28. They took 17 of the big blocs of 265 in the Toronto area.

Most Likely St. Laurent Will Tender Resignation

OTTAWA (CP)—At a cabinet council meeting to be held Thursday Prime Minister S. Laurent will face the decision of whether to attempt to carry on government without a majority in the House of Commons or resign, it was learned Monday in Conservative circles.

Monday's election — election eve Mr. Diefenbaker the largest group in the Commons and put the Liberals into minority for the first half Mr. St. Laurent's cabinet suffering personal defeat.

In the light of this situation it seems certain Mr. St. Laurent will tender his resignation to Governor-General Massey and suggest that he call on Mr. Diefenbaker, it would be a difficult decision for Mr. Diefenbaker. He could not carry on without support from one of the smaller parties.

He might decline and leave Mr. St. Laurent to face Parliament where the Liberals could be defeated on the first vote, to be followed by dissolution and the immediate calling of a new election.

On the other hand, Mr. Diefenbaker's government could not meet Parliament and hope to carry on with the support of the smaller groups for a reading spell until the people have recovered from the effects of the campaign just closed.

In that event Mr. Diefenbaker would have an opportunity to present a legislative program in line with campaign promises and with features the smaller groups would find it difficult to oppose.

An important phase of the discussions Mr. St. Laurent will have with the governor - general, and probably with Mr. Diefenbaker, has to do with Canada's representation at the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London, June 26.

Good Recovery Being Made By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's doctors were pictured today as optimistic about his getting back to work soon—possibly Wednesday—after reporting him "making a good recovery from his mild stomach upset."

Word about a "good recovery" and his latest illness being "mild" came late Monday from three attending physicians at the 66-year-old president's White House bedside.

On the doctors' recommendation, however, Eisenhower cancelled all the business engagements he had scheduled for today—just as all of Monday's appointments were wiped off the book by the sudden illness, which first developed Sunday night.

The decision against engagements today, the physicians said, was taken "to permit the president to complete his recovery."

TO LET OUT OF BED

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, indicated that he expected the medical men to let their patient out of bed at least part time today.

And whether the doctors' report that Eisenhower was getting better meant they expect him "to complete his recovery" today Hagerty said:

"Yes it does."

At a press conference late Monday Hagerty repeated that the physicians found "no indication that Eisenhower's illness was in any way related to his 1955 heart attack or his ileitis seizure—inflammation and partial blockage—the small intestine—a year ago last Saturday. That seizure required major abdominal surgery June 9, 1956.

The doctors' bulletin Hagerty put out at 4:30 p.m. EDT Monday said:

Polling Clerk Late for Work

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (CP) A red-faced New Glasgow poll clerk was late for work Monday.

The poll clerk's excuse: He forgot it was election day. Officials withheld his name.

Diefenbaker Sees Crusade For Democracy

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker said Monday night the results of the federal election indicate—that men and women of every political faith "joined with the Conservative party in undertaking a crusade for a new awakening of the spirit of parliamentary democracy."

Mr. Diefenbaker, in a post-election address broadcast here in his home constituency of Prince Albert, said that "beyond doubt, the cause of freedom is a cause in which millions of Canadians fervently believe."

He pledged that the principles he enunciated in the election campaign will be carried out.

"The task undertaken is not yet finished," he said. "In many respects it has only just begun.

"It is liberating—and indeed it is true historically, that in times of great need this nation does turn to the Conservative party. Conservatism has risen once again to the challenge."

HOME HIS BEST

The Progressive Conservative leader said he had done his best to express in word and in action what he believed to be the will of millions of Canadians from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"I shall keep the promises that I made," he said. "I shall maintain the principles of this party."

...pted Jail Break Adds Terms to Sentences of Pair

Two inmates of the Hastings County Jail in Belleville this morning appeared before Magistrate T. C. Wills on charges of attempted jail break and received sentences of one year to run consecutively to the lengthy sentences they are already serving for offences committed subsequently.

George Coy, 36; and Bruce Saunders, 24, appeared in Magistrate's Court here today with their arms manacled behind their backs and looking quite unperturbed about their plight.

Jail Governor Bob Scott recounted the sylpts that took place at the jail on the morning of May 30, when Coy and Saunders made a break for freedom by brandishing a dummy pistol at two guards.

Governor Scott said he was on duty in his office at about 8.10 or 8.15 a.m. when Saunders was being taken to the downstairs corridor where guards Russell McPeak and George Stone were on duty.

ATTEMPTED SEARCH

Once downstairs the guards attempted to search the prisoner. McPeak felt an "item" inside Saunders' coat and when he asked the man to produce it he got a negative reply. Saunders said he had a knife inside his shirt, but would not give it up. Instead, he wanted to see the governor.

Governor Scott followed the prisoner and asked him to hand over the watch. Again Saunders refused.

Stone, the guard, approached Saunders to help McPeak search him. Saunders told Stone in such a position that he easily thrust his pistol into the belly at the front of Coy's cell. Coy grabbed Stone around the neck and at the same time Saunders whipped out the dummy pistol.

Saunders flipped the pistol to Coy, who held it on McPeak.

The governor continued relating the scene from his office and overheard Coy say to Saunders: "Either give it to me or get them (the keys)."

Coy warned McPeak: "Don't move or I'll shoot."

Saunders answered Stone and at this point Governor Scott ran to sound the alarm.

In a matter of minutes city firemen, police and the O.P.P. arrived.

GOT OUT OF JAIL

Before the police and firemen arrived, Saunders and Saunders got out of the jail, went upstairs and fled into the exercise yard, where they were confronted with high stone walls. Retracing their steps to the inside of the jail building, they tried to get out another exit, but when they found they could not get out, they surrendered meekly to the O.P.P.

The pistol Coy and Saunders used had a soap butt and lead barrel.

Asked by the magistrate if he had any questions to ask before sentence was passed, Saunders turned to Governor Scott: "Did you see me give Coy the pistol?"

"It appeared as though you did. But I did not see the pistol until it was in Coy's hand," he said.

Coy was allowed to speak and said: "I had the gun all the time and Saunders didn't even know there was going to be a break until just before. Then, naturally, he got excited and just came along."

Saunders, until a few weeks ago, was an inmate of the Kingston penitentiary, where he was serving seven years for armed robbery. Coy was serving six years on a similar charge.

BOTH HAD RECORDS

Following is the prison record of George Coy and Bruce Saunders:

GIVEN EXTRA YEARS

On the charge, locally, of attempted jail break, Coy was given another year added to his six and one-half year sentence; Saunders got one year added to his seven, now he is currently serving.

A charge of armed robbery against Saunders was dismissed on grounds of insufficient evidence.

After Saunders was returned to his cell, Coy was tried for the armed robbery of Brown's Bread here on May 14, 1936, in which the bakery, Louis Stump, Jr., was bound and gagged and Saunders came off with $5,000.

Of which $1,311 was in cheques.

He got an additional year added to his six-year sentence when he run concurrently.

Detective Harold Reid, who investigated the incident, gave testimony and said, "I have reason to believe that I was a second man, not Coy, who held up Mr. Rump."

Inspector Claire Hayes gave evidence that Coy was one of seven men who broke into and stole $2,377.66 from the vault in a sub-branch of the Banque Canadian Nationale at Bondfield on the Nipissing district on October 25, 1958.

On conviction of this charge, Coy was given one year, to run consecutively with the present term.

Coy and Saunders will serve their time in Kingston and will be transported there as soon as possible.

Saunders today changed his plea of not guilty of attempted jail break. Last week Coy pleaded guilty.

Coy today pleaded guilty of robbing Mr. Rump and the bank at Bondfield.

RAF Pilots Bid Silent Farewell To Spitfire

SOUTHPORT, England (Reuters)—A small group of RAF pilots stood on a rain-swept airfield in a silent farewell to the Spitfire, terror of the skies in the finest hour of Britain.

A lone Spitfire roared down the runway Monday after carrying out its last meteorological flight from Woodvale airport near here to end a glorious chapter in the history of the RAF.

There was no official ceremony for the final trip by the plane that helped to clear Hitler's bombers out of the skies over southern England in 1940.

The Spitfire was designed by the late R. J. Mitchell and owed its high speed to the designer's supermarine racing seaplanes, which won the Schneider Trophy in pre-war years.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—An air of confusion hovered over the stock market today in active morning trading but through the cloud, prices edged higher.

For the first few minutes after opening, investors huddled and mulled over the results of Monday's federal election. Then prices began to make their way to higher ground.

Some observers figured the change in government might offer some relief to the tight money situation while others wondered just how long it would be before another election would be declared.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 1,132,000 shares compared with Monday's 1,560,000 at the same time.

Although they were held to a point in most cases, gains had a majority in the industrial list.

In the mining and western oils lists, gains dominated but trading was in a narrow range. There were a few 20-cent gains in each section while losses were generally 10 cents or less.

Drew Gratified By Results Of Election

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. George Drew, former Progressive Conservative leader, said he is "very gratified" by the results of Monday's election, won by the party although without an absolute majority.

He said in an interview it was "a very unusual situation."

"It now is a case of waiting to see what happens. It now will depend on what steps the present government takes. That follows."

Mr. Drew, who resigned the party leadership last fall through ill health, listened to election night results at his home in Ottawa and television. He and Mrs. Drew returned to Ottawa Monday from a 10-week tour of Europe and the Middle East and cast their ballots in Ottawa East constituency.

For the former party leader, it was the first time since he took over the Conservative helm in 1948 that he had not been actively engaged in federal politics. For 10 years before that he had been Ontario Conservative leader, and premier for five of those years.

"It was the quietest election campaign for some time, as far as I am concerned," he commented.

FINDS FIANCEE DEAD

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A hospital intern found his fiancee strangled with a stocking and nearly nude in her bed Monday, Dr. Walter Delke, 36, former track star at the University of Wisconsin and Chicago, entered a rear window at Miss Marjorie Hopperson's apartment and made the discovery. Near her were garments she had neatly stacked to be packed for their wedding trip. The couple had planned to marry next week.

Victor Expresses Thanks

Victorious in his contest of Hastings South in Monday's general election, Progressive Conservative Lorne Grills expresses appreciation to voters at a victory dance staged at Tobe's Hastings County Gardens Monday night. Campaign Manager Jack Ireland listens attentively as the riding's member-elect addresses the crowd attending the victory dance.

Returning Officer Has Plenty Of Headaches in Election

So you would like to be a Returning Officer before and during an election.

Take Felix Rashotte's tip — and if you do acquire such a job don't forget the aspirin.

Mr. Rashotte was the Returning Officer for the riding of Hastings South on Monday's federal election.

He had more headaches than a bevy of tapers at an alcoholics convention.

During election day, after the polls have closed, the most anxious moments can happen—and it usually does.

"Why, oh why," moaned Mr. Rashotte in his office this morning, "can't people follow simple directions."

Eight polls have yet to be heard from in the Hastings South election in which Lee Grills defeated Frank S. Follwell by a substantial majority.

Mr. Rashotte couldn't figure out where the missing polls returns were. The morning mail brought him some of the answers.

One returning officer had enclosed his poll for services rendered but forgot to include the poll return.

Another sent the return all right, included the names of the candidates but omitted to mark down the polling results.

Another reversed the procedure. He or she sent the figures but omitted to include the names of the candidates.

Not a few drove for some distance but instead of delivering the returns to Mr. Rashotte went out of their way to drop them in the post office duly sealed and stamped.

Two others have not submitted reports of any kind. They were spill polls and it is believed that the figures of both were included in single returns. That as yet is not known.

It will be at least two or three or more days before the complete official results are finalized.

Meanwhile Mr. Rashotte is a close companion of the aspirin bottle.

Gypsy Rose Lee Files Suit in Supreme Court

TORONTO (CP) — Gypsy Rose Lee has filed a suit in the Supreme Court of Ontario claiming she is owed $2,000 salary by a Niagara Falls theatre.

The American strip-tease dancer and four members of her troupe claim a total of $2,575 is owed by M. W. Zaborachk and the Princess Theatre of Niagara Falls, Ont.

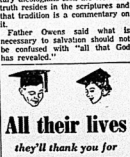
The group, together with Paul Klipman, an "on-behalf of Actors' Equity Association, is suing Eric Greenwood and the London and Lancashire Guarantee and Accident Company of Canada for $5,000.

RC Theologians Ponder Stand Of Church

OTTAWA (CP)—Roman Catholic theologians pondered Monday whether their church ought to reexamine the role its teachings as sign its tradition.

Rev. Gerard Owens of Woodstock, Ont., said that "would at least permit us to reopen the discussion with Protestants, which is rendered impossible by the usual Catholic position."

The question, he told the Canadian branch of the Catholic Theological Society of America, was left open by the 14th-century Council of Trent, which defined many of the church's dogmas "that left it open to posterity to discuss freely" he said.



The society is one of 23 participating in the Conference of Learned Societies at the University of Ottawa.

Father Owens told the theologians the nub of the tradition problem is whether all God's revelation concerning Christians' salvation is contained in the scriptures or whether some are to be found only in tradition.

One theologian said that to reduce the role of tradition would mean increasing the church's teaching role "to what you would take from one place you would add to another, which would not make it any easier for the Protestants."

Another said leading 14th-century theologians took the view that truth resides in the scriptures and that tradition is a commentary on it.

Father Owens said what is necessary to salvation should not be confused with "all that God has revealed."

Facilities for Training Nurses Totally Inadequate Rotary Club Members Told

The administrator of the Belleville General Hospital, Kenneth Box, yesterday told members of the Rotary Club that if people in a community want a good hospital equipped with the latest devices and skilled staff, then they have to get fully behind the institution and support it.

He said that the Belleville hospital conducts one of the best schools of nursing in the province, but it won't be able to keep up its reputation unless new and better accommodation and training facilities are built soon.

At present there are 62 nurses in training in Belleville General Hospital and the facilities for their training are "totally inadequate."

The 16-member Board of Governors is presently faced with the problem of securing funds for a new nurses' residence training centre.

"Where the money will come from, I don't know. But I'm sure our capable Board will get it," he said.

Unless training facilities are improved, the patients in the hospital will suffer. Nurses' training contribute much to the smooth functioning of the hospital and provide that extra "something" in service to patients, so that if, in the future, they are not given better training and residential facilities, the number of enrolments may decline.

In 1957 expenditures at the B.G.H. are expected to total $1,300,000. If the hospital is to remain operating without a deficit at the end of the fiscal year, revenues must at least equal expenditures.

Mr. Box cited two ways the hospital can keep "out of the red." First, expenditures can be reduced (but the patient will suffer in the long run), or, second, room rates can be increased.

In a bid to keep the hospital's finances in good shape, as they have been in the past, and to maintain a high degree of service to the patient, the Board of Governors has authorized a slight increase in rates.

As of June 15, daily rates for private rooms will be upped one dollar, while rates for semi-private rooms will be increased 50 cents. There will be no increase in public ward rates.

Mr. Box pointed out that the Belleville General Hospital cannot expect too much in the way of grants from the federal and provincial governments. Last year the hospital received $60,000 from these sources.

Since 1951 the hospital annual payroll has increased almost 100 per cent, from $325,000 to an expected $700,000 this year. Therefore it is essential that room rates be increased.

Mr. Box was proud to point out that this will be the first time in six years that the hospital has upped its rates, whereas many other hospitals in the province have had to up their rates three or four times since then.

Hospitals are rated as Canada's fifth largest business.

There are 40,000 hospital employees in Ontario and the annual expenditures from such institutions totalled $100-million in 1956.

The Belleville General Hospital serves about 60,000 people and at present, although there is a waiting list in some cases, the Ontario Hospital Services Commission is satisfied that the B.G.H. has 5.5 beds for every 1,000 people. Belleville's hospital has 330 beds, of which 108 were added recently in the new $1,250,000 wing.

Navy Experts Examine Body Of Frogman

CHICHESTER, England (Reuters)—Royal Navy experts today examined the clothing and equipment of a headless and handless body, believed to be that of Lt.-Cmdr. Lionel (Buster) Crabb, 46-year-old frogman who vanished in nearby Portsmouth harbor 18 months ago near Russian warships.

The body was discovered Sunday in Chichester harbor. A preliminary post-mortem examination Monday disclosed that only the lower part of the body had escaped severe decomposition.

The legs and lower part of the abdomen had been preserved by the black rubber frogman suit and flippers on the feet. A khaki shirt found wound round the abdomen was removed for police examination.

A tight security blackout has been clamped on the possible identity of the body. A police guard is mounted on the mortuary here where the remains lie, and even the mortuary keeper has been locked out of the building.

PRIVATE INQUEST

Some newspapers speculate that because of secrecy considerations the admiralty and police may call on the coroner to conduct the main part of the inquest behind locked doors.

LUXURIES ON RELIEF

"Alderman William R. Lindsay has criticised persons who buy luxury items on the relief food vouchers they receive from the city welfare department," says a Canadian Press despatch from St. Thomas.

One's initial reaction is that such criticism is fully justified.

Then one reads the list of luxuries - - cigarets, icing sugar, ice cream, candy, cakes, chewing gum and soft drinks.

Certainly none of these are necessities, yet they are such little luxuries that most of us would pardon relief recipients for squandering a few cents out of their meagre allowance for an occasional indulgence.

Of all the items, cigarets seem most open to criticism. Tobacco is, to all intents and purposes, a necessity to some people; ask any slave of the habit. But "tailor-made" cigarets are an expensive way to purchase the necessary tobacco.

As for icing sugar, ice cream, candy, chewing gum, soft drinks - - may not a family on relief be permitted to make its own sacrifices to provide children with an occasional treat? And sacrifices must be made if a destitute family is to buy these luxuries out of its relief cheque. If the family is not destitute, then it is not entitled to relief and is guilty of a fraud on the taxpayers, no matter how it spends the food vouchers.

People on relief are human and if they are ever to pull themselves back onto their own feet, more than their bodies must be fed. The purchase of any of the luxuries listed might indicate an indefensible disregard for the best interests of the family, but with most of the items it could be that a father or mother had decided that a child's smile was worth a few hours of hunger.

END OF H-BOMB TESTS?

President Eisenhower told his press conference last Wednesday that he doubts if the United States will ever again explode one of its great hydrogen bombs for testing purposes.

Coming a day after two London newspapers reported that Britain will cut short her current hydrogen bombs tests in the Pacific, Eisenhower's announcement seems to set a pattern.

The reported British decision to forego tests after her next and third blast is said to be mainly due to the success of the first two tests. In others words, the British H-bomb works. No good purpose will be served by further tests.

It would appear certain that Eisenhower's doubt that any further U.S. tests will be made is based on the same reason - - the U. S. already knows that her H-bomb works.

It now remains for Russia to follow the U.S. and British example. If she does not, she will have some explanations to make to those nations which are not committed to the cold war. She will have to admit either that she is continuing useless tests against their wishes, or that the H-bomb she had developed does not work satisfactorily.

RED SHIPS IN THE CHANNEL

"British Navy protection ships today trailed three big Soviet submarines sighted passing through the English channel," an Associated Press dispatch from London reported last Wednesday.

The dispatch quoted a spokesman for the British admiralty as saying that, while the passage of Soviet warship through the channel is unusual, "they have every right to use the waterway." He added that Royal Navy vessels were watching the submarines more out of general interest about their movements than out of suspicion.

It would be impossible for vessels to pass through the British Channel without, at one point, being less than a dozen miles from the coast of either Britain or France. Twelve miles is considered the limit of territorial waters by some powers.

One does not need a vivid imagination to picture the reaction at Washington and at Ottawa if three big Soviet submarines were sighted coasting within a dozen miles of our shores.

The incident, and the British Navy's reaction to it, serves to emphasize the great difference between the British position, both geographically and psychologically, from that of nations on this side of the Atlantic.

GARDEN NEEDS

"Green thumb," they call it, but since she grows healthy, sturdy scarlet rose;
A phrase considered apt,
but I am sure, though green the thumb,
She's worked for them when blossoms come
With more than that.

With growing things to have success
Green hands and knees she must possess—
A green back, too,

For these the well-kept garden needs
Or it will fill with choking weeds,
As many do.

"Green thumb," they call it, but the mind
To growing things must be inclined,
A gardener knows
Without devoted, patient care,
The will to make the garden fair,
But little grows.

Art of Doing Nothing

By New York Times

The finest of all the fine arts, unquestionably is the art of doing nothing. To acquire even moderate ability at it takes preparation which, like anything is for hard-years. Doing anything else. In other words, doing nothing is the first step. The attention of the powerful have been focused on the name of the devil. Tradition has it, once aroused, the devil will find work for idle hands to do. Once those idle hands are set to work, at any devilish instigation, the art of doing nothing has become a failure. Society frowns upon the art of doing nothing, and frowns looks upon those who practise and study it as being worthy only of disapproval and condemnation. As upon so many other occasions, society is jealous, but the quality of its motivating force does not lessen the effect. To do nothing for any period of time thus requires offending both the devil and the neighbors, and this takes a good deal will power. Too much will power, usually.

A day in the spring, say a Saturday, is the best time upon which to practise the art of doing nothing. The office does not call for it, but presumably the devil has not gone to town either, and the neighbors, likewise, haven't. The old, traditional enemies to art thus are at hand and one is watched, instead of getting up with the chickens, one can remain in bed little later than with the commuters, the practitioner decides to follow the habits of a healthy, and to stay in bed. This seemingly immediately eliminates a section of society which lives in th same house. While he tries to do nothing, others in the house are busy doing nothing, others in the house are busy doing nothing, making himself useful in unspecified ways. Jealousy is the inspiration, of course, but the noise is such the practitioner of nothing decides to move elsewhere the scene of his art.

The weather is pleasant indeed on a nice Saturday morning in the spring. The birds are singing, and some are weaving twigs and string and bits of paper in order to build their nests. Down back of the woodpile, where society as represented by those who also live in the house seldom visits, there is a dandy little dust-bath that has been thrown out long since, but a few nails and some binder twine made it good as new and it is in the warm sun, and it forms an excellent gallery for the perusal of the art of doing nothing. But while it is true that society does not know of the nook, and so does not visit, the devil must have his eye upon it. No sooner is the practioner of the true art seated in his chair than the devil comes whispering with suggestions of things that might be done. The grass needs cutting, for one, the dandelions could be picked for the manufacture of either salad or wine, the bean patch could be visited to see whether it has begun to sprouted. Once action is taken on any of these things—good-by art.

So it goes, throughout the day in spring — and that day the ideal one upon which to practise the art of doing nothing. If the devil has routed the artists as far as the bean patch he is likely will take over the work of the devil at that point. In other words, it is not a good day for the artist merely to stand looking at the bean patch in the form of doing nothing. Society as represented by gardeners on either side of it will gran needs cutting, and by earnest good works of their own will be watching the artist fiercely. Once he has gone to the garage for the hoe, his art studies are done and he will be able be loosed like a basketball between the goal posts which is society, another failure at the art of doing nothing. And not even an artistic alibi will be his, for in doing nothing on a Saturday in the spring, he will have no chance at all, later on.

Members of the city fire department are now sartorially perfect. Today the city firefighters appeared looking immaculate in new uniforms and caps with shiny badges designating their calling. The blue and brass is colorfully offset with new summer caps of blue with white tops. Surmounting the front of the caps are brand new chromium - plated badges bearing the individual number of the wearer with the words "Belleville Fire Department" standing out in bold relief. The boys sure do look swell.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MAN AT THE TOP

I recently read a most interesting and inspiring article about a man who reached both fame and wealth by catering to the inner desires of people, and there was one line that arrested my attention. He said that he always went to the "man at the top" for his offerings. He had learned that by making his first effort by contacting the one man who had the power to say "Yes" to something for all salesmen to note.

By dealing with the top man you can become a top man! A famous newspaper editor once told me that she always chose the top players with whom to play, for it always brought out her game.

This business of seeking out the top people with whom to deal in business, and in the choosing of our friends, should become a potential in all our dealings and associations. You get a lift about dealing with a top person, for he gives you a higher level on which to stand! He sees bigger that way, too. You get vision!

I have a friend who got a job with a big firm. There he became acquainted with one of the top officials. Today he is an important Vice-President of that bank, and is known internationally. You can't be long by paying attention to big and important people. They are big themselves.

Top men are full of the kindly human traits that are the heritage of us all. That's how they became top men. Read the story of any top man of today, and yesterday, and it's the story of step by step to that top place. Most of these came from humble walks of life but filled with the desire to rise to top places in life.

Have no fear of that top man. He is forever thinking of the unusual and fill the place that's now bold! Bear in mind that it was unusual men first inspired him. Such a one can well be your inspiration!

Chinese Reds Admit Woes

Financial Post

It is news of great importance that the Communist Government of China has lately allowed the outside world to know that that country there is hunger, widespread unemployment and a conflict between the public and the bureaucracy.

Normally a Red Government tries to conceal such signs of social adjustments and deficiencies. Controlling press, radio and theatre and cinema, it creates consensulation, it puts out a brightly-colored story of universal abundance, prosperity and contentment.

But it is particularly true in Russia itself. The heartland of Communism is not the countryside of Moscow very seldom allow outsiders, or their own people to know of it and see it. Some in the workers' paradise. There is a similar ban on bad news in most of the satellite nations of eastern Europe.

But the Chinese Reds, not for the first time have taken a line out of their own. They allowed it to be published in Peking newspapers and broadcasts that there's plenty wrong in some parts of China, that some industrial projects have run into that the liaison between officials and citizens isn't as happy as it might be.

All of this is not inconsistent with the Chinese Communist leadership progress in the creation of a modern, mechanized society. There is no reverse in any of this claim; but China is an enormous country, the most populous in the world with 600 million inhabitants, and there is room there for a passage of Soviet blunder and domestic problems of their own, cannot afford to offer help to the Chinese on the scale that's necessary.

Nobody would suggest that the Western lands should rush in with offers. But isn't it about time for them to find out what's going on in China, by sending journalists to go there and report, as Maclean's Magazine recently sent Blair Fraser, by trying to establish normal relations with the Peking Government, by exploring the possibilities of trade that could be beneficial both ways?

The Chinese, through their Government's philosophy and methods are very unacceptable to us, are still the same people who were our allies in the last war. There is still the possibility of restoring an old friendship and detaching those 600 millions from the Communist bloc. News

Physicians Ate Heartily

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

There are many beliefs, sayings and proverbs concerned with diet and health. Many old-fashioned folk still believe that a hungry stomach is better than a full one. And so on. The American College of Physicians, which is meeting here at Boston, concerned itself greatly with the question of diet to health, and particularly to heart disease. But at the annual banquet they set to work with unflagging appetites, the doctors partook of:

Fresh fruit cocktail and sherry, vichyssoise chaudet hot cream of potato soup with fresh celery, mixed olives, broiled filet mignon (medium rare) porterhouse steak), bordelaise sauce, potatoes au gratin, asparagus tips polonaise, hot rolls and butter, sultana roll ice cream, liqueur sauce, petits fours, demi-tasse.

All that reminds us that there are some maxims concerning physicians, which it is not prudent to say: Do as I say and not as I do. Sometimes it is difficult to who treats himself has a fool for a patient.

Probably any doctor who overlooked at that banquet got more satisfactory contemplating out of the latter than out of the former.

Of economic and political troubles in Red China looks like another good excuse for reconsidering the monolithic exclusiveness that writes off the Chinese as if they lived in another solar system.

Uncle Bull And John Sam

Hamilton Spectator

That favorite target at home and abroad — "the American way of life" — has received a barrel of critical buckshot the other day from Dr. Margaret Mead, who had finished a rather lengthy stint as a foreign correspondent in Washington. Her word — "Taj Mahal cars" the supposed finny tails and chrome — and its psychiatrist's touch — and for munching tranquillizing pills. "The Americans are going British", she noted, though cleverly done, about it all amounted to a caricature.

Something much more reflective, and probably more factual, was given by another visitor, Aldous Huxley, author of Lucas, who pointed out that Britain was "going American" and America was going British". In other words, both countries were admiring each other's way of life and paying that most supreme of all compliments imitation.

When one is in New York these days one is struck by the number of men wearing "business suits" and bowlers, and brandishing tightly- furled umbrellas — traditionally the bedof the conservative English-man. Britain, on the other hand, is greatly fascinated by the uninhibited American styles. The low-slung car and the jaunty cap have invaded North Atlantic and even influenced the decor of the Ambassador's suite at the Embassy for storing munitions. In this "life" they demanded to be shown the powder room.

The Embassy officials with some difficulty concealed their amusement as they solemnly opened a door and the disgruntled Nazis took a long look at the ladies' lavatory!

Powder Room Fooled Nazis

Manchester Guardian

Here is a good story of World War II.

The old Blucher Palace in Berlin had long ago been converted into a United States Embassy, and the architects had naturally enough included in the elaborate building a "powder room" for the use of lady visitors. At an early date, Nazi officials and spies agents insisted on entering the building, and they accused the Ambassador, using the Embassy for storing munitions. In this "life" they demanded to be shown the powder room.

Much of the acid criticism of the U. S. in Britain comes from that amorphous group known as "the middle class," just as British criticism of Britain in the U.S. live in the Middle West. Britishers, who have always hurling at themselves for so long, do not realize that the Americans indulge in the same pastime — criticising their own peccadilloes in the full glare of publicity, and doing it remarkably well.

Recently Shaw spoke a profound truth when he said the greatest barrier to complete understanding between Britain and the U.S. was "the language barrier."

But the other day Oxford University conferred an honorary doctorate of civil law on Mr. Adlai Stevenson, lauding him as a statesman of "moderation" and "eloquence without self-advertisement." And it was no exaggeration to say that Oxford should embody all the ideals Britishers worship.

Spinal Trouble, Pyorrhea and Leg Cramps

"Three years ago," says an Indiana reader, "I had neck and spinal trouble, pyorrhea and leg cramps. Following your suggestion, I started supplementing my diet with calcium and vitamin D in capsule form (6 daily). Now my arthritis (as the doctor called it after reading the X-ray) is all gone, my wife's teeth are much better, and the leg cramps no longer occur."

At first blush, there may seem to be little or no relation between neck or spinal trouble, pyorrhea and leg cramps. It may seem so to most doctors and folks, I mean. Years ago it would have seemed so to me. We didn't know much about nutrition then.

What the Indiana reader calls pyorrhea ("pyo" means pus, "rhea" means flow or discharge—the full name is pyorrhea alveolaris), flow or discharge of pus from tooth sockets) is not a disease, but physical degeneration of gums, teeth, sockets, jaw bone, muscles.

So is rheumatis — and I do not mean "arthritis."

The word "rheumatis" had no definite meaning when I found it being kicked around. So I adopted it to signify chronic joint disability.

Perhaps in one case out of a hundred, chronic joint disability may be genuine arthritis—joint inflammation. But in the great majority of cases, the trouble is physical degeneration of joint tissues — which I call rheumatis for short.

THE BOOK THAT GATHERS DUST

When King Josiah of the little kingdom of Judah came to his throne almost 2700 years ago, he found the spiritual condition of his people unbelievably degenerate. Under his father and grandfather, true religion had been almost entirely neglected, and a strange kind of false religion had been allowed to come in and corrupt the lives of the people. Even the temple had fallen into disrepair. This noble structure was full of debris that had not been cleared away in years. When young Josiah ordered a thorough cleaning of the temple area, those who were responsible for it came upon a book covered with dust and rubbish—the book of the Law of the Lord, which had been neglected for the better part of a century.

When they got the book out and read it and learned what the Lord expected of His people, a religious revival took place.

Shift the time to, 1957 and the scene to a modern' home. Many a book is covered with dust on a book shelf or is tucked away in a closet somewhere, unopened for years. There perhaps another bible—a serious, financial loss, discouragement, incurable illness. Whereupon the Bible is brought out and begins to gather dust.

We don't just reach up and pull down out of the blue. It has been definitely revealed to us in a Book. We may find our guidance there.

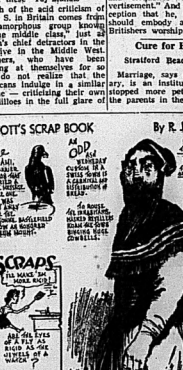
Lord, which had been neglected if we will.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Once a plane is in the air, air travel is wonderful. It is before the plane gets off and after it lands that air travel is a awful bore, in many instances a real mess, and in most cases a very badly man aged business. And it is a wonder that the air industry does not take a good look at its ground services and aircraft designing and put them to work on solving the muddle of that part of air travel which is on the ground.

Long lonely journeys through usually dense traffic are necessary to get out to airports. Airports, for the most part, have been built to look about them, and in many cases in Europe, are merely the wartime premises roughly converted to civilian use. The buildings are scarcely laid down nearrow, their window means, the accommodation woefully rickety. A lot of it is makeshift.



Remarkable as is the improvement in aircraft and in the management of schedules, the weather is still the master of the whole of the vast enterprise. If you book a flight and that flight is cancelled, you are cancelled too. You are left flat. And if, for example, you are coming by air from Paris to Toronto or from Florida to Vancouver, having got there with or three different air lines in the route, if you miss a connection, you instead of a day, find at an airport crowded with people who are all trying to get the slightest liner pilg, will wait in vain until they get back home, bewildered and perhaps penniless. Three, four hours later, they get a wire from you some place half way back on the continent, informing them that you will arrive at 9 p.m. instead of 4 p.m.

And just as they are about to leave again for the long hard drive back out to the airport, you arrive at their front door, having got as far as Toronto where there is some downtown centre, whence you have come by train, bagged, ruffled, arm-dragged, but full of joy at having profited from the wonders of modern transportation.

Only a little bit of it was modern. Only the last few hours in the air. The rest of it was about as modern as the bazaars of Benares.

PICTON (Special) — Clarence Milligan of Napanee, carrying the Progressive Conservative banner, swept to an easy victory in Prince Edward-Lennox in Monday's Federal election, piling up a 3,101 vote lead over his nearest opponent, Miss Aileen Green of Cherry Valley. Third candidate was William Metcalf, Social Credit, who obtained 525 votes to 5,714 for Mr. Green and 8,815 for Mr. Milligan.

Jubilant Progressive Conservatives in the riding are polling for Mr. Milligan to get the post of minister of agriculture if PC Leader John Diefenbaker forms a government.

Following the announcement of Mr. Milligan's victory, parades were held in Picton and Napanee. Mr. Milligan spoke at his party's committee rooms in both towns, promising to represent all people of the riding and not just those who had voted for him. The Liberal candidate, Mr. Green, appeared at both committee rooms to congratulate the winner.

Mr. Milligan was chosen as his party's candidate at a convention held in Napanee on the 18th of George Tustin, PC member of the riding for 9 years, to assist another member on the party's ticket. Mr. Tustin, also of Napanee, had a 957 majority in 1953 over Liberal.

LEE GRILLS WINS

sions. Twenty-four gave Grills a three-figure returns with twelve going to Follwell including the advance polls.

Five of the seven wards, Murney, Foster, Ketcheson, Bleecker and Baldwin gave Grills majorities. Bleecker and Coleman favored Follwell.

Twelve of Murney's 13 divisions gave Grills majorities. Foster's four went solid for Grills as did Ketcheson's seven. Samson returned six of its eight to Grills, as Baldwin giving him seven out of ten. Bleecker gave Follwell four and Grills two with Coleman favoring Follwell in six of its nine divisions.

The highest poll in any of the divisions was Foster One which gave Grills 164 and Follwell 99.

The village of Tweed gave Grills a majority of 89 an increase of 58 over the 1953 election. The town of Deseronto gave Grills a 14 majority a decrease of 33 from 1953.

Hungerford township increased its majority for Grills from 1953's nine to 131 on Monday.

Mr. Grills native township of Sidney boosted his majority to 523 an increase of 309 in the 1953 elections. He polled 1582 votes as against 1059 for Follwell.

Within two polls to hear from Frankford gave Grills 184 to Follwell's 168 a majority of 46. Grills' last majority was 63.

Thurlow also for Grills majority up from 195 in 1953 to 591 in Monday, election. He polled 2,101 votes as against 1,510 of the old position.

Stirling gave the successful candidate a majority of 98 yesterday as compared to 51 in the last election.

Tyendinaga reversed its decision in yesterday's voting giving Grills a majority of 105 as compared to 21 for Follwell in 1953.

The vote in Hastings South on Monday while fairly heavy was below the final vote in 1953. Yesterday 24,801 voters went to the polls while in the last election 25,- 497 voters cast their ballots.

While the eight polls not yet reported cannot make the difference, increased number on the voting lists would indicate the percentage of those casting votes will be lower.

VOICE SLIGHT SURPRISE

Some veteran political observers voiced slight surprise at the convincing Conservative majorities in the Hastings South and Prince Edward-Lennox. A much closer battle was predicted for this riding while "across the bay and down east" it was thought due to some previous dissatisfaction in Conservative ranks, the party standard bearer would have a hard put to win.

However, the national success of the Progressive Conservatives more or less-effect any indications of upset. In Prince Edward-Lennox the Conservatives increased the majority of Mr. George Tustin over Donald Thompson from 1,057 in 1953 to 3,102 for Mr. Milligan over Mr. Green in the election of this year. In Hastings-Frontenac, Mr. White upped his 1953 majority of 1,576 over Mr. Lennox Cleworth Foster to 4,752 over Mr. Foster this year with more polls to hear from.

In Hastings South both sides were keenly aware of the well oiled-in-the-wool Conservatives, the Grills majorities were expected and prize at the convincing majority polled by Mr. Grills.

One type of affair of facetiousness stated that an advertisement placed in this newspaper announcing a Grills victory by the Follwell faction for Monday night, was an omen of some sort.

In Hastings South as in Prince Edward-Lennox and Hastings Frontenac victorious candidates were looked backwards to when the first few polls were reported.

Hastings South Liberals may have gleaned some early hope from the advance and early poll of the city, which gave Follwell 124, Grills 79 and Kuglin 15.

But after that it was more or less a walk-away for Grills.

The first 22 polls compiled in this newspaper office gave Grills 1,- 134 votes to Follwell's 1,006 polls later he held a commanding lead of 1,361 votes. The lead accounted for Grills led Follwell by a 690 majority. At 92 polls Grills had a majority of 1,361 and 24 to hear from.

With 134 polls reported Follwell trailed by a 1,865 count.

At 10.20 p.m. he conceded the election.

And still the majority mounted. At 12 the polls the Grills' lead margin was 1,974 when the returns from the returning officer's office were received.

The sense of defeat coming fast in the Conservative camp over the Liberal candidate's headquarters. Confident of victory the night before, under the sudden and early drive of the Liberal machine that had the leading majorities presaged defeat, although hope was not given up by the Liberals.

In direct contrast to the last Liberal election celebrations, with honking automobile horns and cheers resounding through the air as the victorious Grills forces formed a motorcade and paraded through city streets before visiting other centres. Grim-faced Liberals entered their cars and went slowly home. It was the Conservatives first night to howl in the terms of government, and howl they did.

Whether it was the early closeness of the national fight that saw the two main parties practically neck and neck until a late hour, interest in the election quickened as the returns came in from coast to coast. Headquarters of local and district polls battles.

A battery of telephones operated by an augmented staff in the news rooms of this newspaper kept reporters busy receiving from shortly after seven o'clock when the polls closed. Even after local elections were settled calls trickled in for information on the national scene.

This marked additional interest in the election since both radio and television stations were "casting" returns at intervals during evening.

Both the successful Conservative and defeated Liberal candidates here spoke briefly to the electorate after the election was decided. Mr. Grills said tribute to Mr. Follwell for the conduction of a clean campaign. "It was a good clean fight," he said. He expressed the appreciation of his campaign committee and all who assisted him to victory. He stressed the fact that all live and work together to make the riding a happy community.

Mr. Follwell extended his congratulations to Mr. Grills on his victory at the polls and added he would always be ready and willing to assist the riding as best for the good of the riding. "I am always ready, as I have always been to assist the good people of Hastings South," he said.

St. Laurent Plans to Remain Member of House

QUEBEC (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated Monday night he will remain in the House of Commons whether he continues as prime minister or becomes Opposition leader.

He said he would take his part in the new parliament whatever be the decision of the voters.

"I shall return to Ottawa today throughout the country and will decide there with my (cabinet) colleagues the course we shall take."

Speaking from the Chateau Frontenac studio on a CBC live television broadcast, the Liberal leader said it was too soon to come to any decision on the best course in the next few days.

Mrs. Fairclough May Become Cabinet Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—The first Progressive Conservative cabinet in 22 years likely would include the first woman federal cabinet minister in Canada's history.

There appeared to be little doubt here today that Ellen Fairclough of Hamilton West would be taken into the administration by John Diefenbaker if he is called upon to form the government. She might become either health or labor minister.

Several other veteran Conservative members of Parliament are certain to be included in any Diefenbaker government.

With more than 50 new Conservatives in the Commons, there is a good possibility that some freshmen members may acquire cabinet portfolios.

Traditionally, all or nearly all provinces are represented by at least one cabinet minister. Quebec and Ontario usually supply half the cabinet with the others sharing the remainder by provinces. As the third largest province, British Columbia would likely get two or even three cabinet representatives.

MAY REWARD MARITIMES

Mr. Diefenbaker might run into a problem selecting cabinet members from the Maritimes. Many the election campaign he indicated Quebec would have as many cabinet representatives in a Conservative government as in the labor-dominated Liberal party. Conservatives were elected in Quebec and if these only two have experience.

The possibility also arises that the Atlantic provinces might receive higher cabinet representation than the three each. Liberals in view of their strong support for Mr. Diefenbaker.

Selection of a Conservative minister might provide a surprise. Because Mr. Diefenbaker himself is from the Prairies, he might pick an agriculture minister from Ontario. The present minister, Rt. hon. James G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan, has held the post for 22 years.

CHARGE TWO GIRLS

OTTAWA (CP) — A 15-year-old girl and her eight-year-old sister Friday pleaded guilty to two charges of housebreaking and were remanded one week for sentence in juvenile court. Detective Edward Logan said the two girls stole $36 in cash from the two homes. Police believe the girls also were responsible for several more thefts from homes in central and western Ottawa.

Election Highlights

VANCOUVER (CP)—An apparent misunderstanding among election officials resulted in a long delay Monday in tabulation of results in suburban Burnaby-Richmond, where Social Credit candidate Thomas Irwin won the seat from the Liberals.

Mr. Irwin, who resigned as Speaker of the British Columbia legislature to contest the seat, edged Progressive Conservative John Diefenbaker by 1,000 votes. Gerald Grattan McGeer, Liberal, ran third.

Mr. Drysdale was expected to demand a recount.

Officials at polls returning officers were reported to have duplicated returns from eight polling centres. Some 1,240 votes were tabulated twice.

MONTREAL (CP) — The CCF party, which in Quebec calls itself the Social Democratic party, entered 22 candidates—19 of them in Montreal Island constituencies—but made no gain. None of them threatened winning candidates' seats. Mrs. Florence Casgrain, leader of the CCF in Quebec, went down to defeat in Liberal Lionel Armand Dumas in the northern Quebec constituency of Villeneuve.

MONTREAL (CP)—All four Social Credit candidates in Quebec polled fewer votes than the losing Liberal candidates in Que bec's 75 constituencies—Montreal and Hull. One of the Liberal winners was Prime Minister St. Laurent in Quebec East. The four Social Credit candidates each polled less than 1,000 votes.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Jake Schulz, former chairman of the Interprovincial Farm Union Council and former president of the Manitoba Farmers' Union, was elected in Springfield in a CCF upset over the Liberal candidate, Stanley Knowles. CCF whip, was re-elected in Winnipeg North Centre.

REGINA (CP)—Hazen Argue retained Assiniboia for the CCF in a hard-fought battle with Rose Thatcher, former Commons desk-thumping Liberal.

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of the most eager vote-casters in Vancouver South had a card on her leg when it came to polling time—and lost her vote. The woman, an election worker for Liberal candidate Elmore Philpott, broke her leg during the weekend while dancing. She asked for a ballot box to be taken to her bedside but officials said it couldn't be done.

VANCOUVER (CP) — An irate voter stated a sit-down strike at one Vancouver polling station in protest of the election officials. The man took a perch on a ballot box after being told by a deputy returning officer that he was not on the list. Half an hour later the official admitted his error.

MONTREAL (CP)—Hon. Louis Beaudoin, Speaker of the Commons in the last Parliament, was re-elected to the election Monday in Soulanges, with a heavy majority over his lone Progressive Conservative opponent, Marcel Bourbonnais.

MONTREAL (CP) — Louis Stanislas Parizeau, 100, of Montreal, died in hospital Monday in his 20th federal election, elected when he was 80 years old.

His housekeeper, Mrs. D. Avon, said Mr. Parizeau caught a slight cold.

"If it were only next door, I'd go to the poll," he told Mrs. Avon. "but 45 miles is too far."

Editorial Comment

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Following are excerpts from editorials in representative Canadian newspapers on the Dominion election:

Saint John, N.B. Telegraph-Journal (Ind.) — There is little room for doubt that in the maritime provinces one main factor was responsible for the great upsurge of support for Mr. Diefenbaker—the conviction that the government may seats and brought about the downfall of the cabinet ministers. That factor was the continued decline in the value of the dollar over the years by the federal administration. . . .

The Montreal Gazette (Ind.) — The results of yesterday's voting show what happens when a government loses touch with the people. It is one of the simplest lessons in politics but one which it seems it seems possible that the Liberals can do so.

Accordingly, it most likely will be necessary to have another general election in the immediate future. . . .

By refusing to attempt to form a government on their present basis, the Liberals will be able to enter an unstable coalition even if that would give them a majority in the House, as the Conservatives can prepare the way for that vote.

protest vote. But Mr. Diefenbaker interpreted it in a more positive way. Conservative leader has been able to do in more than two decades. . . . The people have spoken, have voted against the Liberal government just because people were fed up with it. That government had lost touch with the people. It had become too complacent and self-satisfied.

Toronto Globe and Mail (Ind.): While strong enough to bring down the St. Laurent government, the Conservative vote does not seem to have been strong enough to enable Mr. Diefenbaker to form a government himself. It does not seem possible that the Conservatives will be able to secure a majority even by joining forces with the CCF. In the simplest terms it seems possible that the Liberals can do so.

Nine Liberal Cabinet Ministers Meet Defeat

TORONTO (CP)—Nine of the 17 Liberal cabinet ministers defending their seats were crushed as both Progressive Conservatives broke the Liberals' 22-year winning streak Monday night.

Meeting personal defeats were: Trade Minister Howe, Finance Minister Harris, Veterans Affairs Minister Gregg, Defence Minister Campney, Justice Minister Garson, Associate Minister Claxton, Fisheries Revenue Minister McCann, Labor Minister Gregg and Northern Affairs Minister Lapointe.

All of them were beaten by Conservatives, with one exception, of Mr. Howe, overcome by a CCFer.

In Ontario, Mr. Howe was beaten in Port Arthur; Mr. Harris in Toronto Danforth; Mr. Gregg in Renfrew South; and Mr. Hellyer in Toronto Davenport. Mr. Garson was defeated in Quebec's Lotbiniere; Mr. Gregg in York-Humber; Mr. Claxton in Queens-Lunenburg, N.S.

Out west, Mr. Garson lost in Manitoba; Mr. Campney was eliminated in Vancouver Centre.

Conservatives 91, Liberals 40

Conservatives 91, Liberals 40, Progressives 13, Liberal Progressives 2, CCF 8, Social Credit 2, Independent 1.

Mr. King, although lacking a majority, formed the new government and was sworn in on with the aid of Liberal Progressives until 1930.

The situation now is unlike that of 1926 in that neither the Progressive Conservatives, with the majority of seats, nor the Liberals, with the second-largest group, has any close affiliation with the CCF and Social Credit parties which hold the balance of power.

Present Mixup Similar to That Thirty Years Ago

OTTAWA (CP)—The inconclusive results of Monday's elections has brought a situation unknown in Canadian politics since June, 1926.

In the general election Oct. 29, 1925, Liberals elected 101 members, Conservatives 116, Progressives 24, Labor 3, Conservative-Labor 1. Membership in the Commons at that time was 245.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King managed to carry on with a Liberal government that needed the help of the Progressives until June, 1926, when he resigned after losing a vote.

The then governor-general, Lord Byng, Labor 3, Conservative 1. Hon. Arthur Meighen who formed a temporary government from June 29 to Sept. 25 when he resigned.

But it was defeated almost immediately in the House and Parliament was dissolved.

ELECTION RESULTED

In-the ensuing election, Sept. 14, 1926, the Liberals elected 116

Liberal Party's Atlantic Fort Lies in Ruins

HALIFAX (CP) — The Liberals' old Atlantic citadel lay in ruins today. Progressive Conservatives had taken over.

The Conservatives hadn't won more than seven seats east of Quebec since the Bennett landslide of 1930. Today they hold 21 and are leading candidates in a 22nd.

Liberal representation in the Atlantic provinces was cut in half, to nine seats out of 43.

They ran roughshod through Liberal Atlantic constituencies in Monday's federal election. They knocked off Liberals with ease in all four in Prince Edward Island. In 1953 they got only one in each province.

They nibbled away two of New Brunswick's 10 seats, retained two and picked up a big one in New Brunswick to win half that province's seats.

SAVED 12 OF 26

Liberals saved only 12 of the 26-man contingent they had in the last House. They lose Maritime CCFer, veteran campaigner Clarie Gillis, Cape Breton South, after 17 years.

Works Minister Winters bowed out, removed from Lloyd R. Crouse in Queens-Lunenburg, Conservative.

Chester Macnaughton lost Labor Minister Gregg in York-Sunbury.

R. H. Phillips beat out J. Watson Macnaught, assistant to the Liberal campaign chief, in Prince Edward Island riding of Prince. John Dickey, defence production president, dropped in Halifax before the Conservative tide.

Immigration Minister Pickersgill held his Newfoundland seat in Bonavista-Twillingate, the only Atlantic cabinet minister to survive.

It was the greatest Conservative victory in the Maritimes since they elected 23 members in 1930.

Planned Liberal Victory Turned Into Wake by PCs

OTTAWA (CP)—A planned Liberal victory celebration at national headquarters was turned into a wake Monday night by the Progressive Conservatives.

Cold cuts, cakes and coffee had been laid out on a long table in the dining room of an old downtown residence converted into party headquarters last year.

But the food was hardly touched by Liberal supporters who came to watch the election results flow in from the wires of The Canadian Press. Once it was known that the election had been lost, the laden tables were stripped.

Brooks C. MacTavish, president of the Liberal Federation, H. Erskine Kidd, general secretary, and a handful of others watched the election results come in. Their faces showed their dismay after the figures started to show Conservative gains in the Maritimes.

People who dropped in stayed for only a short time. By 11 p.m. only the headquarters staff remained.

SPEAK QUIETLY

Mr. MacTavish and Mr. Kidd spoke quietly to each other as each new batch of results was released by the newspaper-radio-television broadcasts and heard the various party leaders speak. Prime Minister St. Laurent had spoken on television from Quebec City, Mr. Diefenbaker from home.

Asked to comment on the election results, he said:

"It is disappointing but we have to take it as it comes."

WATCHED TV

At that time the Conservatives had elected 102 members and the Liberals 94.

When reporters left shortly before midnight, two television sets were still turned on. But no one was watching them.

PCs Jubilant As Election Results Pour In

OTTAWA (CP)—"We ain't got no feelings—it's so wonderful."

That was the way one unidentified Progressive Conservative woman worker summed up the parties' feelings as returns poured in to national Conservative headquarters here Monday night.

You just had to look around to understand what she meant.

The mezzanine floor, a small back room on the second floor where telephone lines to Canadian Press told the story—exhilarating for the Conservatives, to put it mildly.

Early in the night, as the Conservatives ran neck-and-neck with the Liberals, the air was one of restrained jubilation. But as later returns showed that the party's fortunes rose to heights they hadn't attained for 22 years, so did the gaiety.

When the first report of a Conservative national lead arrived, a great cheer went up.

OUTCRY SHUSHED

But it was shushed quickly in the main room on the ground floor. There, large blackboards had been set up to show the names of candidates in all constituencies. And it was to that room that the first reports of Conservative triumph was relayed over loudspeakers.

So if you cheered too long, you might miss something new.

The cheers came through that Trade Minister Howe had been defeated in Port Arthur, a cheer went up. Later, the news of Defence Minister Campney's defeat in Vancouver Centre produced an even greater cheer.

Working quietly at a desk with room at one of the blackboards was Sandra Drew, 17 - year - old daughter of Dana Wilgress, who resigned the party leadership last fall because of ill health.

She told a reporter this wasn't her first election as a blackboard recorder.

"We're out of it as a family," she said. "But I think I'm enjoying this more than any other election."

"DADDY'S DANCING"

Asked whether she had seen or heard from her father during the evening, she laughed and replied: "Daddy's dancing at a dance at Carleton." That was the seat he had until he resigned early this year.

When it became clear that the Conservatives had won more seats than any other party, Arthur Maloney, who successfully handled the advertising, itinerary and a thousand other details of Prime Minister-designate John Diefenbaker's campaign, said:

"John Diefenbaker and John Diefenbaker only is the man who is responsible.

"He gave something like 84 times in 40 days. He gave of himself to Canada, more than any other man has ever given because he wanted to return the rights of parliament to the Canadian people."

GRAY — LAWRENCE

Standards of white and blue Shasta daisies and ferns formed the setting on Saturday, June 1, at 2:00 p.m. in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, for a lovely wedding when Mary Nadene Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lawrence, became the bride of Sub Lieutenant Donald Melville Gray of Kingston, son of Mrs. W. P. G. Gray of Kingston, and the late Captain Gray. The Reverend Canon A. S. McConnell, rector of the church, officiated.

The wedding music was rendered by the church organist, Mr. Robert Bell, who also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Reid of Toronto, in his rendition of "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and "The Wedding Hymn" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. J. W. Lawrence, the bride was radiant in her floor-length bridal gown of white nylon chiffon, featuring a bodice of Chantilly lace with bateau neckline and short, cap sleeves. The graceful, bouffant skirt was banded with Chantilly lace accents. Her finger-tip veil was held by a Juliet cap of matching lace embroidered with sequins and seed pearls. Elbow-length gloves completed her ensemble, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white Shasta daisies, tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Barbara Loye, of Kingston, was maid of honor; Miss Marilynn Cormier of Belleville, and Mrs. George Murray, also of Belleville, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. All were gowned alike in white eyelet embroidery, fashioned on Marinocci lines in cocktail length, with touches of blue velvet. They wore picture hats banded with blue velvet matching the details of the dresses, and carried hand-bouquets of white Shasta daisies and blue ribbon ties.

Mr. William Gray, of Kingston, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman. Messrs. David Lawrence, of Belleville, brother of the bride, and Sergeant Major Ross Gray, of Toronto, brother of the bridegroom, acted as ushers.

The bride's table, pretty in its appointment of white damask, was centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped with lily-of-the-valley and misted about the base with baby's and blue Shasta daisies.

For the wedding trip to the Eastern United States, the bride chose a pink printed sheath with pink linen duster, black picture hat and accessories, and corsage of white carnations. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Gray will reside in Ottawa.

Showers honoring the bride, previous to her marriage were held at the home of Marilyn Cormier by the staff of the operating room of Belleville General Hospital, of which the bride was a member; a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Roy Coulter with Mrs. Len Wilson and Mrs. Jack Watson as cohostesses; at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. William Anderson, of Belleville; at a china shower given by Mrs. Harold Mott and Mrs. Homer Townsend at Mrs. Mott's home, and a luncheon held at Golden Acre Inn, Kingston Road, with Mrs. Arthur May as hostess, also at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Viggo Lewis, of Belleville.

Mr., Mrs. A. Mastin Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mastin are pictured cutting their 50th anniversary wedding cake in the Kiwanis Centre at the anniversary which was attended by over 135 guests.

Over 135 relatives and friends attended the anniversary dinner held in the Kiwanis Centre on Saturday evening in honor of the 50 years of married life enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mastin, of this city. The sumptuous dinner served mid a setting of green and gold, was sponsored by the family of the honored couple.

Every pillar was adorned with sprays of fragrant balsam, centred by a large bow of, golden, satin ribbon, and backgrounding the head table, with its three-tier pedestal anniversary cake, its bowls of golden roses, was a large banner outlined with green balsam, enclosing the golden, legend, "50th anniversary."

Mrs. Mastin, attired in dusty rose with corsage of orchids tied with a golden bow, and assisted by Mr. Mastin in grey, with white carnation boutonniere, received the guests.

The long, guest tables, which occupied the entire auditorium, were centred by red posies and white snowballs nested under a long, fluted runner of gold color. Round about the room were tall standards of evergreens, spiced, red peonies and golden lillies all betokening the gala occasion for which they stood sentinel.

At the anniversary table were the bride and bridegroom of 50 years ago, their daughters and sons, and their pastor, the Reverend Harry M. Davis, of Bridge Street United Church, who gave the invocation preceding the dinner.

Mr. Ralph Plumpton of Foxboro, who presided as master of ceremonies, spoke briefly, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Mastin continued health and many happy years to come.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Plumpton read, "This is Your Life," in which the doings of the bride and bridegroom were outlined from the day of their marriage, their honeymoon by means of horse and buggy; the farm life, and their succeeding days up to the present occasion, living retired in the city.

Mr. Robert Murray, of Buffalo, favored with two solos, "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Several spoke briefly, among whom were their son, Victor, of Lexington, enlarged on what he was most happy to be present on this occasion.

Mr. Davis, in his address remarked on the wonderful occasion a 50th anniversary was; that but few people have the opportunity of attending such an occasion, as these were very rare indeed, that it was a real joy to share in the joyous festivities of this splendid family, and the real family spirit which was shown by their immediate family; the 13 grandchildren and the one great grandchild. He proposed the toast to the bride and bridegroom in which the 135 present took part, and to which Mr. Mastin responded.

Mr. and Mrs. Mastin were the recipients of many lovely gifts, which were on view on a long table at the west of the auditorium. Among these were crocheted woollen blankets satin bound, in light and dark gold; mantel clock in walnut, tea cups, gold touched, a standard of golden chrysanthemums, and many others, all denoting the high esteem in which the bride and bridegroom of half a century ago are held by their friends, and relatives.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU CAN HELP YOURSELF A LOT, MRS. KAY

It always seems to me that when a woman has an empty life, at least some of the reason is her own fault.

This doesn't mean I'm unsympathetic with a wife who has led a hard and conscientious life bringing up children and keeping a big family well-cared for while living with a husband who gives her neither help, companionship nor even an occasional kind word for all her labors.

One such wife who writes me in detail of the frustrating life she has had with such a man declares that, after 35 years of it, she wonders what she has to live for.

Apparently Mrs. Kay, as she signs her letter, was married very young, for it she had three children before she was 21. At 36, she had another child and eleven years later, still another.

In all the time she has been married, her husband "has never tried to make me happy. He never thinks of me at Christmas or my birthday or on Mother's Day. It's not that he goes out with other women or is a heavy drinker or does any other big thing. It's the little things he doesn't do that have made me ro unhappy.

"I've always been expected to take all the care of the children, keep the house the way he wants it, with good meals always ready, but never has he lifted a hand to help me with anything." Her husband never takes her anywhere, she adds, and she never goes anywhere by herself.

She goes on to say that the family liver in a house "that no one knows how old it really is"; that she would love to have a new and modern home, but her husband has told her he'll never get one, and that he shows no interest in even doing what he can to modernize and make the old home attractive. Yet "he's always helping others with building and making the grounds around their homes more attractive. But—"I don't need a pretty yard, he thinks. He likes to eat outdoors at other people's homes, and I'd like to do the same at ours, but I dare not ask him to fix up our yard so this will be possible."

Now that all but one of her children are grown and on their own, the burden of her lonely loveless days has become an intolerable weight.

"Tell me what I could do for pleasure," she begs. "Sometimes I just take everything on the chin and other times I think I've nothing to live for."

Now, as I said in the beginning, I'm far from unsympathetic with any woman who has led such a miserable life, and what I think of such a husband, it would be useless to take time to say.

But, as I also mentioned before, I do think that, especially now that she has no small children to tie her down, it's partly this woman's own fault if she doesn't do what she can on her own to make her life more interesting and enjoyable. Having married so young, 35 years have not made her too old to do this, and I can see nothing to prevent her from getting busy right now looking for activities in the town near which she lives that would take her mind off her misery and give her interesting things to do and think about. If she doesn't know where to start, let her find out what groups there are at her church, if she is a member of any, that have active programs, both recreational and on the service side. If she doesn't belong to any church, let her inquire into what goes on at the different churches in town and ally herself with the one which seems to have the most going on.

Finally, there are groups in every community which busy themselves with work that needs doing, and she would find it very rewarding to have a share in it. For to help others is the best and quickest way to forget one's own troubles.

You can do a lot to dig yourself out of the hole into which life has dropped you, Mrs. Kay. All you need, I think, is the will power to get going.

YOU'RE GOING TO LOOK PRETTY SILLY, IF YOU DON'T WATCH OUT!

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm a girl who is very much in love with a boy I thought was in love with me, but lately he's been talking about other girls, and it almost broke my heart to think he'd ever look at another girl. He comes to see me every night, but keeps talking about these other girls. I've told him if I ever saw him with a girl it would be all bad for him.

Boys are always calling me up and asking me for dates and I always turn them down because of this boy I love.

Do you think I should go out with another boy? I guess I'm just jealous! — Miss R.H.

Dear Miss R.H.:

I don't guess, I know you're just jealous, and it's the worst way in the world for you to try and hold on to your boy friend. There isn't anything more unattractive than a jealous person and nobody wants to be around one. Does a girl who tells a boy it will be "too bad for him" if he doesn't do what she wants him to, sound like anyone worth loving?

The smartest thing you could do would be to tell your boy friend—and not in a mad way, either—that you want him to feel free to go out with any girl he pleases, and that you'll go out with any boy you like. If this boy is losing interest in you, he's going to take other girls out anyhow, so why not put yourself in a position where you won't look silly if he does? You would certainly both look and feel silly if he left you after you were making such a big effort to hang on to him.

CONTINENTAL ELEGANCE FEATURED IN NEW SUNGLASSES

Sunglasses go glamorous this season, whether frames are plain, jewelled or rainbow-hued.

Never before in history have sunglasses enjoyed such a wide acceptance with fashion-conscious women—and for good reason. Inspired by leading European designers, new American-made glasses feature graceful frames in silhouettes and delicate filigrees, highlighted by alluring rhinestone and bead ornamentation. Exquisite color combinations make them ideal partners for resort wear as well as satisfying the discriminating woman's needs for town and country.

Once upon a time sunglasses were strictly functional, but not any more. Today they're definite fashion accessories. And why not —when subtle blending of Italian simplicity and French sophistication in colorful frames lends such special appeal to eyes and face?

Sunglass styles have even acquired romantic names—such as "bijou", a real jewel of a spec, featuring a sprinkling of tiny rhinestones encircling the outside of fire pink, cool turquoise, black patent and white bouquet. Then there's "enchante", certain to become a favorite, which comes in the popular harlequin shape, with a scalloped silver tone border on frames of ebony, white, demi pink and turquoise. "Fiesta", as gay as its name implies, is another number featuring rhinestones and filigree on frames in a variety of rainbow shades.

Each of the new styles is delightfully different. For women who want even more sparkle in their sunglass frames, models are available with silver stars, twinkling beaded jewels and even appliqué of pearls and brilliants. There are scores of such styles.

For those who are conservative, there are plain styles, too. One called "chic" is extremely simple of design and features the black-and-white color scheme that harmonizes so well with most ensembles. Then, too, there are increasing numbers of women who will continue to follow lead of Princess Grace Kelly who favors the large-lensed type of sunglass so similar to men's models. This style is totally unornamented, but the simplicity of its design and the oversized lenses (to say nothing of the Kelly influence) give it a distinctive air of elegance.

WHAT THE GROOM PAYS FOR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please tell us what the groom is expected to supply for the wedding and the reception. Particularly in the way of flowers, food, and gifts.—S.M.

THE GROOM PAYS FOR

Wedding ring.
Marriage licence fee.
Wedding present to the bride.
These flowers: Bride's bouquet; bride's going-away corsage corsages for both mothers; boutonnieres for best man, ushers, and for both fathers (In some communities the groom pays for the flowers of the bridal attendants.)
Contribution to the minister who performs the ceremony.
Presents to best man and ushers; also, for a formal wedding, their ties and gloves.
Bachelor dinner (if he gives one).
Transportation for best man and himself, from house to church.
Hotel accommodations for best man and ushers (also for the recipients of married attendants), if from out-of-town!
All expenses of the wedding trip including those with the car in which he and the bride leave the reception.

WHAT THE WEDDING GUEST SAYS TO MEMBERS OF RECEIVING-LINE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been appointed by our group to ask you what is the proper thing for a wedding guest to say to each member of the receiving-line at the wedding reception. We all confess that we are apt to "fumble" when we try to think of the right thing to say. Any suggestions will be deeply appreciated.—Our group

(1) What you say to a member of the receiving-line depends quite naturally, on how well you know her or him. And also depends on how many guests there are in the line waiting for you to say your greetings and move along.

(2) It gives you a good start, if you're uncertain as to what to say to the bride or groom or to the bride's parents or the groom's parents to begin by saying that the wedding was "lovely" or "beautiful" or "memorable," because this is true of practically all weddings. And all those concerned with the wedding and the guests are delighted to have you make these enthusiastic comments.

(3) Customarily the wedding guest wishes the bride happiness and congratulates the groom. Remember: You must not "congratulate" the bride . . . in your greetings to her, never use the word "congratulate" or "congratulations." You shake hands with her, or, if you are a relative or an intimate friend, kiss her and say something like this, "Nancy dear, I wish you every happiness," or "Every good wish for your happiness, always. You are a beautiful bride, and this is a lovely wedding." Or, Sallie dear, my love to you, and my dearest wishes that every happiness will be yours!" Or, to someone whom you don't know very well, "My very best wishes to you. Such a beautiful wedding."

If you don't know the groom and he is introduced to you by the bride, or if you do know him but not very well, you shake hands with him and say, "Congratulations!" To this you may add, "I wish you both every happiness." If you know him well, you might say, "Jim, my heartiest congratulations to you. Your bride is lovely . . . and what a beautiful wedding it was. May all happiness and good fortune come to you both!"

(4) Greeting the Bridal Attendants: If you know the honor attendant and the bridesmaids (and of course greet them cordially, perhaps say something about the "beautiful wedding" and, if there is time, perhaps add something about how charming they look, and how becoming are their costumes. If you don't know them, introduce yourself, and make some pleasant comment about the wedding.

(5) Since most wedding guests are likely to use somewhat the same words in making their bow to the members of the receiving-line, it is even more important than usual for you to say what you do say with a special grace and a gracious warmth. It is the way you say your greetings that will be remembered!

CHURCHILL PAINTS AGAIN

ROQUEBRUNE, France (Reuters)—Capt. Christopher Soames arrived Friday from London for a visit to Sir Winston Churchill's French Riviera villa here and found his father-in-law had taken up the brush again to paint scenes in the villa's garden. Churchill until three days ago had done little painting — his favorite hobby—for some time.

Pretty Profiles

By ALICE ALDEN

The profile hat has had a good run this season, and this shouldn't be surprising since the line is extremely flattering to most faces. Some does a new one in turquoise linen straw and flattens the wide brim on each side, curving it back only at the centre front. Large loose full blown white silk poppies are placed at the band line at either side, their leaves and stems stretching across the front, showing through the V spilt in the brim.

Casserole For Clueful Cooks

By Mary Moore

They call her Casserole Kate, the Clueless Cook. She won't throw out one thing. Even a spoonful of peas she will save in the bottom of a bowl in the refrigerator. When she has enough leftovers, she throws them all together in a casserole and pours on a can of condensed soup and bakes it. Believe it or not its edible.

TUESDAY

Broiled Shoulder Lamb Chops, Mint Jelly, Creamed Vegetable Medley (asparagus, peas, carrots), New Potatoes, Salad Greens, Rhubarb Crumb, Pouring Cream, Coffee.

But don't let me catch you cooking that way. If you are going to make casserole dishes know exactly what you are doing. Don't add good food to stale food and produce a dishful of doubt.

ALL-IN-ONE CASSEROLE:

One-half a chopped onion, 1 small clove garlic, minced, ½ lb. ground beef, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/3 teaspoon pepper, 2/3 cup (6 oz. can) tomato paste, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup undiluted evaporated milk, 1 cup cooked green lima beans, 1 cup macaroni. Brown onion, garlic and beef seasoned with salt and pepper in a little dripping in heavy skillet. Add tomato paste, Worcestershire sauce and evaporated milk. Pour over green beans and macaroni in buttered 1½ quart casserole. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes.

POTATO AND HAM SCALLOP:

Four medium sized potatoes, pared and sliced thin, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup ham cubed, 1½ cups milk (skim milk powder reconstituted may be used) grated cheese and crumbs for topping. Place half the potatoes in casserole, sprinkle with salt and flour. Add a layer of ham and the remainder of the potatoes. Pour milk over potatoes ,sprinkle with grated cheese and bread crumbs and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 45 minutes. As you can see, this is glorified scalloped potatoes.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE:

Three cups scalded milk, 2 frying chickens (3 to 2 ½ lbs. each), seasoned flour, fat. Cut the chicken into serving pieces. Dip in seasoned flour. Fry in fat until browned, keeping pan covered as much as possible. Place chicken in deep casserole, cover with milk. Cover lightly and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. Fahr. 30-45 minutes until tender. Remove chicken and keep it hot. Make a gravy in a pan using 3½ tablespoons flour and a little water to make a paste. Add milk and broth from casserole. Season with salt and pepper and pour over chicken which has been put back in the casserole. Reheat. Serves 6 to 8.

EGGS AND GREEN BEANS AU GRATIN:

Three cups scalded milk, 2 tablespoons diced onion 6 tablespoons each flour and fat, 1 teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 6 eggs, hard-cooked, 2 cups green beans, cooked or canned, ½ cup whole wheat bread crumbs, ½ cup cheese grated. Add onion to milk and scald in double boiler. Cream flour and fat, add seasonings. Add to milk, cook and stir until smooth. In a greased 2 quart casserole place alternate layers of sliced egg, beans and sauce, using sauce for top layer. Top with mixture of crumbs and cheese. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

Seventh Annual Festival Sacred Praise Begins Five Sessions

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

The Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise began its five sessions for the 7th annual year with a good representation during the last week of May 27th, of children, music supervisors, school teachers, mothers and other interested relatives and friends in attendance.

There were approximately 300 entrants in competition. At St. Paul's Church the Rev. A. Peckman conducted the opening devotional; the church was decorated with bouquets of double white lilacs and variegated tulips, and the display of trophies added to the attractiveness of the setting.

The adjudicator was Mr. Reginald Geen, of Oshawa, and his secretaries were: Mrs. George Carlisle and Mrs. William Brown; while Miss Marlene Carlisle, Mrs. Arthur Pepper, and Mrs. T. W. Speer assisted with the distribution of the medals.

Mrs. Harold Carry, and Mrs. George Noble were in charge of the numbers, assisted by Mrs. C. Brasford, Mrs. E. Warren and others. The treasurers included, Mrs. J. S. Thompson, Mrs. D. C. David, Miss Lenora Williams, and Mrs. Jean Hough.

A bevy of folk spent the four sessions assisting with various activities which go to make a festival a success and their contribution was greatly appreciated.

Be ruthless in thinning out young plants. Extra ones can be transplanted or shared, but unless removed none will grow well. Even small annual requires several inches distance from another; and other plants more separation, depending on mature size.

EAGLE ATTACKS GIRL

TRENTO, Italy (Reuters) — A full-grown eagle plunged down from a hilltop near this northern Italian city Friday and tried to carry off a five-year-old girl who was playing in a field. The eagle sank its claws in the child's hair and hands—which the girl had raised instinctively to her head—but the girl's grandfather lashed out with his hoe and forced the eagle to drop its prey.

Many Rate West Berlin Most Exciting Capital on Continent

BERLIN (CP) — Beleaguered West Berlin, as breezy and dauntless as ever, is rapidly regaining its old position as one of Europe's greatest cities. Some rate it the most exciting capital on the Continent, ahead even of Paris.

It's only half a city, a pinprick of liberty in a Communist limbo, but it looks brighter every day. Defying economic laws and a crazy political setup, this thriving island 100 miles inside the Iron Curtain is still the spiritual capital of free Germany.

Once more the Kurfuerstendamm sparkles, reborn as the Champs Elysees of Berlin. Bold and original architectural developments are seen in universities, department stores and office buildings, built in the last few months or years.

NEW CONGRESS

An arresting example is the new Congress Hall, now nearing completion. Fun-loving Berliners, intrigued by its unusual shape, call it the "pregnant oyster" or "crashed flying saucer."

Germans elsewhere yearn for the yeasty atmosphere of Berlin, where even the air is more bracing. "I'll get there if I have to walk all the way," said a union leader in Cologne, recalling emigrant pre-Hitler days when Berlin ranked with Paris as an intellectual centre and names like Fritz Lang and Ernest Lubitsch dominated the entertainment industry.

Now Berlin is wide open again. At night the city exudes a brassy, juke-box gaiety. Nightclubs, catering for a variety of tastes, stay open till daybreak. Some specialize in political cabaret as sharp as anything in Europe.

AIR-LIFT RECALLED

The spirit of Berlin seems as impudent and indestructible as in the hard days of the air-lift, when housewives got up at 2 a.m. to do their washing in the few post-midnight hours when electric current was available. Berliners still have a reputation for being "schlagfertig" — quick with a blow, or reply.

A road worker, questioned about the destination of an autobahn on which construction had just started, flashed back: "Stettin." Stettin is in Polish territory far behind the Iron Curtain, probably lost to Germany for ever.

The contrast between the two Berlins could hardly be more pointed.

SHARP CONTRAST

The Eastern sector is still desolate and abounding in ruins, though there is excellent opera and theatre. Even the showplace that was Stalinallee, the broad avenue with the Moscow - style apartments, looks shoddy and scaffolding outside the walls betrays premature repairs, caused by defects in workmanship or materials.

There's a different contrast between West Berlin and Bonn, the provisional capital. Bonn is a sleepy, artificial university town in a stammy corner of the Rhineland, as different from metropolitan Berlin as Prussia is from Bavaria. Officials can hardly wait to move to Berlin, but that is impossible as long as the city remains under four-power occupation.

REMEMBERED BY MANY

BERLIN (Reuters) — Tens of thousands of Berliners Friday attended the state funeral of Louise Schroeder, former Berlin mayor who won herself the affectionate title "mother of Berlin." She died Tuesday at 70.

Unsatisfied Judgment Fund Ten Years Old

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's Unsatisfied Judgment Fund, designed to protect victims of uninsured motorists, will have been in operation 10 years on July 1. It will have paid out more than $4,000,000 in claims.

Assistant deputy attorney-general Eric H. Silk says he believes the fund and its machinery are as near perfect as can be devised.

"We have found that those who are inclined to criticize the legal aspects of the fund are people who do not have a proper working knowledge of it," he said.

Under present legislation, accident victims of uninsured drivers can recover up to $5,000 for personal injury and $1,000 for property damage from the fund, after a court judgment has been obtained. They have to prove that the motorist or driver can pay. The maximum paid out in any one action is $10,000.

Drivers now pay $1 into the fund when they buy their annual licences.

LAST PAYMENTS

Maximum amounts recoverable will be doubled, beginning in 1958. At the same time, uninsured owners will have to pay $5 a year into the fund. "Since about 20 per cent of Ontario's car owners are uninsured, that may double the fund's income," says Allan G. MacNab registrar of motor vehicles.

A driver who has had debts paid by the fund is not allowed to drive again until he has paid back the amount, or has made arrangements to pay it on instalments.

Toronto lawyer Charles A. Thompson, QC, says he feels that victims sometimes settle for less than they should, when a settlement is possible, because of the difficulty of proving that the other party cannot pay. "The fund's discretion should be extended," he says.

The fund protects out-of-province residents injured in Ontario only if their province or state has similar protection for visitors from Ontario. All Canadian provinces except Quebec have comparable legislation.

NOT COMPULSORY

Saskatchewan has long had compulsory insurance, sold with the licence, while private insurance is available for additional coverage.

Edson Haines, QC, Toronto, says he thinks the Saskatchewan scheme "is pretty socialistic, but it works well there." However, he doubted whether it would work as well in Ontario.

Another Toronto lawyer, Andrew Brewin, QC, said however that the Ontario fund system is "most unsatisfactory." He feels that Saskatchewan's insurance is cheaper and protects the passengers and drivers who are at fault, which Ontario does not do.

New York state has recently adopted compulsory, but not state-owned, insurance, but one Toronto representative of an American insurance company expressed doubts of its success. It falls down, he says, when a person lets his insurance run out, or cancels it.

Under provisions of the Ontario fund, insurance companies who have paid their clients where the person at fault could not pay cannot claim money from the fund.

The Canadian Congress of Labor proposed at a national highway conference in 1955 that compulsory, state-owned insurance be adopted everywhere in Canada. One objection was that this would take the licensing power out of the province's hands and put it in the hands of the insurance companies.

Meantime, the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund is big business in Ontario. In the 1955-56 fiscal year it paid out $1,791,883, against receipts in that period of $1,064,084. As of last March 31, it had a balance of $1,548,617.

Human Chain of Observers Will Spot Wheeling Ball

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Scientists are getting set to fling a tiny man - made moon into space.

Then comes a consuming and possibility embarrassing question —where did it go?"

Finding the little moon after it's launched could be enormously difficult. Only the size of a bushel basket, it will whiz around the earth at five miles a second for heights of 200 to 1,500 miles.

But scientists expect to find and track the shining moon, by three different systems—human, telescopic, and radio. Much depends on some dedicated volunteers standing watch on the skies.

The thrill of being the first human to see the satellite could fall to a housewife, truck driver, schoolboy, lawyer, doctor, baker, or a tailor.

They make up the amateur teams of Operation Moonwatch, the human chain of observers determined to spot the wheeling ball.

There will be volunteer teams in the United States, Japan, South America, South Africa, Guam, Yap, Wake Island, Hawaii and Europe. Each team has 20 to 60 members and has a particular part of the sky to watch.

The satellite moves too fast for anyone to see it with naked eye, or even binoculars, unless he knows where to look. In 10 minutes, it will cross the United States, in 100 it will circle the world on a round-trip.

In their own towns, each team will guard its own meridian, an imaginary north-south line overhead across the sky. At each location, a tall pole is set up. Atop the pole is a wooden or metal mast, set precisely upon the meridian line at that location on earth.

Aground, the observers sit in chairs on a line north and south of the pole. Each peers into a telescope focused on a mirror, so he sees one circle of the sky overhead.

If the satellite whips by, someone will see it. Two will see it if it speeds by at points where the circles of vision overlap.

Whoever sees the ball will call out, "I've got it!" Then he'll cry out at the instant the ball blinks as it passes over the mast. He, or she, will call out again when the ball disappears from his telescopic view.

His call-outs will be recorded, timed precisely with a time signal being received by radio. Where and when the satellite passed by will be known.

This data will be telephoned to the Smithsonian astrophysical observatory here at Harvard and fed into an electronic calculator. This machine already will have computed the locations of each observing station.

Once the general orbit is spotted, special telescopes will pick up, watch and photograph the flight and track even tiny influences upon its orbit to learn significant facts. These telescopes will be at 12 locations around the world.

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Well, that's that. The sound and fury is over. The most of the wagers are paid or should be, the men in the governmental seats of the mighty have settled back in their seats—and probably wondering what they promised, and the country is back to some state of normalcy — or is it?

Back to the sports picture, up around the northern section of the province and in some parts of the western area, some of the scribes are taking the statement of the North Bay Trappers bone-man, Pete Palangio that he will move his club lock-stock-and-barrel to Louisville, with tongue-in-cheek.

One northern writer entertains the idea Palangio is using the Louisville gimmick to force the hand of the North Bay arena. A western scribe states he doubts if the NOHA will allow the Palangio crew to seek the warm sunshine, blue grass and the frosted juleps of that part of Ole Kaintuck.

After all one cannot blame Palangio. He sent nearly $11,000 down the drain and brought an Eastern Canada finalist team to almost empty seats of the North Bay Arena. Just what do those guys up there want for a hockey club, anyway?

Chick (Stratford Beacon-Herald) Appel tosses cold water on the Palangio plan. Says Appel: "It can almost be taken for granted that the NOHA would object strenuously to the shift of the North Bay players to Louisville, and the CAHA would also probably oppose the move. In fact there is no such thing as transferring a NOHA franchise to another organization, although it would be possible to transfer the North Bay players to the International League subject to the approval of the NOHA and CAHA, and that isn't likely to be forthcoming.

"Sure, Palangio could file a Louisville entry in the IHL, but then he would most certainly encounter plenty of obstacles in moving the North Bay players holus-bolus to the Kentucky city simply because NOHA could refuse to accord to follow the OHA pattern and freeze the players with the object of offering their services to other NOHA clubs."

"Then," Appel goes on, with perhaps a smidge of wishful thinking, "there is always the chance that OHA clubs might want to land some of the current North Bay players, and they'd probably be given that opportunity before they are permitted to leave Canada."

But Don (Sudbury Star) Mackintosh takes a different view.

"What would you do?" he asks. "Or is Pete playing footsie with the North Bay arena commission?"

"What are the chances of Palangio folding up the Trappers and leaving North Bay?"

"A gambling man would say it is a good bet. Pete has carried hockey in the Bay for a dozen years or so. None of them has been howling successes from a financial point of view. Pete's last year was the first he really hit the jackpot . . . A first-place team in a brand new arena sounds like it should be a jackpot. But it wasn't, and Pete dropped some $10,000 or thereabouts."

Palangio recently sold his garage and automobile agency in North Bay which should help him in his plans.

"The winters up here," writes Mackintosh, "are long and cold, the fans in North Bay apparently do not appreciate a winning team, and who can afford to lose ten grand every winter."

"So along comes a guy with a 50-50 proposition to speculate in a new hockey market . . . in a beautiful new arena . . . in a hockey-mad city . . . in a fine warm climate . . . and if you're not tied down with anything else. What would you do?"

Perhaps Pete is trying to bluff a few bucks out of the arena commission. But perhaps he isn't.

If and when the Trappers go to Louisville, just what the southern section of the NOHA will consist of is not known. Departure of the Trappers will leave only the Soos and Sudbury in the fold and unless the myth of Ottawa and Hull entries becomes a reality. We doubt it very much. Then again the story persists that the Pembroke Lumber Kings will re-enter the eastern division of the OHA. We'll know at the "victory-dinner" meeting scheduled for Whitby, June 23.

Blast Bombers With Homers As Boston Wallops Kansas; Buhl Beats 'Bums', Bucs Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's Bob Buhl still has Brooklyn Dodgers on a string, Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall still is "all goofed up," and the National League pennant race is still a tight little sprint, with only a three-game spread covering the first five teams.

Only two games were scheduled in the league Monday night, and Buhl who beat Dodgers eight times last year, wrapped them up for a second time this season, 3-1, with a somewhat anxious four-hitter. This left Brooklyn and Braves in a tie for third place, 1½ games behind first-place Cincinnati.

Pittsburgh and Vern Law took care of Redlegs, with Law also spinning a four-hitter that beat Cincinnati, 5-2. It was the first Pirate success against Redlegs in 16 games and left the leaders only one game ahead of Philadelphia Phillies, who have second place all to themselves.

THIRD STRAIGHT LOSS

Buhl, a 28-year-old righthander who was 3-3 against Brooklyn until he developed his whammy last season, walked six and gave up three of the Dodgers' hits to Gil Hodges, who paced the league-leading batting average to .371 as the Brooks lost their third in a row.

A two-run homer by Ed Mathews, following Hodges' lead, gave Buhl the edge he needed in the fourth inning against Don Newcombe, who was going for his against four victories.

Nuxhall, in big disappointment to Cincinnati manager Birdie Tebbetts, wound up with his fourth defeat in five starts and still wondering how he can shake a mechanical error in the righthander. Jo. says: "I'm all goofed up—and I know what's wrong. I'm not in the groove. I can't get rid of the ball too soon. Up here, at eye level."

His big trouble was letting go of the ball at all in the sixth inning when Frank Thomas smashed a 2-2 tie with three runs. Frank Thomas singled home the clincher off Nuxhall and Bill Virdon then sewed it up with a two-run double off reliever Raul Sanchez.

Law, who was the winner when Pirates last won a flag July 25, 1956, gave up a single and a Wally Post home run in the first inning and two more in the fourth while winning his third. He struck out three, walked none.

National Open Golf Tourney Opens Thurs., Pick Snead

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. National open golf tournament starts Thursday in Toledo, Ohio, and from force of habit if for no other reason we're going to string along with our old and frustrated friend, Sam Snead.

Some critics say Sam never will win this big one; that he has a mental block which would victory be in sight, would prevent him from taking top money.

If they called it the Broken Bow Open or the Whiffenpoof Invitation Snead would win it so dearly the critics maintain. But because it is the National Open his mind is bound to drift back to the times he had the event all but won, only to see victory go to someone else.

He can't help but remember; they argue, the huge eight he took on the 72nd hole when he had the event wrapped up, or of that 36-inch putt which cost him dearly in a playoff with Lew Worsham.

All of which we believe is a bit of pineapple juice. We don't believe his past performances will have any bearing on his performance this week.

His showing in the recent Round Robin when he had down the stretch with a fine 67 to overtake Doug Ford and Jack Burke, comparatively easily was an indication is on his game, can stand pressure, and also that his game has not deteriorated to a marked degree over the years. He had won the first Round Robin 22 years ago.

ENDURANCE PLUS

That he had to go out the next day and qualify for the Open, and did so easily, is a tribute to the endurance of this 45-year-old marvel.

Naturally scores of golfers have a chance to win the Open. Some unknown might came up with a hot game over the three days as Jack Fleck did, and win.

But on the judgment you have to favor the same players, regardless of their years. The Jimmy Demarets, the Ben Hogans, the Cary Middlecoffs.

Hogan, gunning for his fifth Open victory, will be favored in many quarters. He's usually at his best for the big ones, but if he was using the Round Robin as a proving ground for his endurance he might not have been quite encouraged. He was dog tired after the two rounds played the second day of the tournament, and his scores reflected it.

Middlecoff is showing hot and cold. After one round he said he was playing his best golf of the year; the next round he was all over the course.

Demaret is a man to watch, with three tournament victories to his credit this year. But well still take Snead. He's overdue.

Relaxed, Confident

Sawchuk's Return to Wings Heralds More Detroit Deals

DETROIT (AP) — Terry Sawchuk, relaxed and confident about his future, came home to Detroit Red Wings Monday. The trade that returned him from Boston Bruins was the signal for more Detroit deals.

Left with two of the finest netminders in the National Hockey League, Wings probably will complete a deal that will send Glenn Hall to Chicago Black Hawks.

"I'm very happy to be back home and back in hockey," said the 27-year-old Sawchuk, who "retired" last December because of illness and nervous tension.

General manager Jack Adams, who gets up at 7 year - old left winger John Bucyk and an undisclosed amount of cash for the goalie he traded off just two years ago, called it "a natural deal."

ADAMS HAPPY

"Terry is too good to stay out of hockey," he said. "This is his home, this is where he got his start, this is where he belongs and we're very happy to have him back."

Red Wings, NHL champions eight of the last nine years, would like to have former team - mate—winger Johnny Wilson or Black Hawks—back. Adams: "And we're trying to rebuild their hockey fortunes, would like to have Hall as a replacement for 30-year-old Al Rollins.

Adams, saying his club is "ready and willing" to trade, also spoke of a need for another veteran defenseman.

Sawchuk, who makes his home near Detroit and is a native of Winnipeg, broke in with Wings in 1950 and played brilliantly for five seasons before he was dealt to the Bruins. Playing on five title-winning teams, Sawchuk was a first team all-star choice three times and was second two other years.

FEELS FINE

He told reporters Monday: "I never felt better.

"I only hope I can justify the confidence the Red Wings have in me. I am sure everything is going to be all right."

Sawchuk was suffering from mononucleosis, a - blood disease, and nervous tension when he left Wings. Wings obtained permission in April to talk with Sawchuk and had him signed to a contract before the announcement.

The recurrent rumors that Detroit would be more than willing to part with veteran Ted Lindsay, highest scoring leftwinger in the history of the game, popped up again. Adams said: "We are willing to listen. Lindsay is available."

But Lindsay, who will be 32 in late July, has said repeatedly he won't play anywhere except in Detroit and that he will retire if he is traded.

Louise Suggs Wins Ladies Pro Crown

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Louise Suggs put on an almost unbelievable string of threes on the difficult finishing holes Monday to win the Ladies Professional Golfers Association championship. 7-1. 075.

The 30-year-old Georgian shot the last nine holes in 31 strokes, three under par, and came from three strokes behind to win easily. Her 72-hole total of 285 gave Louise her first tournament victory of the year over a field of 35 women professionals.

D. Smith, the leader from the start of the tournament, finished in second place with 288.

Marlene Bauer Hagge, the defending champ, finished in a tie for third at 290 with Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif.

PIONEER STATION

The first wireless station was opened on the Isle of Wight, England, in 1897, four years before trans-Atlantic wireless.

Big Klu Ready Birdie Says Wait a While

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Big Ted Kluszewski, who has been treating his ailing back with "ramp and grass" treatments, said today he's ready to play for Cincinnati Redlegs but his manager adopted a wait and see attitude.

Informed that "Big Klu" was optimistic about his health, Tebbetts—slightly upset by Monday night's 5-2 loss to Pittsburgh Pirates—declared:

"That's good. When will we put Ted back on the active list? Well, we'll wait and see how he looks and how he feels."

As for Ted, who has played only one full game this season, he declared:

"He's ready to try and play. As far as my back holding up, one never knows. I'll just have to play and see."

A specialist suggested to Kluszewski a week ago that he try and remedy his own condition by doing "exercising and grind" exercises—he likes something like the burlesque girls.

That seem...to have helped," Klu grinned.

Ted lost his regular turn in the Redlegs batting practice Monday night. He rest two of the first five games under the 10-day field rules.

"I feel real good but when I'm ready I'll go to Minot," Kluszewski said afterwards.

Last season Klu batted 35 home runs and drove in 108 runs as he compiled a .302 batting average.

Leafs Edge Marlins in 12; Bisons Beaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richmond Virginians, leaders of the International Baseball League, are heading their last first-place race. They whipped Buffalo Bisons 4-3 Monday for their 16th triumph in their last 18 games.

Second-place Toronto Maple Leafs stayed 4½ games back of the Virginians with a 13-inning 5-3 win over Miami Marlins. Havana Sugar Kings stifled a ninth-inning rally by Montreal to conquer the Royals 6-5, while Columbus opened a four-game series at Rochester with a 7-3 win.

Richmond's Marty Kutyna took his second triumph at the expense of the Bisons, allowing six hits before bowing out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. His mates got him three early tallies, and then added the final on Jerry Lumpe's third homer of the year off relief pitcher Steve Nagy. Walt Craddock started and lost for Buffalo.

Toronto had to pull out all stops in beating Miami, and this included the second save of pitcher Ed Blake, as a pinch-hitter. Blake delivered a two-run single in the 13th inning to send home Ebbe St. Claire from second base for the victory. In the ninth the Leafs scored two runs with two out to knot the game, but Miami instantly after wasting a 5-1 lead when Miami took charge momentarily, 7-5.

Toronto's Rocky Nelson had a great day at the plate to feature the Leafs' attack, which gave reliefer Jack Crimian his third win of the season and sent Ray Semproch, the fifth Miami pitcher, down to his third defeat in five decisions.

Montreal had Havana on the ropes in the ninth inning when a pair of two-run homers by John Naseboro and Bill Lajoie disturbed an early Cuban Royal advantage. Miguel Cuellar came on to close the door for the Cubans. Pat Scantlebury, Havana starter, gained the decision, his eighth against seven defeats, while Jack Collum lost his first in three decisions.

Young Heavy Is Promising

NEW YORK (AP)—With just one year of pro experience behind him, Argentina's handsome, husky Alex Miteff appears headed for a ranking among the world's top 10 heavyweight boxing contenders.

The undefeated Invader decisively whipped Germany's Willi Besmanoff at St. Nicholas Arena on Monday night to chalk up his ninth victory in as many fights.

"We're going to try and get Zora Folley next, in about three weeks or so," said Miteff's manager, Hymie Wallman.

Folley, of Chandler, Ariz., is ranked fifth by the National Boxing Association and seventh by Ring Magazine but Wallman said he has no intention of pushing his boy too soon.

He said "Alex is about a year and a half away yet and has things to learn. He's too easy to hit with a right hand to head and he has to develop more power in his own right. There's only one way to learn and that's by fighting."

Considering that it was Miteff's first fight in five months, the 23-year-old Argentinian looked impressive in pounding Besmanoff's body red and chopping up his face in the 10-rounder.

Miteff, the 5-to-6 favorite, outweighed his rival by 13½ pounds—202 - to 190½—and he made good use of his weight advantage. He kept pressing the chunky, 24-year-old German throughout.

Sport Snapshots

TORONTO (CP) — Notes and quotes: Coach Toe Blake of the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens chuckles every time he recalls a day a few months ago when a Quebec fan sent him this telegram: "Next time I see you I shoot you."

It appears that the fan, who even signed his name, didn't like the idea of Blake getting average per men that big Jean Beliveau wasn't playing up to par. . . .

Stafford Smythe, who heads the newly appointed seven - man Toronto Maple Leafs brain trust, doesn't think his dad, Conn, will interfere if things aren't going too well for the National Hockey League team. Staff told Andy Montgomery in Ottawa:

"Dad won't butt in. In my books he will always be the greatest hockey mind Canada has ever produced, but all of us in the deal have decided we have to go it alone — any interference and we quit. It's the only way". . . .

Conn Smythe, Father of the Big Four Montreal Alouettes has developed a great habit in flins of football games. "If you do away with movies you do away with Conn Smythe," Peahead said the other day. "Without the movies he'd operate by ear. The film takes the guesswork out of the game." . . .

The same day Walker made his remarks, Hal (Edmonton Journal) Patterson interviewed Smythe at the Edmonton Eskimo office. Head coach Pop Ivy and assistant Play Rigney and Eagle Keys were "in the basement screening rivers straining their eyes on last year's films, just as if they'd never left off since last Grey Cup," Pawson reported.

Ted (Toronto Telegram) Reeve has turned book reviewer for the Sunday Telegram. Ted's Sporting Extras column still occupies his usual sports-page spot . . .

Telegram scribe Lew Hayman of Toronto Argonauts said a major reason his Big Four football club lost interest in quarterback Bobby Garrett was because the junior Stanford University player stammers.

"Frankly, we did not press to sign him because of his stutter," Hayman said. "Coach Hamp Pool wants his quarterback to be the field leader and we thought Garrett would be handicapped."...

Mill (Toronto Star) Dunnell says that despite the smoke screens set up in Montreal at the recent hockey meetings, the three - way deal involving Detroit, Montreal and Chicago will be announced in a few days. "Ted Lindsay and Glenn Hall go to the Black Hawks, Terry Sawchuk returns to the Red Wings. Forbes Kennedy, Johnny Wilson and Marcel Pronovost of the Hawks also wind up in Detroit," Mill says. . . .

E. P. Taylor, Toronto industrialist - sportsman and chairman of the Maple Leaf Hockey Club, talks millions just as casually as a fellow would talk about the cost of a dinner. The OJC has spent $20,000,000 on its new track just outside Toronto and the rehabilitation of the Fort Erie track and Toronto is in for more modifications.

"Somehow or other we'll find another $5,000,000 toward further improvements at Old Woodbine and Fort Erie," he told a dinner gathering in Toronto the other night.

No Monkey Business for These Players

WAKAYAMA, Japan (AP)—Black-robed Buddhist monks step on the mound and try to beat up the pitcher when a batter is hit with a baseball.

Monday's exhibition at stop Mount Koya in western Honshu apparently decided not to take baseball.

"The priestly duty has always made it imperative for us to understand what's uppermost in the secular mind," said one elder of the glittering finery of his Buddhist office.

"Baseball is it," he added. "It's one of those difficult things that you couldn't understand without playing it."

Those Taylor Nags Again

TORONTO (CP) — Censor, the brown colt owned by Mrs. E. P. Taylor of Toronto, carried 126 pounds and set a Canadian record of 116 4-5 for 6½ furlongs as New Bunny Monday.

Ridden by Avelino Gomez, the four-year-old Canadian-bred son of Bull Page and Compensate, took the lead from the start and although Bunty's Flight gave him a game battle, he drew away in the final furlong to win by two lengths.

The old record of 117 1-5 for 6½ furlongs was established by Percy Page over the same course last season.

Bunty's Flight was second and Muster Nick was third.

'Iron Man' Mark Equalled By Musial

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Stan Musial, perhaps the National League's all-time No. 1 player, reaches another milestone tonight when he plays in his 823nd consecutive game to equal Gus Suhr's league "iron man" record set 18 years ago minus one week.

The great St. Louis Cardinal star, who already holds the league record for most extra base hits and is almost certain to add the runs scored, runs batted in, total bases and two-base hit titles before he finally lays aside his bat, began the season with 774 consecutive games played since the start of the 1933 season.

He has played in all his team's 47 games so far for a grand total of 823, a figure which would have been much higher had he not served as the manager's wish to fit out the final games of the 1953 season.

DESPITE INJURIES

Musial's endurance mark is all the more amazing because of his insistence on playing despite assorted injuries, fatigue and complaints from manager's wishes to divide his duties between first base and all three outfield positions during the past 10 seasons.

A star athlete himself, the pride of Donora, Pa., ranks second to the late Lou Gehrig with nine complete games. Gehrig who rolled up the major league high of 2,130 games from June 1 1925 through April 30, 1939, took part in all his club's games for 13 consecutive years.

If Musial betters Suhr's mark, as he is expected to do Wednesday he will rank fifth in endurance in the majors, within easy striking distance of Cap York's fourth highest mark of 829 consecutive games with Washington. Gehrig's mark, as well as those of Everett Scott (1,307) and Joe Sejeell (1,103) appears out of reach.

Fred Spafford Has No-Hitter In 26-0 Win

Fred Spafford of Team Four joined the select pitchers group on Saturday when he tossed a no-hitter over seven frames for a 26-0 victory over Team Three in a Recreation League fixture.

Spafford hurled outstanding-ball for his no-hitter and helped his own cause at the plate with a brace of doubles. He tossed third baseman Eddie York's fourth highest mark of 829 consecutive games with Washington. Gehrig's mark, as well as those of Everett Scott (1,307) and Joe Sejeell (1,103) appears out of reach.

Collin Mate started and took the loss. He was replaced by Wayne Hamilton in the second, and Nelson Kinkaid and John Miller, both in the sixth. They fanned five between them while issuing 19 walks.

13 off Brenton.

L. Fitzpatrick with two doubles and a single and A. Lucas with a double and a triple paced the Team Four batters. Spafford added his doubles, A. Taylor had two singles, H. Lucas one two-bagger and a single and W. Woods two doubles.

Doc. May Have News for Herb Score

CLEVELAND (AP)—Herb Score may get the word today as to when he can resume his pitching chores for the Cleveland Indians.

The 24-year-old star lefthander arrived here Monday from Hagerstown, Md., where he has been convalescing from a broken eye injury for the past two weeks.

He has an appointment this afternoon with Dr. Charles L. Thomas, an eye specialist, for an examination which may determine when he can resume workouts.

"I know it will be another month anyway," said Score, who was hit in the right eye by a line drive in a game with New York Yankees here May 7. "Maybe it'll even be longer than that."

He said his vision improves daily and his general physical condition is good.

Talented Actress Defends Quality of Daytime Serials

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Let's turn over the witness stand to Muriel Williams, a comely and talented actress who has a few words to say in behalf of television soap operas.

"As Lydia Canfield,' she says they (CBS-TV), Monday through Friday (4 p.m. EDT), she has had nearly two years of experience in the daytime serial field.

"As Lydia Canfield,' shesays, "I have a husband and have been involved in far more emotional adventures than practically any 'married' woman on the air today. But each adventure in itself has not been over-dramatized or overly turgid.

MUST FOLLOW STORY

"I think the reason some people criticize so-called soap opera is because they look at one once and fail to enter deeply into the story since they haven't been following it. It's like opening a book in the middle, glancing at one page, and saying, 'this stinks.' Or else someone will sit down and look at two or four serials in a row. That's like eating too much dessert all at once."

On one score Miss Williams had no argument from her inquisitor: the high level in daytime television serials has a high level of excellence.

"Portraying a characters over a period of time gives an actor more license to develop depth than in a one-shot," she says.

RIGOROUS SCHEDULE

An actor leads a rigorous schedule in a soap opera. In Brighton Day, which comes on the air at 4 p.m. New York time, rehearsals begin at 12:30 p.m. and continue almost until air time. Then, after the 15-minute program is over, the actors rehearse on the next day's show until 8 p.m.

A dedicated actress, she says "It's far better to act than to study acting. That is one of the values of the television daytime serial."

The method of bidding used by some bridge masters seems to start nowhere and end anyplace. It does not look like a system. It looks more like a mess.

You see here deal number 98 in the world championship:

♠ 8 7 5
♥ K 3 2
♣ A K 8 4 3

WEST
♠ A 4
♥ 10 8 6 3

EAST
♠ 10 9 4
♥ Q J 7
♣ Q 10 7 5

SOUTH
♠ J 6 2
♥ A 9 5
♦ K J 10 8 7 4

Room one made their bids like this:

East	West
Pass	1 S
2 C	2 H
2 NT	Pass

Where did west and east find such skills to bidding? Must have been in some second hand store. No system could possibly be as bad as that; even among master players.

Nobody had a gun to their heads. Nobody pushed them. But by gosh they managed to get themselves into a contract they could not make. Not as bad as usual, though. They went down only one.

Room two got bidding like this:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 S	2 C
Dbl	Pass	Pass	Pass

North was vulnerable at the time he made his simple over-call of two clubs. His defeat of one trick cost him six game points. This is more than opponents could have made by bidding it.

A simple and accurate trick count at the Hoag Scene would have told north he has five tricks; three high cards and two short in diamonds. Not enough for a defensive bid of two.

A defensive bid of one promises five tricks. But a defensive bid of two makes a promise of six tricks. A child could learn this. But it's all under the head of a master, I suppose.

Point Anne Defeats Trenton 10-6; Shoemen's Homer Ties Merchants

By GARRY ALEXANDER

A five-run rally in the bottom of the eighth gave Point Anne a 10-5 victory over the Trenton Legion Juniors at the Point last night, their sixth winning out of many B. and D. softball league fixtures.

The Cementmen got away to a flying start with three in the opening stanza but Trenton rallied to take a 6-5 margin in the 7th.

LeRoy Wannamaker, the Trenton hitting hero, paved the way for the Quintiers' winning rally when he drew his first sacker off the bag with a high throw to put Lloyd Maracle on first with one down in the eighth. Bobby Hull followed with a base hit and Wardhaugh's ground ball scored the tying marker. Hull raced home on a wild pitch for the lead. Jones' groundout scored another and Doug Hull doubled and stole third. A walk to Elliott and several wild pitches added the final two markers.

Bobby Hull, coming on with two on and one out in the ninth inning gained the victory in his initial appearance of the season. He did not allow a hit, but permitted one man to reach base when hit by a pitch. He whiffed a pair and fanned one.

"Lefty" Jackson opened on the mound but got in trouble, allowing all Trenton runs off eight hits. He tossed good ball but tired around the sixth, and issued wild pitches and passed balls hurt his cause. He fanned five, walked as many.

Gord Maroney was the loser, lasting seven innings. He was tagged for ten runs and nine hits. He whiffed five and issued one four. Howard Cole pitched to the last two men, walking one.

Pat Cloghesy blasted a four - bagger following singles by Jones and Elliott in the first for the 3-0 lead. Two errors and singles by Burns and Wannamaker got a pair home in the second. Dave Jones' triple plated Maracle and Wardhaugh, on via hits, for two Point Anne tallies. Alexander, Drake and Wannamaker hit singles and Mal Kennedy added a long fly for Trenton tallies in the fifth, after netting two unearned in the previous frame.

Jack Elliott and Dave Jones paced the winners at the plate with a double and single. Pat Gilmour homered while Lloyd Maracle and Doug Hull each had baggers. Bob Hull and Jackie Wardhaugh collected the other safeties.

LeRoy Wannamaker bagged 3 consecutive singles before being intentionally walked to spark the fighting Trenton crew. Bobby Burns helped with two hits while Dick Angelucci, Roger Drake and Wally Kennedy also hit one-baggers.

Quinte Soccer

RCAF have retained their unbeaten record so far this season and just have one game to play to complete the first half of the league schedule. Belleville Northern stood in the gridiron them a very strong challenge after strengthening their team to the tune they have only dropped five points. These two teams meet this week which should be a real battle. The game is scheduled for Tuesday evening at the Northern Electric sports field off of Sidney street with a 7 p.m. kick-off.

Trenton play Batawa on Wednesday evening at Bata Memorial Park, while on Saturday, Belleville travels to Campbellford to take on the Rangers of that town.

In games played last week RCAF gave Batawa a soccer lesson on Tuesday when they took the points on a six to one count. On the following evening Belleville defeated Trenton by five goals to two in quite a ding-dong affair. After the game the Trenton players were feted at the Airport twenty players and the referee came off the field thoroughly soaked after playing right through the thunder storm. In that game RCAF scored four goals without reply from Campbellford but due to the weather conditions good soccer was impossible.

Last week the discipline committee met. One player from the RCAF squad was suspended for three games for fighting, while a Belleville player was given the same for one game for questioning the referee's decision. The league executive made a ruling that the Belleville Charity and the Trenton Challenge Cups and they will be released during the week.

HELPS UNEF FUND

PHNOMPENH, Cambodia (Reuters)—This Indochina state has decided to make a voluntary contribution of $4,000 towards the upkeep of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East, it was announced today.

Third baseman Ernie Curtis clattered a three-run homer with two out in the top of their eighth to give CHRAA Park last night's provide the Frankford-Bata Shoemen with a 3-3 ten-inning deadlock with the Belleville Merchants.

The game was called because of darkness at the end of the tenth, completing one of the best games of the season in the Belleville and District softball league.

Merchants broke a 0-0 pitching duel between Bobby Green and Vic Burtt with the initial run of the game in the sixth. They added a pair in the seventh and appeared to be headed for their fifth victory until Curtis' circuit blast.

An infield single by Harry Wicksun with one out started the tying rally. Green got the next batter on a fly but threw four balls to Bill Rankin. Curtis followed with a long blast to centre for the tie score, his only hit of the game and his second of the season.

Lefty Bob Green sweated the route for the Park nine, allowing seven hits. Other than the eighth he was in complete control, surrendering only two free passes and fifth. He nailed five on strikes while walking three.

Burtt and Bobby Hunter shared mound duties for Frankford-Bata. Hunter was given credit for five safeties in the keen pitching affair. He went the one extra inning three hits over 5 2-3 innings, fanning three and walking six. Burtt was tagged for two runs on two hits in 4 1-3 innings, whiffing three and passing one.

The Merchants left nine men on the baseparths while the Shoemen stranded eight.

Burtt lost his control in the sixth when he issued successive free passes to force marker on four walks. Don Barclay and Claude Carr banged singles in the sixth with the runs scoring on an error and infield out.

Claude Carr was the only Merchant batter with two safeties, the others each getting one. Keith Keeley, Keith MacDonald and Don Barclay, Harry Wicksun gathered the Park's Frankford-Bata hits while Curtis homered and Mike Cosgrove singled.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was looking around the living room after dinner, and she said to pop, William, dont you think this arm chair needs doing over?

I haven't heard it complain, said pop. Then upholsterers are pretty expensive playfellows, aren't they? said ma, and she said, Well you are a rule, 9 out of 10, so I thought I'd follow Maud Hews's example and take a leaf from her discussion in the free night school class. Maud usually did all the things the other ossairs over, and if you dont look too close you'd think it was a real professional job, she said.

Well, you're at least as clever as Maud, and anyhow, you've got the manners to look too close is nobody we want around anyway, pop said. I guess I'll settle for the good idea, he said, and ma said, There'd be a little bit more to it. There is no room at the school to leave things, and this arm chair is quite heavy, so you would have to load it into the car for me each evening and then unload it and carry it into the school, and then call for me to bring it home again, she said.

Oh, yes? pop said. Say, there must be a lot of hard work to a big upholstery job like that, he said, and ma said, Well yes, Maud's finger tips are still full of dents.

Then it's out of the question, pop said, and ma said, But William, do you mean I should shop around and try to find a friendly reasonable upholsterer?

I'm not quite sure, but if that's what I meant, I'll stick to it, pop said.

April Has Special Meaning For Filmland's James Garner

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's enough to make James Garner believe in astrology.

Everything happens to him in April. He was born April 7, 1928. He was wounded in Korea in April, 1952. And in April 1957, he learned he was to become a leading man for the first time, signed a new seven-year contract with Warner Brothers and was hired for the starring picture, Darby's Rangers.

Jim is a ranch, dark - haired Oklahoman with just a touch of his native tongue. "It took me six years to get rid of it and when I'm around Andy Griffith for six minutes, it comes right back again," he said.

He can thank Charlton Heston for his big break. The movie Moses was all set to play Darby, then the deal blew up just before production was to start.

UNEXPECTED IS HOBBY

The unexpected has a habit of happening to Jim Garner. Even his acting career was unscheduled; he had no thought of turning actor until he was 25.

He left home at 18 to join the merchant marine in 1945. His father had moved to Los Angeles, and Jim joined him after his discharge, enrolling at Hollywood City College.

"But that didn't work out," Jim said. "I started modeling and I soon learned I was earning twice as much as my teachers. That seemed crazy to me."

While he was working in a Hollywood Boulevard men's store, he got acquainted with a lad named Paul Gregory. He was a soda jerk in the drug store around the street, but he talked about becoming a producer.

Jim returned to Oklahoma to finish high school: After the Korean War broke out he served 14 months in Korea.

STOPPED IN AT SIGN

Discharged again, he returned to Los Angeles. He said that he was walking down the Sunset Boulevard when he saw a sign, Paul Gregory Productions. He stopped in.

Gregory gave him a job in The Caine Mutiny Court Martial, and Doug Alexander, the riotous comedy "The Moon is Blue" showing today and Wednesday at the Park Theatre. On the same program "High Noon" winner of four Academy Awards, stars Gary Cooper and Grace Kelly.

Combinettes Win Over RCAF 8-4

Harry Powers' Belleville Combinettes captured their second win in the Eastern Ontario ladies' softball league last night with an 8-4 decision over the RCAF lassies.

The Combinettes collected their eight runs off 15 hits while compiling two errors. RCAF had four runs on 13 safeties and bobbled four times.

Bernie Thompson started for the winners and was relieved by Linda Wagg in the fifth. Eunice Summers was the catcher.

McPherson hurled for RCAF with Rayworth catching.

Post, of RCAF, hit the only home run of the contest.

OLD HOME DESTROYED

CORMLEY (CP)—A 106-year-old house valued at $15,000 was destroyed by fire Sunday when sparks from the chimney ignited roof shingles. The home was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Steckley.

THINK LIBERALS

They swept all Prince Edward Island's four seats for a gain of three and effected a major turnover in Nova Scotia by turning a representation of one into 10 and eliminating Cape Breton South's Clarie Gillis, only CCF member east of Manitoba at the end of the last Parliament.

There was a possibility that the standings might be altered. Unpublic results could do this, and the armed services vote could make a change. It usually does. It follows the same pattern as the civilian balloting. Servicemen vote for candidates running in their home ridings.

The civilian vote was well over the 1949 record of 8,566,798. With 96 per cent of the polls reported, the Canadian Press tabulation showed 8,186,077.

It appeared certain, too, that the percentage of voters balloting would exceed the 1953 figure of 67.1 per cent but would not reach the levels of 75.4 and 74.1 in 1945 and 1940.

As the Conservative tide rolled across the country, the political complexion of a dynamic campaign by the new leader, nine cabinet ministers and several others fell. Major Liberal figures were swept out.

HOWE-CAMPNEY LOSE

Veteran Trade Minister Howe, in the cabinet since 1935, lost to the CCF but the other eight ministers beaten by Conservatives. Defence Minister Campney was put out by Douglas Jung, Chinese Vancouver lawyer in Vancouver, who becomes the first of his race to enter the Commons.

Other cabinet members who went down were Labor Minister Hugh Harris, Revenue Minister McCann, Justice Minister Carson, Labor Minister Gregg, Works Minister Winters, Veterans Minister Lapointe, Minister without Portfolio Lester Heliyer, in the cabinet only a few weeks and its youngest member at 33.

It was the biggest debacle for ministers since 12 Conservative cabinet members were defeated by the Liberals in 1935.

Other Liberal figures who lost included Deputy Speaker William Robinson, E. T. Applewhaite, chairman of House committees and regarded as a likely Speaker if the Liberals got control; W.G. (Gib) Weir, veteran parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister St. Laurent and chief Liberal whip, and Leopold Langlois, parliamentary assistant to Transport Minister Marler.

MRS. SHIPLEY OUT

Mrs. Ann Shipley, only woman Liberal in the Commons and regarded as political comedy material, lost to a CCF opponent, but Mrs. Ellen Fairclough and Miss Margaret Aitken held their seats representation in the House. No other women were returned, though 30 ran.

Mr. Diefenbaker, an Ontario-born Saskatchewan lawyer who has been in the Commons since 1940, said in a statement Monday night that Canadians have shown an abiding belief in the parliamentary system of government.

One of his main campaign points had been the danger of what a top-heavy Liberal majority had degraded the Commons.

"The Progressive Conservatives form the next government, he said. His aim will be the "achievement of those things which represent the yearnings and hopes of my fellow Canadians."

Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to call a special September session of Parliament at which he would launch tax cuts and undertake legislation to provide for boosting old age pensions.

WILL CONTINUE

Mr. Diefenbaker said Prime Minister St. Laurent in his post-election statement said he would continue his parliamentary duties as a member of the Commons. He said he hoped it would be possible to decide with his colleagues what should be done after election results were available.

Mr. St. Laurent was re-elected comfortably in Quebec East. Mr. Diefenbaker got back in his home riding of Prince Albert, Sask. CCF Leader Coldwell in Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., and Social Credit Leader Low in Peace River, Alta.

One of the two Conservative members accompanying Mr. Diefenbaker into the Commons is Saskatchewan was Alvin Hamilton, provincial party leader.

GOOD RECOVERY

"The president is making a good recovery from his recent coronary upset. He has slept most of the afternoon without sedation or medication.

"He is now taking and retaining liquid foods.

"His pulse, temperature, respiration and blood pressure continue to be normal and he has gained a gram (tracing heart performance) from one to another and has not taken since recovery from the 1955 heart attack) and he has had no cardiac (heart) symptoms."

The White House said the distress apparently had been caused by something he ate. But the only word was that Eisenhower had ate least one piece of blueberry pie Sunday evening, and that he had eaten some "fairly rich food" during the last few days.

LIBERALS

Four Liberal cabinet ministers went down to defeat in Ontario, all at the hands of rookie campaigners, smashed and strongholds that had been built up by the Liberals over periods of years. They included Hon. C. D. Howe, trade minister and minister of defence production.

The 60 Ontario seats helped Mr. Diefenbaker build up a total Conservative strength of at least 116 seats, providing the possibility of his setting up the next government.

The 71-year-old Mr. Howe, veteran Liberal fighter in the Laurent cabinet, lost the Port Arthur riding he represented for a consecutive 22 years to a CCF schoolteacher, Douglas Fisher.

Revenue Minister McCann, 70, was crushed in Renfrew South by Conservative Antoine Baskin, 37, a lumber dealer and RCAF veteran. Dr. McCann also held the seat for the last 22 years.

FINANCE MINISTER OUT

Finance Minister Harris, who has been mentioned as a possible successor to Prime Minister St. Laurent as Liberal leader, lost to Grey-Bruce to Conservative Eric Winkler, Hanover merchant.

His rookie colleague, Associate Defence Minister Hellyer, 33, was trounced in Toronto-Trinity by Conservative Murray Morton, 41-year-old lawyer.

Agriculture Minister Gregg, first seen held on in Algoma East and Health Minister Martin, defeated by Conservative Hazen Argue in Assiniboia in Essex East. The Commons' oldest member, Rev. Dr. Thomas McMillan, 84, held Huron for his sixth term.

But generally there was a shattering of Liberal forces. Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, fell in Middlesex West as Conservative William Thomas, a farmer, was elected.

WOMAN LIBERAL LOSES

Mrs. Ann Shipley, only woman on the Liberal side of the Commons, was moved out of Timmins by Arnold Peters of the CCF, a gold miner and union representative. Another Liberal, Blando Maratin, took Timmins, previously held by the Liberals.

At 10:1 the Conservatives gained 25 seats in Ontario from the Liberals and one from the CCF. York South, previously held by the late J. W. Noseworthy, Liberal, made no new inroads, holding on only to 20 of their 50 seats.

The final Ontario count: Progressive Conservatives, 61; Liberals, 20; CCF, 1; Liberal-Labor, 1; undecided, 1; total, 83.

The count in the 265 Progressive Conservatives, 53; Liberals, 50; CCF, 1; Liberal-Labor, 1; total, 85.

POLITICAL

While Parliament sat he spent almost as much time away from Ottawa, campaigning in every city he did in his Commons seat.

Before the election he began in earnest 6½ weeks ago John Diefenbaker opened the throttle on the most strenuous personal campaigns undertaken in recent political history.

With a rolling, somewhat old-fashioned style of oratory, he made more than 100 speeches, logged more than 20,000 miles in the campaign and thundered as he bested the former champion vote-getter, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, at his own game.

DREW HUGE CROWDS

He drew big crowds almost everywhere he went. No hecklers crossed verbal swords with him for they did with other leaders.

Monday night, as the results began to come, Mr. Diefenbaker left Ottawa for Prince Albert, Sask., and his constituency.

"This is a moment of deep dedication rather than elation."

At party headquarters here, Arthur Burns of Montreal who handled the leader's itinerary and many other campaign details, declared:

"John Diefenbaker and John Diefenbaker only is the man who is responsible. . . . He gave of himself to a degree more than any other man has ever given because he wanted to return the rights of Parliament to the Canadian people."

GOOD SPEAKER

Those who travelled with the leader know the gruelling pace he followed. He is a good speaker with frequent naps on the move and with plenty of milk to drink he neither smokes nor drinks alcohol. His only rest came on Sundays. A Baptist, he relaxed by campaign on the Sabbath.

And as a man to whom speeches are important, relatively, he was able to relax between speeches. Often he had a joke and spoke mostly from notes, mingling homey stories with serious political issues.

John Diefenbaker was born in Ontario's Grey County to a family of Liberal leanings. As a child he moved frequently as his schoolteacher father, William, changed schools, first to Pickering Township near Oshawa, then to East York near Toronto and finally, in 1903, to a school near Fort Carlton in what is now Western Saskatchewan.

Two years later his father opened a homestead on virgin land a few miles west across the North Saskatchewan River. John then was 14, his father settled down in Saskatoon to become land titles clerk and later, for 30 years, a federal customs officer.

There the youth sold newspapers. Once, a customer at the railway station was Liberal Prime Minister Laurier who was passing through. He chatted with the newsboy and, as Mr. Diefenbaker says, put the first ideas in his head of public service.

CITY POLITICS

Today, Mr. Diefenbaker, who will spin out reminiscences if he finds a sympathetic ear in leisure moments, will also recall how he almost missed entering federal politics himself.

It was in 1939 after a 14-year record of political defeats. He had lost twice in Prince Albert in federal elections of 1926 and 1935, lost in a 1929 Saskatchewan election, and had spent 1937-39 as Conservative candidate in a leader-during which he suffered personal defeat in the 1938 provincial election.

At that point the Conservatives were holding a nomination meeting at Imperial, Sask., for the federal constituency of Lake Centre. Mr. Diefenbaker went down from Humboldt, where he was conducting a law practice, to see the leader who had earlier supported him provincially.

Instead, he was one of four nominated. He withdrew and was outvoted in his automobile, ready to leave, when he was called back. One of the other three had left the meeting but the leader and the other two insisted on withdrawing from the race. Mr. Diefenbaker was accepted and won election to the Commons the next year. In Lake Centre — one of the few bright spots for the Conservatives in a Liberal landslide.

WON FROM LIBERALS

He held Lake Centre with increasing majorities in 1940 and 1949. In 1952 the riding was merged with Moose Jaw and he held luck in the Liberal landslide hold of Prince Albert. There he won by 1,658 votes over 1953's 1,658 votes in 1949 into a 3,001-vote win.

Mr. Diefenbaker often speaks proudly of his ancestry as a Canadian-born Canadian. His paternal great-grandfather came from Europe and his maternal great-grandfather, a United Empire Loyalist settlers in the Red River colony—now Winnipeg.

But he speaks more proudly of the fact that his first Commons speech advocated establishment of a Canadian citizenship, and of the fact that Prime Minister Mackenzie King acknowledged his stand when introducing the Act which Citizenship Act would be passed when the Second World War was over.

Mr. Diefenbaker has one child-ren, his first wife, the former Edna M. Brower, died about six years ago. In 1953 he married the former Mrs. Olive E. Palmer, a widow. On June 1 her married daughter gave birth to a girl, the grandchild, a boy named John.

MOST LIKELY

This might influence the timing of the changeover and if it is delayed until after the conference Mr. St. Laurent could invite Mr. Diefenbaker to accompany him.

When the leaders of the four parties made their statements late Monday night the results were so close that they were considered partial as to their immediate plans.

But Mr. St. Laurent could not return at once to Ottawa to take whatever steps the final results indicated after he had had the best interests of all concerned. He indicated he would remain in Quebec until the end of Parliament whether as prime minister or opposition leader.

The election results caught all political experts napping because of the second shift in a few months, turned anything more than a low-level NATO conference out of the question and left the Liberal party has enjoyed so long.

PROMISE CO-OPERATION

In terms applicable to Mr. Laurent would want to attempt to carry on by virtue of arrangements he might be able to make with the CCF and Social Credit parties for more than that. Diefenbaker want to be in that position for any great length of time.

Leader Coldwell said Monday night he would support any government that would undertake the main social legislation his party has advocated. But he said he could not be a party to coalition of the CCF with any other party.

Social Credit Leader Solon Low said his group would co-operate with a government that enacted the government until such time as it had carried out its duties to the Parliament that they have not engaged in any form of log-rolling.

The situation facing the politicians this week in Ottawa has not been known in Canada since 1925 when the late Mackenzie King and Arthur Meighen successively attempted to carry on government without a majority in the Commons, and failed.

Whatever the outcome, the next few days will bring anxious and difficult consultations on Parliament Hill.

Girl Shot Down By Deer Rifle But Not Killed

TORONTO (CP) — Hilda Mc-Lure, 21, a stenographer, was shot down in a street near her home Monday by a .303 bullet which passed through her neck but did not kill her. She was taken to hospital.

Police say a 14-year-old boy was playing with a deer rifle in a room overlooking the street when it discharged through the window.

Doctors said the bullet tore the covering from the jugular vein. If the shot had pierced the vein she would have died within minutes.

The boy was charged with juvenile delinquency, but allowed to go home after questioning.

Community of 5,000 Persons To Be Established by Army Just North of Alta. Capital

EDMONTON (CP)—The federal government is spending $50,000,000 to build up the Edmonton area as a centre of defence for one-sixth of Canada's population and two-thirds of the country's area.

The sum — for construction of permanent army and air force bases—is only part of a huge expenditure that will create a community of 5,000 persons just north of the Alberta capital.

The army alone will pour $8,000,000 annually into the Edmonton area for recurring expenditures only. This does not include contracts for capital expenditures on works and buildings, or stores and equipment stocked on a national basis. The air force will spend about half that amount annually.

NEARING COMPLETION

Two miles north of the city, construction is near completion on the army's Griesbach barracks, while eight miles north, only roads and sidewalks are to be built to complete RCAF Station Namao.

The first will house the army's Western Command and some of its important units—including the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, now stationed in Calgary.

The second will be the main RCAF base in the West, under Tactical Air Command and housing 435 transport squadron, the Central Experimental Proving Establishment for cold-weather testing of airplanes, and No. 7 supply depot stocking equipment and parts for all western air force stations.

Eventually, 2,700 service personnel will be in the area with each station providing permanent married quarters for a combined total of nearly 1,000 families.

Housing is two-thirds complete. Permanent buildings finished include recreation centres, messes and barracks, aircraft hangars, huge warehouses and administration buildings.

BIG POPULATION

Lumped together, the population of the two areas probably will top the 5,000 mark. Griesbach covers a square mile while Namao is 13 1-3 by three miles.

The two commands work to gether in peace as in war.

Western command, largest of five army territories in Canada, under Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, exercises military jurisdiction over Alberta, British Columbia, the Yukon and the Northwest Territories. Tactical Air Command has a similar area of responsibility with NoÉmao its largest station.

There now are 900 soldiers at Griesbach and the number will double when the PPCLI arrives later this year. Personnel at Namao number about 500. Wives and children double these totals and more than 500 civilian employees work at each base.

Only large building still to go up is a tri-service hospital at Namao, to be completed in 1958. Barrack blocks are used now.

Headquarters of Western Command controls the operations, training, administration, quartering and supply of approximately 20,000 units of the Canadian Army, regular and militia.

Units are from the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Royal Canadian Ordinance Corps, Engineers Corps; the Western Command Signals Regiment and the Northwest Territories and Yukon Radio System with its 17 northern radio stations.

Place for Worship

This Protestant chapel at the RCAF base at Namao, 10 miles north of Edmonton, is part of a $50,000,000 program to build up air transport command headquarters in Lachine, Que., supplies transport requirements for the RCAF in Western Canada and furnishes supplies for the Northwest Staging Route bases such as Cambridge Bay and Resolute Bay in the far north.

the ministry of supply and RAF in England.

No. 7 supply depot provides technical and non-technical supplies and explosives to all RCAF bases west of the Great Lakes.

The 105 communications and rescue flight carries on search and rescue operations north of the Canadian boundary from the border of Manitoba to the B.C. boundary.

Each base cost more than $22,000,000 and with equipment costs, the total outlay will be $50,000,000. At present, a group of frame buildings near the Edmonton municipal airport houses both TAC and Western Command.

Community life on the stations is pretty much like living in any Canadian town — perhaps better. There are more recreational and entertainment facilities than in a normal community of the same size.

Married quarters vary in size from two to four bedrooms. The army charges $71 to $145 monthly rental and air force rates are about the same. Rates in Edmonton are $40 to $50 higher. The armed forces' rentals vary with house size and rank. Barracks have a bachelor-apartment atmosphere.

The air force had its personnel elect a mayor and town council which has its own funds for community improvement. The army has a similar community league set up. Both stations have Home and School associations and other community organizations.

For entertainment and recreation, there are well - appointed messes, movie theatres, recreation halls with gymnasiums, hobby shops and libraries. Each base has its own stores, barber shops and beauty parlors and post office. There are also churches and 18-room schools. A second school is under construction at Griesbach.

Retirement at 65 Opposed by Health Magazine

TORONTO (CP) — A pension-plan consultant has taken issue with compulsory retirement at 65 and says if the nation's farmers embrace the idea, "we would all probably starve to death."

Moreover, contended William A. Mercer of Toronto Saturday, society would eventually rebel at the prospect of supporting financially the steadily-growing pool of idle people that would result from universal compulsory retirement at 65.

Mr. Mercer's comments were contained in an article in Health Magazine, organ of the Health League of Canada. It followed closely the first Ontario conference of medical and industrial authorities on the problems of aging at which compulsory retirement at 65 came under heavy fire.

The president of William A. Mercer, Limited, wrote that if everybody quit his job at 65, "this group itself would soon form a voting bloc strong enough to ensure government action on its behalf."

"If everybody were to retire at 65, we would look forward to one citizen living in idleness for every four in the labor force," and if they lived as well as those who still labor, "one-fifth of every employed person's income would have to be taxed away to take care of retired people alone."

Paratrooper Dies Dangling Beneath Plane

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Medical authorities today said a paratrooper suffocated during the more than three hours he dangled from a troop-carrier plane over this military post.

Pfc. Wayne H. Flugum, 22, was dead Tuesday when he was cut loose from the C-123 transport it skimmed only inches above a runway greased with foam to cut down possible injury.

During the unwinding three hours, three crewmembers of the transport had worked valiantly to free Flugum, whose parachute became entangled in the static line left by previous jumpers during a routine airborne exercise.

The medical report said he had been dead from 30 minutes to two hours before his body was landed. But the report did not say whether the trooper suffocated from being entangled in his shroud lines, or from the force of slipstream air under the plane.

OTHERS JUMPED OK

Flugum was about the 18th of some 36 paratroopers who jumped from the plane.

The crew members almost pulled the pinioned Flugum to safety — but the slipstream pulled him from their grasp.

A jet plane tried to help by flying under the troop carrier and nudging the dangling paratrooper with a wing tank, in an attempt to make it easier to pull him up.

However, Flugum's head then was either unconscious or dead and couldn't help himself, Lieut. Gordon Havlinek, co-pilot of the troop carrier, said.

Reds Will Win War of Ideas Says Khrushchev

TAMPERE, Finland (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev predicted today the Communists will destroy capitalism, not with nuclear weapons but through the spread of the ideology.

"We are as sure of this as we are sure the sun will rise tomorrow," the Soviet party chief said in a speech during a tour of the Lenin Museum here. He and Premier Bulganin are on a handshaking tour of Finland.

"I warn the capitalists," Khrushchev said, "we have a newer and better weapon, a weapon that no one else possesses, stronger than the atom or hydrogen bombs: The ideological weapon.

"All we have to do is grease our ideology, with butter."

Khrushchev indicated the U.S.S.R. has no intention of calling off the war of ideas.

We believe in non-interference in the internal affairs of other countries, but in the field we can not compromise, and that is ideology."

It was the most outspoken talk Khrushchev has made since he and Bulganin began their state visit here. The two were concluding their swing in this city where Czarist Tsars and Soviet leaders of Bolshevism, first met 52 years ago.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: An area of high pressure is approaching our district now, indicating a continuing improvement in the weather. Fine weather today and tonight will be followed by increasing cloudiness Thursday morning and somewhat cooler temperatures.

OTTAWA (CP) — Government departments are abuzz with speculation over what policy changes a Progressive Conservative government might introduce.

Policy is set by the cabinet and carried out by the civil service. The Liberals, during their 22 years in office, have initiated many policies, of course.

Some of these policies have been in effect so long that they may be considered as institutions. But that does not mean they can't be amended, slightly or radically, or even eliminated altogether by a new government.

QUESTIONS RAISED

Here are some of the questions being asked around the capital about what a Conservative government might do:

Would its underwrite Canadian farm products so they could compete with the United States surplus agriculture products disposal program?

How would be its attitude toward Canada-U.S. talks on development of the Columbia and Fraser rivers? These talks started only last month.

Would it go ahead with economic aid for new Commonwealth countries such as Ghana as the Liberal administration has seemed on the verge of doing? Civil servants have assembled all the necessary information for a cabinet decision.

FIGHTER PROBLEM

Would a Conservative government accept the development program of the CF-105 supersonic fighter plane over the BOAC and switch to missiles development?

What would it do about the Fowler royal commission report on broadcasting? Or about the Gordon royal commission on economic prospects, coastal shipping, pensions, copyrights and trade marks, terms of union with Newfoundland, employment of firemen on diesel locomotives.

What new senior appointments would be made in the diplomatic service, the armed forces and all government departments?

What about Crown corporations such as the CBC, Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., National Film Board, Northern Ontario Pipe Line Corp.?

TCA SETUP

Would a Conservative government permit Trans - Canada Air Lines to operate as a passenger monopoly within Canada?

Would it set up an appeal board to try out cases of government employees fired or transferred as security risks?

Would it make public Prime Minister St. Laurent's letter to Sir Anthony Eden, former British prime minister, during the Suez crisis last fall?

Would Mr. Diefenbaker initiate steps for a Commonwealth trade conference?

Would a Conservative government fly a new Canadian flag?

Would it continue to pay for the upkeep of Laurier House, residence of former Liberal prime minister King?

GIANT MISSILE FLIES TO PIECES ON FIRST FLIGHT

Sure Florida Rocket U.S. Army's Big Atlas

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) A monster missile streaked two miles straight up Tuesday, then exploded. But top officials of spectators were confident that they had seen the Atlas take its first step toward intercontinental—and perhaps interplanetary—flight.

The United States Air Force and the defense department wouldn't say it was the Atlas.

Unofficial sources, however, that the cigar-shaped rocket was indeed the Atlas. On hand for the launching were representatives of Convair Corp., and General Electric, which built the intercontinental ballistic missile. Observers who have seen previous rocket launchings have said this was not like any they'd seen.

The missile rose and burst in a fire-ball at 3:38 p.m. EDT. Ninety minutes later an air force spokesman said:

"A missile was fired at the air force missile test center at Cape Canaveral launching site today. Shortly after launching the missile exploded. There were no casualties."

GAVE INFORMATION

The spokesman added that "valuable information was gained as a result of the test."

"Extensive flight testing of rocket missiles . . . has been going on for more than a year and will be continued."

He refused to specify the "valuable information" or give any other details.

As an intercontinental ballistic missile, the Atlas at peak development would have a range of 5,000 mile and a speed that would take it to Moscow in 20 minutes.

The Atlas also utilizes some features which scientists hope to build into a rocket capable of shooting photographs of the moon's dark side.

Seeping Gas Believed Cause Of Explosion

TORONTO (CP) — An arson squad detective said Tuesday seeping propane gas ignited by an electric burner "is believed to have caused the explosion Monday which shattered a suburban North York home, injuring three occupants.

Det. Dave Mullett of the Metropolitan Toronto arson squad said he found the taps on two propane tanks in the cellar and one was partially open.

A pipe from the tanks—unused since it was laid into the cellar and up to a hole in the kitchen floor. The pipe had not been capped when the propane gas stove was removed a year ago," Mullett added.

"When Mrs. Creasor turned up the thermostat the flame went out in the furnace and ignited the gas."

Condition of Mrs. Creasor, 56, recovering from burns and shock was described as "not bad to fair, the good."

Her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Violet McKenna, 34, critically injured in the blast, was in fair condition.

Diefenbaker Takes Day's Holiday Ere Flying to Ottawa for Talks

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)— Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker will seek relaxation today with rod and reel at Lac la Ronge in northern Saskatchewan.

The 61-year-old prairie lawyer, leader of the party which takes office Thursday, will be flown to the Commons seats in Monday's federal election campaign.

The Conservative chieftain is expected to board a scheduled plane. They leave here by chartered plane and return from the lake, 130 miles north of here, tonight. Thursday night for Ottawa, where he will participate in discussions which will probably decide whether he will be summoned to form Canada's next government.

Mr. Diefenbaker rested at home during part of Tuesday, following Monday's voting in which his party polled at least 119 of the 264 seats at stake. Later in the day he travelled to a Saskatoon hospital for a visit with his 83-year-old mother.

At meeting between Mr. Diefenbaker and Prime Minister St. Laurent is expected in Ottawa Friday.

The Ottawa meeting could clear up some of the uncertainties brought about by the election results which left the Progressive Conservatives a clear majority.

Asked by a reporter Tuesday whether he would try to form a government Mr. Diefenbaker replied:

"I am not going to give any statement at this time. Let events take place as they take place."

He made no comment when asked whether he might form a coalition with the Social Credit group if the occasion arose.

Foreign Legion Paratroops Check Anti-Moslem Riots

ALGIERS (Reuters)—A division of Foreign Legion paratroops today joined regular French forces patrolling Algiers following French anti-Moslem violence that left 12 Arabs and injured 17 Tuesday.

The legion division was rushed to Algiers from fighting nationalist insurgents in the countryside.

In Tuesday's bloody riots crowds of French youths chanting "Algeria is French" surged through the city punishing Moslems, destroying Arabs, overturning cars and setting stores on fire.

Police arrested 200 of the demonstrators. Seven Frenchmen were reported injured.

Violence erupted during the funerals of victims of a terrorist bomb attack Sunday night which killed eight Europeans and wounded more than 80 in a dance hall.

Year the cemetery angry crowds tore Moslems off passing trucks. One Moslem was knocked off the top of a bus and beaten to death. Another was battered to death in the cab of his truck.

A car with Moslems inside was pushed over a cliff into the sea.

In Bab el Oued, a suburban working class district where most of the victims of Sunday night's explosion lived, one Moslem, officially described as an anti-French leader, was beaten to death. Another after he charged into a crowd with a "true Algerian" European woman and wounding several others.

About 100 Moslem shops and stores were wrecked during the rioting.

Hear Dulles Asks Stassen To Be Cautious With Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles is reported to have advised the United States disarmament negotiator, Harold Stassen, to adopt more-cautious tactics in private negotiations with the Russians.

Dulles is understood to have informed Stassen of the results of a meeting Tuesday which reviewed East-West disarmament prospects.

The U.S. foreign affairs chief acted to meet vigorous backstage complaints by British, French and some other European governments against Stassen's policy of sometimes meeting privately with Valerian Zorin, Soviet representative on the United Nations disarmament subcommittee.

The European complaint reflected fear that Stassen might be negotiating behind their backs on far-reaching disarmament proposals without adequate European consideration.

Informed officials said Dulles' aim in talking to Stassen about this also reflected some feeling within the U.S. state department that the disarmament chief has "raced ahead of his instructions."

What annoyed them especially was Stassen's move in presenting to Zorin informally a 23-page summary of disarmament principles. Stassen described it as official Western proposal, only papers aimed at acquainting the Russian with just while Western thinking on the problem.

The British and French particularly are known to have objected to this Stassen move. They proposed two-way American-Soviet contacts to be arranged that the London disarmament talks also involve Britain, France and Canada.

Some Europeans also expressed the view that Stassen in his eagerness to reach agreement on disarmament with Russia might fall into a Soviet propaganda trap.

Responsible authorities here today said Dulles and Stassen now are in complete agreement on the line he is being exceedingly careful in talks with the Russians.

Secretary Dulles also agreed, they said, that a united Allied front must be presented on each problem, with full opportunity for advance consultation on all issues except remotely affecting Europe's security.

Press and Public Delighted As Prince Slashes Red Tape

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip has won delighted public approval with his red-tape-cutting announcement that he and Queen Elizabeth will visit Canada and the United States this October.

The British press and public reacted with a chuckle to the idea of the prince sending officials in both countries hurrying about Ottawa scurrying around to catch up with the casual announcement he made on Tuesday to Canadian troops in Germany.

Clearly he smashed through mountains of diplomatic and palace protocol. Newspaper editorial officials gave the impression they were startled by his statement.

The Daily Express said Philip broke the story before the three capitals concerned had begun with a complete picture of the forthcoming royal visit.

The public took it as a joke that had got around the palace officials—and the cornered ones are a stuffy protocol-ridden lot.

The London News Chronicle sets the tone in its editorial when saying "Duke lets cat out of the bag."

ENDS LONG MUDDLE

"Prince Philip breaks the news and ends five months of rumor and muddle over arrangements for the Canadian and American royal tours," The Daily Mail says.

"Philip's lack of tact," the headlines the tabloid Daily Mirror.

There was praise in some accounts that Philip's approach to ceremonial and protocol is more down to earth.

Why have negotiations for the trip been so drawn out and involved? The complicated answer to this question yet has emerged, although it is understood that palace advisers themselves were divided on the subject.

Timing of the North American visit apparently is not particularly important. Canada in the fall will be operating with a new government and could even be in the process of changing its leadership.

In the U.S. the Queen will attend the 350th anniversary celebrations of the founding of Jamestown, Va., the first permanent English settlement in North America.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express questions in its news columns whether the Queen should go to the historic town, because Virginia had "a red hot color problem" centring around the question of racial integration in the schools. The paper suggested that the Queen

No Suspicions About Accuracy Says Witness

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Jack Kent Cooke, Toronto businessman, testified before the Supreme Court here Tuesday that he had no suspicions about the accuracy of a $325,000 inventory taken by Robinson Industrial-Crafts Ltd., before he purchased the London company last summer until a subsequent inventory established a figure less than half that amount.

Mr. Cooke, who is asking the court for a declaration that $343,000 transaction or to grant him $400,000 damages, said he took it for granted that Mr. R. D. Robinson, the former owner, was "dealing in good faith."

The Toronto executive is now suing, on grounds of fraud, Mr. Robinson, Mrs. Ethel Kent and J. A. MacPherson, the three shareholders in the company when he purchased it.

Mr. Cooke's claims, explained in detail, are chiefly on the disparity between the two inventories. The first was a "shirtsleeve" picture, which he maintains Mr. Robinson presented.

might find it embarrassing even to be in Canada at the height of the election campaign.

Regardless of the pros and cons of the visit, Philip clearly showed he is determined not to be bound hand and foot by protocol.

He has always been impatient with involved palace procedure. He has been known before now to the rank of prince of the realm for Flemington, N.J., to be married more determined than ever to make himself more than in his own right rather than a palace figurehead.

CHINESE EXCHANGE FIRE

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist air command said their patrol vessels hit and damaged a Communist gunboat and a "larger type war vessel" Tuesday night in a two-hour engagement off Matsu Island. The announcement said Red artillery on the mainland joined in the action, firing more than 100 shells, but the Nationalist ships were not hit.

QUEEN, PRINCE TO VISIT CANADA FOR THREE DAYS

Likely to Arrive On Sunday Oct. 13

OTTAWA (CP) — The Queen and Prince Philip plan a three-day visit to Ottawa in October.

Announcements by Government House and the prime minister's office Tuesday did not give exact dates of the visit.

But the royal couple likely will arrive by plane here from London Sunday, Oct. 13, remain in the capital Monday and leave late Tuesday, Oct. 15, by plane for Jamestown, Va. The visit was scheduled to visit the United States Oct. 16-21.

It is understood that no dates were included in announcement of their plans to visit Ottawa to leave room for changes in precise timing that might arise out of the Progressive Conservative victory in Monday's federal election. The Canadian government, when the Liberals held a Commons majority, has given the Queen some two months ago to make Canada her first stop on any North American visit she might plan this year.

IN PAGEANT

The Queen and the Prince will take part in an historical pageant at Jamestown, Oct. 16 after their arrival there from Ottawa by plane aboard the Royal Canadian Air Force 22nd Parliament.

The Queen made a Canadian tour with Prince Philip in 1951 when she was still Princess Elizabeth. The royal couple will be in Canada alone three years ago when they toured northern Canadian communities.

Prior to the official announcement here, Prince Philip broke royal protocol by announcing the the visit in a remote part of West Germany.

While addressing Canadian troops stationed at Soltau-Lueneburg, the Ruhr, Prince Philip said he and the Queen will visit Canada this fall and that the Queen will open Parliament.

36 Refugees Steal Junk, Reach Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Thirty-six refugees from Communist China sailed into Hong Kong harbor in a motorized junk they stole and the body of a Red Chinese soldier as killed to get the boat.

It was not immediately known from where the Chinese had fled, but customs officials made their strike for freedom from the Communist mainland.

They turned over a pistol to British police when they gave themselves up.

Mysterious Man Seen Dead Is Hope For Identifying Headless Diver

LONDON (Reuters)—A mysterious man known as Matthew Smith is reported to be the last person able to identify a headless, handless body washed up four days ago and now identified as that of Lt.-Cmdr. Lionel (Buster) Crabb, a British naval frogman who disappeared 14 months ago on an underwater mission near visiting Soviet warships.

The badly decomposed remains were found about 12 miles from Portsmouth harbor where 45-year-old Crabb made his last dive shortly after the arrival in one of the Russian vessels of Premier Bulganin and party chief Khrushchev.

Tuesday Crabb's ex-wife, Margaret, was unable to identify the body.

At the same time the United States Navy in London denied two newspaper reports that Crabb had been working for the U.S. Intelligence Service when he disappeared.

A two-minute inquest Tuesday was adjourned until June 26. Three dozen cold reporters he had power to hear future evidence in secret if matters of security were brought to his attention.

This remark is widely interpreted to mean that the mysterious Matthew Smith may give security officials a clue to identify the frogman as Crabb.

Reports are that Matthew Smith will be able to identify the frogman's body as he alone would recognize a scar Crabb's body was wearing for his last dive.

This mystery man was Crabb's companion in Portsmouth on night before what was presumed to be his final underwater assignment. They booked a hotel room for Crabb and himself, signing the register Matthew Smith.

Later the page in the hotel register disappeared. Matthew Smith was never fully identified, and press reports suggested he was helping Crabb on a secret service mission of some kind. But even if the mystery man gives evidence it is thought it will never be made public.

That would close the Crabb episode as strangely as it began.

Battered Liberal Cabinet To Meet To Chart Course

Will Likely Turn Over Govt. to PC Leader

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent, arriving in the capital today, dropped what could be a hint that he will turn the reins of government over to Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker.

He was asked by reporters when possible civil service salary increase might be implemented.

"We're not going to drag things along," he said, and then added: "And I don't think Mr. Diefenbaker will want to drag things along."

CABINET TO MEET

Mr. St. Laurent, who will hold cabinet meeting Thursday, said he has not spoken since the election to Governor-General Massey, to whom he would submit his resignation if he were going to resign with the present cabinet.

Monday's general election produced no clear majority for any party in the House of Commons. The Conservatives under Mr. Diefenbaker won 110 seats, Mr. St. Laurent's Liberals 103, the CCF 25 and the Social Credit 19.

Asked whether the cabinet would be making a formal recommendation for a civil service pay raise, he replied:

"Good morning." I have no further comment. I am not a member of these questions but you appreciate I can't answer it."

Earlier he said when asked about possibilities of relinquishing office:

"We are going to deal with these things as they are thrust upon us, soon as there is anything that can be announced, I'll volunteer the announcement."

CONFER WITH PC CHIEF

The prime minister confirmed he will meet Mr. Diefenbaker here Friday.

Asked about a tall election, he said:

"You know just as much about those things as I do."

Reporters could speculate as much as they liked and he did not confirm or deny their speculation, he said.

Mr. St. Laurent was asked about a Toronto Globe and Mail report that he will continue as prime minister for the Commonwealth conference starting June 28 and then go to Britain and London with him.

SURPRISED SOMETIMES

He replied that the newspaper in the past has made some reports which were not borne out and sometimes "which I myself have confirmed to a degree that was a surprise to me later."

The 75-year-old Liberal leader arrived on the overnight train from Montreal and headed straight away to his Parliament Hill office to see what has to be attended to this morning." He gave an indefinite reply as to whether he will be speaking with cabinet colleagues today.

But all may be present today but the 21 are expected to be on hand for Thursday's formal meeting. Nine of them, including Trade Minister Howe, chief lieutenant to

Prince Prepares For Second Show On Television

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip began rehearsing today for his second show as television commentator.

He will appear as narrator in a one-hour program called This Restless Sphere, a survey of the scientific work going on round the world for the International Geophysical Year. The show is scheduled for June 30 the day before the IGY commences.

The prince recently scored a hit as narrator in a television feature film called Around the World in 40 Minutes.

Kenneth Adams, controller of the BBC's television service, said Philip's appearance will be on "the most complicated and massive program" ever undertaken by BBC TV.

It will show the preparations made all over the world for the IGY, a huge co-operative enterprise of scientific research and exploration.

The program will include filmed material from a dozen countries, including Italy, Switzerland and the Flemish service in Belgium.

A BBC spokesman said other countries which apply also would be given copies.

Transport Dept. Inspector Will Climb to Wreck

VANCOUVER (CP) — A transport department inspector will make a further examination of the wreckage of a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star on the slopes of Mount Slesse in southwestern British Columbia.

The air services branch of the transport department announced Tuesday D. D. Murphy, chairman of a preliminary board of investigation appointed after the North Star disappeared June 9 with 62 on board, will climb to the wreckage scene Friday or Saturday.

The party "will explore the feasibility of recovering the wreckage for detailed examination."

No date was set for the climb. Bad weather has prevented anyone since the wreckage was found a month.

Also under discussion was the possibility of forming a Belleville Safety Council.

On the latter discussion, Mr. Hamilton stated that "Belleville's (safety) record in the past has been good, but it is deteriorating slowly."

Members of Council, Medical Staff Inspect Hospital, Entertained by Governors

The Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital and members of the medical staff and city council last night at a southern fried chicken dinner in the staff cafeteria in the new wing.

Chairman of the Board, Frank Domenico, welcomed the guests and paid tribute to Mr. Box, his predecessor, J. N. Tanover, the chairman of the hospital building fund, Meaford Hall, the hospital administrator, Kenneth Box, and the chairman of the building committee, John Buchan, all of whom in some way or other have contributed personal interest and hard work in making Belleville General Hospital one of the foremost institutions of its kind in Ontario.

Mr. Domenico, addressing the mayor, Mrs. Jane Forrester, and the seven aldermen present, said, "This, I believe, is the first joint meeting of the Hospital Board, medical staff and city council, called by any of us for the fine spirit of co-operation that exists between hospital and council at this meeting.

"We take a personal pride in this hospital and in the people who serve it and to those who have contributed so much to its present standing."

The chairman added that the Belleville hospital is staffed by 65 doctors, 50 of whom are specialists "and there aren't many other hospitals that have a complete list of that calibre."

Purpose of the joint meeting was to get the city members of council as possible to inspect the hospital premises, which, the Board feels, are greatly outdated and inadequate. Comments overheard by this reporter from members of council tended to agree with the Board's sentiments.

For some time now the Board of Governors has been trying to build up the building fund with an early start on the construction of a new residence and nurses' training centre, combined.

Cost of the new structure is expected to be in the neighborhood of $400,000, from which $80,000 will be raised by public subscription and government grants are received. The remainder will be raised locally by FINANCIAL REPORT GIVEN

Mr. Domenico quoted a financial report of the building fund, compiled to the end of May, which he was given on Tuesday afternoon.

The report indicated that most of the $1,283,525 pledged has been received and only $85,000 remains unpaid.

The Board of Governors is both pleased and disappointed with the public's fulfillment of pledges to the fund. Some time ago citizens pledged a total of $578,677. To date $559,451 of it has been received.

Of the $89,226 owing current pledges amount to $40,104, while 344 subscribers are overdue in their payments to the sum of $22,007.

The remaining $6,455 is still in the pockets of 150 subscribers who have made no payment whatsoever. It is this that leads the Board's greatest disappointment.

As of May 31, the bank account of the building fund was $10,114 and when the $216,086 in unpaid pledges is received, the building fund should total $227,-000.

Repayable to the city is $285,000 advance, which was loaned to the hospital to assist in the erection of the new wing.

A "holdback" of $36,300 is owing the contractors.

To meet the expenditures to the city and contractors, the city will require an additional $74,100.

A total of $1,351,532 has been paid on construction and equipment and the hospital is presently paying off a $249,000 debenture, which the city has guaranteed, at the rate of $2,500 per month.

Today the true value of the staff at the Belleville General Hospital is $3,139,000 and when the Women's Christian Association turned the hospital over to the city in 1948, its gross assets were $1,000,000. The committee commended Mr. Box for being the driving force behind the upsurge in the hospital's assets since his arrival in Belleville.

PATIENT CAPACITY 230

Before Mr. Box assumed the position of hospital administrator, the hospital's capacity of this institution was 134, now it is 230. In 1948 the annual total of revenue from patients was $823,000; in the first five months of this year the total amount reached $250,753 and they are expected to reach the one million dollar mark by the end of the year.

In conclusion, Mr. Domenico said to the mayor and aldermen: "I hope the hospital you've quoted don't stagger you too much, but that's the picture."

The chairman thanked the Hospital Board for its hospitalization and financial assistance from the citizens of Belleville "for fulfilling a long-felt need in the city. The Board has done wonders.

"We are very proud of the Board of Governors. We thank the medical staff, too, for their co-operation and on behalf of the municipality, thank you for your hospitality."

She said that the tour of the residences was "interesting" and that the dietary staff is "clear picture of what is ahead."

Thurlow Names Special Counsel On Annexation

At a special meeting of the Thurlow Township Council a committee composed of representatives of the College Hill, Hillcrest, Dale and South Thurlow areas, presented a report on their findings in connection with the proposed annexation of a section of the Township of Thurlow to the City of Belleville.

The area has proposed to annex that part of the township extending from Purdy's Side Road to the city limits and from the Bay of Quinte to the main line of the Canadian National Railways, on the east side of the city, and on the north from Sidney St. to approximately 2,500 ft. east of the Canadian National Railways, extending northerly to Corbyville and Foxboro, and from College St. to Provincial Highway No. 401, and also including a strip along the north side of 401 Highway.

The report of the committee was received and after a thorough study of the financial aspect of the matter, showed that, with the exception of possible reductions in hydro and water rates, the annexation would in all likelihood result in increased costs to the ratepayers in the area affected for taxes, local improvements, etc.

A by-law was introduced in council authorizing the appointment of John J. Robinette, Q.C., as special counsel to act on annexation, to be associated with Thurlow Township Solicitor Mr. R. D. Arnott, Q.C., and to represent the township at the forthcoming hearing to be held before the Ontario Municipal Board.

Jimmy Dorsey, Noted Bandleader Dies of Cancer

NEW YORK (AP)—Bandleader Jimmy Dorsey, 53, died today of cancer.

He was the brother of Tommy Dorsey, also a bandleader, who died last November.

They formed one of the best-known brother combinations in the popular music world. A Jimmy Dorsey recording, So Rare, is listed second in a rating of U.S. current hits.

Jimmy Dorsey died in Doctors Hospital. He had been operated on in January for a lung growth. Two months later he left his band on the road to enter the hospital.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Jimmy Dorsey, like his more-famous brother Tommy, came out of the poverty-stricken hard-coal regions of Pennsylvania to head one of the most famous bands in America. The two brothers were noted for the music they made separately and together—and won almost as much prominence for the celebrated feuds that kept them apart.

They buried the hatchet in 1943, and in 1953 formed a band together after nearly 20 years of separate bandstands. Tommy choked to death accidently in his sleep Nov. 26, 1956, and Jimmy carried on their band.

Born in Shenandoah, Pa., Jimmy was an accomplished musician and a coal-mine worker before he was 16.

His father, a miner and self-taught musician, forced brass band instruments into the reluctant hands of Jimmy and his younger brother Tommy before they were old enough to go to school.

MASTERED WOODWINDS

Jimmy mastered the woodwinds and chose the clarinet for his favorite instrument. Tommy went for brass, and the hardest brass there is, the trombone.

They started playing together in 1922.

Tommy kept insisting they form their own band, and Jimmy finally gave in. The Dorsey Brothers Orchestra was a smashing success, employing such stars as Glenn Miller, Charlie Spivak, Ray McKinley and Bob Eberly. It broke up in 1935 in a flareup over tempo.

Both were famous musicians for nearly three decades. Tommy was called "the sentimental gentleman of swing." Jimmy Dorsey knew as the king of the juke-box set. Together they sold more than 110,000,000 recordings.

Two Masked Men Stage Robbery

HAMILTON (CP) — Two thugs, both wearing black peak caps and one of them armed with a revolver, held up the nightman at the Midtown Garage here early today.

William Ferridge told detectives two men walked into the garage and the second man said only "This is it." With that he pulled a revolver from inside his topcoat and rifled Mr. Ferridge's pockets, taking a wallet containing $150.

After satisfying themselves they had all the money, both men turned and fled.

Big Fire Sweeps Softwood Forest North of Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—The worst forest fire of the season continued to burn in the softwood forests of Hants County today with dying winds bringing slight relief, but high temperatures and humidity bringing greater fears.

Already close to 6,000 acres of spruce and fir have been blackened, and the outbreak, scattered over a wide area about 30 miles northwest of here, was still far out of control. The land is owned mostly by pulpwood interests.

The 300 firefighters on the scene, many of whom battled the fire since it broke out Monday, were sent home Tuesday night to prepare for a heavy fight today. Most of the men were blackened and weary from working in 80-degree temperatures.

The skeleton crew which remained on the scene during the night reported slight improvement. Chief forester R. H. Burgess said the overall situation was "still sticky."

Seaplanes were used to take equipment and food to the area, as tractors and bulldozers tried to pick their way into the dense forests. It was difficult to reach the main blaze, burning on a 15-mile front.

The main blaze was about 10 miles south of the community of Hilden-Shubenacadie Lakes. Others at the scene were worried that winds, expected to swing to the southwest later in the day, would spread the fire.

With 17 different fires burning Tuesday firefighters had a difficult time holding the outbreaks in check. The new outbreaks would gradually unite with the main fire and spread into a wider front.

The blaze is the worst since 1953 when an 8,000-acre fire caused more than $1,600,000 damage to forests and buildings near Liverpool, on the province's south shore.

No communities have been affected by this fire, but many summer camps and sawmills have been swept up.

CALLED HIS DAUGHTER.

TORONTO (CP)—Norman Comeau, 30, of Toronto Tuesday was convicted of assaulting his four-year-old daughter. He was fined $50 or 10 days in jail. Evidence was given that the child was beaten because she lost her shoelaces.

Freak Accident Causes Head Injuries to Boy

A 15-year-old Oak street boy, Robert Michael Daley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Daley, suffered head injuries Tuesday evening in a freak accident which saw him thrown from his bicycle to the roadway near his home.

Police said the lad was riding his bicycle when one of the pedals broke under his weight the mishap throwing him heavily to the roadway.

He was taken to Belleville General Hospital by Bush's Ambulance where xrays were ordered. He is being attended by Dr. R. S. Gibson.

Police Constable William Foster investigated.

Dispersal Plan Ready as Giant Fleet Reviewed

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The warships of 15 countries rode at anchor today awaiting review by their top military officials but alert to the unexpected—an emergency dispersal.

Possible withdrawal of the greatest armada in recent peacetime history even figured in the operational plans of the United States Navy in this concentration of 111 ships.

"Of course a dispersal plan is in effect," said Admiral Arnold Wright, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet and official host of the review. "But the concentration in the area is within the allowable tolerances as far as ships of the United States are concerned."

This reference, in an interview, was to Wright's plan for allowing no more than an accepted maximum of capital ships in a given restricted area at one time.

"Each foreign ship has been assigned to a dispersal anchorage," the admiral said. "A United States ship would go with each guest ship to the assigned anchorage, either in Chesapeake Bay or cruising seaward."

The 111 ships—78 of them American—rode smartly at anchor today awaiting the steam-by of the three reviewing ships, the U.S. guided missile cruisers Canberra and Boston and the tactical command ship Northampton.

Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson was in the Canberra as chief reviewing officer and representative of President Eisenhower. Also aboard were ambassadors of the 17 countries represented in the review.

ELECTION STORY — TO BE CONTINUED

The full import of Monday's Federal election is not yet known—and may not be fully revealed until the next general election. Present indications are that this new election will come within a year, perhaps much sooner. Whatever government is formed in the interim will have to depend for its very existence on the life of one or other of the minority parties—and neither the Progressive Conservatives nor the Liberals have much in common with either the CCF or the Social Credit party. It follows that the present deadlock will have to be broken by another appeal to the people, when the real meaning of trends partially unveiled by Monday's voting should become more apparent.

Because Monday's election is thus only the first chapter of a story which will have at least one other installment, the question of the reasons behind Monday's results assumes added importance to the Canadian people.

Four possible reasons for the swing to the Progressive Conservative party immediately suggest themselves: 1—a growing distrust amongst the Canadian people of the Liberals' attitude towards Parliament, with the pipeline debate, while the prime exhibit, being just one example of a general condition; 2—a protest against "tight money" and other Liberal policies in the fight against inflation, including the decision to keep taxes at a high level as an anti-inflationary measure; 3—a protest over the government's policy during the Suez crisis; 4—widespread discontent in rural areas because farmers are not sharing equally with urban residents in the nation's prosperity.

All of these possible explanations fall short of providing a completely satisfactory answer.

If the pipeline debate was a major issue, why did not the CCF share with the Conservatives the benefits of having vigorously opposed the Liberal Government's policy?

If the vote was primarily a protest against "tight money," why did not the Socreds do better?

If the Suez crisis was a factor, how did the CCF escape from sharing the ire of the Liberals, since they supported the government?

As for agrarian unrest, that cannot explain the manner in which the Progressive Conservatives swept to power in riding after riding in urban centres.

Another way of approaching the problem is on the basis of sectional interests. Here it can be argued that the Maritimes rejected the Liberals because that part of the nation has not shared fully in the country's prosperity, that in Ontario federal-provincial tax-sharing problems were an important factor, while on the prairies the large carry-over of wheat hurt the Liberals.

Perhaps as good an explanation of the election results as any is that advanced by the Montreal Star which observes: "Our own belief is that the government died of old age." Many of the possible factors already mentioned could be described as part of this "aging" process. Certainly the Liberal tendency to regard the House of Commons as the servant of the governing party, rather than its master, would be a likely result of over twenty unbroken years in office. This, together with the "tight money" situation, rural discontent, particularly in the west, and regional dissatisfaction in the Maritimes may be considered by many to be the major factors in the swing at the polls.

The Montreal Star's explanation of death from old age, however, raises the possibility of another factor, a sudden conviction on the part of the majority of the Canadian people that it was imperative that they fashion, by their votes, an alternative to the Liberal party as the governing party. This would not only explain the manner in which Liberal party after Liberal went down to defeat in the east, but would also provide a clue as to why the CCF made no gains and the Socreds were held to minor gains in the west.

Unfortunately the result has fallen short of the objective. While the Progressive Conservatives have been given a clear mandate to govern in every province with the possible exception of Quebec, the Liberals have been placed in the position of depending far too heavily on one province, Quebec, for their support and neither party has that clear-cut majority necessary to rule.

What Canada needs now is for the Progressive Conservatives to break the still powerful Liberal hold on Quebec and for both the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives to weaken the substantial influence of the two "third" parties, the CCF and Social Credit, in the three westernmost provinces.

Whether this can be done the next election will tell.

Letter To The Editor

Getting True Facts Proves Difficult

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

I listened to the special meeting of City Council at 7.30 p.m. Mr. Clow, instead of Mr. Deeds Herring.

In the notice of motion was first presented, many questions have come to mind, and the talking to a many people "in the know" as possible, I have tried to get the answers and the truths, most unsuccessfully, I must admit.

The Council meeting last Wednesday did little to enlighten me, and I'm sure of nothing to verify or dispel the many rumors going around the city. Some, most of which are ugly, some distorted by repeating, some truth, many have been made by the public wonder just what is back of the dismissal of Mr. Herring.

Dr. Stock, whom I commend very highly for his speaking against the motion, said: "It seems that there are personal reasons for wanting to get rid of the City Manager" and mentioned "petty party politics" and "vindictiveness". Ald. C. L. Hyde was also outspoken and mentioned "an organized gang" and added that "certain members of this gang refuse to resign". Ald. Bigley stated that "the actions of Council had not backed the City Manager" and that "some expect a stooge to do their bidding" and gives special consideration to aldermen and their friends.

Mayor Gardens has on both types of city government appear in the June, 1957, issue of Civic Affairs, that the mayor-council form usually speak with nostalgia of the good old days under the mayor-council form of government, a careful examination of the records reveals that under the council-manager form of government more work is done by the Council than under the mayor-council form. The really outstanding feature is that attempts to use that power for personal or political ends are generally thwarted. But there are no limitations on the exercise of this power to ward legitimate ends."

One alderman stated we're not getting $14,000 in value from our City Manager, which leads me to wonder if we are getting value from our other City Hall employees. Alderman Graham stated that the requisite of a City Manager was diplomacy, a quality which seldom is met with also in our Council. I wonder here if there could have been a better way of handling this situation.

Alderman Temple, Safe, and Price protested that they were the elected representatives of the people, and should make the decisions. I agree with them but when the people protest as strongly, and in as large numbers, as they did in this matter, the decision should bow to the request of the very people who put them in office, and at least allow a board of inquiry. One wonders why they refused to listen to the request of the people. Would ourselves be proven wrong in their action? If they are right, the board of inquiry can only substantiate their very refusal to allow an investigation, in my opinion unfounded, and reasons for the action taken. It would appear that their minds were closed, and at least a board of inquiry.

Alderman G. B. Hyde remarked "the people can boot us out at the next election". When civic elections are upon us in December, with the campaign lasting two weeks in detail, and when they go to the polls, consider well their choices so that there will be no recurrence of the present situation, which has lowered the prestige of not only the Council, but the City of Belleville, in the eyes of all who have watched our recent actions.

Yours very sincerely,
Dorothy M. Brown,
11 Holden street,
Belleville, Ont.

Twitch Sauce To Keep Hair

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Muscleheads, it seems, have more hair than their more fortunate brethren. This rather startling bit of anatomical information was revealed by a study made by Dr. M. W. Young, in Washington, D.C., recently.

In his study Dr. Young used an electromyograph to record muscle activity of the scalp. The electromyograph is an instrument for recording electrical impulses of contracting muscles. Using electrodes to connect the machine to both bald and hairy spots of human scalps, the doctor was able to record muscular movement.

Human guinea pigs used in the study, many older persons with advanced stages of baldness, were asked to wiggle their scalps and twitch their ears. Amusing as this procedure must have been, some very definite scientific conclusion were reached.

It was found that during the 15 flipping ceremony no hair pulses were recorded on the electromyograph from electrodes implanted in bald scalp areas. But of course, no muscle. Electrodes in hairy areas showed, however, had the machine quivering.

In presenting the findings of his study, Dr. Young referred the event to a meeting of the American Association of Quacks. Dr. Young may have provided the long-sought link to the cause of baldness. Muscleheads have shown the valuable aid given by scalp muscles in preventing baldness, but evidently do much to brighten life. Who could maintain a gloomy disposition while observing a muscle-lace with wiggling scalps and twitching ears?

More Cranes Discovered

Winnipeg Free Press

We are afraid that for some years we may unwittingly have been misleading our readers—those with an ornithological bent, at least—on an extremely important matter; to wit, whooping cranes.

Each year we have recorded the whoopers' fight for survival. We have recorded their flight from the spring from the southern United States to northern Canada, and their return trip in the fall. We have rejoiced when their numbers showed an increase, mourned when it dropped.

We have assumed — on the sayso of all bird authorities—that there were only a handful of whoopers left in the world today. That is the load (there are 21 in it at present) which winters at the Aransas wildlife refuge on the Gulf Coast in Texas and some of whose members at least, nest each summer in the Northwest Territories. There are three birds in the New Orleans zoo, one in the San Antonio zoo, making 25 in all.

Now it appears that this assumption may be quite wrong. For the other day, Mr. Frederick G. Lohrding, assistant director of the wildlife branch of the U.S. Department of the Interior announced that it was "scientifically credible" sightings of whooping cranes—19 in all—were reported in March; one in Nebraska and one in South Dakota.

In certain circumstances that would not be surprising. But not what is surprising is the fact that the 19 birds were seen a full ten days before the first of the known flocks of whoopers had left their Texas sanctuary, and the rest of the flocks were reported, the 21 known specimens were still in the Gulf Coast area. Obviously, they never winter on the Gulf Coast in an area which wildlife planes have not surveyed, for the last seven of years.

The whooping crane may not be as close to extinction as was once feared. And until further study, and until the existence of the new discoveries, the Washington Post has summed up the situation well in its leader line: "19 'New' Whooping Cranes Recognized, Looking Naturalists to Near Extinction."

ness, were asked to wiggle their scalps and twitch their ears. Amusing as this procedure must have been, some very definite scientific conclusion were reached.

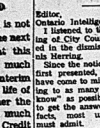
It was found that during the 15 flipping ceremony no hair pulses were recorded on the electromyograph from electrodes implanted in bald scalp areas. But of course, no muscle. Electrodes in hairy areas showed, however, had the machine quivering.

In presenting the findings of his study, Dr. Young referred the event to a meeting of the American Association of Quacks. Dr. Young may have provided the long-sought link to the cause of baldness. Muscleheads have shown the valuable aid given by scalp muscles in preventing baldness, but evidently do much to brighten life. Who could maintain a gloomy disposition while observing a muscle-lace with wiggling scalps and twitching ears?

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHILE THERE'S TIME TO ACT



The legend is told of a blacksmith in the middle ages who, in order to attract customers, would always put a special mark on his products to distinguish them from that of inferior competitors. With the passing of time he became so creative to an invading army and was thrown into a dungeon. Being chained to the wall by chains and locks, he felt that there must be some weak link or some imperfection of workmanship somewhere which would enable him to slip his bonds. In the darkness he felt over his manacles and foot-irons and ran his hand along each chain. Then he cried out in dismay. He had discovered on his chains his own mark. He knew now that there could be no escape. Most of the things that bind us are like chains of our own forging. They have our mark on them. We are not brought upon us by circumstances. They are not forced upon us by others. They are our forging, our fault.

The temper which has become uncontrollable, the habit of drinking, the habit of overeating, the habit of impure thoughts, the habit of unkind images with which we have decorated the inside of our minds, the creeping dependence on alcoholic beverages we have come to experience—these things have in many cases become real bondages; in the case of others they are gradually dragging their victim into bondage state.

And they are of our own forging. Do something about them while there's time to act.

Car Assessor High Hurdle

Ottawa Journal

Spring has come and the voice of the cuckoo is once more strong in the land. This powerful but unobstructive force receives surprisingly little public attention. Yet thousands of Canadians, making the vital decision to buy or not buy the new or better car, will have anxious moments with the cuckoo before they take to the open road of summer.

The number of salesmen or sales lot is of course a place of ten thousand joys to the buying public. The variety of two-tone colors, the intricacies of automatic gear-shifting, the crispness of new tires, the murmur of powerful motors and the lure of instruments offered by the salesmen all contribute to the holiday atmosphere. A dilly-may-care feeling develops. Take the old jalopy, fill up that rich, white and blue convertible, open the gates and mesh the gears and lets away with the wide blue yonder!

But wait! How much for the old one? Unless there's a good price for it all the dreams of right-cylindered flight on the highway will be lost.

Now the songs are muted and the scent of the cuckoo is behind the curtains and the car assessor, or assessors as the Motor Executioner emerges from the back stage, clasping a paper form in each hand. Up to a board. His eye is cold, his step is slow, his pencil sharp. The veteran of 50,000 miles, the faithful companion of courtship and summer days at the head of flights to the fireside of home through the gathering dusk, now suddenly is reduced to a weary bit of metal with rust on the flanks, trade-values on the spots on the upholstery. No frailty is missed by the assessor as he clambers aboard, jazzes the engine. (Thank Heaven it started!) and goes off on his testing drive.

And when he comes back he never looks at the owner and he may mutter to the salesman, "Can't give you $ 1.4 cash" and that the customer will wonder why he bothered. He may be so mad as to pay anything at all for this rule, this despicable judgment, this cruel conviction, old and beaten, among the gilt-edged, shining, new automobiles gone away with his form, casting one last embittered glance at the turn-in, and in due course the salesman, having consulted with him, comes out with a long face (what did you expect?) and words of consolation he has obviously practised before.

The assessor is seen no more. He is above bargaining and debate. He can have no romance in his makeup. He is the lineal descendant of men who, buying for a glue factory, could not be interested in the past achievements of a horse which had been Derby winner because he was had our brush with the cue assessors and knew them to be such a respect similiar to that we feel for judges who, above the sentiment and passion of ordinary men, make unprejudiced (?)— and final—decisions. Others.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Too Many Sophomorons

There must be millions of 'em in the population at large. Merely in the field of personal health, where I think my years of study and experience qualify me as an expert, it takes courage to say anything that does not coincide with nineteenth-century notions. This hokum acquires new dignity or respectability from impressive presentation of the same old bunk, such as the "precautions against catching a cold" set forth by a large life insurance company:

1. Guard against drafts and chilling . . . and always wear clothing suited to weather conditions.

2. Get enough sleep and eat well-balanced meals to keep resistance built up during the cold months.

Pretty silly advice, I should say. There's no scientific evidence that drafts and chilling do any harm —they may make one more susceptible but that's all.

It seems to me that anyone who is not actually an idiot naturally wears whatever clothing he finds most comfortable at any moment. I have no sympathy for those who endure discomfort for the sake of weather conditions.

No physician or health authority can tell in any circumstances whether an individual has good or poor "resistance" or none. Indeed, no physician or health authority can define "resistance." It is as elusive as "the common cold" of the physician or health authority will define that either. Much better, I think, to leave these vague concepts just as they are — vague.

A child may have good or poor immunity to diphtheria. If the Schick test shows that his immunity is poor or low, an injection of diphtheria toxoid or, if necessary, one or more injections at intervals of a month or two will build up immunity enough to protect the child from catching diphtheria.

Everyone may be made immune to smallpox by vaccination. Persons planing to travel or reside in parts of the world where sanitation is not yet safe, may be so in fact, must be so immunized against typhoid, para-typhoid-etc., in order to obtain passports.

To prate about keeping resistance built up by eating, sleeping, and avoiding damp, sweating dampness and drafts is absurd. These habits have precisely whatever to do with immunity to any known disease.

Should it were below freezing, I'd leave my hat with my overcoat. If I had enough hair to thatch my head, I'd never wear a hat. As it is, I use headgear only to protect me from sunburn. I believe a person with a good growth of hair will keep it dryer if he goes bareheaded as much as possible.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Four of us at lunch yesterday were all lucky enough to be possessed of summer cottages.

"I," said one, "am going to have a single guest at our place this summer. Not a soul more."

"I wish I had the nerve," said another, "but we've got a few regulars . . . "

"The trouble," put in a third, "is that summer guests never imagine they are summer hotel guests. My wife works harder in July and August than in any other months of the year."

The one I like," I submitted, "are the gals who, the minute meals are over, go out to the verandah and begin talking about the cure."

"Or," offered the first, "the ones who discover a fascinating mystery paperback in the cottage, and simply don't budge from it for days."

Then we all agreed that the guests are the best of June and the first of September.

"And who really pays?" I chuckled.

"Our wives," trumpeted Number One.

So we all picked our faces up.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THAT UNKNOWN SPARK

A kindly man came into my office. "Just a word with you, if I may call," he said, and we had a good talk. When he was about to leave, he threw back a remark that I wish he had written, called "You Were Born to Victory." In a line or two he had taken from an essay by Emerson. I asked him to sign the book, but he refused. "I never would sign it later after I had died."

I read that book and it inspired me greatly. Here is one paragraph from it. He said: "Every man there is some hidden spark, which, if ignited, can transform a fallen life into a success." How true that statement can be! But who is to ignite that spark? It is within your own power! Emerson brought out this fact in his great and inspiring essay on "Self Reliance." I got it and read it. I have read it many times. The late William Allen White once said that it was one of the greatest essays ever written.

Emerson said: "A man is relieved and gay when he has put his heart into his work and done his best." Then it is that the unknown spark leaps and you begin to be a somebody! And when you have ignited this spark, it ignites a multitude of other sparks in the lives of all with whom you come in contact.

But don't wait for someone else to light this hidden spark. Light it yourself! It's there if you feel it. Make it a holy flame. Like Shakespeare's little torch lighting the lamps that brought the village to its entrance, you can make that hidden spark within you a blessing to yourself and endless others.

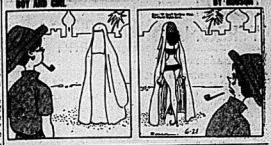
Save That Ball!



BRANTFORD (CP) — Twenty-two girls in the ball department of A. G. Spalding Brothers of Canada, Limited, sporting goods manufacturers, went on strike today. They were supported by 220 other employees who refused to cross their picket line.

The employees, members of the International Wood workers of American (CLC), went on strike because of delay by the company in setting a price rate for the girls' work, a union official said.

The officials said the girls were timed for their work seven weeks ago but no rates have yet been fixed.

GOING SHOPPING?

Now we know that you will not expect any shopping news today. After all, the day we make our shopping trip was taken over by politicians who were out in full force shopping for all of us. Although every "ultimate particle" we mentioned last Saturday was not secured, and although there was still much much to be desired in so far as a total voice is concerned, the shopping lists for June 10th indicated a healthy increase in numbers.

And so until next Wednesday — Good Shopping!

Ted Snider, who is the voice of the Hay of Quinte from Trenton for CJBQ and the station's flying commentator, told us a delightful yarn the other day. Ted along with Squadron Leader Wood and other officials from RCAF Trenton were stationed on the roof of number four hangar. They were collected at this spot to secure a first hand briefing of a dress rehearsal in preparation for the air show put on by Canada's Flyers last Sunday.

T and T did not ask Ted to write out flying terms to help us describe what happened but we really ought to have, because we cannot describe aeronautics. In our own words, we do the best we can.

Planes were flying all over the place. The air was crowded with single planes, planes in formation, planes and planes of all and every kind. Who would believe that anything could distract the interest of the crew on the roof of number four hangar? A little nighthawk stole the show momentarily.

Especially fascinated was Squadron Leader Wood, who is public relations officer. The small bird had chosen its very own take-off runway. He would spread his streamlined wings, zoom into space, nose-dive, glide, loop-the-loop, and execute the most intricate aerobatics. After each solo performance the winged pilot would float in for a perfect landing (three point landing isn't it called?) Always the timing and the spot would be letter perfect and the same. He would flick his wings, tuck his head under a wing to examine the under carriage and, with a eye for his admirers, off he would go to repeat an intricate series of gymnastics in space. Ted said that you just could not help believing the little fellow realized he was stealing a show and partly proving that he could do as many stunts more perfectly than man in his machines.

We know Squadron Leader Wood so we suggest that a little nighthawk receive special mention. Maybe the eagle age has become like the birds in the air and, too, the fish under water. It is unfortunate that a movie camera was not available to capture the nighthawk for the records as it vied with man in a perfect setting.

T and T thought you might enjoy this prelude to the greatest air display ever given at RCAF Trenton.

In the next few columns, T and T will pass along items from our May bulletin of the Committee of Correspondence dealing with "women's right to participate."

It is a privilege to reprint the results of world wide surveys.

Women's claim to human rights is not merely a question of giving benefits to women. The real issue is far more fundamental; the real issue is the participation of women as full partners in the economic, social and cultural life of a nation. When this is achieved, when women can play their role to the full, a great creative, contributing force will be released in the world which will have far-reaching effects for all people.

The problem of women's status is one of the most important challenges being faced at the United Nations. When we were in New York recently, we spent the best part of one morning with Mrs. Yenaimo-Woods who is Chief of the Status of Women at the UN. The problem is world wide and complicated. It can be its effect in many fields. One of the things that impressed us during my three days at the UN was how so many projects are really interlocking and overlapping. For instance, ILO, or the International Labor Organization at UN is very interested in equal pay for equal work, working conditions for women and opportunities for vocational education. UNESCO is interested in women's access to education. And so it goes. Mrs. Tenaison-Woods is in the far east now attending conferences dealing with the status of women in Asia. We feel that you will enjoy the information we pass on in the next few columns, information which T and T can accept no credit for. As some future date, we will have items dealing with "The political role of women."

Comparison of 'the Early Church With Our Church' Topic at W.A.

The Women's Association and the Afternoon Auxiliary of the W.M.S. of Tabernacle United Church held a joint meeting Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. F. Davidson, president of the W.A. opened the meeting with a "Woman's Meditation" and expressed her regret that Mrs. W. B. May, president of the W.M.S. Auxiliary was not able to attend.

The rolls of the two organizations were answered with a good attendance.

Following the brief business period, Mrs. A. Archibald conducted a devotional service; the theme being "The Early Church and Our Church," taken from the booklet "The Upper Room."

A PRAYING CHURCH

"The Early Church was a praying church. One hundred and twenty men and women met in the upper room. They waited for the coming of the Holy Spirit, which Christ had promised. While they waited, they prayed. Power beyond their greatest expectation came upon them like a rushing wind. Then the Church was born.

"The Early Church was a witnessing church. The disciples ceased not to teach and preach Christ. The Early Church was a sharing church. They sold their possessions and gave to every man according to his need. The Early Church was a praising church. The disciples continued daily in the temple praising God.

"The Church is God's gift to men for the salvation of the world. It was God in Christ Jesus who brought the Church into being. Down the ages the Church has continued through the presence and power of the Holy Spirit."

YE SHALL RECEIVE POWER

The Reverend Ray. Rowley was the speaker and his theme followed that of the devotional using as a text "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth."

"Christians are very much concerned about organization and have unfortunately to a very large extent, forgotten that the Church we are dealing with is God's Holy Church. It was the command of our Lord to go and witness to the Truth that is within us. When Christians discover that the Holy Spirit is with them there wells up in the heart the compulsion to witness, to go to our neighbors and friends and to the ends of the earth.

"The religious experience. We experience the rest of real joy we find in the minds and hearts of men and women who go to the uttermost parts of the world to share with people the gospel and the ongoing of the work of our Lord Jesus Christ.

WITNESS FOR THE LORD

"Our call and our goal is to dedicate fields of service but we can be a witness for our Lord right in our own homes and our community. We can study what is happening in the Christian Church. We can pray and we can receive instruction from the great Almighty. Ye shall receive power . . . go to the uttermost parts of the earth.

"If the Christian Church had caught the impetus there is in this task, communism would not have spread across Europe and Asia as it has. Either the Christian Church goes ahead to build the Kingdom of God or it moves back into paganism.

"We shall have to accept the responsibility which is ours to be witnesses where we live and spread our influence throughout this vast Dominion."

Mrs. Percy Kerr extended a vote of thanks on behalf of the two groups to Mr. Rowley for this fine address.

'Music Now More Than Ever'

By Reverend Sister M. Germaine, L.Mus., R.M.T. St. Michael's Music Studio Belleville

There are songs in the soul of every man. Some have many; some have few; but consciously or unconsciously, there is a deep-seated desire in all of us to express something which can be expressed only in music.

Just now, music and music study are practical needs of every man and woman. Precisely as the boy whistles to keep up his courage, so are we all crying for something to bring about confidence and to displace the absurd fear which has made men and women avoid the great human responsibilities which these dynamic times demand.

The vibrations of fine music put a mysterious initiative, resolution, and courage into the individual. He reasons thus: "Perhaps things are vastly better than they seem. There is no reason why I should be idle or unhappy. I must look towards success if I would have it. I will trust my fellow man. Life is finer and brighter than my sombre thoughts make it out to be. The outlook is more cheerful than I thought it was." Music of the right kind says these things to men and women who feel themselves slipping.

STIMULATING MUSIC

Every great ruler and military leader, since the beginning of time, has recognized and used the stimulating effect of music in putting courage into the hearts of men at times of great peril. The Marseillaise has meant more to France than battalions of soldiers.

Certainly one of the greatest compensations is to be found in music and, therefore, speaking from my own experience, I feel sorry for the individual, particularly the boy, whose parents have neglected to see to it that he has the best music teaching procurable, but with the view to making him a professional musician but with the idea of giving him the wonderful mental acceleration that music brings, the great stimulating force of the art, and the soul-cleansing qualities which only beautiful music seems to have.

Music study with a good teacher affords an invaluable mental discipline and is one of the most sensible investments a parent can make for a child.

There is no better way than through music that we can permit our natural instinct for beauty to have expression in its highest form. Many adults could have a wonderful time studying music if they would only apply themselves. A few minutes a day invested with perseverence would soon enable them to find the key to one of the most enjoyable and useful things in life — music.

"Music it was we brought from heaven,
On an angel's breath so pure;
And it alone may we carry back,
As a thing which shall endure.
And thus uplifted do we mount
Like some celestial throng
To realms of world-forgotten joy,
On wings of living song."

Birthday Marked By Many Guests

A happy time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Sobie, Ameliasburg, on Sunday, when nearly 50 relatives gathered to celebrate Mr. Sobie's 75th birthday, also Mrs. Sobie, who had celebrated a birthday a few days previously.

Everyone came with well-laden baskets and the buffet supper soon disappeared. A beautiful birthday cake centred the table.

Mr. Sobie received a dressing gown and pyjamas from his children and grandchildren and many other lovely gifts.

After a good chit-chat and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Sobie many more happy birthdays, everyone left for home feeling that they had enjoyed this gala occasion.

B.G.H. Nurses' Class of '47 Holds Reunion

"Old grads never die; they simply have reunions." (Shakespeare).

The members of Belleville General Hospital class of '47 recently held their ten-year two-day reunion.

The class of 36 nurses is the largest to ever graduate from Belleville General Hospital and of this group, 20 members returned from points west to Port Erie, and east to Montreal for the occasion.

At the dinner party held at the "Golden Acre Inn", Mrs. Vera Morton expressed appreciation on behalf of the class to the hostesses, Mrs. Margaret Wiggins, Mrs. Pauline Bishop, and Mrs. Jewel Holway.

A luncheon was also held in the hospital dining room, at which Miss Margaret Henricks thanked Miss Margaret Kilpatrick of the hospital teaching staff, for their interest in the reunion.

Miss Kilpatrick conducted a tour of the new wing and also pointed out renovations to the original wings.

Miss Margaret Henricks was appointed class historian and it was agreed by the members to hold a similar reunion in five years.

This reunion was one that looked forward to and many happy nursing memories were relived.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

GROOM-TO-BE OBJECTS TO INCORRECT NAME-FORM

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been a divorcee for four years, and quite soon I am to be married again. My fiance and I both have many friends—nearby, in different parts of this country and abroad—and so we would like to send formal announcements of our marriage. I read in your column the other day that it is customary for a mature bride-to-be and groom-to-be to issue the announcements themselves. We would like to do this. But we are having quite a difference-of-opinion (to put it mildly) about the correct form of my name on these announcements. Since my divorce I've used, for example, "Mrs. Mary Blake." My fiance (who is very apt to be right about social details), insists this form of name for a divorcee is incorrect, and that on our announcements I certainly should use "Mrs. Robinson Blake" ("Robinson" being, let's say, my maiden surname). If I use this form, I'm afraid some friends won't recognize it. What is the correct form for these announcements, and for my name on them? — "Alias Mary"

Your fiance's . . . "Mrs. Mary Blake" is not correct. "Mrs. Robinson Blake" is correct, and if you fear that some of your friends might not recognize this name, you might use "Mrs. M. Robinson Blake" (permissible, but not such good form as "Mrs. Robinson Blake").

Correct form for your announcements:

Mrs. Robinson Blake
and
Mr. Thomas Hill Clark announce their marriage on Tuesday, the sixth of August
Nineteen Hundred and fifty-seven
Haven, New York

RIGHT-THINKING GRADUATE WRITES THANK-YOU NOTES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My mother insists that I should write notes of thanks not only for the presents received for my graduation, but also for all the congratulation-cards and notes received. I maintain that thank-you notes are necessary only for the graduation presents. Who is right about this? — Teenage Reader

Your mother is so right! Your sense of values is of-balance, for your point of view is that you should thank only for material things, while your mother has the right and gracious point of view that kind messages, thoughtful words, should be thanked for too. Do follow her good advice . . . and make your friends and relatives proud of you, make you proud of yourself. And prove to that important diploma that you have a right to receive it . . . that you know when and how to write thank-you notes. An important part of your education!

OLDER BRIDE TO HAVE GODDAUGHTER AS ATTENDANT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a professional woman, 41 years of age, have never been married. Now I am planning to be married with a small, simple wedding in the chapel of the church of which my fiance and I are members. I have no sister or cousin to ask to be my attendant, and I have so many close, long-time friends who may feel slighted if I choose one for my attendant, that I thought perhaps it might be a wise idea for me not to have an adult attendant, but instead have my adorable little goddaughter, aged 14, as my attendant. Do you approve of this plan, Mrs. Beeckman? — Reader

Yes, I do approve . . . it's a very wise plan, and will, I am sure, be very effective.

PLACING FINGER BOWLS WITH CERTAIN FOODS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I had always thought that in a private house finger bowls were placed only at the end of a meal. But last evening my husband and I went to a small, informal dinner at the house of some comparatively-new friends, and with the broiled lobster (which was the main course), finger bowls were placed with the dinner plates. Is this really correct?

— M.M.D.

Yes, ma'am . . . this is perfect service. A knowing hostess plans to have finger bowls placed above (or beside) the plates when such courses are served as lobster, steam clams, artichoke, corn-on-the-cob, and often grapefruit halves. Thoughtful service, and a comfort to the guest.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

GIVE POP A "GIFT OF YOUTH" FOR FATHER'S DAY (PART 1)

Choose Day's gift with care and he'll never be an "old fogey."

In order to get jobs or keep them, many middle-aged men need to use age dodges, just as women do. More than half a million men in today's labor market—cuts out of every five, according to the figures—whose maturity and experience should help them to secure their careers, lose out to younger men, waiting in the wings to step into their jobs.

Why is it, one asks, that men like Clark Gable, Cary Grant, Henry Fonda and other top glamour guys in their 50s, never meet the age discriminations that men in business and industry do?

We asked Max Factor, Hollywood's good looks counsellor to both men and women, his opinion — and got it.

"I think," he said, "it's because these men act youthful, look dynamic and give such a positive impression of vigor and alertness that the age of the man in question has no bearing upon his role in life. And that is exactly as it should be. A man who can take years off his back, like a burden that can be shed, is being wickedly unfair to himself and his family if he doesn't unload them by every legitimate means at hand."

Factor then proceeded to give us some suggestions which, he says, will be no more of an affront to Pop's manhood than pipe-smoking or shaving off that subble.

Since a woman's opinions on so many of these phases of dress and grooming are valuable, why not give them to the man in your life if he needs them? Why not go a step farther and give him a "gift of youth" for Father's Day?

1. Choice of clothing: Since 95% of what is seen of a man is clothing, its choice in making a youthful impression is first in importance.

For lack of a better model, let him use the "Man in the Grey Flannel Suit," and choose a single-breasted suit (more youthful than a double breasted) in a current, casual style of the best quality your family budget will permit.

In choosing youthful shirts, make them white, and give him grey ties, knitted striped and or wool. The only jewelry: good cuff links and wrist watch. Button-down shirts look youthful. So do socks in Argyle pattern, perforated brogue shoes or good, feet-hugging leather moccasins.

Hats to subtract years conform to facial contours and are jaunty in style—nothing stiff, ecclate or "old hat."

11. Eyeglasses: The more owl-eyed they make him look—big, bold and dark plastic or tortoise shell frames—the younger. Ever since a young man named Russell Hype, who, for his role in "Call Me Madam", adopted this style of specs, they've been adopted by men from 16 to 60 who've liked them better than pince nez or lenses less boldly framed.

Hair cut: A crew cut is, of course, the most youthful, and a liberately affects one to lop years' loot.)

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THIS IS THE TIME TO SHOW YOU'RE MATURE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm a fellow of 20 and in love. The girl I love is nothing but a tramp, but I love her. She can be lots of fun sometimes.

She has many friends, mostly boys, and she tells me to stay away from her because she likes me, and by that she means she likes me enough to have an affair with me. To that, I said No! She laughed, called me a square, and left me.

Ever since then I've been lonesome for her. Do you think I should go after her or leave her alone? — Dave

Dear Dave:

I think you should leave her alone—don't you?

You've already told her—and good for you!—that you're not going to have an affair with her, and if she doesn't want you on any other terms, what sense would there be in running after her?

You're 20 years old, which is old enough to have the maturity to show that you respect yourself by standing firm for what you believe in, and you're even more likely to find happiness with any girl who doesn't believe in the same things. So have the character to take your mind off this "tramp" and put it on some girl who's worth it.

DON'T BE TOO QUICK TO REFUSE THE DIVORCE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 21, have been married two years to a man 23 and have a son one and a half years old.

I had to get married.

At first I didn't mind being married, because I loved my husband and I thought he loved me. Now I've found out that he has had an affair with a girl of 15 and that he wants to marry her, for the same reason that he married me. He wants a divorce, but I don't. I still love him and want to have as happy a home as possible for the sake of my son.

What can I do?

— Mrs. R.D.

Dear Mrs. R.D.:

It would be best, I think, not to flatly refuse your husband the divorce instead, propose to him, as calmly as you can, that you agree on a waiting period, during which both of you will make every effort to work out your problems.

Tell him that there are two reasons why you don't want your marriages to break up: first, because you love him — though I can't imagine how you could under such circumstances—and, second, because you don't want your son to grow up under the handicap of a broken home.

Say that you're ready and anxious to do whatever is right and reasonable in helping this other girl; that if it's necessary off his looks. If hair is too sparse for that, let him try butching what he has to achieve an allover round, youthful, shape of head. Trying to spread long wisps of hair over a bald head or growing what he can into longer fringes are the oldest and most obvious camouflage tricks there are. They fool nobody.

If baldness is a handicap, let him investigate the possibilities of wearing hair pieces. A Who's Who of today's glamour guys who wear . . . absolutely natural-looking, undetectable patented hair pieces would fill a small book, says Factor. And there's no limit to the style a man can choose from fills in front pieces to an all-over crew cut.

(Tomorrow we'll give you a few more Hollywood ideas to include in that "gift of youth" which will mean more to the man in your life than all the doodads which come ahead of the head of "Father's Day

Treasures From A 1910 Cookbook

By Mary Moore

Since 1910 and maybe earlier the manufacturers of Gold Medal flour have been doing a service to homemakers, the scope of which is impossible to estimate.

My neighbor, Bessie's Aunt died and among her treasured possessions is a Gold Medal Cookbook published in 1910.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY

All-In-One-Casserole (s e e Tuesday), Cabbage and Cucumber Salad on Lettuce with Roquefort or Herb Dressing, Open Face Strawberry Pie, Coffee.

It is all brown and brittle with age and the margins are covered with Bessie's Aunt's pencilled notes. It is a treasure.

Several things amused my immensely not the least of which was this note: "This Book has been Carefully revised, Rearranged and amplified by the best talent obtainable."

In this day and age of "hard sell" advertising no creative copy writer or an advertising agency would leave anything to your imagination. "The best obtainable" now is "the best in the world" and no chances are taken on understatements.

In the section on soups, Bessie's aunt has a note: "Pa likes green pea soup in red book" and in the same section under Green Turtle Soup: "Kill a 10-lb. turtle by cutting off head, with very sharp knife — hang up and bleed for 12 hours." Who?

Would you like instructions for "boning a turkey"? "Crawfish": Crawfish are inhabitants of Fresh water streams. They have a striking resemblance to lobster in every respect and are largely used by caterers for garnishes, sauces, salads etc. Those that come from Milwaukee have a high reputation in New York and other markets. "Sweet Omelet"— "The surface may be thickly covered with sugar and scored with a hot poker." "Ox-Eyes" — Take 6 eggs, 6 tablespoons cream, 6 inch-thick slices bread, 4 tablespoons butter. With a three-inch cutter, cut bread into rounds. Cut a small ring out and one-half inch in diameter and take out enough crumbs to replace with egg; brush with melted butter and brown in quick oven. Moisten each with 1 tablespoon cream; break a fresh egg into each, season with salt and pepper and cook in moderate oven till white is set."

We used to make this years ago and my kiddies loved it. I'm going to spring it on the crowd when they are home this summer.

After "Orange Salad" is a note "serve before the game." What game? Does that mean jugged hare or Parcheesi?

CRIMPETS

Two cups scalded milk; three tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 yeast cake, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3 cups Gold Medal flour. Put in mixing bowl salt, sugar and butter, and scalded milk. When lukewarm add yeast. When yeast is thoroughly dissolved add the flour slowly, beating constantly. Let the sponge stand in a warm place from two to four hours or until light. Bake in greased muffin rings on a hot griddle or in patty pans in the oven. In either case fill the pans only half full.

There are such interesting sounding variety breads as Krinkles, Cifties, Togus Muffins, Splits, Dodgers and imagine my delight when under puddings I found "Whole Wheat Pudding"!

FILE CLAIMS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Claims from Texas and Toronto have been filed in Supreme Court as a result of the Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star crash on Mount Slesse Dec. 9, which took 62 lives. Esther Dorothy Bright seeks compensation for the death of Marion Lewis Bright, of Fort Worth, Tex., and Daisy Ellen Kennedy is claiming for the death of Clarence Gordon Kennedy, Toronto. Amounts were not specified.

Pretty Party Dress

By TRACY ADRIAN

This appealing sub-teen style in Schiffli-embroidered nylon over makes a delightful summer party dress. And it also has the covered-up look necessary for important occasions such as graduation day.

The crisp, lightweight fabric is cool and comfortable on the warmest days and keeps its fresh look, resists wrinkling, washes easily and needs little or no ironing, all very important at this time of year. Bows of nylon lace and tiny rhinestone buttons emphasize the dainty look of this shirtwaist style. Plain sheer is used for the collar, cuffs and band at the hemline.

New Stratford Theatre Masterpiece of Design

By ROBERT TANNER

This story is being written in a small office backstage in the new permanent theatre at Stratford; outside, it is a peaceful Sunday morning, but inside the silence is broken by a cacophony of sawing, hammering and pneumatic drilling as a dedicated body of men races against time to get building ready. For opening night is just over three weeks away, and by Monday next, June 17th, rehearsals are scheduled to be transferred from their present location, on a duplicate stage in the Festival Concert Hall to the new theatre itself. Much remains to be done, but everyone is quite convinced that the schedule will be met.

And what a wonderful building it is! Still retaining the seating plan and much of the same feeling as the tent, yet it contrives to be altogether different. The new gallery, reaching over the rear-most orchestra seats, offers the possibilities of a new viewpoint from which to watch the pageantry and action of Shakespeare's masterpieces, as presented in Stratford's individual style. The midnight blue of the curiously shaped ceiling seems to brood over the warmer tones of the wooden stage setting, which although but little changed from last year, now boasts a third and higher acting level, in keeping with the greater height of the building. The bright red upholstery of the padded lift-up seats (which won an award from the National Industrial Design Council) add a further touch of colour. By next week, the carpet will be laid, and a perforated steel facing applied to the rear wall of the auditorium to make it virtually complete.

REMOTE CONTROL PANEL

High up in the ceiling, over the gallery, is the stage manager's box, with a clear view of every part of the stage, and with electronic tentacles reaching to all parts of the theatre, for with so many diverse entrances, every close touch must be kept with the actors at all times. Here, too, will eventually be installed an electronically operated remote control panel for the stage lighting which will make the Stratford theatre as modern technically as it already is from the design standpoint.

But the auditorium is by no means the only part of the building which merits mention. The foyer and lounges are spacious and finished in a variety of woods, toning in with plaster ceilings and carpeted floors. Refreshment counters are designed to serve the public both inside and outside the building, while on the balcony floor, a wide terrace offers many possibilities for the future.

To the actor, probably the back stage facilities will prove the most appeal, for here at last is a theatre in which these are not cramped. The dressing rooms are of simple design, but of more than adequate size, and very attractive "green room" provides a restful area where the actors may relax from the tensions of the performance and enjoy one another's company. The more mundane requirements have not been forgotten in the provision of ample space in the basement for fans, compressors, boilers, etc., which will in due course allow the use of the theatre on a year round basis. And up on the third floor is a spacious area to which no definite use has been allotted on the plans, but which may one day become a small experimental theatre on its own, where directors and actors can work out in actual practice some of the less conventional of their ideas and dreams.

It looks therefore as though the Fifth Stratford Shakespearean Festival is to have not two, but three stars, masculine, feminine and neuter. Christopher Plummer will take the title role in "Hamlet", Siobhan McKenna will play Viola in "Twelfth Night" and the permanent theatre will just be itself, perhaps as attractive and important a contribution to Canadian drama as its two co-stars.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Ellen Parker FOR EXPRESS CO. 31

I have always thought that one of the "basics" in baby care was to realize that while schedules are necessary . . . they are workable only when they're reasonable. Certainly children do thrive on a certain amount of routine but modern parents avoid letting rules become more important than baby's real inner needs. A flexible baby-care schedule which makes room for love helps make a whole baby . . . physically and spiritually.

Burly "basic" in a new baby's menu—specially prepared baby cereals. When your doctor gives the go-ahead on this important food, you'll find Gerber's 5 cereals ideal for introducing baby to cereal variety . . . Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Wheat and Mixed Cereal. Delicate but distinctive flavors and a smooth, easy-to-swallow consistency make them most appealing to baby's unsophisticated palate.

All five are vitamin-and-mineral enriched and pre-cooked for easy digestibility. Add salt milk formula or other liquids.

Carriage cue. Be sure to brake baby's carriage when you move your little one out to the back yard for a snooze. Uneven ground could cause carriage to roll.

Plain talk. Skip the frills and fancy trimmings when you take baby to the doctor. Diaper, shirt, wrapper and receiving blanket make for simple-fied stripping.

Sipping pleasure pure and simple! with a nutritional bonus to boot! That's the tasty story on Gerber Strained Orange Juice . . . a happy contributors to baby's pleasure. It's made from tree-ripened oranges, specially selected for mild flavor, pleasing color with high level of Vitamin C, so necessary for sound gums, teeth and body tissues. Pasteurization makes it pure for baby. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

The runners-up were, Trenton King Street United; Rawdon United, and St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, each with an average of 79, and St. Paul's Stirling with 78.

BEST FESTIVAL TO DATE

This seventh festival was probably the best to date, and there were approximately 200 entrants from as far north as Bancroft, around by Napanee, Belleville, Trenton, Frankford, and the surrounding area of Stirling, comprising Rawdon and Sidney townships.

The Albert College bursary valued at $50 to be given to the contestant of 12 years to 18 years, who shows the most promise at a vocalist. The bursary is tenable at Albert College Conservatory of Music. The adjudicator chose Miss Marsha Dovey, of Redmersville; and Mrs. Gillies, a teacher at Albert College made the presentation.

The Ontario Intelligencer's silver trophy is awarded each year to the best one room public school choir, and was won by The Williams school, S. S. No. 4, Mount Pleasant-Rawdon. The day teacher is Miss Doris Dunham, and the music supervisor is Miss B. McConnell. The presentation was made by Mrs. Percy MacMullen, (Stirling and Rawdon reporter for the Ontario Intelligencer). She congratulated the pupils and teachers, and said, the Williams school was where she first received her public school education. The presentation of the silver cup and gold medal was made to Miss Betty McConnell.

The R. A. Patterson shield for junior choirs in the open class was won by St. John's Anglican Church junior choir, Stirling, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Mumby, organist. She was presented with the shield by the Reverend W. G. Fletcher, of Rawdon circuit, as well as with the gold medal.

The Marjorie Gothard trophy for outstanding teen-age choral group in either church or school groups was awarded to Stirling public school for its excellent rendition of "O,Come". The music supervisor, Miss Betty McConnell, was awarded this trophy by the adjudicator, Mr. Reginald Geen.

Mr. H. R. Tompkins, editor of the Stirling News Argus, presented his own silver trophy, and a festival gold medal to Miss McConnell. The News Argus cup is awarded yearly to the public school choir in the open class. Mr. Tompkins complimented all those on the various committees, who had given sacrificial service in order to make the festival a success.

The Muriel S. Baker trophy with miniature was to be presented to the individual with the highest mark in the festival. This year there were three winners, each with 84 points, all of whom will receive miniatures. The presentation was made by Mrs. Carol McColl, of Wooler, and the three winners were Miss Marsha Dovery, Redmersville; who was in class 13, vocal solo; Mr. Allan Kirk, of Belleville, for his piano solo, class 24, and Dr. Harold Williamson, of Belleville, for his baritone solo, class 35. All these were awarded 84 points each, and this is the first year there has been any duplications.

Last year, Mrs. Burton Morton donated a large religious picure , "Jesus Blessing Little Children." This was awarded to the individual church with the highest average marks for a minimum of five entries in the Scripture classes.

Among the papers and discussions were: "Should homework be abolished?"; "Teenagers need models, not critics"; "The importance of good public school teachers." Good films, and special interest in new citizens were stressed with the theme, "The best of whatever you are."

Community Activities and Public Relations — Mrs. Gerald Herrington said among the roll calls was: "What I would like done to improve our community." The mottoes stressed, "Work plus co-operation."

Among the papers was "Loyalty to your community," and "How the Institute helps home and community."

In the activities, the district had a 60th anniversary party; two secretaries were sent to Guelph; a district project was sponsored, and many rural activities were carried on by all the branches. Several members attended A.G.W.W. garden party last June in Ottawa. Donations were given to numerous charities, and the funds were raised by social evenings of various kinds. The sick, bereaved, and shut-ins were remembered with cards. Two extension courses were held. There was one life membership; one branch reported a paid conference in their local paper for Institute news.

Historical Research and Current Events — Mrs. Morley Phillips reported six Tweedsmuir history books; a display of old jewellery; a Grandmothers' Day; History of Little Red School; History of the Salvation Army; short sketches of important people.

An original poem, "To Our Women's Institute." For roll calls there were: "Plants and flowers of Bible times;" "Names of Fathers of Confederation;" a social custom of long ago," and "Something Irish."

Home Economics and Health —Mrs. Harold Bloor said the roll calls were based on recipes for apples and cheese; and invalid dishes; ways to use stale bread; medicinal values of weeds; busy day cookery; unexpected company; cure for common cold.

The demonstrations included: "How to iron a fine shirt;" a film on "Fluoridation of water," and "Making of salads."

There were numerous donations to cancer, Red Cross, mental health, as well as replenishing first aid kits in local schools.

Resolutions — This report prepared by Mrs. Ed. Heasman was read by Mrs. Phil Conley.

There was one resolution re providing an extra safety exit at rural schools.

It was suggested that each branch study the proper way of drafting resolutions, and spend some time in the study of this department.

Mrs. George Burkitt, Federated Board Director, in her comments, explained that convener is spelled with an 'e' and the other form is now obsolete. She explained various new handbook rulings and gave suggestions for the branch delegates to carry back to their group.

She outlined "The Stratford Festival;" The Guelph Holiday;" The A.C.W.W. trip to Ceylon; and many items pertaining to Institute work.

The Institute Grace was sung and the Stirling ladies served an appetizing plate luncheon.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The afternoon session opened with "Skip to My Lou," and "I Know An Old Lady."

Miss Isobel Wishart, from the department, gave a summary of the Home Economics services available for Ontario women and girls. Their objective is to help people help themselves. Local leaders must be developed in order to meet the need for expanding programs. She stressed "There is a wealth of sound thinking and capable leadership among the rural women of Ontario. The training school for Hastings County is on "Making Lamp Shades."

Mrs. C. B. Gardner, Chatterton branch, contributed a vocal selection with Mrs. Harold Irvine as accompanist.

The Hastings Home Economist gave a resume of the work of the three girls' clubs, Wallbridge, River Valley and Unionville. The new project will be "Cereal Shelf." Four girls are necessary for the club. Greetings were brought by Mrs. C. Gordanier of Springbrook branch on behalf of North Hastings district.

Miss Wishart then conducted the election of officers, following the election the new president spoke briefly and asked that branches send to Toronto for free brochures.

PRESENTATION

Mrs. Everett Phillips spoke appreciative words to Mrs. Rodgers who has served in the past 33 years and presented her with costume jewellery on behalf of West Hastings, and the recipient voiced thanks.

The business included a new district for one year each branch pay the district at the rate of 25c per member.

Mrs. Harry Coulter was appointed district delegate to national convention in Ottawa in October.

Appreciation was voiced to Mr. A. Dalrymple and staff for the programs.

The resolution re an extra exit door for rural schools, was passed unanimously, and will be forwarded to the area.

Mrs. E. B. Finkle graciously voiced thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the day.

An invitation to convene at Wallbridge in June 1958, was accepted.

Mrs. Rodgers voiced personal thanks for co-operation and the meeting closed with "The Queen."

Manchester Paper Suggests St. Laurent and Diefenbaker Attend London Conference

LONDON (CP)—The Manchester Guardian, concerned at the possibility of a prolonged deadlock resulting from Canada's general election, suggests that Prime Minister St. Laurent and Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker come to London for the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

"It would be deplorable if the man who will be head of the Canadian government should not attend the Commonwealth conference," The Guardian says after noting that both Liberals and Conservatives lack a parliamentary majority and may have difficulty forming a government.

Surely times seen little likelihood of the prime minister will attend the conference later this month.

"He is a proud man who may not relish meeting his colleagues from the Commonwealth in London as prime minister on sufferance." The Times comments, predicting St. Laurent's early resignation.

SEE PARALLEL

The unexpectedness of the Progressive Conservative victory is unanimously reflected in British editorial comment. Several papers draw a parallel with President Truman's upset of Thomas E. Dewey in the 1948 United States presidential election.

"One of the refreshing aspects of democracy is that the 'impossible' happens," The Daily Telegraph comments, paying tribute to Diefenbaker's "outstanding personal appeal."

The Daily Sketch, a strong supporter of Britain's Suez intervention, notes that Diefenbaker criticized Canada's lack of support for Sir Anthony Eden on the issue and comments that the Conservative leader "sounds like the sort of man to have on your side."

NEW LEVELLERS

The Times says Diefenbaker conducted his campaign "with both dash and endurance" and suggests that "his new men may bring a new liveliness to the politics of a country that, for all its prosperity, has sometimes seemed a little jaded." The Times adds:

"They cannot, if they are to survive, afford a moment's relaxation. They will face the whole governmental experience of their country ranged against them in relentless opposition. There will at least be an end of the complaints that Canada is willing for the sake of a two-party system."

The Financial Times sees the possibility, if the Conservatives gain a firm grip on the government, of reregulation of Commonwealth trade arrangements, which, it recalls, were largely the outcome of the last Conservative victory in Canada and had since broken down largely on Canadian lack of interest."

Canada's First Chinese Member Brilliant Lawyer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ralph Campney, the Vancouver lawyer whose four-year term as Canada's defence minister ended in defeat at the polls, says he is going to write his memoirs.

Mr. Campney, 53, who lost to Douglas Jung, first MP of Chinese descent, told newspaper men Tuesday he will also have time to devote to his two chief interests outside politics—travel and the law.

Canada's first member of Parliament of Chinese extraction is a slender, six-foot, 33 - year - old lawyer from Victoria whose varied career includes a stint as an intelligence agent for the Canadian army in the Southwest Pacific during the Second World War.

BLENDS CULTURES

Mr. Jung, the first Chinese-Canadian lawyer to plead, and win a case in the British Columbia Court of Appeal, is a young Canadian who has blended his Oriental background with the modes of Western living.

In the library of his west end bachelor apartment are books by such as Ian Fleming and volumes of law books which he has used in his practice since he was called to the bar in 1954 after graduating from the University of British Columbia.

Mr. Jung went to high school in Victoria, worked as a salesman in Chinatown here and entered the army in 1943. He modestly declines to discuss his adventures behind Japanese lines in New Guinea.

Doug Jung's victory celebration was typical of the area he represents. He was hoisted aloft by jubilant bearded Sikhs and cheered by Chinese girls in baseball windbreakers and the more staid matrons of the Conservative party.

"I am in a position to see both sides," he said. "The mere fact that I am of Chinese extraction will be an added advantage in Ottawa, not a handicap."

SOMETHING NEW IN ASSAULT BOATS

The U.S. army's latest in assault boats undergoing tests at Fort Belvoir, Va., is the T-8 (above) which can carry 15 men when paddled and nine men when an outboard motor is attached. The boat weighs 225 pounds and can be carried by six men.

Things May Be Bit Thicker Between Ottawa, Wash.

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States diplomats say that control of the Canadian government by the Progressive Conservative party will almost certainly mean development of a harder line toward the United States on some controversial issues.

The political campaign focused attention on disputes between the two countries. The campaign, as one expert noted Tuesday, did not create the issues but it sharpened voter reaction to them.

As a result, he said, "we've got to expect that things will be a bit stickier between Ottawa and Washington."

During the election debate, for example, there were attacks on United States policy for disposing of surplus wheat abroad. These attacks were made by opposition groups in Canada's wheat producing provinces. The government of Prime Minister St. Laurent lost votes heavily in those provinces.

NOT HELPED

The situation from the point of view of the government's political interests was not helped, observers said, by the United States announcement last week of a Polish aid agreement in which the supplying of surplus wheat to Poland formed an important element.

Another American action which has irritated the Canadians was the recent announcement of an administration intention to protect lead and zinc production in the U.S. by imposing a new import tax on those metals. The announcement said that such a tax would be proposed to Congress.

The United States now imports about $68,000,000 worth of lead and zinc from Canada.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, who has been regarded in official quarters here as a strong advocate of the closest possible American - Canadian co-operation in all fields, has always opposed retaliation by Canada against American steps which the Canadians consider hurtful to their interests.

Whether a Conservative government would feel the same sense of restraint with respect, for instance, to retaliatory tariff measures is a question.

Premier Frost Has No Faith in Election Polls

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost says the federal election results are "directly opposite" to the situation indicated in pre-election surveys by the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion.

Commenting on the polls in an interview, the Progressive Conservative premier said Tuesday night: "I don't take them too seriously."

He said the June 1 survey, which showed 48 per cent of prospective voters favoring the Liberals and 34 per cent for the Conservatives, was "about the same as in 1953."

"But it didn't turn out to be the Liberal massacre it was in 1953. Something must have slipped somewhere."

Referring to the Ontario survey which indicated the Conservatives were supported by 45 per cent of those questioned against 43 per cent for the Liberals, Mr. Frost said:

"It showed the Conservatives had lost three points in the last 10 days. But the results are directly opposite to that.

"John Diefenbaker had said in Hamilton not to pay any attention to the polls. He was right again."

Wilfred Sanders, co-director of the Institute, said the difference between the figures in its June 1 poll and the vote actually received by the Liberals, Progressive Conservatives, CCF, Social Credit and others worked out to an average of 2.2 percentage points.

Nationally the poll showed 34 per cent prospective voters favored the Progressive Conservatives and 48 per cent were for the Liberals. In the voting, the Conservatives received 39 per cent and the Liberals 41.

In Ontario the institute said 45 per cent were for the Conservatives and 43 per cent for the Liberals. The Conservatives received 49 per cent of the votes and the Liberals 37.

Mr. Sanders said the semi-final sampling of opinion, taken about the middle of May, showed a Conservative trend, but the election showed the trend was levelling off.

Defence Dept. To Be Overhauled Likely Prospect

OTTAWA (CP)—A reappraisal of the top administration in the defence department may be in the offing if a Progressive Conservative government takes over the reins of office.

Mnl.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, who may succeed Hon. Ralph Campney as defence minister, has said that the present chiefs of staff system should be overhauled.

Under the present system, the chief of each of the three armed services is individually responsible to the defence minister. There is a chairman of the joint chiefs of staff committee but he has no defined authority.

Gen. Pearkes, re-elected Conservative member for Esquimalt-Saanich, has suggested that there be an overall chief of the services who would be the minister's chief adviser or that the three chiefs be responsible for coordinating policy to present to the minister for action.

The defence budget in this 1957-58 fiscal year is $1,746,000,000 or more than one-third of all government expenditures.

Gen. Pearkes has contended that duplication exists in the services and that it should be eliminated. He has also said that the armed forces must eventually be unified into one service.

CAN GO TO MOON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The U.S. Air Force says it can get to "a payload to the moon" and launch a manned satellite within 10 years if it fires its first intercontinental missile—if the taxpayers will put up enough money, one of the navy's top rocket experts said today. "We will have the know-how and the material, and the whole space program could be undertaken with a contribution of $2 a year from each taxpayer," said Cmdr. Robert C. Truax, before to address the American Rocket Society.

Jordan Says Egypt Sent Military Attaches to Plot Against Arab Governments

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)—Jordan has accused Egypt of sending military diplomats throughout the Arab world to undermine the established governments of the Middle East.

The government of King Hussein, in a statement Tuesday addressed to "Arab and world opinion," said conspiracies were staged in recent months by Egyptian military attaches in Libya, Sudan, Tunisia, Iraq, the Lebanon and Saudi Arabia.

All these countries asked Egypt to withdraw its attaches, the statement added, "after it was confirmed that they carried out conspiracies, violent acts of sabotage, terrorism and assassinations."

The statement was issued as crisis loomed in the Middle East again with a widening rift between Egypt and Jordan.

The Jordanian government denied Egypt's charge it framed Maj. Fouad Hilal, Egyptian military attache in Amman, in order to get him out of the country.

Hilal arrived at Cairo airport from Amman shortly before Jordanian Ambassador Abdul Munim Rifai took off for home to discuss the latest developments between his country and Egypt.

Jordan first said Rifai was recalled. Egypt said he was expelled.

He also expressed thanks to all who had assisted St. Paul's Sunday school in serving lunches throughout the sessions.

The 1957 secretary was introduced by the vice-president and given an ovation.

Class 14, public speaking on Scripture theme—Miss Judy Frost, Frankford, spoke on "The Life of Jacob." The Rev. W. G. Fletcher made her presentation.

Miss Walter Elliott introduced Mr. Reginald Geen, Oshawa, the adjudicator, for the this seventh annual festival.

Mr. Geen spoke of his boyhood days in Stirling and stressed the value of music in a child's life. He urged the piano teachers in the area to take advantage of the Festival. Here the children learn to play the piano in public and derive profit from their experience. If they are anxious to learn they can pick up many good points at a festival.

Mr. Geen stressed the necessity of more piano classes in the 1958 Festival. He paid tribute to the wealth of talent that had been exhibited at the Festival and noted those who did not win gold awards had splendid voices and with study could be developed further.

The speaker was well received in Stirling and there were no complaints made re his decisions that in itself speaks more marvellously for his musical ability as an adjudicator.

Class 23, piano hymn playing, under 16—Allan Kirk, Belleville played "Lead Kindly Light" and the audience stood and sang one verse of the hymn. Ralph Richardson presented the medal.

At this point Mrs. Burton Morton presented her religious picture to Mr. Lindsay McKeown, superintendent of Mt. Pleasant-Rawdon Sunday school. There were 10 entries with an average of 82.

One of the mothers told this reporter that special tribute should be paid to Mrs. Morton, who is the public school teacher at Allan School, S.S. 3, Rawdon, as she spent a great deal of her leisure time in giving the contestants from her school special assistance with their Bible memory work.

U.S. Editors Give Views on Recent Election

NEW YORK (CP)—The Mirror says one reason for the Liberal party's defeat in Canada Monday is that "enough voters were convinced that long tenure in office had made the Liberals arrogant and arbitrary." It adds:

"Another reason, we hope, is that this election is a repudiation of the anti-Americanism of Lester Pearson, the minister for external affairs. Pearson himself was re-elected, which one would have expected him to be in his district where the Mine, Mill and Smelter Union is so strong. In the United States this is regarded as a pro-Communist union. . . .

"At any rate, there has been a protest vote and we can only hope, as Americans, that it was a vote in our favor."

The News, commenting briefly, says "Time for a change was the slogan on which the Progressive Conservative party ended the Liberals' 22-year rule.

U.S. COMPARISON

"We can only hope," it adds, "your Canadian friends will get more of a change than the U.S. has gotten since its voters ended the Democratic 20-year grip on the White House in 1952."

The Herald Tribune says Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker "represents the liberal wing of the Conservatives and intends to carry on the various welfare programs of the St. Laurent government."

"There is no expectation that Canada's foreign policy will undergo any significant change.

"In any case, the alternation of parties—the change of the line between Canada and the United States cannot disturb the close relationship that has grown up over so many years."

Concerning the effect of the election outcome on the United States, The Times says:

"When St. Laurent government goes, we in the United States will suffer an almost personal loss in the departure of Lester B. Pearson from his post as secretary of state for external affairs."

Never Surprised In Life Says Trade Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Hees, defeated Monday for the first time in his 22 years in federal politics, has returned to Ottawa with the comment: "I was never surprised in my life."

That is what he told Tuesday when a reporter asked whether the outcome of the election was a surprise to him.

Justice Minister Garson, who retained four seats on the Liberal plane as Mr. Howe, had a different reaction, however.

When asked whether he was surprised by the Progressive Conservative victory he replied quickly: "Yes I was."

Both ministers were in apparent good spirits. Neither had anything to say about future plans.

Mr. Howe was defeated in Port Arthur by CCF candidate Douglas Fisher, a school teacher. Mr. Garson lost to Mr. Marquette to Conservative Nicholas Mandziuk.

ASK AID HANDICAPPED

TORONTO (CP) — The United Handicapped Groups of Ontario intend to send a delegation to Ottawa to ask for increased pensions and allowable incomes. The action was approved unanimously here Saturday at the group's annual convention, attended by more than 600 representatives of 50 clubs for the handicapped.

"If With All Your Hearts" and Mrs. Albert Fraser presented the gold award.

This closed the three-hour program which was thoroughly enjoyed by those interested in sacred praise.

The festival closed on a note of great expectation for 1958. Tribute was paid to the founder, the Reverend A. E. Baker, who saw the vision in 1951. The audience was dismissed with prayer.

Conservatives Will Likely Fill 16 Senate Vacancies

OTTAWA (CP) — The 102-seat Senate, whose members are appointed for life at $10,000 a year, probably will become a parliamentary focal point if a Diefenbaker government is formed as a result of Monday's stalemate election.

The Progressive Conservative leader, if he comes to power, undoubtedly will make some changes including filling the present 16 Senate vacancies. But he would still be faced with a solid core of Liberals there who would have to pass on his government's legislation.

Mr. Diefenbaker pledged during his campaign that as prime minister he would reform the upper house so that it would not "blindly follow the government's dictates." He also promised appointment of a representative of Canada's 150,000 native Indians.

If the 61-year old Prince Albert lawyer is called on to form an administration these developments could follow:

1. The almost immediate filling of the present 16 vacancies with Conservative party adherents who now constitute only 12 per cent, with 78 Liberals, one Independent Liberal and two Independents.

2. Appointment of a new Senate Speaker to replace Senator Wishart Robertson, appointee of the late Liberal prime minister Mackenzie King.

Senator Walter Aseltine, 70-year-old Saskatchewan Conservative who has played a prominent role in Senate divorce committee work, is believed a likely choice for the speakership.

Another possibility is Hon. George Drew, who gave up the Conservative leadership last fall because of ill health.

However, observers here believe a higher post may be in store for Mr. Drew. He could become government leader of the Conservative group in the Senate, or the new Canadian high commissioner in London, or even successor to Governor - General Massey. Mr. Massey, first native Canadian governor-general, is due to leave his post early next year.

Mr. Diefenbaker as prime minister also would have the prerogative with respect to numerous other posts, such as those held by the heads of various Crown corporations who are not civil servants but government appointees. A Conservative government could switch some of these if it wished.

British Opinion Against Testing More H-Bombs

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — A section of British opinion feels it would be better for Britain to renounce the hydrogen bomb, even if it means Russian domination

"It would be better to be defeated than to engage in H-bomb warfare," says Dr. W. D. L. Greer Bishop of Manchester. "When the last bomb has exploded, you have lost what you have been fighting for."

The bishop's plea for renunciation is carried a stage further by Sir Stephen King-Hall, British writer and former member of Parliament, who suggests an inquiry into the possibility of "non-violent resistance" replacing the nuclear deterrent.

"If the inquiry should produce evidence that non-violent resistance is the most practical defence of defending our life," writes Sir Stephen, "then morality and expediency would be on the same platform."

The two proposals are among the main strands of current British opinion, as reflected in newspapers and magazines. Generally, it is accepted that the nation supports the government's decision to become a nuclear power, but it is apparent that a minority of some proportion is gravely worried.

The Manchester Guardian, commenting on the call to renounce the H-bomb, says it might be better to renounce tactical atomic weapons. There is only about one chance in 10, it says, that the gesture of giving up the bomb would lead, as Dr. Greer hopes, to ultimate disarmament through mutual trust. The higher probability would be an extension of Russian hegemony to all western Europe and the British Isles.

The Independent Liberal newspaper is more favorable toward the alternative of non-violent resistance, saying that an inquiry seems at least a "cheap precaution."

$67,000 Lost By Candidates In Election

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Canadian government will collect probably more than $67,000 in deposits lost by candidates in Monday's election.

Compilations by The Canadian Press showed that possibly 334 candidates of the 852 whose names were on the ballots for the voting will lose the $200 deposits each was required to post when nominated. Another five who withdrew after officially entering the race also forfeit their deposits.

This compares with the all-time high of $92,400 in the 1945 election, when 462 in the record field of 952 forfeited their deposits by polling less than half the vote of the elected member in their constituencies. In 1953, 405 of 997 candidates lost their deposits.

Heaviest losses appeared to be in Ontario, with 106, and Quebec, with 82.

Of the 162 CCF candidates, 109 lost their deposits. Social Credit losers numbered 78 of 114 candidates, Progressive Conservative, 56 of 256 and Liberal 41 of 262.

BATTERED

Mr. St. Laurent, were defeated at the polls.

TALKED BY PHONE

Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Diefenbaker, relaxing at his Prince Albert, Sask., home after his arduous campaign, conversed by telephone Tuesday for five minutes. The subject of their conversation is not disclosed.

The two will meet here Friday and it is after this meeting that Mr. Diefenbaker is expected to be asked to form a government.

There appears little choice but for the Liberals to resign.

It would be possible for Mr. St. Laurent to continue to govern until Parliament was assembled. But he could not win a confidence vote in the Commons without support from the 25 CCF members. It seems highly unlikely that the CCF would afford such support.

Thus the probable course would appear to be formation of an administration by Mr. Diefenbaker, a breathing spell to permit his cabinet to become acclimatized to office and then the early summoning of Parliament to hear the conservatives' proposals on legislation.

PRECARIOUS LIFE

From then on, Mr. Diefenbaker's government would be tumbled away by the combined opposition. If that happened, he could ask dissolution of the Commons and a new election.

However, the CCF nor Social Credit party, which elected 19 members, has given any indication of long-term support for either the Conservatives or Liberals.

CCF Leader Coldwell and Solon Low, Social Credit leader, have said in effect their support would depend on the government's legislative program.

Mr. Coldwell has mentioned specifically national health insurance, higher old age pensions and aid for agriculture.

Whatever be the immediate outcome of the present impasse, it appears likely that the 21.d Parliament has weeks of uncertainty lying before it.

Tweed

TWEED — Reeve T. C. Graham was among the some 300 municipal and government representatives, mining and brokerage officials, who were invited to attend the official opening of Faraday Uranium Mines at Bancroft last week (Thursday) by Premier Leslie Frost. It is a $15 million dollar property and almost 400 men are employed there at present.

Thirty-eight Rebekah members from Tweed Lodge visited Oakdale Lodge, at Madoc on June 4th. The third degree was conferred on three candidates of the Madoc Lodge. The degree captain, Mrs. Hilda Sexsmith, was the recipient of a lovely gift during the evening, and refreshments were served at the conclusion.

Miss Margaret Atton is to be congratulated on her presentation of the Ackerman Scholarship (value $50.) for general proficiency in Grade 10, at the Centennial Convention at Albert College, on Monday of last week. Premier Leslie Frost was the guest speaker at the graduation exercises, and was accompanied by Mrs. Frost. Mrs. Atton was in attendance and assisted in serving at the Alexander Hall at a reception following the convocation. Margaret's is a popular Tweed student.

Miss Colleen Bergeron, and Miss Betty Allore, have joined the staff of the Tweed Bell Telephone office. Mrs. Cutler and Miss Monds have resigned, the latter will be employed at the Tweed office of the Bellvue Finance Corporation very shortly.

Merchants are to make their own individual choice as to the remaining open or closing day Monday each week. The local council turned down a request from a delegation of merchants at the last council meeting to pass a by-law to make it compulsory for local stores to close on Monday, (all day), and remain open all day Wednesday. Considerable time was taken up with the discussion and the council meeting lasted until almost midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Letch spent an enjoyable week's holidays with Mrs. Letch's niece, Mrs. Denzil Cox and Mr. Cox in Minden, Ontario, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mitchell and Miss E. Wallace were in Toronto recently where Mr. Mitchell visited with his brother, who is at present in the hospital.

Rollins, Colbourne St., and has just returned from a visit with her daughter in London, Ont., was pleasantly surprised on Friday evening when 12 of her friends and one daughter, (Mrs. John Blakley), planned a birthday party for her at the home of Mrs. Rollins. The table was set in the lovely manner which is suitable for such an occasion, delicious refreshments of various delicate foods were enjoyed, topped off by birthday cake and ice cream.

Contests were on the program list and the winners of the prizes for the guests were Mrs. Charles Jeffery and Mrs. S. B. McGee. Mrs. Charles Jeffery was on hand also with one of her readings and witty readings, which was enjoyed by all the ladies.

Mrs. McInroy was the recipient of lovely gift from her immediate family and a combined gift from the friends who were present. It was unfortunate that the other children of the family could not be present, but their thoughts would be with their mother on this gala occasion.

Mrs. McInroy expressed her thanks to her friends for their thoughtfulness and gifts and this concluded a memorable evening at the Rollins' home.

The sympathy of the town and community is extended to the family of Mrs. Alice Bennett, of Arthur Street, who passed away in the hospital on Saturday, June 8th. She was buried Monday morning from St. Carlbach's Roman Catholic Church, here.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Robert of North Victoria Street, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary quietly at their home. They were the recipients of good wishes and hope for health and happiness through many more years, by their wide circle of friends, relatives and neighbors.

The appreciation weekly draw winner on Saturday in Tweed was Ronie Lee O'Connell with a 50 per cent ticket on a "kitty" of $332, so he was $166 richer by the amount of $83.

The roof is being put on the new Tweed consolidated school building and if there are no unforeseen set-backs the school will be ready for the fall term at the first week of September. It will consist of eight rooms, one of which will be used for an assembly room for the time being. Should the new wing be later for an extra classroom it has been finished in such a way that it can be converted into one at any time. The construction is of two-tone brick, natural red brick and beige color which is appearance will be most attractive.

Refreshments concluded a wonderful evening that will not soon be forgotten by the group.

Last Wednesday the Bank of Montreal honored Mr. and Mrs. J. McDonald, who are leaving for Wales, Ontario, this month. Dinner was served at the Stoco Hotel, and a presentation was made to the couple. They were feted at a social gathering prior to this at the Legion Hall and a presentation was also made at that time.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Future Stars

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Major League Scout and Instructor

A strong arm helps an outfielder, but he must know when to throw at the cut-off man (the shortstop or infielder) who lines from right and center field to third base, the third-baseman on throws from left field to home plate and the first-baseman on throws from center and right field to the catcher).

In most situations the throw should be aimed at the cut-off mag's head. The catcher, if the throw is to home plate, or the third-baseman, if the throw is to third, will shout, "Cut it off! Cut it off!", or "Let it go! Let it go!"

When told to cut off the throw, the cut-off man catches the ball and attempts to throw out the batter or at least to keep him from advancing another base. Otherwise he gets out of the way of the throw, which should bounce once between the shortstop and third base or between the cut-off man and home plate.

Outfielders who possess strong arms, like Carl Furillo, Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle, should keep in mind the game situation at all times. If the tieing or winning run has a chance to score they should ignore the cut-off man and throw all the way to home plate.

The ball travels fastest when thrown only high enough to reach its target without bounding. To get the most mileage out of your arm be sure to throw overhand with the ball spinning backward and off the fingertips as it leaves your hand. Put plenty of elbow and wrist snap in your throw and follow through with your whole body.

Marlene Wins District Title By Nine Strokes

HAMILTON (CP) — Marlene Stewart Streit of Dundalk sailed over the Dundas Valley golf course here Tuesday to win the Hamilton and District Ladies' Amateur title with a nine-stroke edge.

The 1956 Canadian and United States Amateur champ finished in 77, four over par. Tied for second place were Marlene's Lookout Point clubmate, Ann Sharpe, and Sheila Collins of Dundas, with 86. Five in Carroll of Hamilton and two Brantford players, Mrs. H. Elliott and Miss Kay Bishop, were deadlocked at 87.

Mrs. M. McCarley of Kitchener Rockway won the low net prize, with an 88 gross and 21 handicap for 67.

Others included Mrs. K. Vanstone, Brantford, 91; Mrs. G. Day and Mrs. C. Hendry, both St. Catharines, 93; Mrs. N. Notman, St. Catharines, 95; Mrs. E. Ott, Brantford, 96; Mrs. M. Harvey, Brantford, and Mrs. C. Mooradian, St. Catharines, 97. Mrs. S. G. Dalrymple, St. Catharines, 98, and Mrs. W. B. Elliott, St. Catharines, 99.

Richards Sends Bonus Kids to Farm Teams

BALTIMORE (AP) — Manager Paul Richards signalled an end Tuesday to the time being at least, of his mass effort to build a winning baseball team for Baltimore Orioles with bonus kids.

He sent third baseman Wayne Causey to San Antonio and announced his outfielders Jim Pyburn and Bob Nelson would follow him to the minors when their two year required stay with the Orioles expires.

Departure of the three will leave Orioles with only one—and their cheapest—bonus prospect, southpaw pitcher Billy O'Dell. He was signed for $12,000 the year before Richards became manager.

Basilio Wants Robinson Fight But Under Norris

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Handlers of welterweight champion Carmen Basilio served notice Tuesday night that their boxer will fight Sugar Ray Robinson only if James D. Norris owns the promotion.

Co-managers Joe Netro and Johnny De John said that they'd like a match with Robinson because it would bring a good gate but that it had to be under the banner of the International Boxing Club.

Netro said that Basilio had plenty of good offers to fight in his own class. If Basilio fights Robinson, he said, he'd have to give away 10 pounds.

Basilio's managers said they had signed with Norris to stage the fight in Yankee Stadium in September. Monday, Samuel Rose, a Philadelphia councilman, said he had offered Robinson $200,000 for a middleweight title defence against Basilio in Philadelphia in September, with a $250,000 guarantee to Basilio.

"We signed with Norris last week to box Robinson," Netro said. "We want to beat Ray Robinson very much. The fight would draw a big crowd. But Norris has promoted all of our fights and we are going to fulfill our contract."

SOARERS TO COMPETE

BRANTFORD (CP)—The Southern Ontario Soaring Association announced Tuesday that the Canadian national soaring championships competition would begin at the Brantford Aero Club on July 21.

There will be no restrictions on type of glider to be used. The meet will attract visitors and competitors from the United States and across Canada.

Contest flying will take place during the week July 21-27 and August 4-10 only. For visitors and club members, the middle week has been set aside for non-competitive flying.

Vanity Riddell from Guelph, driven by Bill Habkirk was second.

In a $700 mile D pace Jack Gordon brought Thor Gratton from Cobourg across in front in 2:10 3-5.

Little Benny's Notebook

Today in school Miss Kitty told us a little poem she made up when she woke up and looked out the window, being:

The herds come home in Spring
Spreeding each little wing.
When the erth terns green
That's when is seen
The herth coming home in Spring.

Sounding like a good time to make some noise in school, so we all clapped, and Miss Kitty said, Thank you, that's enough. Of course it's not grate poetry, but it shows a certain power of discretion. Discription means observation put into words and is a very important part of writing. For instance if you discribe something without stating exactly what you are discribing, everybody will know what it is just the same if you discribe it well enough. Now who would like to discribe something and let us guess what it is? Well, Benny! she said.

Meening me waving, and I said, It is tall and dark and misterious, and it has leaves that flutter in the wind.

That's very nice, and I'm sure everybody knows what it is, Miss Kitty said, and everybody yelled, A tree.

Of course, a tree, Miss Kitty said, and I said, No mam, a haunted house.

But goodness, what are the leaves fluttering in the wind? Miss Kitty said, and I said, The loose shutters.

The result being Miss Kitty quick changed the subject to the geografy lesson.

Braves Will Not Include Buhl in Schoendienst Deal

BROOKLYN (AP) — The pennant-starved Milwaukee Braves, striving desperately to plug a weakness at second base, admitted today they had reached an impasse in their efforts to wrest Red Schoendienst from New York Giants.

A club official disclosed that a Braves' proposal of four players for Schoendienst had been rejected by Giants and added that a New York counter proposal was, in turn, vetoed by Milwaukee.

"The four players we offered were pitchers Gene Conley and Joey Jay, infielder Danny O'Connell and outfielder Wes Covington," the official said. "I think that was a pretty good offer for just one guy. Darn good, in fact. But they said 'no.' They said they'd be willing to let us have Schoendienst if we threw in Bob Buhl instead of Conley.

"As much as we'd like to have Red, we just can't see giving up a top flight pitcher like Buhl for a 34-year-old guy. Pitching is our chief asset but it would no longer be if we gave up Buhl."

Manager Fred Haney, while declining to confirm or deny that Buhl represented the stalemate in the trade negotiations, viewed little hope of a deal between the two clubs. The trade deadline is only three days away, on midnight of June 15.

Score to Start Working Out Around July 15

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pitcher Herb Score "should be able to resume his baseball workouts July 15," says the specialist who has been treating the star southpaw's injured right eye.

That means it probably will be August before Score will be in condition to return to the baseball wars from which he was shelled the night of May 7 by a line drive off the head of New York Yankee Gil McDougald.

Dr. Charles L. Thomas, examined Score's injured eye Tuesday afternoon for the first time in two weeks. He found in his testing that "Herb's condition is greatly improved, and his eye has responded well to the medication prescribed for him."

Score will continue on the medication in gradually reduced amounts for another four weeks, said Dr. Thomas, "during which period he should gradually regain his strength through limited activity."

CHANGE SWIM DATE

BARRIE (CP)—The date for a proposed marathon swim across Lake Simcoe was changed Tuesday to Aug. 17 from July 2.

Thirty representatives of communities along the proposed route of the event agreed to move the date back to allow more times for publicity.

A fact-finding committee was appointed to study ways of ensuring proper handling of the event.

The swim is to start at Beaverton on the eastern shore of Lake Simcoe and end at Barrie.

Willie Pastrano Loses Decision To Roy Harris

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Roy Harris, the backwoods heller, moved through his own blood to an upset decision over high ranking Willie Pastrano Tuesday night and planted himself right on the doorsteps of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Accomplishing in two years what many fighters have tried for a lifetime and failed, Harris, the school teacher from little Cut-and-Shoot, Tex., whipped Pastrano, the fast-moving No. 3 rated man from New Orleans, before a Texas record crowd of 10,000 that paid $46,962.50. It was Harris' 21st victory in 21 fights as a professional.

The referee and the judges saw it all Harris and so did the crowd. Referee Jimmy Webb said it was 97-96 for Harris, judge Bill Cornelius made it 98-95 and judge Ernie Taylor voted 98-95 also.

It was the first defeat for Pastrano since 1953 and his first as a heavyweight.

Harris successfully evaded Pastrano's famed lightning left and was holding a slight lead in the sixth when he ran into trouble. One of Pastrano's hooks opened an old cut over his left eye and a butt in one of their frequent clashes brought a gash above Harris' hairline. Both wounds bled freely in the seventh but Roy's seconds patched him up effectively after that. The remainder of the fight belonged to Harris as Pastrano tired.

The 190-pound, six - footer was ranked ninth by Ring Magazine and 10th by the National Boxing Association prior to Tuesday's fight when he went against Pastrano as a 1-3 underdog.

Players Fined By President

CHICAGO (AP)—Pitcher Tom Sturdivant of New York Yankees and first baseman Ray Boone of Detroit Tigers were fined $100 each Tuesday by American League President Will Harridge for engaging in a scuffle in Sunday's game between Yankees and Tigers in Detroit.

The fight took place in the third inning after Sturdivant had sent Boone sprawling in the dirt with a fast inside pitch that hit Boone's bat and glanced off his shoulder.

Boone charged out to the mound where he was met by Sturdivant. Both players started swinging but, bystanders said, the only punch landed was by Sturdivant.

National League Race Getting More 'Chummy' With Each Game

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

It wasn't so long ago that this department sat in the well-appointed cottage of Larry Eggett over Rossmore way. Larry is a great friend of practically the whole roster of the Detroit Red Wings and has entertained all of them at one time or another here, in Detroit or in his fine home in Florida.

Munching fried half-chickens in the posh dining room of the cottage were Ted Lindsay, Gordie Howe, Marty Pavelich and another Wing, whose name slips our mind for the moment.

Gordie, Marty and Ted appeared to us to be closer than your next breath, with Gordie and Ted doing the eating —and Marty making with the lamalls. Brother, next to Long Jawn Adams this Pavelich is a blade-footed Billy Graham.

There was a familiar exchange of knowing smiles between Gordie and Ted as M'sieu Pavelich gave out with the chatter.

In case you're wondering why this piece there came up a bit of information since Lindsay and some more of the Detroit stalwarts may be wafted about by the trade winds, we remember Lindsay saying distinctly that since he and Gordie and other people were interested in a lettuce-building business in Detroit, he would think twice before being traded.

"In fact," Ted remarked at the time, "I think I might quit rather than leave the Wings." That was a couple of years ago and Terrible Ted is now almost over the age hump, notwithstanding the fact that he's been a bit more rough and rugged hockey left in these battle-scared muscles and hockey-worn bones.

This remark sticks in our mind since late news despatches state Terry Sawchuk has been brought back into the Detroit fold feeling "fine and relaxed" and there is more than passing talk of a big deal between the Wings and the Bruins.

Lynn Patrick, a shrewd trade operator, and one of the best in the National League tossed Sawchuk adrift, as will be recalled after he was stricken with some blood disease and left the club for the family hearth. The story of sensational Don Simmons is new history—and it looks like Patrick is not too fussy about sending him down the line and retaining the services of the Hon. Terry.

However, Long Jawn, see of the best guys extant in this corner's opinion, who knows hockey ivory on the heel and a good player when he sees one, has dickered for his favorite goalie, and Terry is now back in the Red Wings fold. There are some who believe Adams picked up Sawchuk for trade-bait. Honestly we believe Adams still thinks Terry is the best goalie in the National League and is willing to part with some of his veterans with household names in order to keep Terry in his own home town— and club.

It is evident the Bruins and Messrs. Patrick want no part of Terry since he quit the Beantowners last year. But they realize his financial and trade value and are not passing up the chance to capitalize on them. Besides his popularity with the Boston players has waned considerably since the unfortunate "quitting" incident.

We do not know what Long Jawn has on his mind, but he is known to be a ruthless trader, who does not hesitate to swap his veteran stars in a deal which would do the Wings some good anywhere down the line.

Seems the trade winds are wafting virus all over the National Hockey League pot. Patrick, apparently has used Sawchuk for the well-known deal—bait but who and what he is going to get in return is still a matter for conjecture. Players' names are flitting about the circuit and the latest rumor is Patrick asked for Alex Delvicchio but Jawn Adams merely yawned and intimated "no soap."

Another rumor has it that Patrick would like to take either Bebel or Buryk plus a Red Wing youngster. But this was killed by the fact that Buryk goes to Boston in a deal which involves a lot of maxuma.

But there are no other players involved.

Last week the New York Rangers acquired Hank Ciesla in a straight deal with the Chicago Black Hawks and it is known the Gotham Blues would like to do some more dickering. Harry Howell, last season's Ranger skipper, is said to be on the block.

So in all this maze of dicker it looms up like Glen Hall, star Red Wing goalie and Ted Lindsay might wind up with the Chicago Black Hawks. But as was mentioned before Terrible Ted might not see eye to eye with the "cock block-busters." He has a neat business partnership in Detroit—and is not getting any younger. A year at Lindsay's age takes its rightful toll. And when Ted said he might quit before playing with some other club, the look in the guy's eyes and the out of his 5'9 impressed this corner with the fact that M'sieu Lindsay was not wisecracking.

It should be interesting to see what will happen if Long Jawn and his well-known trading antics should offer Lindsay and Hall on the public mart.

One thing is for sure, Gordie Howe won't like it, nor will a host of Detroit fans, friend Larry Eggett included. Nor will "Red" Kelly and a few other guys who brought many a National Hockey League championship, not to mention a few Stanley Cups to Adamsville across the river from the home of the Bulldogs.

Redlegs' Lead Is Trimmed To Half-Game by Pirates; Yankees Gain on White Sox

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Birdie Tebbetts thinks Cincinnati Redlegs are as fine a first-class prophet in that chummy National League race, but he'd feel a lot better if his Cincinnati Redlegs made a liar real quick.

"This," said Birdie frequently of late, "is going to be some race. Any of maybe five teams could take it. And just about anybody can beat you."

And now Pittsburgh Pirates, more of a "nobody" than most anybody, have whipped Redlegs two in a row—after losing 15 in a row to Cincinnati — and have trimmed their first place edge to a half game.

The five-hit pitching of Bob Purkey, who never had beaten Redlegs in his life, helped bring an 8-1 victory for the seventh-place Pirates Tuesday night and left Cincinnati just four percentage points ahead of Milwaukee. Braves jumped into second with a 7-3 job on Brooklyn Dodgers, who slipped to fourth, 1½ games behind, with their fourth defeat in a row.

SEVEN STRAIGHT

Fifth-place St. Louis, only two games shy, won their seventh in a row with a 5-3 decision over third-place Philadelphia Phillies who rebounded a game behind Cincinnati. New York ended a four-game losing streak as they beat Chicago 5-1.

Redlegs, who rode into the lead with an 11-game sweep on their last eastern swing and eventually built up a 6-game streak on the road, now stand only 3-9 on their current trip through the east and have lost 11 of their last 15 road games.

Lefthander Don Gross, who built an 8-0 streak going back to 1956 with his fourth victory this season hasn't won since, dropping his third as Pirates took off on a 13-hit spree. Dick Stuart, who went for extra bases and Gene Baker and Bill Mazeroski each had three safeties. Redlegs pulled the league's first triple play of the year, but did little else. Their run was unearned. Purkey, 5-4, walked none.

EIGHTH GRAND-SLAMMER

Bobby Thomson, whose home run beat Dodgers in the 1951 pennant playoff, walloped his eighth career grand-slammer as Braves broke a 1-1 tie with a five-run fifth for Ray Crone's third victory. Joe Adcock also homered for Braves who tagged 11 hits while handing Roger Craig a third defeat. Gino Cimoli and Roy Campanella homered for Dodgers. It was No. 277 of Campy's career, a league record for catchers. Gabby Hartnett held the mark in 20 seasons with Cubs and Giants.

Veteran Murry Dickson singled home the clincher in a three-run sixth that bagged it for Cards, gaining his third consecutive victory and complete game with a seven-hitter. Curt Simmons lost it. Al Dark banged a double and two three singles, and Hal Smith homered and tripled for the Redbirds, who hadn't won seven in a row since 1952.

Stan Musial was one-for-five to the St. Louis attack while tying Gus Suhr's league record of playing in 822 consecutive games for Pirates from 1931 to 1937. Musial last missed on the final day of 1951.

Ruben Gomez gained his eighth complete game and became the winningest pitcher in the league with a six-hit, six-strikeout job on the Cubs for an 8-3 record. Three runs in the first, two on Willie Mays' triple against Don Kaiser, did it for the Giants.

COLEMAN TO BISONS

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo Bisons of the International League Tuesday took pitcher Walter (Rip) Coleman on option from Kansas City Athletics of the American League. Coleman compiled a 3-5 record last season with New York Yankees.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Yankees manager Casey Stengel, bemoaning the fate of his pitching claims he still has faith they'll come around to "world series form" and then there's "Bobby Shantz, too."

The inimitable Stengel tacked New York's recent troubles to the unexpected falling of a "strong pitching staff." But he was all aglow after his Yankees had whipped Chicago White Sox 8-3 Tuesday night in the first game of a three-game series. The win, the seventh for Bombers against one defeat, left Yankees four games back of the league-leading White Sox.

In other American League games, Cleveland regained third place with a four home-run 7-5 victory over Boston Red Sox and Baltimore pushed Detroit back into fourth spot beating Tigers 6-1. Bain postponed Washington at Kansas City.

LARGEST THIS SEASON

The crowd of 48,613 was largest in the majors this season—were on hand at Chicago as Sox lost their third in a row.

Mickey Mantle's 16th home run set off a two-run first inning and Mantle also doubled and scored the clincher on Bill Skowron's two-run single in the fifth.

Jim Wilson lost his third with Giants making it five straight although he needed relief help from Bob Grim in the eighth.

Tennessee Ernie Ford in the contest in arguments over decisions that went against Yankees.

Catcher Yogi Berra was in left field for Yankees, in his first starting appearance since his nose was broken at Cleveland Wednesday. Elston Howard went for power in his lineup. Yogi singled in five trips, scoring the other first inning run as Hoyt Wilhelm singled.

WINS IN RELIEF

Roger Maris, Bobby Avila, Chico Carrasquel and Jim Hegan hit homers for six of Indians' runs with Carrasquel and Hegan hitting theirs in a three-run eighth that won for reliever Ed McLish.

Ted Williams hit his 14th homer for Boston to give Red Sox a 3-0 lead in the first.

Orioles, who have won three in a row, beat Tigers with three in the seventh on Jim Pyburn's first 1957 home run. Connie Johnson went all the way for his first victory and pitched shutout ball after giving up a homer to Charlie Maxwell in the first inning.

Billy Hoeft lost it as he failed to go the route for the eighth time in nine starts.

SEEKS STADIUM

HAMILTON (CP) — Ald. Mac Cline told city council Tuesday night he will ask at the next meeting for a committee of six council members and six citizens to study the need for a new municipal stadium.

A stadium seating 20,000 has been suggested but officials of Hamilton Tigers in the Big Four Football League say this would be too small.

Columbus Jets Take Dead Aim On Fourth Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbus Jets are on one of their hot streaks again. They've taken dead aim on Rochester and the fourth place position in the International League.

Jets made it two straight over Red Wings Tuesday night, 8-3, behind the eight - hit pitching of Charles (Whammy) Douglas. It was Columbus' ninth victory in their last 11 starts and they are now tied with Havana Sugar Kings for fifth place a half game behind Red Wings.

Jets were able to tie Havana when the Cubans dropped a 9-6 decision to Montreal Royals in the second of seven Montreal games being played at Quebec.

Toronto Maple Leafs worked two Miami pitchers for 10 walks to edge Marlins 6-5. The game between Richmond Virginians and Buffalo Bisons was postponed by rain.

Douglas, who singled twice, scored once and drove in a run, evened his record for Columbus at 5-5. It was also his third straight complete game victory over Red Wings. Hal Henley's two-run homer and Dan Kravitz' two doubles featured an 11-hit Columbus attack.

TWO-HITTER BY VALDES

Montreal righthander Rene Valdes set Sugar Kings down with two hits as he coasted to his first victory against two defeats. He gave up singles in the second and fourth innings and walked only two. Royals scored in the second when John Roseboro walked and came all the way home on Jim Williams' double. Bobby Wilson's double in the sixth scored Bobby Del Greco with the insurance run. Four consecutive walks by Miami starter Gene Snyder and reliefer Angelo LiPetri forced in what proved to be the winning Toronto run in the fifth inning. Snyder, who held Leafs' batters in check with only four hits in the four innings he pitched, issued eight walks. Toronto scored four quick runs in the first inning, on Sam Jethroe's double, three walks two wild pitches and two singles. Nightshade' Eddie Blake, getting his first starting assignment for Toronto, got credit for his first victory, although needing help from Bobby Tiefenauer in the seventh.

Gordon Wallace Will Step Down To Lower Weight

BRANTFORD (CP) — Gordon Wallace's manager says the British Empire light - heavyweight champion will likely step down to the middleweight class soon.

But the 28 year-old Brantford boxer intends to defend his Empire title at least once, manager Frank Bricker said Tuesday. Wallace won the Empire crown in June, 1956, but has since lost twice by early knockouts in non-title bouts.

Wallace, who weighs just over the middleweight limit of 160 pounds, is "far from finished," Bricker said.

"You just don't go in with guys whom you are spotting 10 pounds and beat them."

Switch to Shell Premium with TCP* and restore lost power while you drive!

How can a gasoline bring back power your engine has lost? Only by overcoming the cause! You see, most engines lose power as a result of carbon deposits which form as spark plugs and in combustion chambers. In fact, engineers agree that these deposits are the major cause of power loss in modern high compression engines. (Even a new engine can lose power within 2,000 miles.) But TCP in Shell Premium Gasoline neutralizes these deposits while you drive—brings back the power your engine has lost.

Stan 'the Man' Musial Ties National League Mark for Consecutive Games Played

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The never modest Stan Musial called it "luck" Tuesday night when he tied the National League mark for consecutive games played, but a look at the record stamps him as the second most durable player in the history of the game.

Only the late Lou Gehrig ranks the slim built Musial for durability. Gehrig played in 2,130 consecutive games for New York Yankees to earn the title of "iron man" of baseball. Musial has been in the midst of St. Louis Cardinals in 2,128 of the club's 2,229 games since he joined the team some 14 years ago.

"You have to be lucky to do something like this," said Musial after he played in his 822nd consecutive game to tie the record set by former Pittsburgh first baseman Gus Suhr from Sept. 11, 1931 to June 4, 1937.

"I've been fortunate not to have any serious injuries that would sideline me. I go out there and play every game and the fact they have all come in succession as they have is secondary to me."

Thinking back to all the records played in the string, Musial said the closest he came to being out of the lineup was in August, 1953. He was hit on the left wrist by Brooklyn's Johnny Podres.

Stan told then manager Harry Walker he could play when the club arrived in Pittsburgh the next day, but the Cardinals' skipper, worried that his star might aggravate the injury, was very cautious.

Walker asked the umpires if Musial was named in the starting lineup would that make him an official part of the box score. Told it would, Walker listed Musial, but inserted a pinchhitter for him when he came to bat in the first inning. Never one to criticize the decision of a manager, Musial said nothing, but he felt that the well intentioned Walker was a little overzealous in this case.

Such manoeuvering is nothing new. The Yankees several times allowed Gehrig to hit first in the batting order to preserve his string before removing him early.

The last time Musial missed a game because he was unfit to play was in early May, 1951, when the team was stricken with a flu epidemic. He was out for one game.

Statistically, Musial now is tied for fifth among the 13 players who participated in 50 or more consecutive games. Tonight he should break the deadlock with Suhr and move into fourth behind Washington's Eddie Yost who played in 829 straight games. The top three are Gehrig, Everett Scott (1,307) and Joe Sewell (1,103).

Jimmy Simpson Not Satisfied With Decision

HAMILTON (CP) — Jimmy Simpson has protested the decision of the Big Four Football Union not to include him as an official next season.

His name was omitted from a list of officials recommended for the season presented to the organization's semi-annual meeting Saturday by referee-in-chief Cec McFaddin.

"I was fired the day Cec McFaddin—an ex-Argonaut executive—was hired as referee-in-chief," Simpson said Monday. "But he wouldn't come out and tell me. I had to read it in the Monday papers.

"It's time football gave its officials some protection—and I don't mean by putting a long-time club executive, with all that that denotes, in over them.

"Let them pick someone neutral. Then perhaps the fellows who are still in there working will be able to do their job without being on the catching end after every game."

Woman Wants To Manage Hubby's Boxer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A scheduled fight here next Tuesday between middleweights Will Greaves a native of Edmonton, and Reyton Stubbs of Pittsburgh was cancelled Tuesday because of the recent death of Jake Mintz, Greaves' manager.

Mintz' wife, Julia, said she hopes to sign Greaves to a contract and believes she is qualified to act as a boxing manager by reason of experience gained aiding her husband.

Paul Sullivan, a member of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, says he does not believe there are any rules against women fight managers in Pennsylvania but that the commission will have a definite answer after a meeting next week.

Virgil Akins Made Favorite

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Both fighters are talking in terms of victory, but the oddsmakers have Virgil Akins an 8-5 favorite to turn back Walter Byars by a 10-round nationally televised battle of ranking welterweights at the Norfolk Arena tonight.

Akins, the St. Louis battler ranked No. 5 by the National Boxing Association, will be after his sixth straight triumph.

Byars, defeated by Tony DeMarco on his last start, will be out to begin a new string. He is No. 7 welterweight challenger.

Byars has won 15 of his 20 professional fights, including decisions over Kid Gavilan and Sugar Hart.

GATESHEAD, Eng. (Reuters)—Hughie Galacher, 54, once one of Scotland's greatest soccer stars, died under the wheels of a train Tuesday, 24 hours before he was due to face charges of mistreating his 14-year-old son.

Wee Hughie—he was only five-foot-five—was a headline personality in Scotland in the late 1920s and early 30s as a top star in the nation's favorite sport. Past the age for soccer, he had recently worked in a chemical factory.

The charges against him—accused him of ill-treating and neglecting his son, Matthew.

'See It Now' Concludes Season With Automation

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — See It Now (CBS-TV) concluded its television season with one of its best programs: "Automation, weal or woe?"

Automation, the evolutionary industrial process of one machine thinking for others, may at first glance strike some workers as a woe. But for clear, factual reporting of a vital contemporary development, the Sunday program produced by Edward R. Murrow and Fred W. Friendly proved to be a weal to television viewers.

See It Now at its best weighs always excellent form in exploring this complex subject. It dealt, as it usually does, on two levels: (1) lucid, interesting reporting of the mechanical end of its subject, and (2) the synthesis of facts and theories projected into conclusions.

ABSORBING ACCOUNTS

On the straight reportorial level the program gave absorbing accounts of how automation is working in a host of industries; airplane and automotive plants, in an air warning system on the northeastern approaches to the continent, in a bakery, in steel mills, in the dial telephone.

Some of its potentials also were examined, in fields as diverse as how the method can detect cancer of the cervex and how it can prepare and cook meals for the housewife.

The program's creators ably resisted the impulse to be enamored of mere gadgetry. Thus the wise, strong face and words of a steel worker over the off - the - cuff remarks at a union meeting.

In its conclusions the program emphasizes economic and social implications of automation.

None of the experts on automation visualize its resulting in unemployment in the long run. They see it as evolution rather than revolution. It is not something thought up only yesterday, the program emphasized, but is a continuing process of growth and change.

In the generally barren summer television season, it would be pleasant if CBS would repeat a couple of this year's See it Now programs.

Athletics Win Over Tuscarora Indians 13-9

Don Sauer and Ron Roy led Athletics with three goals each. Gary Moore and Doug Smith had two each, Al Frick, Jack Gallaway and Dave Hall singles.

Jim McMahon, a former St. Catharines player, scored three for Lewiston. Wally Ridgewell scored two, Brown Porter, Hook Martin, Les Howard and Ron Labatt had one each.

Real Stars Do Absolute Minimum on the Screen

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why do the flashy young film actors come to and go while the Cary Grants go on forever?

Cary Grant himself offered some help on this question when in movies. He has those qualities more than any other star, and I waited to know what he thought of the new "dirty shirt" school of acting.

"It's the same thing I did when I was a young actor," Grant replied. "I did it and got it out of my system. These young fellows will do the same — if they're smart.

"That has happened to Marlon Brando already. He went through the itching and scratching stage in A Streetcar Named Desire but then he came to Guys and Dolls and he realized that he couldn't get by with scratching and slouching. He had to hold an audience by remaining still. He found out he could do it, and this was a great realization to him.

"Those in the Actors Studio school of acting will have to learn the same thing. They may get by on their so-called natural style of acting for three or four years, but then they'll have to change. Otherwise the public will tire of them.

"Actually, it isn't natural acting at all, it's a result of an inferiority complex. The actor wants to be his real self, so he rubs his nose and scratches his backside—anything to distract the audience from seeing him as he is.

"The real stars in films—the ones who last a long time—are the ones who do an absolute minimum on the screen. They don't scratch and rub to prevent you from seeing what they are; they expose their real selves. Their own personalities are strong enough to command attention, even though they do nothing on the screen."

Just what is this "real personality" that can hypnotize millions?

That, he admitted, is not so easy to define. But he hinted that it is more pseudo than real—a carefully manufactured product of acting skill.

IDEA OVERSOLD

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The Bell Telephone Company, which cautioned subscribers not to use a new edition of the directory before June 1, found it had oversold the idea when callers continued to use the old books several days after the deadline. Extra switchboard operators were required to handle the more than 12,000 wrong numbers a day.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thurs., June 13, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)— Haste can be a delaying tactic; taking sufficient time to review, gain necessary facts and analyze procedures can speed up progress appreciably. Don't take on more than reasonable, but do keep busy.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Children's affairs, oldsters' needs and your personal and domestic interests rate more attention now. Give your best — for the sake of future happiness.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — You born a few days before and after the change of Signs: be vigilant; avoid the little pitfalls, hidden obstacles that could be detected with more scrutiny. All of you! Don't jump to conclusions; reason.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — This is no time for being moody or changeable. Stay with familiar matters, well-understood procedures. But don't turn down new ideas, suggestions; just weigh well, test, sift.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Be faithful to your rightful duties and obligations. Don't turn down the new, however; just fit it properly into your present setup.

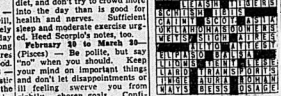
August 24 to September 22 — (Virgo) — Where there is a will, there is a way, and you surely know the meaning of this. Today you are asked to use your strong will to curtail personal desires, for the sake of the general good.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Don't let the artistic side of your nature overrule the practical; one should complement the other. Neither be disgruntled at slow returns. Keep working the harder for stronger, better results.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Without too much push or strain, get after your duties and the things that will benefit your way of life. Waste no time on idlers.

November 23 to December 21— (Sagittarius) — Take every known precaution now to prevent errors, forestall intruders into your personal affairs. Then, with faith, go forward.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — You have much better planetary influences than others today, so if they seem to be "touchy" in ways, be careful in dealings with them. You can make gains.



January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Be careful of your diet, and don't try to crowd more into the day than is good for health and nerves. Sufficient sleep and moderate exercise urged. Heed Scorpio's notes, too.

February 20 to March 20— (Pisces) — Be polite, but say "no" when you should. Keep your mind on important things, and don't let disappointments or ill feeling swerve you from rightly - chosen goals. Confidence!

NOTHING ESCAPES IT

BALTIMORE (AP) — The U.S. air research development command said Sunday it has a mobile optical tracking system capable of photographing a pop bottle at an altitude of four miles. The six-ton system is called a telescopic photographic recorder. Currently being tested, the recorder will be used to photograph the flight of bombs, aircraft and missiles.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was walking home from school with Skinny Martin talking and arguing about diffrent subjects when I asked him whether we could rather be the world's tallest man or the world's shortest midget, me saying I'd rather be a midgit because there are more midgits than there are giants, in case I felt like getting married, and Skinny saying he would rather be a giant because there's more fresh air away up there, and just then Reddy Merry walked past fast, saying, Aw, you guys move as slow as old ladies.

And he kept on going with his chest stuck out like somebody that wasn't afraid of anybody, and I said, Aw, darn that guy, I wouldn't be like that if you paid me.

Neither would I, and even if I was born like that, I'd change, Skinny said, and I said, Sure, heck if I couldn't say something good about somebody, I wouldn't say anything.

Me neither, Skinny said, Heck, if I thought you could walk faster than me, I'd admit it, because what's the diffrence if you're not proud just because my legs are longer than yours, he said, and I said, Sure, we didn't make our own legs. If I thought I could not walk faster than you even if my legs are shorter, I'd be the ferst to say so, I said.

And we both started to walk as fast as we could, the result being I had to make my legs go twice as fast as Skinny's to keep up to him, and the next result being we were both running all our might, and we ended up both out of breth and neither one ahead.

Not actually proving anything but making us both feel better instead of worse on account of the exercize.

Thousands View Bark Mayflower Reach Harbor

Sets Sail at Dawn Today To Cross Bay to Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—Mayflower II sailed across Massachusetts Bay to Plymouth today on the last leg of a 5,000-mile journey across the Atlantic in a reenactment of the historic trip of the Pilgrims in 1620.

The 180-ton square-rigged bark swung into a mooring buoy at Provincetown, on Cape Cod, Wednesday, and at dawn today set sails for the 24-mile trip to Plymouth, where the Pilgrims set foot on the new land.

Cmdr. Alan Villiers, a native of Australia who skippered the replica, said the only trouble experienced on the 33-day trip was a cracked boom during a storm about three weeks ago. The boom was repaired.

Thousands of spectators lined the shore to watch the craft come from Provincetown harbor at the end of a tow line while a fleet of boats, yachts and other craft went out to meet her at the harbor entrance.

All 22 members of the ship's company wore Pilgrim costumes on arrival, but none was allowed ashore at first. Crewmembers include one Canadian, Jacques Haliburton of Parrsboro, N.S., representing the Royal Canadian Navy Sailing Association.

Pilgrim costumes for the men were taken off in a helicopter before the Mayflower reached land, and appeared on a New York television program Wednesday night.

First ashore from the Mayflower II at Provincetown were immigration officials and health officials. Then a reception committee and reporters were welcomed aboard.

It was at Provincetown that the original Mayflower made landfall 337 years ago, but the Pilgrims remained there a month before proceeding to Plymouth.

Villiers acceded to the urgings of the ship's promoters and the Plymouth reception committee to stay as close as possible to a set timetable. So, rather than linger in the calms of the night, he got under the wind shifted from a southwesterly direction, he replied anxiously accepted a tow for 25 miles from a coast guard vessel.

Mayflower II is a 106-foot Square - rigged craft such as the Pilgrims used for ocean travel at working to windward, and she might have faced days at sea waiting for a favorable wind.

Mayflower logged 5,000 miles—1,000 more than the original Mayflower—because Villiers chose to take a southerly route to take advantage of the trade winds and then come northerly on the favorable Gulf Stream.

That strategy paid dividends in that the replica made the voyage in 54 days, compared to the 66 it took the Pilgrims.

Three Mental Patients Flee

TORONTO (CP)—Police throughout Ontario were searching today for three mentally ill patients, one of them with an assault record, who escaped from the Ontario Hospital at suburban New Toronto during the night by ripping off a screen from a washroom window.

Like Any Other Angler Diefenbaker Fails to Find Big Ones on Trip

LA RONGE, Sask. (CP)—Like many another fisherman, John Diefenbaker found out that the fish weren't there yesterday, weren't there today.

The Progressive Conservative leader, arrived Wednesday for a day after his party's victory in Monday's federal election. He had been assured that lake trout—as large as 40 pounds, the guides said—could be caught in Lac la Ronge. He caught two little suckers, but threw them back. One was so piddling he threw it back.

Mr. Diefenbaker didn't mind. It was a day in the open, under a warm June sun, 130 miles north of Prince Albert, away from the cares of state that await him in Ottawa where he flies Monday to confer with Prime Minister St. Laurent about possibly forming a government without an over-all parliamentary majority. The Progressive Conservatives won Monday's election but have only 110

CHINESE SHORE BATTERY FIRES ON AMERICAN JET

Navy Plane Strayed Close to Coastline

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States Navy officials today described as an isolated incident the shots fired by a Communist Chinese shore battery Wednesday at an American plane which they said apparently strayed off course and was damaged slightly.

They expressed the opinion, based on early dispatches, that the incident was not the forerunner of any significant military repercussions.

The navy announced Wednesday that the plane, flying from the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt and slightly damaged by Communist Chinese antiaircraft fire in the area of the Formosa Strait.

"It appears that the aircraft strayed over to the westward as it plotted position, being about eight miles off the coast when it was fired upon," the navy announcement said, adding that the plane, piloted by a Navy lieutenant, was on a routine training flight at the time, and returned quickly to the carrier.

First word of the incident came from Peiping Radio, which said in a broadcast heard in London that the Hornet and four destroyers had entered Hong Kong "invaded part of the South China Sea within the territorial waters of China."

The Red Chinese version said the attacking jets from the carrier "intruded into the Swatow area."

Without saying where they came from, the Communists said four Nationalist Chinese planes joined the American planes, and two of them were shot down. The U.S. Navy announcement made no mention of Nationalist Chinese planes.

Navy officials here said the incident could result in diplomatic representations to the Chinese Communists charging a violation of their air space and the U.S. countering with a protest against an unprovoked attack on an unarmed aircraft.

The navy noted that small islands and promontories jut out from the coast and it would be difficult for anyone, particularly from the air, to determine to the minute accurately how far he was at any time from the main line of the coast.

Couple Scared As Projectile Lands on Beach

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — A gummy anti-submarine projectile fired from a Canadian escort in Nootka landed on a beach near a young Halifax couple Tuesday, it was learned today.

Hubert Letont and Elaine McBride were sunning on the nearby eastern passage beach while the vessel was engaged in target practice about two miles off shore as a navy firing range.

The first of five shots were fired and they seemed to fall way out in a harbor channel. After a few minutes they heard one roaring through the air and watched it land 30 or 40 yards from them.

A naval spokesman said an investigation during the night by ripping off a screen from a washroom window.

seats in the 265-seat Parliament. With him were Fred Hadley, Prince Albert businessman and his wife, old friends and clubs, and a party of newspaper men. Mr. Diefenbaker said he had a good day of fishing for a party of three or four developed into a full-scale newspaper story in which the catching of fish was purely incidental. Mr. Diefenbaker's best was a jack that weighed perhaps two or three pounds.

Like other industrial records, the Diefenbaker fish were caught on a spoon and hardly made a fight as they were reeled in. Also for the records, the accompanying press found not only Mr. Diefenbaker boat four fish to three.

The only one disappointed were the local guides who told of catching 30 and 40 trout just the other day at the very spot where Mr. Diefenbaker cast his wobbler Wednesday.

VISITS MOTHER

John Diefenbaker and his wife take time out from celebrating the Progressive Conservative election victory to visit Mr. Diefenbaker's 83-year-old mother in a Saskatoon hospital. 29 Shots Fired at Trio Who Raided Oakville Home

OAKVILLE (CP)—Three men smashed the living room window of a home near here Wednesday night but were routed by a father and son who fired 29 shots at them with rifle and shotgun.

Jack Thorndike Sr., 72, who was visiting his son's home at the time, said gangsters may have been the motive. Eight years ago, he said, he was held up by three men when he owned the Rondon Hotel in west-end Toronto. The three were jailed and Thorndike got "a bit of money" back.

Provincial and local police began a search for the men who could not immediately be identified.

Thorndike Jr., 34, and his wife, like Jr. 34, and his wife.

His father said he didn't recognize the three men with peaked caps who broke the windows. Mrs. Thorndike grabbed her children, Donna, 5, and Jackie, 3, and locked herself and them in the bathroom when the intruders came.

When the glass was shattered, the two men ran to the basement where the guns were kept. The father fired a shotgun and his son a .351 automatic rifle. Both said they didn't think they hit the men. The intruders had cut the fleeing trio so that Jack Jr. had attacked the home of Dick Thorn- to drive to Oakville for help.

Find Radioactivity Raised In Dried Milk, Human Bones

OTTAWA (CP)—Fallout in the last year from nuclear test explosions has increased the level of radioactivity in Canada by a slight amount.

The increase was disclosed during recent investigations by the federal health department of calcium-containing materials such as human and animal bone and dried milk samples.

Health authorities here say that, from existing knowledge of low-level radiation effects on humans, this slight increase is not cause for undue apprehension.

The level of radioactivity is made up of natural radiation background that contained in soil and rock formations and caused by cosmic rays from space striking the earth—and man-made radioactivity. The latter includes radioactivity produced by atomic explosions, by industrial and medical uses of nuclear energy and by radioactive substances such as x-rays.

Radiochemical tests, conducted in a special laboratory at Deep River, Ont., home of most workers at the nearby Chalk River atomic energy project, show that current strontium - 90 levels in

Suspend Sentence

BRANTFORD (CP) — Teena Solsberg, 28, of Ayr district, convicted Wednesday of putting goods in Clifford Russell's coffee, was placed on suspended sentence for a year.

Judge D. J. Cowan said there was no evidence of intent to endanger human life or cause bodily harm.

Canada are about the same as those found in the United States and Britain.

The laboratory, soon to be transferred to a new site on Ottawa's outskirts, was set up in 1953 to measure strontium - 90 levels in this country. Strontium-90 is one of the radioactive fission products of atomic explosions. Experiments have shown that in sufficient quantities strontium-90 can cause bone cancer in animals.

The tests with strontium - 90 have been made monthly since 1953 and are coordinated with studies by the 15-country United Nations scientific committee on the effects of atomic radiation.

Hush-Hush Boys Ruining Queen's Visit Says Mirror

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers are complaining that Queen Elizabeth's advisers will ruin her visit to the United States this fall by restricting it to 48 days. They also urge that royal protocol be scrapped for the occasion.

"What a stingy, exhausting dollar tour the hush-hush boys (Buckingham Palace advisers) have cooked up for the Queen," says the mass circulation Daily Mirror.

"What a miserable ration for America she and Prince Philip will see—particularly of an American just built out all over to give them the time of their lives."

During the American visit the Queen and Prince Philip will visit New York, Washington, and Jamestown, which is celebrating the 350th anniversary of its founding, following their visit to Ottawa.

The Daily Mail urges that the tour not be "muddled" and that the "barriers" of royal protocol must be "let down a little."

The Mail scoffs at British reports that racial problems might embarrass the Queen during her visit to Jamestown.

"The Ku Klux Klan will not ride when the Queen rides by," it says.

The Evening News reminds the Queen that Americans call her Liz and that she will remain Liz in the U.S.

"This fits neatly both the headline space and America's sense of informality."

RADICAL LEADER TAKES OVER AS FRENCH PREMIER

'Only Stopgap Until Fall' Say Deputies

PARIS (Reuters)—France's new premier, Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, today presented his cabinet list to President Rene Coty for approval amid predictions that his reign in office will be short-lived.

"A stopgap until the fall," was the phrase bandied about by deputies in the National Assembly late Wednesday night when the 42-year-old Radical leader received a mandate to form a cabinet in his investiture.

The vote was 380 to 194, a majority of 46. It was the slimmest majority any premier-designate has received since the founding of the Fourth Republic in 1947.

Almost all previous premiers received absolute majorities.

CRISIS ENDS

The midnight ballot ended France's 22-day crisis brought about by the resignation of Socialist Guy Mollet. Bourges-Maunoury is France's 23rd premier since the war.

The wartime resistance hero promised in his investiture speech to "energetic" action to end months of austerity, along with total war in Algeria, if he were accepted as premier.

A dozen members of Bourges-Maunoury's government party, headed by former premier Pierre Mendes-France, voted against him in the investiture. They were 43 Radical deputies in the assembly.

Mendes-France and other leaders of the outgoing government's policy of peace and a rival of Bourges-Maunoury for much the same reasons, recently resigned the party leadership.

The smallness of the vote in Bourges - Maunoury's favor reflected deep divisions in the assembly over Algerian and financial policies, though there was a strong desire to end a crisis which had dragged on too long.

Flu in Formosa Takes 101 Lives

TAIPEI (AP) — The Formosa health bureau reported today 101 persons have died in the influenza epidemic which broke out on the Chinese Nationalist island April 28.

The bureau said more than 1,500,000 persons on Formosa sickened during the epidemic, which now has nearly abated. Formosa has a population of more than 10,000,000.

The bureau warned that a second, or even a third, wave of flu could develop before it ends sweeping parts of India, southeast Asia and the Far East.

ENDS MAIDEN VOYAGE

MONTREAL (CP) — The Sylvania, 22,000-ton liner owned by the Cunard Steamship Company, completed her maiden voyage here Tuesday, docking with 900 passengers from Liverpool. The all-black-hulled vessel is the fourth and last of Cunard's additions to the North Atlantic run to Canada since 1954.

Hours of Glory in Naval Review Amount to Swan Song for Many

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Ships of the United States and 17 foreign countries broke formation today after a proud international review designed to impress the world with the might of the U.S. Navy.

For many of the ships—the old, the rebuilt and others outdated in the present-day pace of jets, missiles and atomic power—these hours of glory in the international review amounted to a swan song.

But in the words of Admiral Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, "obsolescence is not what you might say obsolete," said Burke from his flagship Norton Sound as the naval armada which can scan vast areas of the sea and sky with radar steamed abroad above the international fleet.

Russia was not invited to send ships to take part in the review but she sent a representative, Capt. Fedor Presnakov, naval attache.

The Royal Canadian Navy was represented by the Ottawa and Assiniboine, two of the service's latest anti-submarine destroyer escorts.

Cabinet Meets, Members Admit Bewilderment

Howe Says He's Through; Gather to Make Decision

OTTAWA (CP) — A bewildered group of ministers today solemnly filed into what may be Prime Minister St. Laurent's final cabinet meeting. The big decision to be taken is whether the Liberal administration should resign immediately.

The meeting started at 11 a.m. Mr. St. Laurent told reporters earlier he did not anticipate that he would make any statement after the meeting was over.

Some of the ministers who gathered early outside the cabinet chamber said they were frankly confused by what took place in Monday's general election. Even John Diefenbaker's Progressive Conservatives emulated the Liberals' 22-year numerical superiority in the Commons.

Defence Minister McCann, 70, said he didn't know what happened, but he now was "looking for a job."

Mines Minister Prudham, who announced his resignation before Monday's election, said the vote marked the end of Social Credit as a national party.

"We're getting back to the two-party system and that's a mighty good thing. I think the Conservatives have a good way to go to establish themselves as a national party."

Resources Minister Lesage said he was "pretty well but broken" by Monday's election. The Conservatives got 110 seats in the 265-seat Commons; the Liberals 103; CCF 25; Social Credit 19.

Mr. Lesage was returned in his own Quebec riding of Montmagny-L'Islet. He said Veterans Affairs Minister Lapointe, beaten in Quebec's Lotbiniere by a Conservative, actually was trimmed by Premier Duplessis' "Union Nationale machine."

"They tried to do the same thing to me but they didn't succeed."

Several ministers, questioned about the possibility of another election in the fall, indicated they were not due for a long period of meetings.

"I doubt it," said Hon. Lionel Chevrier, president of the Privy Council. Then he added: "I mean to say, I don't know."

WENT TOO FAR

Health Minister Health Minister Nelly Forbes said he believed the Conservatives got a lot of seats because they went too far in the Liberal scandals.

Mr. Lesage said he thought he had too large a majority in the Montmagny-L'Islet riding. He said Mr. Howe was sure Canadians meant only to reduce that majority "but they overplayed that a little."

Defence Minister Campney, who was defeated in Renfrew North, Hull-ier, said he was confident the Liberals would make a comeback.

He declined to discuss the coalition with some other minority party may also arise at the meeting. However, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said he never was in favor of coalition.

It appeared possible this would be the last cabinet meeting of the ruling. If the resignation follows, Governor - General Massey may call on Conservative Leader Diefenbaker to form a government in a day or two.

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe, defeated in Port Arthur, today announced the end of his political career.

"I'm a retired politician," the 71-year-old minister told reporters after entering a cabinet meeting.

"Are you happy?" a reporter asked.

"Yes, I'm happy," said Mr. Howe who was beaten Monday by a CCF school teacher, Douglas Fisher. Mr. Howe had held Port Arthur for 22 years.

He had been a member of the cabinet for all that time.

AMERICAN BORN

Mr. Howe has been chief lieutenant to Prime Minister St. Laurent whose Liberal government was defeated in Monday's general election.

Born in 1886 at Waltham, Mass., Mr. Howe came to Canada as a young engineer in 1908 and had amassed a fortune before he was 30.

He entered politics in 1935 and became a key wartime administrator of key government departments. He has been minister of railways and canals, transport, munitions and supply, reconstruction and supply, trade and commerce and defence production.

He was the central figure in the great parliamentary battle of last year over building of the trans-Canada natural gas pipeline.

His part in this dispute only confirmed his reputation as one of the most controversial figures in Canada. Some of the phrases, like "let 'em have it" and "what's left to stop us?" became household expressions which his political opponents never ceased to use against him.

Mr. Howe denied having made the remark "what's a million?" and was supported by Hansard, were not the record in such proceedings.

Hansard did quote him as saying, during a 1945 debate, that a cut of -1,000,000 from a war appropriation bill "would not be a very important matter."

STILL CONTROVERSIAL

Mr. Howe's defeat on Monday he maintained his reputation for controversy. As the Progressive Conservatives moved after seat from the Liberals, Mr. Howe said: "It's like a national disease."

Even his bitterest political enemies have had a high regard for Mr. Howe's contributions to Canadian industrial life and this country's economic progress in the last two decades.

Mr. Howe has been responsible for such enterprises as Trans-Canada Air Lines, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Polymer Corp., and the Canadian wheat board. He has loaned more than dozen Crown corporations while at the same time handling two key government departments, trade and commerce and defence production.

Mr. Howe first became a cabinet minister Oct. 23, 1935, in Mackenzie King's government and was the general election of that year. Until Monday, his defeat in 1949, he apparently had little or no interest in becoming prime minister but concentrated his talents on Canada's economic industrial progress.

City and District News

WORK ON NEW BANKS BEING RUSHED AHEAD

Construction of two new bank b' ilings in Belleville is going ahead at top speed.

For the past several days workmen at the Bank of Nova Scotia site on the east side of Front St. and workers at ethe location of the Imperial Bank directly across the street, have been pouring cement to hasten the buildings toward completion.

ASKED TO EXERCISE CAUTION IN WOODS

The Department of Lands and Forests at Tweed said on Wednesday afternoon that no fires are burning in county forests at present. A few were burning last week but they have been extinguished with little loss.

Forests in Hastings County and nearby counties are fairly wet because of the .18 inch of rain which fell in the district on Tuesday. However, foresters ask picnickers and campers to exercise caution with cooking fires while in the bush. Motorists, too, are asked not to flip their cigarette butts out the car window. Use the ash trays.

WILL REPRESENT SALES AND AD CLUB AT CONVENTION

William Meagher and William Holway left the city today to represent the Belleville Sales and Advertising Club at the annual convention of the Federation of Canadian Sales and Advertising Clubs, held in Minaki, Ont., on June 14, 15 and 16.

Theme of the convention this year is "Marketing, the Hub of the Economy."

Phone Service Disrupted by Power Shovel

This week's traffic bottleneck in downtown Belleville in the vicinity of the Lower Bridge may be a topic of conversation for the work Wednesday afternoon at the same time effectively stopped conversation.

A power shovel being used to excavate for a new water main is being placed across the river, ripped through a telephone cable, putting 70 lines out of operation.

The Ontario Intelligencer was among the places of business which had phones silenced by the break. Service was partially restored two hours later, but repair crews worked for several hours before service to all disrupted phones was completely restored.

The public utilities commission is installing a new 16-inch watermain across the river to take the place of one placed just over half a century ago. Heavy traffic over the Lower Bridge is believed to have strained the main with the result that leaks developed, making a new main necessary.

The new main is being suspended on the bridge structure.

Properties Manager Orwell E. Scott could give no estimate of the time it would take to run the new main across the river.

REVERSES DECISION

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday reversed itself and held that civilians who accompany the U.S. armed forces overseas are not subject to military trials for crimes committed abroad. The tribunal's first decision—by a 5-to-3 vote announced June 11, 1956—upheld the authority of military courts to try civilians.

Mao Admits 800,000 Killed In Four Years

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says Red China's Mao Tze-tung has admitted that 800,000 persons were "liquidated" by Chinese Communist security forces between October, 1949, and the beginning of 1954.

A Times dispatch from Warsaw says the top Red Chinese leader disclosed that figure at a closed discussed speech to party leaders in Peiping last February.

The text of Mao's speech has not been published; but a condensed version has been circulated among Polish Communists, and parts of it previously have been published by Western correspondents in Warsaw.

The Times dispatch, which says that textual excerpts of Mao's speech now have been obtained, quotes Mao:

"In dealing with enemies it is necessary to use force. We in China also have used force to deal with enemies of the people. The total number of those who were liquidated by our security forces numbers 800,000. This is the figure up to 1954.

"Since then we are no longer using methods of terror. Instead we have substituted persuasion and education. If one persists in using the methods of terror in solving internal antagonisms, if they lead to transformation of these antagonisms into antagonisms of the nation-enemy type, as happened in Hungary. . . ."

'Press Agentry' Over Mayflower Trip Assailed

LONDON (AAP) — The Daily Sketch says "blatant press agentry" has clouded the voyage of the Mayflower II and threatens Queen Elizabeth with embarrassment on her October visit to Jamestown, Va.

"So the Mayflower made it," The Sketch comments editorially. "A lot of skeptical people will be surprised. But what a pity that she finally had to make her arrival at the end of a tow rope.

"What a pity that this whole courageous enterprise has been overshadowed by organized publicity so blatant that it is rare even in these days."

The editorial continues:

"Now the same vast publicity bombahas is breaking in Jamestown, Virginia, where they are celebrating the 350th anniversary of the first permanent British settlement in America.

"There will be some concern over the projected visit to Jamestown by the Queen at a time when the celebrations will be in full swing.

"Maybe it is right that she should go, but the fact that President Eisenhower has declined to take part in the Jamboree cannot be overlooked.

"The position may well be difficult for the Queen by the army of press agents and professional publicity boys who have moved in."

The Daily Telegraph says editorially the Mayflower "has broken no records but she has shown that Britons can still handle sail, however conscientiously archaic."

Aged Man Hurt As Farm Team Runs Away

TRENTON (Special)— Obediah Simpson, 84, of Brighton township, is in Trenton Memorial Hospital with undetermined injuries as result of being thrown from a farm wagon when the team he was driving ran away.

Mr. Simpson was driving his team north on No. 30 highway in the Springvalley district north of Brighton when the horses apparently became frightened. The team made a U-turn on the highway, then went across a ditch, through a fence and into the field.

The driver was thrown off the wagon before the latter slammed against a tree and was smashed. The injured man was taken to hospital by the Lions' Club Ambulance of Brighton and is under the care of Dr. H. J. Presutti of Brighton.

Lawyer Says U.S. Soldiers Made Sterile

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—A lawyer claimed today that at least a dozen American soldiers were worked on a top-secret wartime tank experiment are either sterile or have fathered deformed children as a result.

Raymond Lyddy represents four Connecticut men who worked on the Second World War project. One of them is sterile, Lyddy says in and wives of the others have had six miscarriages, three deformed children and two apparently normal children.

The lawyer said the 100-odd members of the tank ordnance company which worked on the project were warned that exposure to rays from the equipment could make them sterile. He said he only had information on about 30 of the soldiers, but about half of those had reported some trouble.

"The instances of sterility, malformations and deformed children were just tremendous."

The New York Daily News, which first reported the story in a copyrighted dispatch from Washington, says Army Secretary Wilber Brucker has been asked to make a full investigation. The request came from the former company commander, Marshall White of Chicago.

The News says the experiment consisted of running brilliant searchlights on tanks to blind enemy gunners. The operation was carried out in the 9th Armored Division which was fighting along the Rhine in 1945.

About 456 of the tanks were sent into action, The News says, but they had only limited success in combat and the idea was dropped.

The News added that the lights were 13,000,000-candlepower carbon arc lamps, and there is strong reason to believe that something more than carbon arc was involved."

Pope Receives Polish Primate

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius today received Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, Roman Catholic primate of Communist-ruled Poland, in a private, farewell audience.

The cardinal and three Polish bishops who accompanied him on his first journey to Rome since 1951 were closeted with the Pope for more than an hour. There was no word on what they discussed.

The cardinal was released from confinement last year by Poland's new "nationalist" Communist government. He came to Rome a month ago to receive the insigna of his cardinal office, which he had been unable to come for in 1933 when the Pope elevated him.

The Polish cardinal during his stay in Rome has stayed virtually incommunicado in a convent of Polish nuns. He leaves for Warsaw Monday.

Charge Driver Who Hit Train

SUDBURY (CP)—Anton Corak of Madsen, in the Kenora area, was committed for trial Wednesday on a charge of criminal negligence causing death after a preliminary hearing before Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe.

The charge arose from a level-crossing accident May 19 on the Levack road. Corak was the driver of a car that collided with a diesel engine. A passenger in his car, Karl Kostelac of Blind River and Sudbury, was fatally injured.

CAN MAKE BOMB A MONTH

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Telegraph says Britain now can produce one megaton H-bomb a month. A megaton is equivalent to 1,000,000 tons of TNT. In addition, the newspaper says, Britain can turn out "at least one, and probably several" ordinary atomic bombs in the kiloton range every week. A kiloton equals 1,000 tons of TNT.

Flames Remain Out of Control In Nova Scotia

WINDSOR, N.S. (CP)—Billowing flames continued to crackle through the softwood timberland of Hants Nounty today, little affected by the showers that sprinkled the area Wednesday night.

The situation remained out of control, but no communities were in danger.

Some 10,000 acres of spruce and fir woodland have already been blackened by the season's worst outbreak — which could be the worst fire since 1916—and there was little sign of the end as the tinder-dry woods were destroyed by flames.

About 200 firefighters topped the flames from reaching the communities of Elmsbourne and Three Mile Plains. As the flames were being beaten back, a change of wind swept them away from the villages and began pushing the front eastward again through the lush timber country.

Aircraft continued to land on lakes throughout the area, taking supplies and equipment to the men.

HUGE ROCK SLIPPING

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)— A huge stone has started slipping out of position on the top deck of a memorial arch in the centre of River Road, a short way downriver from the Horseshoe Falls, Niagara Parks Commission officials said Tuesday. The monument is barricaded to prevent the huge stone from plunging to the road below. Traffic has been rerouted.

COOL, MAN, COOL

Perhaps the best way to keep your health during the summer months is to relax as much as possible and to wear the lightest clothing you can get your hands on.

As we get older, doctors tell us, we are more apt to pick up maladies than our youthful counterparts. Why?

Let's first look at young Canadians (under the age of 21 years). They dress in sloppy, but comfortable jeans, open-necked shirts and light, scuffed shoes, when not going any place.

The average Canadian businessman, on the other hand, because he has to meet a greater cross-section of the public and the success of his enterprise depends a good deal upon the impression his clothes make, dons a smart, but heavy, suit, undershirt, broadcloth dress shirt buttoned at the neck, tie and thick, heavy shoes.

In the modern world, business is too fast changing and complex to allow us the freedom of leaving the office behind us, so to speak, at the end of the day. Instead, we "take it home" with us and let our problems stir up anguish in our minds.

This leads to perspiration. Now the summer cold has fertile grounds in which to incubate and incapacitate us for the next week or so. Other maladies can cause complications at this point, or we could fall victim to some other illness.

If we were to wear, at most one layer of clothing and keep to the shade, we would complete our days at home rested in mind as well as in body, just waiting to get back to the office for another eight-hour stint. But the layer of clothing must be loose fitting, or else half the battle is lost. Air must circulate freely around our bodies. Light summer clothing, if worn by us all, might be the thing that could turn the tide and lead to better understanding and friendship. No longer would we arrive home wringing wet, angry with the world at large, especially at ourselves, and taking our shortcomings out on everyone around us.

Whether these predictions would come true or not is beyond our saying. But we are certain we would enjoy ourselves much better if we could shed that infernal, tight-fitting collar and tie that harness us menfolk, while women (we're sure here) would be equally pleased to unhitch a few things.

THOSE PEP PILLS

It is to laugh!

Last Wednesday the American Medical Association condemned the use of "pep-pills" by athletes.

Thursday there were howls of outraged protests from that stronghold of good, clean living, New York. Nobody in Manhattan had ever heard of such an outrageous thing as an athlete taking a stimulant.

In Toronto, however, where the atmosphere is not quite so rarefied, Lloyd Percival of Sports College said that he did know of athletes taking pep pills.

Friday Toronto made more headlines when Quarterback Tommy Dublinski of the Big Four Argonauts at football fame said that members of the club had taken pep pills and he had taken one once. A club spokesman retorted that if this were true, no official knew about it.

Out in the sticks, there were chuckles. Pep pills were a frequent diet for even junior hockey clubs a couple of decades ago.

The difference may be in the type of pills. Perhaps those used in even the minor leagues in Ontario were harmless, while the American Medical Association is referring to such drugs as amphetamine and its derivatives. We understand, though, that amphetamine is just another name for benzedrine — and many a person has taken benzedrine for such trivial purposes as warding off drowsiness when working long hours. If this is as dangerous as the AMA hints, then a warning was uggently needed, and not only to athletes.

Sep pills, though, can be funny. Our favorite story concerns a hockey team which, half a dozen goals down on a goals-to-count round against a club which it had expected to beat without working up a sweat, resorted to the pills in the second game. Three goals came early in the first period. The pills were working wonders. Then the timekeeper, (the team's sponsor and a man who, being a doctor, should have known better), saw the opportunity to sneak a couple of extra minutes of play. When the timer from the other team was not watching, he flipped the watch hands back. During that added two minutes of "overtime" the effect of the pills were off. The team ended on its feet. Their rivals scored twice. And that was the hockey game. It happened and it happened in a small town —but not in this district.

So there you are—today's headlines are only twenty years old.

JUST FOLKS

HEREDITY

Oh, where it all began
Tell now we never can.
Who in those days of old,
Sailor or warrior bold,
Thamin or man of trade
First wooed a blushing maid,
Married her so that we
Living this age might be.

None every step can trace
Back to the starting place;
Whose early love affair
Shines in the smile we wear?

Who shares in all our gains?
Whose blood is in our veins?
Who is of us a part
Body and soul and heart?

All that is sure is this:
Far off a blushing miss
Married a eager swain,
Starting a lengthy train.
Then, with the passing years,
Marriage once more appears.
Now dark the mystery lies
What had been, otherwise.

Jumping to Conclusions

MONTREAL GAZETTE

It was on the night when the man who had been Edward VIII gave his farewell broadcast. Sir John Reith, Director-General of the BBC, was himself present to make the announcement. He said: "This is Windsor Castle. His Royal Highness the Prince Regent."

In the moment before the Prince's voice was heard, a shocked silence fell upon over the airwaves. It was a sound as of this nation's slamming of a door.

Sir John Reith, in the days that followed, was asked for an explanation. Was it true, as was being said, that, after making the announcement, he had slammed the door of the room in protest against the whole proceeding, in which he had been compelled to play a part?

Sir John Reith (now Baron Reith) has described in his memoirs just what did happen. "I slipped out of the chair to the left," he writes: "he was to slip into it from the right. So I rejected with an almighty kick to the table leg. And that unfortunately and faithfully transmitted to the attendant multitudes."

. . . .

Another case of misinterpretation from which no fallen soon after this broadcast. It rose from a scene in Westminster Abbey, when the Archbishop of Canterbury was about to place the crown on the head of Edward VIII's brother and successor.

At this most impressive moment Archbishop Lang was seen to fumble with the Crown. The Prince's groom of the stole held the Crown had almost been dropped, but that the Archbishop had managed to recover it.

The "King had been anxious that the Crown should be placed on his head with the least possible delay to the front. Accordingly it was arranged that a small piece of red cotton should be inserted under one of the principal jewels in the band.

At the height of the ceremony, the Dean brought the Crown and a cushion to the Archbishop. "I looked for my little red line," says Archbishop Lang, "it was not there. So I had to turn the Crown round to see if it was on the other side; but it was not. Some officious person must have removed the little shining round of the Crown took only a second, and the whole incident turn me . . . Yet when the film was produced there were comments about the Archbishop fumbles with the Crown."

If such misinterpretations may follow just after events, they are even more likely to occur after the passing of the years, when the distortion between appearances and realities may become much greater than intended. If the contemporary commentator may fall into error, how much more likely is error to entrap the biographer.

In 1877 Poet Lt. W. Thornbury brought out the first full biography of Turner, the artist. In writing it he had occasion to come upon a letter that greatly intrigued him.

In 1815, in regard to his house in Twickenham, Turner had written: "Poor Daddy is so much plagued with weeds as I am with disappointments—that if Miss ——— would waive bashfulness or in other words make an offer, and I, instead of expecting one, the same might change occurrence."

Thornbury at once deduced that Turner must have been "deeply in love with a lady." He went on to write: "We may however presume that the love lacked courage; that fresh ambitions arose and more daring spirits; that Turner found he sank into the cheerless, selfish old bachelor, with no children to prattle round his knees and no kind heart to double his joys or halve his sorrows."

Further study of Turner's life has shown that Thornbury's conclusion to be quite mistaken. Turner and his father were trying to get Miss ——— to marry Hindeham, Plucking the weeds from the garden path was coming to great a task for his father, and Turner himself could pay the house no visits from the visits. In this letter he was only hinting Miss ——— might make an offer to buy it.

If this kind of deduction by biographers can be made in such a mask, so may the deductions of the literary critic. Nothing in this must have found that critics read meanings and purposes in Tennyson's work that never occurred to him.

Tennyson's critic, Theodore Watts-Dunton, was telling to Tennyson of how greatly he admired certain lines in the poem, "The Song of the Lotos-Eaters." Instead of rhyming the word "land" with another other word, Tennyson had repeated the word "land", with some other word. Tennyson had repeated the word "strand", daring to make the convention by rhyming a word with itself. None but a great poet, said Watts-Dunton, would have thought of such a thing, or would have achieved so unusually impressive a result.

Tennyson grunted, and burst into one of his fits of uproarious laughs. "Very gratifying what you say, 'pon my word," he managed to utter to the critic—the use of the repetition was quite unintentional. I never knew I had repeated it!"

Myths About Older Worker

Montreal Gazette

A great part of the trouble with the older worker has in finding a job may be due to the myths that have been built up around him. They are very hard to battle against myths.

The Labor Department of New York State has done research into these myths and found that they are mainly groundless.

It is said, for instance, that older workers are less productive. "Such facts as are available do not bear out this generalization," the study says. Surveys show that the work of the older employee is "generally equal in quality, is superior to the younger worker."

Another of the myth that the older worker will be more frequently absent. In 1956 survey by the U.S. Labor Department disclosed that the older worker had an attendance record 20 per cent better than that of younger workers.

Another myth is that older workers become involved in more accidents. But the survey shows that they have 25 per cent fewer disabling injuries, and 25 per cent fewer non-disabling injuries than those under 45.

Still another myth is that older men do not pay the payroll long enough to justify hiring expenses. But surveys prove that the separation rates for older workers are much lower than average.

There, again, the myth is that older workers are inflexible and unimaginative and have trouble getting alone with others. "It is harder to imagine a generalization," says the New York Labor Department's statement, "more susceptible to contradiction by the individual case. The practical experience of many companies indicates that this factor is seriously overstated."

It is hard enough for the over-45 worker, having lost his job, to find another, without making him the victim of prejudice. No doubt most of these prejudices would be found to be false once the older worker is given his chance to prove the myths wrong.

Lone Wolf Leaves Pack

New York Times

Pierre Mendes-France was always a lone wolf. It is the fate of such a type to leave the pack. And it is the fate of such a man to be sooner or later to be isolated. In this respect, and only in this respect, M. Mendes-France resembles General de Gaulle. Now he has publicly declared that the vast majority of the parliamentary representatives of the Radical Socialist party have in fact resigned his leadership.

This does not mean that his country has heard the last of Pierre Mendes-France as a political leader. His chief asset in every view he is one of the outstanding Frenchmen of his day in courage, brilliance and originality, also a man of great personal ambition. During the most miserable of 1954, when he shot like a meteor across the political sky, he himself had a supreme conviction that France needed him and that he alone could save France from the grave crisis that brought him to power—the necessity of abandoning Indochina. He was dynamic. Indochina. He was dynamic. Indochina. He was dynamic. European Union), the agreement with Tunisia, the entry of France into NATO — these were the highlights of his short term in office of eight months from June, 1954, to February, 1955. In defeat many of his views were forced against him.

So, a few months later, began that open conflict in the Radical Socialist party which has led to the resignation of M. Bourges-Maunoury of the traditionalists, who want the party to be a broad, left of center, loose, heterogeneous, amorphous middle-of-the-road way, and those, led by M. Mendes-France, who sought to impose precise principles. Strong opposition to Premier Guy Mollet's Algerian policy on the part of M. Mendes-France exacerbated the internal differences.

Once again Pierre Mendes-France stands alone, but he has followers and he has his own great abilities and his prestige. A chapter has ended, but not the story.

One Swallow Maketh Not Summer

One group of diabetics who were able to keep nearly or quite sugar-free with a daily dose of insulin began supplementing their diet with an optimal daily ration of vitamin B complex and presently found they needed 10 to 20 units less insulin a day to keep them sugar-free.

Anyway, I have contended for many years that the practice of supplementing the restricted diet with a good daily ration of B complex can do no harm.

If you have diabetes or if you are a potential diabetic, please remember (1) I say a good daily ration of vitamin B complex to supplement your diet can do no harm; (2) some authorities have found it reduces the insulin requirement; and (3) one swallow maketh not summer.

"Dear Doctor:

"Taking B complex with vitamin C, 2 tablets three times a day for the past two months. I still take one shot of insulin a day. But before taking the B complex, I was so tired at night I couldn't keep my eyes open to report and my selling job was getting me down. Now I am just about everything without grease or sugar, once a day I eat ice cream and cookies or cereal with half milk and half cream and saccharin.

(Signed) ———"

If the ice cream is ordinary ice cream, it doesn't make sense to use saccharin instead of sugar. At least half of diabetics have to keep sugar-free by adhering to reasonably restricted diet without vitamin C.

A great many diabetics get along well with only two or three doses of insulin a week. Every diabetic or potential diabetic should learn how to test the urine for glucose (sugar.)

The writer of the above testimonial mentions vitamin C. I can't recall having suggested vitamin C.

One who is a potential diabetic (that is, has inherited the tendency) should abstain from two foods which yield most of the calories in the every-day diet of most Americans—refined white sugar and refined white flour.

Saccharin or sucaryl is a harmless sweetener to use instead of sugar, but before the lovers, but the coffee must be sweetened. A quarter-grain saccharin tablet or a shake of sucaryl is as sweetening as a teaspoonful of sugar.

New Railway Building Era

Windsor Star

For years the idea was that Canada was over-built with railways. We had more mileage of tracks than the sparse population could support economically. Indeed, bits and pieces of lines were abandoned here and there though the coming of automobiles, trucks and buses often was a factor.

But, with the bus, Canada is in a new era of railway building. This isn't to duplicate existing lines, but rather extensions into areas previously not served. They have become necessary to help tap the rich resources of newly opened country.

There has been the extension, at both ends, of the Pacific Great Eastern in British Columbia: there have been new lines built by the Canadian National to help develop nickel deposits in northern Manitoba; both the C.N.R. and C.P.R. have built lines into the Manitouwadge area in Northern Ontario. There is the railway built from the lower St. Lawrence into the iron district of Ungava and another by the C.N.R. through 300 miles of the Canadian Shield north of Quebec from the Abitibi area to Lake St. John. There is this city's line running northern Alberta into Great Slave Lake.

Some existing lines, previously considered white elephants such as the Hudson Bay Railway and the northern reaches of the Ontario Northern, have become very valuable and useful, indeed essential. Railways are a need of the future as well as of the past.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A GREAT DAY

Sometimes we hear people say that there are no longer any frontiers. One hundred years ago Horace Greeley said say, "Go West, young man, go West." And men did go West and the West has been utterly changed by modern technology. The old frontiers have vanished.

But that does not mean that frontiers have vanished. Many geographical frontiers have vanished, but today we have scientific frontiers which did not exist in the past. Every spring representatives from great industrial concerns come themselves to college campuses looking for promising young men to be trained for promising jobs. The leaders of the country today are pleading for more men to take up engineering, and are not nearly enough doctors to take care of our sick. Churches are pleading for workers and the Church is desperately in need of ministers.

In other words, there has probably never been a time in human history when scientific and the expenditure of energy were more in demand than right now. In spite of the atom and hydrogen bombs, regardless of universal military service, present-day young confronts the most fascinating opportunities that have appeared in human history.

This is a great day in which to live and especially for youth.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FACES

My father collected the printed faces of people, and put them into many scrap-books." He impressed me with the idea that there is a wonderful key to character. I have found this to be true. Oliver Twisted Holmes said that the magic in a cheerful face. I have witnessed that kind of a face change for a while a whole car of a crowded room.

I love several books in my library with the faces of authors and brief sketches of their lives. As I am a writer, I find these reference books are very interesting and instructive, for they show to me the faces of writers whom I have never seen, or ever will. The faces are as revealed as their books.

We keep adding to this face of ours. We see more than words in a human face. Stamped to the planes of the face are impressions of sorrow, joy, struggle, kindness, have and often triumph. Every day of our lives we are putting something on the face which no fellow-miner nor photographer can get to the deep of a person's face. There is something else there that is rare ly revealed.

The character presented to us the face that we have. Whatever changes occur in it throughout the years is our responsibility. We can put good cheer, a sense of happiness, courage, and kindness into this face of ours. What a world of greatness looked out from the face of Abraham Lincoln!

A face without character is a face to note. How often we hear the expression: "What a good face he has!" There are faces that we immediately trust, and there are those that we don't. We can't hide this from each other. It's the window to our mind and heart. Put something permanent into your face. It is the only one you will ever have.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The first war made a number of alcoholics out of Canadian civilians in their teens or early twenties who in Britain and France as well as in the services met alcohol under conditions and circumstances that left little room for guidance or self-control. By guidance and control I mean those family and job influences that keep most young men on some kind of path, whether straight or narrow does not matter. Among these victims of war were a number of my comrades, most of whom were as cripples as I was, and who had to fight as I did myself; some of whom of course won.

One of the remarkable cases among them is a man who went from bad to worse, was divorced by his wife, interrupted type previously by his father, robbed by his mother and his father's bootlaces. He was a pusher for alcohol. On his return from the war he became a secret drinker, necessarily, and started on the downward path. Over the years, he has been in institutions, taken cures; A.A. did wonders for him for a short period of time; but his life, for about thirty years, has been very warped, torqued, twisted, agonized.

In the University library a day or two ago I ran into him and could scarcely believe my senses. Lean and weathered looking, he none the less was in obvious health. He was prosperous looking. He was in the realm of medical books, he was cross-checking some mathematical work he was doing in connection with his job as a senior and highly responsible member of an engineering firm. We went to lunch together.

He has been totally off alcohol for over four years.

Well, actually, he confessed, "it was A.A. that did the trick. But it happened in a funny way. I had to go to A.A. as an act of bungle. I got in touch with A.A., and the boys who came to see me helped me finish the birthday celebration. One of them said: 'You have got to stop or you're going to be awake.' Not alive, notice, but awake! Something in me that never stayed like an ink stain in my mind. India ink. And I started to think about it. All during the days I put you to sleep, make you drowsy, you are in your wakefulness. I thought of all the months and days I had not been awake. And do you know, mister (history,) I have never had the slightest impulse to touch it again. I have got a few more years to be — awake!"

And the look on his face as he pronounced that one word was radiant.

Presbyterians Not Ready to Discuss Union

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Presbyterian general assembly Wednesday night turned down a proposal that the church offer to discuss union with the Anglican Church of Canada.

Professor David Hay of Knox College, Toronto, proposed that the assembly ask the Anglican Church to appoint a committee to confer with Presbyterians on proposals emanating from discussions between the Church of Scotland and the Church of England. The two are discussing union.

Professor Hay said the Presbyterian Church should be "on the inside" in these discussions.

After strong opposition led by Rev. E. J. White of Edmonton, the assembly rejected the proposal and adopted a motion to appoint a special committee to study the whole question of inter-church relations, including reordination or double ordination.

A Presbyterian spokesman said the Anglican Church insists on re-ordination by an Anglican bishop of ministers of another church where the Anglican church works in co-operation with other churches. Double ordination is involved when a ministerial candidate of a church other than Anglican is ordained at the same time by his own church and by an Anglican bishop.

Presbyterian Ministers Get Pay Increase

VANCOUVER (CP) — The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada has approved an increase of $200 a year in the basic pay of ministers.

The assembly voted to increase the total basic stipend to $3,300 a year, including travel allowance.

It referred to the board of administration the question of whether the portion considered as travel allowance be set at $300 or $500 a year.

Ministers previously received a basic $2,800 a year with an additional $200 as travel allowance.

Salaries of general secretaries and professors in the church's theological colleges were raised to $6,600 a year, effective in September, to be increased by $400 a year. College principals will receive an additional $1,000 a year.

ONLY BELIEVERS

A suggestion that only children of believing parents should be baptized in the church under sponsorship of their parents was put to the assembly by its committee on articles of faith.

The committee recommended that parents who fail to become communicant members, who neglect church attendance and communion or who fail to keep their Christian vows should be debarred from presenting their children for baptism.

As an alternative, sponsors might be found for the children amongst believing adults, it said.

Rev. George Douglas of Woodstock, Ont., resigned as convenor of this committee and was succeeded my Scott Macdonnell of Windsor.

KITTEN SAVES ACTOR

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Steve Cochran credits his small kitten with saving him from a rattlesnake bite. Cochran Tuesday said he was walking through a geranium patch at his home in the Hollywood Hills when his kitten, Terrible Touky, dashed in front of him to pounce on a four-foot rattlesnake. The snake struck the cat, knocking it over, but the animal will recover.

Commonwealth Parley Unlikely To Be Delayed

LONDON CP — Official sources said today there is little chance of the forthcoming conference of Commonwealth prime ministers being postponed.

They were commenting on a suggestion in The Times which says that Commonwealth prestige may be reduced if a number of prime ministers are unable to attend the conference.

The conference opens June 26.

At the same time, the paper admits that deferring the meeting would present great difficulties for prime ministers of three countries already on the way to London.

The suggestion for postponement follows the unexpected result of Monday's voting in the Canadian election in which neither the Liberals or the Progressive Conservatives obtained a clear majority.

SUGGEST BOTH COME

There have been suggestions that both Prime Minister St. Laurent and Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker should come to London.

There has been no indication in Whitehall of any feeling that the conference should be postponed. The biggest barrier to such a change of mind, officials said today, is that Prime Ministers Robert Menzies of Australia, Roy Welensky of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland and Dr. Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana are already on their way to London by sea.

Prime Ministers Sidney Holland of New Zealand and Johannes Strydom of South Africa have announced that they will not attend the meeting, but will be represented by deputies. The premier of Ceylon, Solomon Bandaranaike, is in political difficulties at home and may be unable to attend

Congregation, Community Mark Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

FOXBORO — The congregation of Forboro Presbyterian Church gathered recently in the Sunday school rooms for a surprise party given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Juby, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The evening was spent in singing, reading, and contests, given by various members.

Mrs. Percy Johnson invited the bride and bridegroom of 50 years ago to a seat of honor and read an appropriate address, after which Mrs. Buscard presented them with a gold electric clock and two pretty pictures, for which Mr. and Mrs. Juby voiced their appreciation and thanks.

They were asked to cut a prettily decorated anniversary cake made by Mrs. B. Skinner. Refreshments were served and a social time was spent.

On the following Saturday evening a family reunion was held at their home in Foxboro, when the evening was spent talking over old times of the past 50 years, and progress which has been made.

Mr. and Mrs. Juby have two sons, Garnet of Toronto, and Robert of Wallbridge, and 13 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Bounteous refreshments were served by Mrs. Garnet Juby, Mrs. E. Lyons, Mary and Mable Juby.

Mr. and Mrs. Juby cut a lovely decorated three-tiered wedding cake presented by Mrs. Everett Lyons.

They received many lovely gifts.

The guests were present from Hamilton, Toronto, Peterborough, Belleville, Wallbridge and Thurlow.

Last Wednesday three ladies, on behalf of the Foxboro community, presented Mr. and Mrs. Juby with a beautiful bedspread, coffee table, and vase.

Mr. and Mrs. Juby expressed their appreciation and thanks for the beautiful gifts from all their friends.

All wished them many more happy years together.

Frost Thinking About Calling 2 Byelections

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost said Wednesday he is "thinking about" calling by-elections to fill two vacant seats in the Ontario legislature.

He said no dates have been set yet for the voting in Middlesex North and Glengarry ridings.

Middlesex North has been vacant since the death last January of Thomas L. Patrick, Progressive Conservative. The Glengarry legislature member, Osie Villeneuve, also a Progressive Conservative, resigned the seat last month to contest the federal seat of Glengarry-Prescott which he won.

Miss Patricia Ann Davis, daughter of the Reverend Henry M. Davis and Mrs. Davis, of this city, graduated as a registered nurse from the Montreal General Hospital on Friday of last week. Miss Davis has accepted a position on the staff of the Montreal General in the psychiatric department.

Ready to Grant Women Voice in Church Affairs

VANCOUVER (CP)—A" revolutionary proposal to grant women a voice in church affairs has been accepted by the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada to be passed on to presbyteries for discussion and comment.

The proposal calls for the establishment of presbytery, synod and assembly councils to which women as well as men would be elected as delegates. Doctrine, government, worship and discipline could be discussed in each councils.

Rev. Louis H. Fowler of Hamilton, Ont., who presented the proposal on behalf of the assembly committee on the place of women in the church, said a survey has been made among Presbyterian women.

He said this showed there was no strong desire for women to be ordained as elders or ministers. However, they did wish to have a voice in the affairs of the church and this scheme would provide the opportunity without bringing up the question of ordination.

COMMENDS ASSEMBLY

Rev. A. Neville Davidson of Glasgow, delegate of the Church of Scotland, said the proposal "is lifting the whole question of the place of women in the church into a new level" and commended the assembly for it.

A request by Rev. James Clarke of Toronto that more considerations on the place of women in the church be granted later in the program with a motion by Rev. Lorne Bunnett, moderator of Knox College, Toronto, "Your Roses May Have Thorns"; "The Cross is the Centre of Things"; "Lord of Love" by Mrs. Ivan Davis and "God Leads His Dear Children Along."

Rev. F. Sauve Guest Speaker at Banquet Supper

Long tables gay with bouquets of pastel-tinted bachelor buttons, golden-hearted daisies, sweet-scented phlox and tiny sprays of orange blossoms filled the YMCA auditorium last evening with welcoming cheer for the Alliance Adult Fellowship banquet supper. Sixty-two were present from the city and environs, with several included from out-of-town: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Austin, from Moose Jaw; Mrs. Russell Perkins and family from Kingston; Mrs. Glynn Mangold, of Detroit, Michigan, and the Reverend and Mrs. Firman Sauve, of Peterborough.

Following the repast which consisted of roast turkey, and all that goes with it, concluding with coffee, pie and ice cream, Mrs. Palmer, president, extended a gracious welcome to all and introduced those at the guest table, the Reverend and Mrs. Sauve, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Millard, the Reverend and Mrs. Sackville Palmer, Mrs. W. H. Gerrie, Miss Verne Gerrie, missionary on furlough from India, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vassallo, of Trenton.

After the introductions, Mrs. Sauve spoke briefly, saying how much she enjoyed being present and meeting so many friendly people, and that it was her first time at a church function in the city of Belleville.

SINGSONG

Mr. James McKay led in a number of favorite choruses, with Miss Grace Veley accompanying on the piano. Miss Veley also favored later in the program with a most pleasing number, medley of "God Loves Us Each" "Your Roses May Have Thorns"; "The Cross is the Centre of Things"; "The Lord of Love" by Mrs. Ivan Davis and "God Leads His Dear Children Along."

The interesting interludes were: the presentation of an overnight case to Mrs. Ivan Davis of the Alliance family who is shortly leaving to reside in Florida, in appreciation of her many kindnesses. This was made on behalf of the Adult Fellowship group, and other friends of the Tabernacle, by Mrs. A. Henderson, and the presentation of folding money to Miss Gerrie, on behalf of the church congregation, by the Reverend Sackville Palmer.

Miss Lenore Dixon sang most sweetly "I Sing of Thee," in commemoration of her parents' 16th wedding anniversary.

PSALM 91

The highlight of the evening was the instructive and impressive message on Psalm 91, dealing with the various meanings and shades of meaning of the Hebrew word, "deliver," as found in the 3rd, 14th and 15th verses of the Psalm. In verse 3, 'deliver' means to "hold back," to prevent 'one from stepping into the "fowler's snare"; 'Deliver' in verse 13, God will shelter you from the lion in the first instance as Nebuchadnezzar, and verse 15, "deliver" here has the meaning that God will be with you in desperate need; in a situation beyond your control. "He shall call on Me and I will answer him."

Mr. Sauve also told of his conversion; of his work as a missionary in Arabia with the Moslems; of the conversion of two Moslems, and their trust and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ in the face of untold persecution, even of threatened death which had been passed for one of them, Amadu; and of the faith of the Moslem lad 'Hoba' who helped those in need and did without and of how God honored his faith in letting him find a much needed wool blanket on the ground.

Mr. Palmer extended appreciative thanks to Mr. Sauve for his enlightening address and dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Women's Leader Calls for Action On Prostitution

MONTREAL (CP) — A British women's leader says prostitution will continue to exist all over the world as long as the majority of people accept the idea that immorality among men is inescapable.

Mrs. C. Bligh, a member of the British delegation to the triennial conference of the International Council of Women, urged condemnation of a double moral standard which encourages vice.

She made the statement Wednesday during consideration of resolutions calling for action to reduce beauty contests, pornography and prostitution.

The delegates, representing 36 countries, adopted a Belgian resolution which urged all national women's groups to try to influence public opinion against the exploitation of women and children in "immoral enterprises."

MUSIC APPEAL

The council also endorsed a resolution sponsored by the Swedish national councils of women appealing for women's groups to work against the publication and distribution of pornographic material, for the banning of films of sports and degrades women.

Noting the increasing participation of married women in the economic and social life of many countries, the council stressed the importance of providing adequate facilities for assistance in the supervision and care of children when the mother is away from home.

Another resolution calling for equal pay for equal work by women in all occupations of jobs and access to all form of vocational training, to all positions and to fair promotion."

GIVE POP A "GIFT OF YOUTH" FOR FATHER'S DAY (PART II)

Father's Day doings are really festive when both Dad and Mom "best girl" are conscious of his youthful appearance.

In yesterday's column, through the courtesy of Max Factor, Hollywood's expert on good looks, we listed a few of the methods by which men can prolong the appearance of youthfulness well into middle age. We suggested that the women in his life—wife and pretty daughters—cooperate with Dad in a "youth campaign" to be launched on Father's Day.

Today we bring you a few more suggestions, straight from Hollywood, which may not transform Dad into a Clark Gable or a Gary Cooper but will help him to retain the youthful, dynamic appearance that gives a positive impression of vigor and alertness regardless of age.

POSTURE: Help Dad to get a grip on youth by proudly lifting his shoulders. Many a man has added the grasp of age by adroit use of his easy-swinging shoulders. The moment your guy lifts his, his entire body gets a lift, and contours of figure — broader chest, flatter abdomen, narrower waistline — improve.

WAISTLINE: A man's waistline is as much a measure of his youthful silhouette as a woman's. Help him to take a reef in his waistline, if it's spreading. He won't stand for a starvation diet, but he'll submit to a judicious cut in calories and will, with a little encouragement from you, be induced to exercise. Why not make exercises a twosome project?

GROOMING: Dad must not use the new casualness in clothes as an excuse to be sloppy, warns Factor. Help him make his grooming more impeccable than ever. See that he makes trips to the barbershop more frequently, and before his hair needs a cut. While there, urge him to take advantage of available shoe shines and manicures. The more darkly-bearded he is, the oftener he'll need to shave. The five o'clock shadow not only looks untidy but is aging to the face. If shaving is a problem, causing skin to protest, give him a shaving cream and razor which irritate the least. See that he rinses off every particle of soap when he is through shaving. Shave lotion, like a woman's skin freshener, helps to normalize pores. If skin is dry, the use of a rich hand lotion or occasional night cream which can be put on and forgotten, and which frails no scent, is no affront to his masculinity.

A sun tan is a handsome badge of the vigorous outdoor man and will be wonderful for making your man's skin look firm and youthful. Go into the sun with him. But, just as you wouldn't let your skin get as leathery as a cowpoke's saddle, don't let his. After 40, aging lines come too fast and too deep from excessive exposure. When you're sunning on the sands together, pass him your protective aids. Let him borrow that hand lotion or face cream used to protect skin are valuable safeguards.

EYEBROWS: Neatness here can do a lot for good grooming. If Dad's eyebrows are big bushes with spikes of varying lengths, prune 'em for him. Best way to do that is for a barber to cut down, to clip to uniform length, then to brush brows back into place. A good brushing will help discipline brows into neat, flat contours. If eyebrows tend to run together—nothing is more unfortunate, since even a kind man will get a mean expression from this crowding—by all means show him how to tweeze so that brows across the bridge of his nose.

Be sure to insist that he banish any unsightly bristles that sprout from nostrils or ears. All you'd be will have to do will be to cut them down to the roots with small scissors.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T WORRY — YOU'RE BOUND TO MAKE FRIENDS!

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm a bride of only a few months.

Until my marriage, I lived in the South. I like living up North all right, but I'm very lonely for companionship with girls my own age.

My husband has a sister living here in the same town, who is my age, but is single. I'd like to be friendly with her—you know, like going to the movies, window shopping and just talking girl-to-girl talk—but she doesn't seem to like me. She isn't cold, but our relationship is definitely not a buddy one.

Would you please tell me how I could get her to like me?

I never had any trouble making friends down South, and I try to act the same way up here. Do Northern girls just dislike Southern girls? — Puzzled

Dear Puzzled:

No, I'm sure Northern girls don't dislike Southern girls. But since each group has been brought up with some ideas, customs and traditions that are different from the other, it may sometimes take a little while for them to discover the things they really have in common with good friends on that basis, disregarding any differences of background and training.

Because the people you met down South were reared as you were, you could make friends quickly, not having to go through this period of adjustment to each other. You could understand each other, so you could be congenial companions right away.

So don't worry if it takes you a little while to reach this period of understanding with Northerners, or to achieve a "buddy" relationship with your sister-in-law. Just be your sweet, cheerful, friendly self. Let her know how much you want to do things with her and how eager you are to get acquainted with the young people in the community, and it probably won't take her too long to be more responsive.

If, as time goes on, you don't feel this is happening, however, why don't you ask your husband what's preventing the two of you from being good friends? Tell him that you realize there are some differences of thought and ways between you, since you come from a different part of the country, and that you'd like to have some suggestions on what you might do to win her over. Undoubtedly he'll be glad to help you work this out.

In the meanwhile, take every opportunity that presents itself to go places where you'll meet other young folks, and don't let this little problem become too important to you. You can make plenty of other friends at your local club or the YWCA in that big city near you and join in some of the activities of them. It's a fine way to make friends. And any time anything comes up that you don't quite understand, and perhaps don't feel comfortable about because of these background differences, ask someone to explain it to you, saying that you want to make every effort to fit into your new environment.

You sound to me like a young woman who is ready to meet new acquaintances halfway, and perhaps even more, and with that attitude you're bound to win. Let me know how things come along, won't you?

Canadians Should Eat Their Native Fish

By Mary Moore

Nobody contradicted me last year when I said that I thought that Canada had the longest coastline in the world.

So I am emboldened to go one step further and say compared to the length of our coastline we are the poorest fish eaters extant.

Fish is such a delicacy why are we so remiss in serving it attractively? I am guilty too and in a degreed effort to take some action did some fish cooking with these results:

FRIED SMELTS

Twenty-four smelts, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons fat, 6 tablespoons cornmeal (or flour.) Clean smelts, remove heads and tails, and wipe with a damp cloth. Roll smelts in salted cornmeal (or flour). Fry for about 5 minutes in hot fat, turning them frequently, until golden brown. Serve with parsley butter. Yield: 6 servings.

SALMON IN NOODLE RING

3 eggs, 2 cups milk, 1½ cups fine cracker crumbs, ½ tsp. salt, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 2 cups cooked noodles, 2 cups canned salmon. Beat eggs, add hot milk, grated cheese, salt, soft bread crumbs and noodles. Mix well. Pour into a greased ring mould and place mould in a pan of water. Bake 1 hour at 325 deg. Fahr. A silver knife will come out clean when the mould is cooked. Unmould on a hot platter. While the mould is baking, flake salmon, remove skin but use crushed bones and oil. Heat the fish and arrange in the cavity of noodle ring Serve with

MOCK HOLLANDAISE SAUCE:

One cup rich white sauce, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg yolk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Add the butter, 1 tablespoon at a time to hot sauce. Blend well. Add egg yolk, cook 1 minute. Add lemon juice. Serve immediately.

FILLETS COOKED IN MILK

Two lbs. fish fillets, 5 cups water, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 cups hot milk. Wipe the fish with a damp cloth, and cut into serving pieces. Soak 5 minutes in 5 cups water to which 1 tablespoon salt has been added. Drain. Place in hot milk, and simmer until fish flakes easily, allowing about 15 minutes per inch thickness of fish. Do not overcook. Yield: 6 servings. Prepare a white sauce using the milk in which the fish has been cooked. Stir into milk 6 tablespoons each butter and flour that have been blended together. Add salt, pepper and parsley. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until thickened.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SPECIAL SEATING ARRANGEMENT NECESSARY AT THIS CHURCH WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We have an unusual problem concerning my wedding and would appreciate your advice. My family and I have lived here in this medium-size town for a very short time, but my prospective bridegroom has lived here all his life and he and his family have many close friends here. Also I am an only child, and we have very few relatives, only first cousins. My fiance comes from a large family, and they have many relatives in this community. In this, what plans should we make for the wedding ceremony in the church at our wedding?

— Bride-to-be

The front row on the left of the aisle should, of course, be assigned to your mother and father and in the event of a divorce, them would be seated relatives and friends of your family. If many pews as necessary. The pew on the right of the aisle is assigned to the bridegroom's mother and father, with the bridegroom's relatives seated in the pews directly behind this first pew. The other pews on both sides of the aisle would be seated the friends of the bridegroom's family. The bridegroom, when by giving pre-wedding instructions to his ushers should make this seating arrangement very clear.

SHE SHOULD REPLACE WEDDING GIFT DAMAGED IN THE MAIL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine is another city was married about a month ago, and I mailed a wedding present to her. I'm sorry to say that I didn't have it insured. Last evening I met the bride's sister at a party, and she happened to mention that the article I sent was just what her sister hoped someone would send, but that unfortunately the article was damaged in the mail. I had a feeling that she felt I should replace it. Do you think it is my obligation to do that?

No, I do think so. You didn't insure it . . . it was damaged, and now you know to use insurance. I'm sorry to say that I didn't have it insured. To bring back new stock for our store,
Lovely dresses, all brand new,
Now think, we did this just for you.

How we dragged boxes all over, just take it from me,
Our feet got sore, and our tempers got raw,
But we also got the cutest clothes that you ever saw.

Just as cute as the styles in a fashion book,
Sundresses and tailored cottons too,
And lovely party styles that were meant for you.

We've cotton skirts, sportswear, and it's true,
We've shorts and bathing suits that are also new,
And lovely gowns for the bridesmaid and what's more
We even have bridal gowns at our store.

Even though your feet may feel pretty rough,
Cause when you see our prices you will say,

Easy, Relaxed Look Seen in Fall Fashions

TORONTO (CP)—The news for fall wardrobes is the easy, relaxed look.

That was the dictum from the Fashion Council as more than 500 buyers from across Canada viewed the parade of Canadian fall fashions here Tuesday night.

The preview showed a marked interest in hemlines with puffed hems and curved, slit hems.

Jersey, too, is good this fall and was presented principally in blue tones. Of course, the indispensable black dress was the backbone of the collection. It was shown in wool, faille and satin fabrics.

Several coats were shown in the "cocoon silhouette" or, as it is also known, the barrel shape. It bypasses the waistline.

BELTED BACKS

Many had belted backs, large collars and wide shoulders that gave a rounded look, released by sunburst tucking at the back. Also popular were clutch coats, mainly in black and trimmed with mink.

Suits had larger collars, cuffed sleeves and also were trimmed with fur. Of note was a black and white, belted, tunic tweed suit trimmed with blue fox collars. A three-piece suit in cornflower blue was shown. Of doeskin fabric, it had a loose jacket, slim skirt and was worn with striped blouse.

Several dresses shown had straight unclutered lines — the new, softened sheath. Others featured Empire waistlines with bouffant skirts.

Color and co-ordination highlighted sportswear. Beige into browns were popular shades. Reversible pleated shirts in plaids were of note. Cambridge grey tapered slim jims were worn with paisley blouses.

Crusaders Quartet Gives Challenging 'Go Ye' Message

Again the command, "Go Ye," which has rung down the corridors of time for 1900 years, was given in clarion tones to an attentive audience in the Alliance Tabernacle Tuesday evening by the Crusaders Quartet from the Canadian Bible College at Regina, Saskatchewan.

These four young men, James Hatzlaf, of Saskatoon; Norman Eus, of Regina; Gordon Fowler, of Calgary, and Bill McCarthy, of Dawson Creek, B.C., each in his own way, made an impassioned appeal; not for funds, but for the great need of young people to carry the gospel torch to the regions beyond "to those that sit in darkness, and the shadow of death."

The Reverend William MacArthur, former pastor of the Alliance Tabernacle, here, and president of the Bible College at Regina, with his daughter, Miss Eleanor MacArthur, ARCT, who accompanied the Crusaders, added their entreaties stating that each year 103 missionaries are needed to carry on the great crusade, and at the present, but 57 are available.

1500 MISSIONARIES NEEDED

At the 1956 Council of the Christian and Missionary Alliance 1500 missionaries were called for 1960. The fields are white unto harvest, but where are the reapers?

Mr. MacArthur, in presenting his petition, told the poignant story of the sinking of the Titanic, the beautiful liner on her maiden voyage. He recalled that at the awful moment of impact with the iceberg, some were dancing; some visiting, and the Salvation Army band played, that just 12 miles distant another ocean liner was plying her way through the Atlantic, unmindful of the frantic S.O.S. calls from the radio operator because the operator on that liner had taken off his headphones, and had gone to sleep, while 1500 souls went down to watery graves within the sight of the help that did not come.

ARE THE HEADPHONES OFF?

"What are we doing to save those perishing in the far-off lands? Are we hearing the call? Are the earphones off?" were his pointed questions.

Eleanor told of the students who had prepared themselves for service and to what lands, South America, Viet Nam, and other needy fields they were prepared to go. They had heard the call, "Go Ye."

The Quartet favored with many lovely selections, with Eleanor at the piano, including two spirituals, one of which was "Deep River." Other numbers which were appreciated included: "At the Last Trump"; "Go Ye Into All the World"; "Great Is Our Lord" and "Don't Let Anyone Turn You Away."

Pictures, in color, were shown of the Canadian Bible College, with Mr. MacArthur as narrator, giving the details as each appeared on the screen. He told of the hard ten years spent on "Gold Row," mid coal smoke, noise, poor light, and prairie dust; the selection of the new location just outside the city of Regina as it then was, which has crept round about and beyond; the spacious grounds which occupy four ordinary city blocks approximately 650 feet by 1100 feet; the fine dormitories for girls and boys; the extensive library; the chapel with its large, stained-glass window; the dining room; the social room with its easy chairs and picture windows, one looking east, one west, where one may rest and read; the games and sports centre; the full-size hockey rink; the large administration building, and the small cost per year, just a little over $500, for all who wish to train for labor in God's harvest fields, under a competent staff of university graduates, versed in the love of Jesus Christ.

Following the close of the meeting, young people who wished to carry the gospel torch from falling hands, were invited to meet either with Mr. MacArthur or any one of the four Crusaders for full information.

A time of renewing of fellowship was enjoyed by members of his former congregation.

Only One Woman Now Holding Full Cabinet Rank

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Only one woman at present holds full cabinet rank in the national government of any Commonwealth country.

She is Dame Hilda Ross, minister for the welfare of women and children in New Zealand.

So great is her following in New Zealand that she must rank as one of the most influential women politicians anywhere in the world today.

But to call her a successful cabinet minister ignores a large part of the work which has won her a unique place among her people. She is also guide and counsellor to the nation on personal relationships and plain common sense.

ACTIVE CAREER

Dame Hilda, a widow and grandmother, had intended to retire from politics this year. At 78, she has spent 12 years in Parliament and eight as a cabinet minister.

Much to the relief of the local party organizers, she has just used her woman's prerogative and changed her mind. She will stand again at the general election this year, thus assuring the government of one safe seat because of her enormous personal following.

The portfolio of minister for the welfare of women and children was created specially for Dame Hilda. It means she has a brief to look after the interests of more than half the population and to intervene if she wishes in almost every action of the government.

She does not use this privilege to excess. But when she does put forward a view, her colleagues listen with the utmost care.

WIDE RANGE

Cabinet duties are just the start of her activities.

Dame Hilda believes she must listen to individual troubles in order to understand the needs of people as a whole. She has more callers than any other minister.

Her door is always open to anyone and there is invariably a queue of people waiting to see her with personal troubles. She is a one - woman marriage guidance bureau, relief organization, purveyor of new angles on problems which seemed insuperable.

"I sometimes think I should be called 'minister of last resort'," she says. "Most of the letters I receive begin: 'I am writing to you as a last resort'."

Mother's Helper

YOUR SMALLEST cook can make fancy biscuits out of the plain already-prepared type with this simple trick. Have her soak cubes of sugar in orange juice, and press a cube into the top of each biscuit before it goes into the oven. Delicious!

Desegregation— THE DEEP SOUTH SAYS "NEVER!"

In this week's Saturday Evening Post famous prize-winning reporter John Bartlow Martin brings you what we believe to be the most honest and eye-opening look at the desegregation problem in the Deep South yet published in the United States!

You'll learn: • The major, yet seldom expressed, reasons why many Southern leaders say there will "never" be desegregation in the South. • How the Citizen's Council, the white instrument for segregation in the South that includes many top civic organizations, actually operates—and the big difference between the Council and the Ku Klux Klan. • The story behind the Emmett Till and Autherine Lucy cases.

Don't miss "The Deep South Says 'Never!'"

"I Call on Wyatt Earp" — Post editor Pete Martin reports on the real life of TV's fastest-drawing, straightest-shooting Western marshal, as played by that glamorous Hollywood bachelor Hugh O'Brian.

Half Million Hear Graham In Four Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — The gate count at Billy Graham's New York crusade has totalled more than 800,000 in four weeks and the people still are flocking to hear him nightly by the thousands.

"During this first month," Graham said Tuesday night, "we have seen God do great and marvellous things in this city."

The crusade, which the evangelist says has stirred the greatest response he has ever seen in his preaching around the world, still has more than another month to go.

No other event—circus, sporting spectacle or horse show—has ever been able to fill Madison Square Garden for such an extended period, but the turnout for Graham's sermons shows no signs of letting up.

Attendance has averaged 18,200 —almost capacity — since the start, a total of 501,000. Nearly 16,929 have stepped forward to begin what Graham calls "a new life of joy and peace in Christ."

BUILDING ACTIVITIES

Building seems to be the keynote of the times along the Main St. of the town and bespeaks well of the progress the town is making. On Tuesday bulldozers were preparing the ground for the erection of the offices for the Quinte Fuel Company owned by A. A. Burley. Across the road H. A. Moody is making considerable improvement to the rear of his block of stores.

Further east cement blocks are already piled for the erection of the Masonic Temple. All this, coupled with several homes under construction on various streets, means a considerable increase in assessment for next year.

Progress is also being made by the Dravo Company in their acquisition of property along the waterfront. The future looks better for the town than it has in some years.

Link Costello With Las Vegas Gambling Resort

NEW YORK (AP)—The mysterious $1,284 notation on a slip of paper found in gambler Frank Costello's pocket the night he was shot tallies exactly with the total gambling winnings for a 34-day period at the Tropicana Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., a spokesman for district attorney Frank Hogan said Wednesday.

The spokesman said that on the basis of this finding it would be "a fair assumption that Costello has a good piece of the Tropicana and that is why he clammed up when asked about the figures by the grand jury."

Costello, 64, was sentenced to jail for refusing to answer questions about the gambling memorandum before a Manhattan grand jury investigating the attempt to assassinate him May 2.

Police are said to consider that the slip of paper may lead to the motive for the still-unsolved shooting of Costello.

New York authorities contend Costello knows more about the attempt to assassinate him than he has told. For clamming up before the grand jury he received a 30-day contempt-of-court sentence, but after serving 15 days in the workhouse he was released on $1,000 bail pending appeal.

"I saved enough for a NEW HAT!"

—says one housewife

* A recent survey of housewives reveals an amazing fact! Women who shop at Dominion regularly say they believe that prices in general are lower at Dominion. Those who do not shop at Dominion are not aware of this.

That proves that women who shop at Dominion week in . . . week out . . . find savings that are really worthwhile. Naturally, women who do not shop at Dominion cannot possibly know about these savings.

Here's what one housewife says: "I don't expect everything to be lower, but I do know that in the long run I save at Dominion."

Another woman said: "The pennies add up. Every once in a while I treat myself to a new hat, figuring that I have saved enough by careful shopping at Dominion."

Have YOU tried DOMINION lately?

Do it today! Do all your shopping at Dominion for a month. You, too, will discover what many other women know. "You can cut food costs at Dominion!"

The Progressive Conservative leader showing few signs of the little sleep he has had in the last four days, left Prince Albert in a chartered pontoon - equipped Beaver aircraft at 11:30 a.m. EDT. He returned in a two-engined Saskatchewan government airways plane at 7:45 p.m. and planned to spend the evening in seclusion at his Prince Albert home. He said he expects to return to Saskatoon today to catch a plane to Ottawa in the evening.

FLEW OVER BUSH

Wednesday, he flew over the farm-dotted countryside that extends for about 40 miles north of Prince Albert, then over bush country and hundreds of little lakes into this settlement of 1,000 population on the shores of Lac la Ronge. About 150 school children turned out to welcome him and in a brief speech at the dock, Mr. Diefenbaker expressed his gratification at the results of the election and surprise at the growth of the town which lives largely on trapping, fishing and the tourist trade.

It was a perfect day for fishing. The skies were clear with the sun shining gently and a slight breeze blowing. While the Diefenbaker party had to be content with small lackfish and a pickerel or two, a 20-pound lake trout was hauled in 100 yards away by a party of tourists.

Mr. Diefenbaker had nothing to say on politics.

Battle Against Air Pollution Apparently Won at Nylon Plant Located at Maitland

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—A scientific battle against air pollution has apparently been won at the nylon plant at Maitland, Ont., of Du Pont Company of Canada.

A technical 29-page paper on the matter—a sort of textbook in itself for those faced with similar situations—was read to the current annual meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada by H. R. L. Streight of Du Pont's engineering department.

The battle began when the plant was in the design stage, with the result that by the time operations began, the amount of contaminating matter sent into the air was, in the words of Mr. Streight, "low and safe." He added:

"The experience gained has convinced us that air pollution from a complex organic chemical plant can be controlled.

"Success of control is indicated by the establishment of a recreational area on the St. Lawrence River by the employees, on a site which is both downwind and downstream from the plant."

TO MAKE NYLON

The plant manufactures basic chemicals for making nylon — known as "nylon intermediates."

Its 1,500-acre site is in an "agricultural and recreational community" on the St. Lawrence River, about seven miles northeast of Brockville, more than four miles southwest of Prescott and nearly four miles from Eigenbourg, N.Y.

Indicating the extent of research required, the normal degree of air pollution around Maitland was determined and compared for purposes of arriving at a basis—with rural areas at McGregor, 15 miles south of Windsor, Ont., and a location 30 miles from Leicester, England.

Some pollution was already present—some of it apparently from Brockville and Ogdensburg and "an important pollution from an unknown northwest source—perhaps Ottawa and Hull, 90 miles away."

LESS ON ANIMALS

Gardens were planted to assess effects of potential pollution on vegetation, and Mr. Streight commented: "The effect of pollutants on animals and insects is much less than on plants. For instance, air contaminants which damaged alfalfa by 25 per cent did not affect the cattle consuming it."

He summarized the results of the prolonged and intricate study as follows:

"Air pollution was reduced by designing the boiler-house stacks for adequate dispersion of fumes and by developing and installing an absorption system for almost complete removal of oxides of nitrogen in effluent gases."

LEGISLATURE ENDS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Lieutenant-Governor Sir Leonard Outerbridge prorogued the Newfoundland legislature Wednesday after the longest session since Confederation. The House had been in session since March 25.

Reserve Verdict On Liquor Sale At Race Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario liquor licence board Wednesday reserved decision on an application by the Ontario Jockey Club to sell wine and beer at Old and New Woodbine race tracks.

The jockey club request for permits ran into heavy opposition from the United Church of Canada, a former member of the Ontario legislature and residents in the vicinity of New Woodbine.

Dr. J. R. Mutchmore, secretary of the board of evangelism and social service of the United Church of Canada, cautioned against putting more impaired drivers on the road.

Two New Woodbine area residents presented an anti-permit petition to the board signed by 457 residents.

W. H. Temple, former member of the legislature, contended that the OJC had given assurances that it would receive a beer licence at New Woodbine long before the track was built last year.

The three-man board as well as Joseph Sedgwick, counsel for the jockey club, denied that any such assurances had been given.

Vote Set Record With 74 Per Cent Going to Polls

TORONTO (CP) — Compilation of the popular vote by provinces in the June 10 Dominion election shows that the Progressive Conservatives polled more than half the vote in P. E. I. and Nova Scotia and the Liberals did the same in Newfoundland and Quebec. No other province voted more than half for one party.

A Canadian Press compilation based on 96 per cent of polls shows an all-Canada total of 6,322,093 votes, well above the previous record of 5,848,704 established in 1949. Indications are that from 73 to 74 per cent of eligible voters went to the polls, compared with 67 per cent in 1953. The record high was 75.4 per cent in 1945.

Following table shows Liberal and Progressive Conservative vote by provinces (percentages bracketed):

Gardiner Sees Defeat Result Of Lengthy Rule

REGINA (CP) — Agriculture minister Gardiner, on his way to a cabinet meeting in Ottawa, said Wednesday that the Liberal defeat was the result of "a general opinion that it was time for a change."

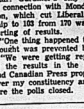
"We had been in a long time, longer than any other government," he said in an interview.

He would not speculate on what decisions will be taken at the cabinet meeting today.

Mr. Gardiner's only complaint in connection with Monday's election, which cut Liberal membership to 103 from 170 was the reporting of results.

"One thing happened that I had thought was prevented by law.

"We were getting reports both of the results in the Maritimes and Canadian Press prophecies all over my constituency an hour before the polls closed.



"I heard the results of Mr. Garson's defeat (Justice Minister Stuart Garson) over the Winnipeg radio before our polls closed.

"The last time that happened was in 1930 when the R.B. Bennett government was elected and I thought we had to put a law in to prevent it since then. Of course I don't know what happened in the rest of Canada."

Apparently the Winnipeg radio station mentioned by Mr. Gardiner could be heard in his constituency, Melville. Manitoba stations are permitted by law to broadcast election results when Manitoba polls close. Because of time-zone differences, Manitoba polls close an hour before Saskatchewan polls.

Merger of 2 Labor Groups No Monopoly Threat--Forsey

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Eugene Forsey said today in effect, that the Canadian Labor Congress is neither bogeyman nor patsy.

Dr. Forsey, research director of the 1,000,000-member congress, said there are many limitations set in the CLC to disprove the fears of some that the congress holds a monopoly over labor or that it can deliver the votes of its members to one party.

Speaking to the Canadian Political Science Association, he said the only other implication of the merger of the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress last year is the complete autonomy of the CLC.

The new congress was fully independent, "with no strings attached." It ran its own affairs and often, notably on political action and on foreign policy, it followed a different line from that of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations in the United States.

Canadian branches of international unions with U.S. headquarters ran their own affairs except that strikes usually required the consent of the international office, which must not be still.

"Practically all the rest of the chatter about 'American control' is eyewash, spouting from pure ignorance," Dr. Forsey told the political scientists, one of 23 groups holding concurrent meetings here at the convention of learned societies.

He said the CLC will not become a labor monopoly, as some persons fear, because it can't. It does not bargain, nor can it order an affiliated union to do anything.

It was no more a monopoly than the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce or the Canadian Retail Merchants' Association.

As for the CLC's so-called "immense political power" Dr. Forsey said, with a wry humor, the CLC could mean about 2,000,000 voters —"2,000,000 voters swaying like reeds in the wind at the breath of Mr. Jodoin (CLC President Claude Jodoin) sounds pretty formidable."

"But Mr. Jodoin hasn't the necessary breath, and the reeds wouldn't even if he had. They aren't reeds; they are free men and women."

EELS FROM SKY

FIACENZA, Italy (AP) — It rained eels here Sunday night—dozens and dozens of them about four inches long. WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Robert Morgan Studios of Dancing, Windsor, Ltd., was described Tuesday by Mr. Justice Wilfred Lazier as being "nothing more than a front of wheedling money out of foolish, credulous, easily impressed and simple-minded people."

Mr. Justice Judson delivered his blistering attack in granting judgment of $1,700 against the studio and John Glandon, the manager, and Maureen McBride, an instructor.

"I am surprised that a business of this kind can operate," His Lordship declared. "It should not operate. There should be some authority that is interested in suppressing fraudulent operators of this kind."

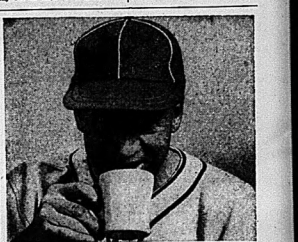
Little Benny's Notebook

Us fellows were talking and arguewing around the letter box, and Sid Hunt came up, saying, Hey Benny, how about those 6 cents you owe me.

You'll get them, I said. Not saying when, and somebody elts said, I remember the ferst and last and only time I ever owed anybody any money.

Being Shorty Judge's grandfather Mr. Peevy in his sailer hat and blue coat with the brass buttons, and us fellows said, When was that, what happened, tell us about it.



Which he started to, saying, I owed 40 dollers to a sad eyed sailer named Mulligan Tawny, and I congradulated myself that I'd never have to pay it back, because Tawny disappeered from site for about 10 years, and then I signed up for the long sail around the horn, and we picked up a poor shipwrecked derlt cling ing to a raft, and who was it but Tawny. He was too modest to actually ask me for his 50 dollars, but he kept following me around the decks with his sad shipwrecked eyes till I couldn't stand it any longer.

Did you pay him I said, and Mr. Peevy said, I couldn't afford to. I had 5 wives all in diffrent ports, and a man's ferst duty is to his families. So I put a proposition up to the captain. I told him I'd let him beat me at checkers every day for 10 days if he paid me 5 dollers a day. The captain was only too glad to take me up on it, because I was the checker champeen of the 7 seas and it would give him something to brag about the rest of his life, and that's how I got the 50 dollers to pay Mulligan Tawny back.

And he kept on going, smoking his short pipe, and I promised Sid Hunt to pay him tomorrow for sure.

MARSH HILL

P.S. Pupil Writes Essay On 'Litterbugs'

MARSH HILL — This is one of the essays written by the pupils of Marsh Hill School in common with the "Project Litterbug" which has been sponsored by the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario and for which Pine Grove Women's Institute gave the pupils a gift for their effort.

"A MENACE LITTERBUGS"

I wonder how people can destroy the beautiful works of God by throwing litter around. When going for a drive, people expect to see beautiful countryside, not paper and other things careless people have thrown away. It is up to us to keep a place as it was when we came, and not let other people pick up our rubbish for us.

There are many things being done to try and stop this. In public places there are baskets and pails for rubbish. People put notices in the paper to try and call attention to your carelessness. Children learn in school that throwing paper and peelings around is an unhealthy and dirty thing to do. People have been fined heavily for throwing litter on the highways.

TRASH CONTAINERS

In some places there are signs asking you to please put your trash into containers.

Some people, after being caught and maybe fined, do not throw litter around quite as freely, and some not at all. Then there are people who just throw litter out the window and think nothing of it. We do not want the countryside all cluttered up and we can help by being very careful and follow the rules. If careful people set an example, others might see how careless they are, and start following it. Nobody likes litterbugs so do not be one.

HEAP KILLS NINE

CIUDAD ALEMAN, Mexico (AP) — Dehydration resulting from the current heat wave has killed nine children in the last three days in Ciudad Aleman and two nearby towns in Mexico's Papaloapan River Valley.

More smart people are choosing comfort and convenience -by bus!

. . . because of some very sound reasons. For one thing, highway travel is by far the most interesting. You really enjoy the scenery when you're relaxed in the comfort of a modern luxury bus — behind one of the world's safest drivers.

And it's so convenient. Terminals are right in the middle of town, or there's a handy pick-up point nearby. In fact, a Colonial Coach Lines bus stops at a pick-up point somewhere in the province every minute of the day! On long runs there are frequent stops for refreshment . . . pleasant interludes which make the journey seem shorter. No parking problems when you get there.

And, of course, it's smart to go by bus because you save — bus travel costs much less than other forms of public transportation. Next time you're going places . . . to town for shopping, or long distance . . . go by bus.

The magnificent new "Highway Traveller" . . . Air-Ride, Air-Conditioned!

. . . it pays to GO BY COLONIAL

Favorite Wins Shevlin Stakes At Belmont Park

NEW YORK (AP) — Adele L. Rand's Clem, the favorite, captured the $62,950 Shevlin Stakes at Belmont Park, N.Y., Wednesday as he put away Out To Win by six lengths.

His time for the seven furlongs was 1:21 3-5. Tenacious placed third.

The three-year-old Clem, ridden by Conn McCreary, picked up $15,800 for his owner.

Leading all the way under jockey Jack Skelly, Leather Button won the $18,175 Joliet Stakes for two-year-olds at Washington Park, Homewood, Ill.

Trailing by four lengths was Benedict. Bellito S. W. was third. The winner earned $11,800 for Rockmoore Farms. He ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:05 3-5.

Hubcap ran the five furlongs in :58 4-5 to lead Bumpy Road home by 2½ lengths and win the $15,600 Christiana Stakes at Delaware Park, Stanton, Del.

Hubcap picked up $9,525 of the purse. Ambitwist was third.

Pontiacs Win Lacrosse Game

LONG BRANCH (CP) — Two quick goals at the start of the third period by Florian Yvochieson and Clark Purford put Long Branch Pontiacs ahead to stay as they defeated Hamilton Lincolnas 13-10 in a Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association game Wednesday night.

Long Branch trailed through most of the game and were behind 10-9 until the quick pair put them ahead. Purford led the scoring with three goals. Yvochieson, Norm Neave and Peter Rose getting two each.

Jim McNulty was top Hamilton scorer with four while Bill Logan had three and Leo Testro two.

LORDS SIGN FINCH

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Tackle Al Finch returned his signed contract to become the 19th Canadian player to sign with London Lords.

At the same time guard Don Thayer announced his retirement from football. Both played with Lords last season.

Finch, 33, stands six foot two inches and weighs 235 pounds. He is a veteran of the Senior ORFU having played three seasons with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Thayer gave pressure of business as his reason for quitting the game.

Minor Baseball

Rollins Construction gained a decisive 7-2 victory over Parkdale last night in a bantam baseball fixture.

The winners had added two more in the top of the seventh but darkness halted activity with the score reverting back to the last complete inning.

Bill Carson gained the victory, going the route on the hill for Rollins. He allowed five hits, whiffed 11 and walked four.

Ray started for Parkdale with Stratton taking over in the second. They were tagged for five hits between them, fanning two and passing seven.

Parkdale plated all their runs in the second frame while Rollins netted one in the first, three in the second, one in the fourth and two in the sixth.

Dick Thompson and Campbell led the winners at bat with doubles while Ken Nolan, Skinner and Ken Cameron has singles.

Davis helped in defeat while Morris, Stratton, Mills and Burley singled.

ROUGHERS SIGN TWO

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders of Big Four Football League have announced signing of hometown quarterback Red Kotchak and guard Marv Bevan.

Kotchak, a playground kicking specialist, came to Ottawa from Montreal Alouettes halfway through the 1956 season. He previously played with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Bevan broke into major league football with Riders last year.

Girl Setting League Afire With Batting

GALT (CP) — A 19-year-old player with a batting average of .433 is setting the Galt Atom Baseball league on fire.

The figure is impressive, especially as the batter is a girl, Jane Oliver.

Jane, who plays second base for the Senators, is the only girl on the roster of 20 teams in the Galt minor baseball organization.

"My neighbor's a bad idea," she said when she was asked if she would like to get into major league baseball. "But Mommy tells me I'm certain to change my mind later."

She joined Senators when the manager of the team saw her using a fool and invited her to join. Jane was wearing slacks at the time and the manager didn't realize she was a girl until after the first game.

Field of 162 Ready to Start In Open Tourney

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Amid some murmuring among the athletes about closely-cropped greens and uncropped rough, a field of 162 started today in quest of the 57th National Open golf championship at historic Inverness club.

Eight champions were on hand. The others ranged in age from 17-year-old amateur Jackie Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, to 63-year-old wee Bobby Cruickshank of Pittsburgh, who tied for the title 34 years ago but lost the playoff to Bobby Jones.

The list of favorites is long. Dr. Cary Middlecoff, defending king from Memphis, has been relegated by the group granted only an outside chance due to a slump which he hasn't been able to shake.

Everyone seems to think the new champ, at the end of the 72-hole medal play test which winds up with Saturday's 36-hole marathon, will come from a talented bracket including four-time champion Ben Hogan, four-time runner-up Sam Snead, Masters champion Doug Ford, PGA champion Jack Burke whose dad tied for second here 24 years ago, and Peter Thomson of Australia, three-time winner of the British Open.

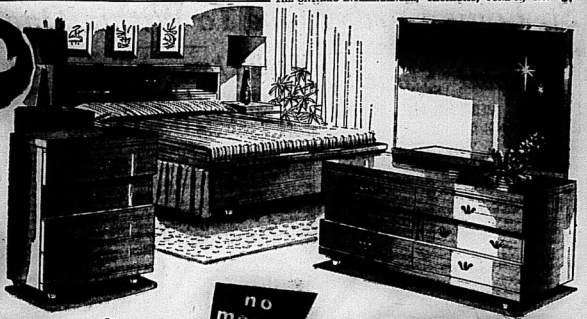
Three Canadians are entered—Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., Gerry Kessering of Kitchener and Rudy Horvath of Windsor.

Bowling Notes

With the largest women's membership in the history of the Bowling Club, that section of the club is off to a most successful season. Mrs. Mary Colling is the president of the women's section and she has gathered around her an energetic committee, which is working to make the club the best in the district.

On each Thursday of the week the women hold forth on the excellent greens and the afternoon of bowling on the greens and bridge in the clubhouse is topped off with a delightful tea hour.

Last Thursday the winners of bowling were Mrs. E. Bialad, Mrs. L. Hermon and Mrs. Millie Smith: Mrs. Irene Trudeau, Miss Winnie Smith and Mrs. B. O'Connor: Mrs. G. Avery, Mrs. M. McKay and Mrs. P. Legault: Mrs. T. Mascaro, Mrs. T. Wardhaugh and Mrs. B. Gerow.



The bridge winners were Mrs. W. Coulby, Mrs. Hinchey, Mrs. Kilbank, Mrs. Fred Wilson, Mrs. E. Elridge and Mrs. George Lee.

Hostesses for the tea hour were Mrs. M. Colling, Mrs. A. Watkin, Mrs. C. Gilbert, Mrs. L. Hyde and Miss Winnie Smith.

St. Louis Cards Move To Within One Game Of Top Spot In National

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

School examinations have played havoc with baseball and softball schedules this past week.

Three games have been postponed because of the younger players in both the Belleville and District Baseball and Softball Leagues. Last night the softball fixture slated for Madoc with the Belleville Bobcats as the visiting team was postponed while the previous evening the Madoc at Trenton game was called off between the two Junior clubs.

The baseball game, Belleville Juvniles at Trenton Juniors, scheduled for last night was also postponed.

Apparently the boys are spending the evenings studying rather than playing ball.

At least seven of the top 10 golfers now on the U.S. tournament circuit are coming to the Canadian Open at Kitchener-Waterloo in July in quest of the Seagram Gold Cup and $25,000 in prize money.

Contacted at the Rubber City Open in Akron a few days ago, no fewer than 59 circuit golfers announced plans to compete in the Canadian golf classic at Westmount Golf and Country Club, July 11-14. The group, and their 1957 prize money totals up to latest PGA compilation on May 26, included:

Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., $27,031; Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., a 1955 winner of the Seagram Gold Cup at Weston, $22,462; Bill Casper, Jr., Chula Vista, Cal., $11,875; Ed Furgol, St. Louis, Mo., $11,878; Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., $10,837; Dey Finsterwald, Bedford Hills, Ohio, $10,662; Jay Hebert, Lafayette, La., $10,633; Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., $8,708; Al Besselink, Grossingers, N.Y., $7,676; Al Balding, Toronto, $5,848; Bo Winniger, Oklahoma City, Okla., $5,421 and Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla., $5,400.

Not all of the big names in golf were present at Akron when officials of the Professional Golfers' Association of America canvassed them on behalf of the Royal Canadian Golf Association. But the fact that 59 circuit players — including an impressive quantity of top money winners — said they would come to the Canadian Open indicates a record entry. In addition to the 12 named above, the following said they would not be surprised to:

Ed Rubio, Chicago Falls, Mass.; Chris Gers, Davis, Okla.; Wilfred Lasseigne, Lafayette, La.; Bill Trombley, Dallas, Tex.; Wally Ulrich, Austin, Minn.; Mike Petchick, Mahopac, N.Y.; Bud Holcher, Apple Valley, Cal.; Don Whitt, Alameda, Cal.; Tom Nieporte, Miami, Fla.; Ed Whalley, Salem, Mass.; Paul Harney, Bolton, Mass.; Don January, Lampasas, Tex.; Lionel Hebert, Lafayette, La.; John Knight, Springfield, Ill.; Tommy Jacobs, Whittier, Cal.

Bill Boee, Bridgeport, Conn.; Bo Winzant, Vernon, Tex.; Herman Keiser, Barberton, Ohio; Howie Johnson, Houston, Tex.; Paul O'Leary, Culver City, Cal.; Bill Nary, Wayne, Mich.; Bob Schoener Jr., Allentown, Pa.; Henry Ransom, St. Andrews, Ill.; Bob Toski, Miami Fla.; Don Fairfield, Casey, Ill.; Gerry Kesselring, Toronto; Gene Coghill, Rochester, N.Y.; Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, Cal.; Babe Lichardus, Hillside, N.J.; Johnny Pott, Shreveport, La.

Joe Zakarian, Detroit, Mich.; Fred Hawkins, Ela Paso, Tex.; Gard Dickinson, Panama City-Beach, Fla.; Ernie Vossler, Midland, Tex.; Pat Schwab, Dayton, Ohio; Leo Biagetti, St. Paul, Minn.; Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex.; Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, Ind.; Jay Wendy Ilyton, Midland, Tex.; Walter Inman Jr., Bolton, Mass.; Pete Mazur, Tonawanda, N.Y.; Gay Brewer Jr., Cincinnati, Ohio; Bill Parker, Tulsa, Okla.; Jim Simpson, Grand Hinde, Calif.; George Fazio, Philadelphia, Pa.; John Cleary, Hartford, Conn.; George Bigham, Kansas City, Mo.

"Nature," says District Forester D. R. Wilson, "has supplied us with signs which show us north, south, east and west quitely clearly.

"Find a full-grown hardwood tree which stands slightly apart from its neighbors. Now, carefully look at the bark. It will be harder, lighter and drier on the south side while on the north side moss will generally be found growing on the tree at its base. This is particularly noticeable on oak, ash, elm and hard maple.

"If the area has been recently cut over, examine the stumps. The rings of wood will be thicker on the south side than on the north so that the heart of the stump is nearer the north side.

"If you are unable to determine direction by using nature's guides don't become panicky. REMAIN WHERE YOU ARE and it will not be long until you are missed by your companions or guides. They will have a general idea of your location and a party can be organized to make a thorough search of the area."

Canada's Top Power Boat Race Cancelled

WINDSOR (CP) — The Maple Leaf Unlimited, Canada's top powerboating event which has been run annually since 1948 on the Detroit River, will not be held this year.

The Windsor Yacht Club, sponsor of the event, has cancelled this year's running for two reasons.

Dr. L. J. Miller, commodore of the club, said Wednesday the major reason for cancellation of the classic was "lack of funds." Last year's running cost the club $4,500. The same reason was given for cancelling the race in 1953.

Few powerboat owners had planned to enter this year's race which also prompted race officials to call off the event.

Thousands of fans filled out of Comiskey Park early today shivering because of the wee-hour chill and the awesome display of power by Mickey Mantle.

Chicago White Sox won the marathon game from New York Yankees, 7 to 6, and thereby stretched their American League lead over Yanks to five games, but Mantle stole the slugging show.

Mighty Mickey was terrific. He sent a mass shudder through the crowd of 40,033 in the ninth by blasting a two-run, 425-foot homer into the centre field bullpen that left Yankees just one run behind the Sox.

That one was Mantle's 11th of the season. It ended No. 17 into the lower left field stands in the first inning. It was the first time this season he has smashed two in one game.

Mantle now has pounded seven homers in the last eight games—four of them in the last three.

SECOND TO TED

He collected four hits in five times at bat during the long evening. Mantle is now hitting at a .378 clip, topped only by Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox with .383.

All told there were 25 hits in the game—14 by New York and 11 by Chicago.

In other games Cleveland held on to third place, beating Boston 6-1 and fourth-place Detroit took Baltimore 4-2. Kansas City and Washington split a two-night pair. As the winning 5-3 and then losing 3-0.

Wally Dropo batted in three for Chicago, with a two-run homer that tied it in the second and a single that brought across the first of two fourth-inning markers that gave Sox the lead for keeps. Hank Bauer and Bill Skowron also homered for Yanks while Jim Rivera connected for Chicago.

RAIN DELAYS IT

Jack Harshman failed to finish, but won his second in 19 decisions with Yankees. Johnny Kucks lost it, getting ripped hard after a delay of one hour and an hour between the first and second innings because of rain.

Cleveland scored five runs in the second, four of them unearned, as Herb Score pitched with a wild throw and also balked. Al Smith singled home a pair in the big inning as Don Mossi went the distance, scattering nine hits for his 10th victory.

A double by Billy Klaus after singles by Jim Lepcio and Sammy White in the fifth cost Mossi his shutout.

TIES FOR STRIKEOUTS

Jim Bunning matched the league leading strikeout total of 70 held by Chicago's Billy Pierce as he fanned nine and got a six - hitter against Orioles. He walked none but gave up homers to Bob Nieman and Bob Boyd in winning his sixth.

J. W. Porter smacked a two-run homer off loser Art Ceccarelli as Tigers scored three runs in the first inning. They got their other run in the sixth.

Arnold Portocarrero scattered seven hits in seven innings to gain credit for the A's' victory. Camilo Pascual went the route for Washington, giving up six hits, three of which were homers by Lou Skizas, Gus Zernial and Hal Smith.

Washington got to Ned Garver for a hit and two walks in the ninth inning to set up the tie-breaking run. Rocky Bridges filed out to centre Roy Sievers after the catch. Reliever Truman Clevenger won his fifth against no losses.

Mantle's Awesome Display Of Power Not Enough to Lift Yankees Over Chicago

By Ed Wilks
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis Cardinals, rocketing along while the rest of the baseball fizzled, finally have themselves a spot in the National League's first division—a fifth place berth that's only one game removed from the lead.

In a week's time, the Cards have won eight in a row, making up 9½ games on the leaders in a push that's been carried by three pitchers and a couple of old pros named Stan Musial and Del Ennis.

They quit fifth place Wednesday night, defeating Philadelphia 4-0, gain a share of fourth with the Phillies Thursday.

First-place Cincinnati was slugged a third time in succession by seventh-placer Pittsburgh, this time in a 4-3, 10-inning decision. That left Redlegs a half-game ahead, five percentage points in front of Milwaukee and Brooklyn, scheduled for a twi-night after the Dodgers put an end to a four-game skid with an 11-8 victory over Braves.

New York Giants, with all their runs unearned, defeated Chicago Cubs 4-3 in the other game.

Musial and Ennis, who have batted in 18 of Cards' 37 runs as the Redbirds put together their best winning streak since 1953, drove in a run with singles and Ennis' scoring a run, while breaking the league record for consecutive games with a hit at 822 by Pittsburgh's Gus Suhr from 1931 to 1937.

And Ennis, batting .353 in the Card surge, walloped his fourth home run in the streak, a three-run job that bagged it for good measure. Robin Roberts, the Phillies' veteran gave only four hits in his seven innings, but two were the blows that Ennis homers in a row this far in a 6-8 record. Don Blasingame got the other.

Larry Jackson, a relief pitcher gone square, won his eighth of the season with a five-hitter. The righthander has won two in the Cardinals' streak, as have reliever Murry Dickson and bonus kid Lindy McDaniel.

LOSES FOURTH

Dodgers, who scored only four runs in the previous four games, had a field day as Ted Kazanski's winless Gene Conley took his fourth defeat. Jim Gilliam had four in the final four Brooklyn runs with a triple and home run—and they were batted in by Gilliam and Frank Torre. Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron hit home runs in the Milwaukee frames for the Braves. Ed Roebuck, relieving Johnny Podres, pitched relief himself to win his first.

Mathews' homer was his 200th in the majors, a club record. Wally Berger had hit 199 for the old Boston Braves and Boston Redlegs, who hadn't lost an extra-inning game in five tests, finally got caught after blowing a 3-1 lead. A single by Gene Freese did it, beating reliever Tom Acker. Roy Face won it in relief. Ted Kluszewski, back off the disabled list, hit into a force out in a pinch-hit try—his first appearance since Aug. 26 last year.

Willie Mays' three-run homer tied it for Giants in the sixth. Mays drew a base on balls in the ninth and jogged home with the winner as catcher Clay Hoenan threw wild on the theft. Al Worthington won his seventh in relief.

SECOND TEST FRIDAY

BRANTFORD (CP)—Eighty-four golfers, including most of Ontario's top amateurs, will tee off Friday in the second of a two-hole trials for places on Ontario's Willingdon Cup team.

The third and final trial will be the 54 holes of the Ontario Open. Jack Farley of Toronto Scarboro took the lead in the trials with a 141 in the 36-hole test at Burlington last week.

Maple Leafs Pick up Ground By Splitting With Marlins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Glenn Cox has been kicking around the minors and briefly in the majors for eight of his 30 years but he has just found the range of his as well as pitch.

The big right hander (5-1, .909 record) chalked up his sixth victory against one defeat as Buffalo Bisons edged the pace - setting Richmond Virginians 5-4 Wednesday night.

Cox connected for three straight hits, one a double, to run his hitting streak to four straight including a pinch single Monday night. Since May 26 he has had 11 hits in 16 official trips to the plate. Five of the 11 were home runs.

In moving within five games of the Virginians, the third place Bisons beat Jim Coates, who went down to his second defeat against seven victories after yielding 10 hits in seven innings, including a homer by Luke Easter.

The second-place Toronto Maple Leafs also picked up ground on Richmond, splitting a double-header with Miami Marlins. Miami won the first, 6-4, but the Leafs came back to take the second 5-3.

Montreal and Havana also divided a doubleheader, the Royals winning the opener 8-1 and the Sugar Kings the nightcap 5-3. Rochester downed Columbus 2-1 in 5-4 in 11 innings and Buffalo's dueling base running.

After losing the opener, with ageless Satchel Paige gaining his third victory in relief, the Wings squared matters on the pitching of Humberto Robinson and the hitting of Mike Gollat. Robinson, famed seven and walked only one for his ninth victory in 11 decisions while Gollat came through with a bases-empty homer for all the margin the Toronto hurler needed. Bobby Micelotta paced Marlins to their triumph with three straight hits and two runs Bobby Young also contributed a homer.

Montreal cracked out 15 hits in winning its opener with Havana and ousted Sugar Kings 13-8 in the second but the Cubans made the most of their blows in the late innings.

Verdi clinched a single into a double in the 11th and then dashed home as the Jets fumbled a double play.

Ontario Horses Making Money At Richelieu

MONTREAL (CP)—Jay Creed from Victoria Harbor, Ont., Debora Frost from Brampton and Punch Herbert from Montreal each captured their divisions of the $5,580 2.24 stake pace Wednesday night at Richelieu Park.

Jay Creed, driven by Keith Waples, stepped the mile in 2:04 4-5, fastest time of the three. Meadow Mom from Brampton handled by Keith McKinley was second.

McKinley also drove Debora Frost to victory in the 2:07 2-5. Waples was at the reins of Ross Volo from Allan Craig which came second. Talmage Hanover was third with Gypsy Rose Chief from Tillsonburg.

Waples picked up another second place behind Punch Herbert with Mighty Phyllis from Atwood, Ont.

Carroll Hanover from Guelph with Bill Rabkirk in the sulky won the $1,500 mile B pace. The time was 2:07.

Clarence Lockhart brought Duke of Marshal across in front in the $1,500 B trot. The Collingwood horse ran the mile in 2:09 1-5. Chief Hal from Morrisburg driven by Roy Buchanan was second and McKinley got third money with True Key from Brampton.

Cowan Will Not Complete in Flint Tourney

TORONTO (CP)—Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Canadian amateur junior golf champion, said Wednesday night he will not complete in an international pro - amateur match at Flint, Mich., June 17 because it might endanger his amateur standing.

His decision came after the Royal Canadian Golf Association said any amateur accepting expense money for taking part in it able to lose his amateur status.

Cowan said that at the time of his selection he thought the team was an official Canadian representative.

In Winnipeg, George Knudson, one of Manitoba's leading amateurs, said he will not take part in the match for the same reason.

The two other Canadian amateurs invited, Nick Weslock of Windsor and Don Doe of Granby, Que., have not yet indicated whether they will go.

Virgil Akins Step Closer To Title Fight

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Virgil (Honeybear) Akins of St. Louis was a step closer to a shot at the welterweight title today following a close but unanimous decision over Walter Byars of Boston, but his manager said his future plans are somewhat indefinite.

Eddie Yarwitz said he expected to send Akins next against either Gaspar Ortega or the No. 1 challenger for Carmen Basilio's welterweight crown, Johnny Demarco—a recent upset victim of Byars.

Akins, the nation's fifth-ranked welterweight, scored repeatedly on the head in the late rounds of Wednesday night's 10-rounder.

A near capacity crowd of 2,000 fans readily booed the decision. Referee Paddy Mills had Akins ahead 96-93 under the 10-point "must" system, judge Johnny Burton had Akins in front 99-96 and judge Charles E. Ford gave Akins a 96-94 edge.

Akins weighed 148 and Byars 144.

Two Hurlers Share in No-Hit Game

HAMILTON (CP) — A sporty parity, two pitchers sharing a no-hitter, happened twice in Hamilton softball leagues Wednesday night. In each game, the score was 2-0 and all four pitchers were righthanders.

In a Big Four League game, Dick Roach of Jerry's fired in the fifth but left before giving up a hit. Russ Johnson took over and completed the game, allowing no 5 hits.

In the Wel-Da-May Community circuit, Joe Noble got the starting assignment for Woodside Inn, worked five frames and was relieved by Bob Gillies who completed the no-hit performance.

Oakville Oaks Extend Lead In Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Oakville Oaks' first baseman Grant Redshaw, usually a good-glove, no-hit player, discovered an unexpected big bat Wednesday night and helped Oaks extend their first-place lead in the Senior Intercounty League.

Redshaw pounded out five hits, including a triple and a double, and drove in five runs to help Oaks clip Galt Terriers 16-5.

No other games in the Intercounty or the Great Lakes Niagara loop were scheduled.

Oaks record now is five wins and one loss. St. Thomas Elgins and the Terriers follow, each with three wins in five games.

Three Terrier pitchers gave up 14 safeties to the heavy-hitting Oaks. Bill Chivers started and was charged with the loss. Don Riddell came on in the seventh but was tagged for six runs in two-thirds of an inning. Ray Upper finished.

PERFECT RECORD

Rene Bouchard made his third start for Oaks and picked up his third win, allowing eight hits, striking out 12 and walking three. He needed help from Jack Sinclair in the final frame. Bob Salvatorelli contributed the best pro prospects in the Detroit area.

Tonight in the Intercounty, Guelph Dymonds will be in Kitchener and St. Thomas Elgins will travel to Listowel to tackle the Legionnaires.

In the Great Lakes Niagara League Welland Switches play the league-leading Hamilton Beavers in Hamilton.

Casey Stengel Has to Shift Lineup to Keep in Race

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe DiMaggio once authored a book about being lucky to be a Yankee, and recent developments indicate he wasn't fooling.

It it wasn't luck when Hank Bauer tried to steal second with the bases loaded at Detroit, and all ending up safe with the winning run scoring, we aren't sure just what you would call it.

Which brings to mind that the Yankees currently are engaged in a series with Chicago White Sox which very well could determine whether New York is going to win the pennant, as per habit, or confound the experts by not winning.

They have two or three good men for every position and Casey Stengel could pick a lineup blindfolded which could win the pennant in a breeze.

LACK OF UNITY

It may be the Yankees have enough men for two or three good major league teams but not enough for one championship team. The fact Stengel has been shifting his lineup continually may indicate a doubt in his mind as to just which men belong in there.

The really great teams of the past had one lineup and barring injury necessitating a substitution, the lineup was in there day after day until the fans could name the batting order in their sleep.

The White Sox have been going along with pretty much the same lineup all year and they're leading the league.

What can be taken as a bad omen for New York is that, with the exception of Kansas City, it has been the hottest of the lower case clubs. It has won all six with the Athletics, but to date is even-stephen with Baltimore and Washington, with four victories and four losses with each club.

The Yankees in the past have plastered the weaker teams, something practically all championship clubs must do. They lost only five to Washington all last year and nine to Baltimore.

But right now we're underrating the other clubs. It may be their improvement rather than the Yankees deterioration. Could be.

Musial Breaks Another Record In National

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Stan Musial broke the National League record for consecutive games played when he singled in the first inning of Wednesday night's game between St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies at Connie Mack Stadium. Cards won 4-0.

The Cardinals' star played in his 823rd straight game, shattering the previous league record of 822 set by former Pittsburgh first baseman Gus Suhr from Sept. 11, 1931, to June 4, 1937. Musial started his string on opening day of 1952.

Musial now ranks fifth among the all-time iron men of baseball, behind the late Lou Gehrig, Everett Scott, Joe Sewell and Eddie Yost. He needs to play in seven more games to past Yost of Washington Senators who participated in 829 consecutive games.

The 36-year-old outfielder - first baseman ranks as the second best durable player in the history of the game. Only Gehrig, the onetime great of New York Yankees, with a record of 2,130 consecutive games and 13 complete seasons behind Musial in endurance. Musial has played nine complete seasons and has appeared in 2,102 of his team's 2,229 games since joining Cardinals 14 years ago.

VISITORS WIN FIRST

It was the first defeat this season for Guelph, which is currently heading both the Western Ontario and Hamilton and District cricket leagues.

Shoemen Down Goyer's Marines By 11-3 Score

FRANKFORD (Special)—Errors played a major part in all scoring last night as the Frankford-Bata Shoemen trounced Belleville Goyer's Marines 11-3 in a Belleville and District Softball League contest at Batawa.

The Shoemen's victory lightened the race considerably among the second, third and fourth place teams. Belleville Merchants own a 4-2 record, Marines a 3-3 record and Frankford-Bata 2-1 mark.

Frankford - Bata jumped into a 4-0 lead in the second frame, but the Marines clinked back with three in the third. The winners took over from there, netting one in the fourth, two in the fifth and four in the sixth. Faulkner pitched for the Shoemen, going all the way while allowing six hits, whiffing three and walking five. Harry Wickson was his receiver.

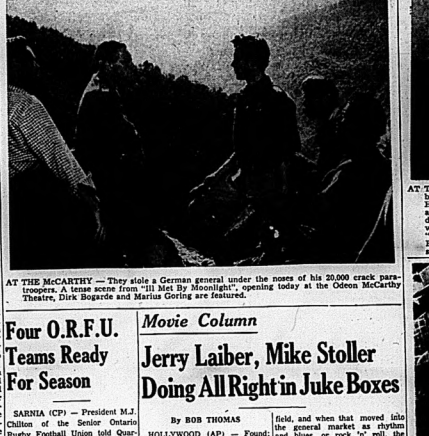
Lum Carson took the loss for Goyer's, working until the 7th. He surrendered two on strikes and passed five. Tommy Thompson completed the chore, neither fanning nor walking a man; they gave up 12 hits. Coach Leo Goyer caught.

Each team was charged with five errors. Two minutes and hits by Faulkner, Harder and Curtis gave the Combines their first four markers. Three errors followed by singles off the bats of Carson, Bovay and Gerry Goyer netted all the Marine tallies.

Errors again in the sixth hurt the visitors. Three bobbles plus Ernie Curtis' double and Field's single plated four.

Curtis paced the winner's attack with two doubles and one single. Harry Wickson and Faulkner each doubled twice while Field had two singles. The other hits went to Mike Cosgrove, Harder and Harder.

Paul Russell connected for two of the Marines safeties with Wayne Bovay, Gerry Goyer, "War" Kellett and Lum Carson getting the others.



A game scheduled for Monday evening, Madoc vs Frankford-Bata, at Batawa, has been changed to Friday evening. This game will be played at Batawa at 7.00 p.m.

Four O.R.F.U. Teams Ready For Season

Chilton said he feels Kitchener and London will field two of the stronger teams ever to compete in the league and that Beaches are working hard to come up with a title contender.

Jerry Laiber, Mike Stoller Doing All Right in Juke Boxes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Found: Two guys responsible for many of the raucous rhythms coming out of juke boxes these days.

They are Jerry Leiber and Mike Stoller, both 23, and they can't be arrested for that. Though some juke folks think it's a crime, the boys can do no wrong in the eyes of the youngsters. Their rock 'n' rollers have helped propel Elvis Presley and others to the national scene.

Houn' Dog . . . Black Denim Trousers and Motorcycle Boots . . . Love Me . . . these are a few of their hits. There are more to come.

Leiber and Stoller contributed tunes to Presley's film, Loving You. Now they've got four ditties in the wiggly one's latest film, Jailhouse Rock.

A MILLION RECORDS

The Presley songs from the flickers are guaranteed to sell at least a million records and can go from three to five. Houn' Dog sold five. Love Me totalled 2,500,000 and it was never put out as a single record! It was included as the lead song in an album.

Jerry is red-haired, nervous, single, writes the words. Mike has a high forehead, seems more calm, is married, writes the music and plays piano well enough to land a role as an ivory-tickler in Jailhouse Rock.

How did they meet?

"I was going to Fairfax High in Los Angeles and writing some songs," Jerry recalled. "I was working with a drummer who put the notes down for me. He was kind of a slow worker, so he told me about a guy he knew at City College who could write music faster. He gave me the guy's address and I went and knocked on his door."

Their meeting may not have been as momentous as that of Gilbert and Sullivan, but it proved just as happy a blend of talents.

"We worked well together," Mike reported. "We'd sit around, me at piano knocking out some riffs and Jerry suggesting and soon tossing out phrases. We'd improvise the song as we went along."

First they invaded the blues field, and when that moved into the general market at rhythm blues, or rock 'n' roll, the boys were ready to go, go go. Their big break came when Elvis heard a combo sing Houn' Dog at Las Vegas. That was it, brothers.

Their secret of success? "Maybe it was because we were still young enough to know what young kids like."

Billy Graham May Continue Regular TV Appearances

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Reports circulate that Billy Graham may continue regular television appearances after his two remaining Saturday night broadcasts scheduled from New York's Madison Square Garden over the ABC-TV network.

On the basis of his two televised programs from the Garden it now is possible to analyze the television methods of Graham and his "team."

One is first of all struck by the extraordinary facility he and his advisers have displayed in bringing the gospel message to suit the medium of television. Technically, it is a smooth production job.

The lighting is theatrical in effect, carefully contrasting black and white. The principal camera coverage is from a theatre-box angle, with carefully timed fading into audience and platform closeup.

REVERENT MUSIC

The timing of the elements of the service is interesting. The opening music emphasizes the themes of reverence and power. It has none of the syncopation that marked the revivals of such past evangelists as Billy Sunday.

Graham's prayer is notably brief—and thereby designed to hold his audience. As a clergyman once told this viewer, "I sometimes think that no one but God listens to a long, rambling prayer —and sometimes I think that even His attention wanders."

Graham's sermon is simply constructed. On Saturday he said in effect, "you have sinned . . . you must repent . . . you must believe in Christ . . . you can be saved." Compared with the noted evangelists of the past, his manner and delivery are restrained. Graham has said that his restraint is purposeful because he does not wish his personality to divert attention from his message.

Since Graham has consciously selected television as a medium to carry his message, he is in the position of having his religious service judged as a program and himself as a personality. In these respects one can objectively judge his TV appearances from Madison Square Garden as marked by great technical proficiency and Graham personally is conveying great sincerity.

Religious experience is highly subjective, however. There are viewers, including this one, who are made vaguely uneasy at watching others' religious experiences on the massive communication of the television screen.

We should remember, however, that the adaptation of mass communication techniques to a spiritual cause is not something new. Spiritual revivalists in an age have made use of the most recent methods available to them—from the days of the infant printing press through the wilderness-inspiring campfire to the radio developed by early American evangelists and to the 20th-century showmanship of Billy Sunday.

Billy Graham is no exception to the long-established fact that an evangelist reflects the age in which he lives.

Argonauts Will Feature Music, Girls at Games

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Argonauts of 1957 will feature football, music—and girls.

After last year's losing Big Four season, Argos promised drastic changes and they now have come up with definite plans for a drum majorettes and a permanent band for home and half-time entertainment at home games.

The Argo music-makers, following the pattern set by the Montreal Alouettes band, will feature seven baton - twirling females, selected for their beauty and skill with the baton.

In past years Argos have had military bands playing at their home games. Last year, however, because of a dispute with the Toronto Musicians' Union there was no band entertainment. Argos featured peewee football games during the half-time instead.

South Hastings Baseball League

The Canniton Clippers clipped Latta's win streak in the South Hastings baseball league last night by handing the Latta Flyers a 10-0 setback on the latter's own diamond.

Canniton took the lead the opening frame with one and opened a 10-0 margin before Latta licked for a pair in the seventh frame, but darkness halted the game before the inning was completed, reverting the score.

Harvey Stollker toiled on the hill for the victors, stopping the league-leaders on two safeties. He tossed third strikes by seven batters and walked only two batters.

Steward, Glass in the fourth and Chumbley in the sixth batted in Canniton's tagged for 16 assorted safeties.

Moore smashed a home run for Canniton while Baker and Stollker each poled three safeties. Fuller, Fuller, McDonald and Sheffield each connected for a pair of safeties. Singletons went to Cole, Oliver and Forsyth.

LINEUPS

Canniton: Baker, Petrie, Stollker, McDonald, Sheffield, Moore, Cole, Forsyth, Oliver.

Latta: G. Gown, F. Bay, W. Gowe, R. Sullivan, O. Glass, R. Parks, H. Skelly, B. Meeks, J. Steward, J. Hall, M. Chumbley.

Umpires: Thompson (P) and Kelleher (B). Scorer: Art Hall.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, June 14, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This day may be more favorable for business matters, everyday routine, study and other activities for which you are trained rather than new, unfamiliar enterprises. Keep interested in your duties; good will result.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — This will be no easy day, but it is beneficial to have to hustle for achievement at times. Plan carefully before you start things; you will find that the day will run more smoothly, return more for effort.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — You may have to exert yourself more, seek cooperation and advice for the ends you seek now. Don't hesitate to listen; heed — without disregarding your own intuition.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Start your day with a determination not to be ruffled or irritated if everything doesn't go off as decreed. Things one must work and plan for are usually more appreciated.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — An ordinary day, with no particular line of work either stimulated or discouraged. Keep at your program faithfully and remain cheerful so that you won't fall back in any way.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Pay close attention to business important matters. Checking details where necessary will offset "tricky" situations and bring more satisfactory results. Avoid worry.

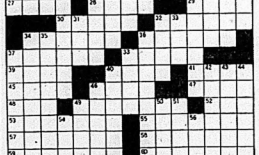
September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Your intuition and knack for handling difficult situations with ease will be great aids today — any day. Try to finish incompleted tasks; make ready for a happy, wholesome week-end.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — "There's refreshment even in toil" is a happy and appropriate thought to keep in mind today — especially if you don't find tasks and duties runnin' smoothly as usual. Your atti will be important.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Benefic Jupiter rays encourage financial transactions, investments, new business under-takings if they have been carefully analyzed and proven sound. Be careful in other activities.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Rays are not entirely suspicious fo rnew contracts, manufacture of machinery, tools, etc., or handling vehicles but the day, nevertheless, can be productive and return benefits for sound steady effort. Have faith.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Lots of determination and initiative will be needed now. Skilled endeavor — doing a thorough, conscientious job no matter the nature of the endeavor (if honorable) — will net you advancement, profit.



February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — While the influences are not so auspicious for unfamiliar projects or new ventures, this for finishing things started, and is, however, a satisfactory period clearing desk or bench in preparation for next week's activities.

You born today are quick, active, versatile and adaptable. As a rule, you are generous; will give freely of your bright ideas and assist oth...s to new heights. You may have to curb a tendency to ward restlessness and changeability. Genial natures have fine intellect; and unusual talents. It should b: their strong determination to excel in one or two endeavors rather than get a smattering of knowledge in several. Steadiness of purpose, patience and inner contentment are true aids.

Squabble Over Investments Of Teamsters' Union Funds Aired by President D. Beck

SEATTLE (AP)—"I go to bed at night and I never wake up until morning. . . I've been in this for 40 years and whatever happens doesn't bother me."

It was Dave Beck, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, speaking. He had called reporters in to present his side of a controversy over investment of union funds.

But after that had been disposed of, the discussion came around to more personal things, such as his decision to retire as union boss following unfavorable testimony at hearings held by the Senate rackets committee and charges of income tax evasion filed against him.

Beck said he had wanted to retire a year ago but that other teamster officials had persuaded him to stay on.

He said 95 per cent of his decision to not seek re-election is the ill health of Mrs. Beck.

"BOTHERS HER"

"My wife reads this stuff and it bothers her. I don't want to go through a continuous dogfight. I've reached the time when I'm entitled to say to hell with it." He pointed out that he will be 63 next Sunday.

He predicted that "this hysteria" would die down.

A reporter asked him if he "felt hurt" over "this ruckus."

The husky labor leader paused, took a deep breath, and said: "I don't feel hurt over what happened in Washington but I feel hurt over what happened in my own community."

"I feel hurt because of all the people I helped finance their projects not a ——— one said 'We never had that experience with Dave Beck.'"

SEEMS RESENTFUL

Beck seemed resentful that benefactors of his charities have not come publicly to defend him.

"Why don't you check with the American Legion who I helped get $15,000, or the YWCA ($15,000) the YMCA ($17,000) the Children's Orthopedic Hospital ($15,000) or Bellarmine High School in Tacoma ($19,000) or a lot of other groups?"

As to anyone buying property in his behalf, "nobody fronts for me."

But if a friend or a relative had a chance to make a good investment he saw no reason why he shouldn't loan them the money for it. He said "It's a lie that money comes back to me."

MINER STILL TRAPPED

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (AP)—Workers dug through the night without reaching a 19 - year - old miner trapped some 100 feet below the surface. Hope grew dim that Frank Puhnok, buried in a fall of shale in this Central Pennsylvania coal region Tuesday, was still alive. Some 30 rescuers worked in one-hour shifts during the night. Only four to six men could dig in the narrow shaft.

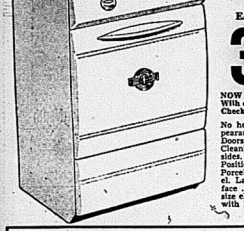
J. Arthur Rank Created Baron In Honors List

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen today awarded honors and decorations to about 2,600 of her subjects ranging from the men who took part in last year's military operation against Egypt to Sir Thomas Beecham, great orchestral conductor.

The official birthday honors list made a baron of J. Arthur Rank, British motion picture magnate, and a knight of Donald Wolfit, celebrated Shakespearean actor.

The "Suez" honors with 200 names were recorded in a special supplement to the list. Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, over-all commander of the operation, was made a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire (GBE).

SACRED HORSE DIES



TOKYO (AP) — Emperor Hirohito's favorite white horse, on which he was photographed countless times before and during the war, died May 28 at the age of 23, it was learned today. The mount, Hatsuyuki (first snow), had been immortalized as a sacred horse at the great Ise shrine, Japan's leading Shinto shrine. He was retired to the Imperial pastures in 1952.

Majesty's real birthday—she was 31 April 21—differs from the official date because by custom the sovereign's birthday is set on the Thursday of the first full week in June.

Big Powers Near Armament Pact Stassen Asserts

Now Closer to Agreement Than Any Time Since War

LONDON (AP)—Harold Stassen said today that the big powers are nearer to a first-step disarmament agreement than they have been since the Second World War.

Stassen, United States delegate to the five-power United Nations disarmament subcommittee, returned from Washington for resumption of the arms talks this afternoon after conferences with State Secretary Dulles and other American officials.

"We are nearer to an agreement for the first step than we have been at any time in the last 11 years," Stassen told reporters at London airport.

"Some difficult problems remain," he continued. "Part of the major problems have been overcome, but a few major ones remain.

"After all, the first step is the most difficult, which is verified by the fact that it has been 11 years being laid."

REDS ENCOURAGE

Officials in Washington, after Stassen's conferences there, described as encouraging Russia's latest reaction to the new U.S. plan for a limited start on arms control. Before he flew to Washington last week Stassen had discussed the American plan privately and informally with Valerian Zorin, the Soviet disarmament delegate.

Stassen and the Washington officials made their comments in the face of the Russian government's statement in Helsinki Thursday that Western proposals for disarmament control were a "screen to mask plans to continue the arms race."

The Soviet Communist party secretary also ridiculed the American proposal for a trial aerial inspection zone in the Arctic, reported to be a key point in the new American plan. Talking to reporters in Washington before his departure, Stassen implied that he considered Khrushchev's remarks were made chiefly for propaganda poses. Disarmament policies, he said, are "honest in negotiation" not in such public comments.

NEW WILLINGNESS

One specific point of encouragement in Washington was Russia's apparent willingness to allow international aerial inspectors stationed on Soviet territory.

Before leaving Washington Stassen denied reports that he had been reprimanded by Dulles for having given the Russians too much information on new U.S. disarmament proposals. He said he enjoyed full agreement among the Allies Stassen did say, however, that he was returning to the London talks with new "procedural" instructions.

It was learned meanwhile that Dulles is sending Livingston Merchant, a veteran U.S. diplomat, to London to give Stassen what is regarded as continuing guidance in the negotiations.

Liberals May Offer Support to Conservatives

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Maurice Dingues, re-elected Liberal member of the Commons for Sherbrooke in Monday's federal elections, says the Liberals may decide to offer temporary support to the Progressive Conservatives in order to keep them in power for a while.

Addressing a group of supporters here Wednesday night at a social gathering, Mr. Dingues said:

"Personally, I am ready to help the Conservatives remain in power for two years, three years or even four years, if they want to follow the program which they sold to the electors.

"But I doubt very much that they c fulfil it."

It w possible the Liberals would offer temporary support to the Progressive Conservatives in order to prevent instability in government.

Conservatives Double Strength In Quebec

MONTREAL (CP) — The Progressive Conservative party doubled its parliamentary representation from traditionally Liberal Quebec in last Monday's federal elections and sharply reduced the Liberal majorities of 1953 in many other ridings.

The PC party won eight seats scoring six upsets and retaining two of the four seats it won four years ago. Liberal representation dropped to 62 from 66. Election of Independents of various types made up the remainder of Quebec's total representation of 75.

Latest figures on Monday's election show the Liberals with 975,125 votes or 37 per cent, the PCs with 538,367, or 41 per cent.

In the 1953 election the Liberals had 943,071 of the popular vote or 61 per cent. The Progressive Conservatives had only 29.4 per cent with 454,072.

Brings Plane Down Safely With 80 Aboard

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A burned-out bulb no bigger than a peanut caused an 80-passenger airliner to circle a field 1½ hours Thursday, its pilot fearing he could not land safely. That it was only a burned out instrument light and not a dangerous mechanical failure was not confirmed until Capt. Waldo Thomas brought the plane down safely with more than 80 passengers aboard.

The Delta Airline pilot explained that his instrument panel indicated his left landing gear would not lock into position for a landing.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Warm humid air pushed into Southern Ontario Thursday, bringing variable cloudiness and scattered showers and thunderstorms. The latest weather map suggests very little change in this pattern for today and Saturday.

MAYFLOWER COMPLETES SAGA OF EARLY DAYS

Hailed by Thousands At Plymouth Harbor

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—The hardy crew of members of Mayflower II were hailed today by the people of Cape Cod Bay Area and England with completion of the re-enactment of the historic 1620 voyage.

The 33-man crew under Cmdr. Alan Villiers brought the 180-ton square-rigged bark into Plymouth harbor Thursday just as the Pilgrims did 337 years ago.

Villiers guided the replica ship of the original Mayflower on Thursday after remaining in Provincetown, Mass., overnight. The original Mayflower also called at Provincetown before dropping anchor at Plymouth.

The receptions which spanned 337 years were somewhat different though.

Where only Indians greeted the Pilgrims, the people thronged on shore to welcome Mayflower II as planes and helicopters flew overhead and a cannon salute was fired from a shore battery.

RECEIVE MESSAGES

In addition, the crew received messages from President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan.

The messages, officially received into the United States, the U.S. 22 crew members were taken into the homes of proud Mayflower descendants who had voted with each other on whether they be partners of playing host.

Mayflower II was 54 days in crossing the Atlantic from Plymouth, England, on a 5,000-mile southerly route, the original Pilgrim ship took 66 days on a 3,000-mile direct course.

A crowd, estimated variously at between 10,000 and 50,000, sent up a huge cheer as Villiers came ashore in a replica of a small rowboat such as used in the 1600s.

Then Villiers and the crew hurried to hot baths and a meal consisting of steaks and vegetables. It was the first hot bath and the first meal of fresh food the crew had had in nearly two months.

No Evidence Reds Fomented Riots

TAIPEI, Formosa (Reuters)—Chiang Kai-shek's Premier O. K. Yui announced today that 41 out of 111 persons arrested during anti-American riots here on May 31 have been indicted and turned over to military authorities.

In a 20,000-word report to parliament Yui said the "black incidents" were the result of "spontaneous outburst of emotion" following the acquittal by a United States Army court-martial of Sgt. Robert Reynolds. Reynolds had been tried for manslaughter of a Chinese whom he said he caught raping his wife in a bathroom.

After exhaustive investigation, Yui said, there was no evidence that the riots were directed by Communist agents.

Graves of Babes Add Mystery To Tale of 19th Century Castaway

LONDON (Reuters) — The 19th century graves of three baby girls have added a new mystery to the story of a voluntary castaway whose life on a desert island was revealed in diaries reported Thursday.

The graves, with perfectly preserved tombstones, lay a few yards from the bank of Adam McCulloch, a Scotsman who went to a mid-Pacific island in the early 1800s.

Evidence of McCulloch's stay on the island was turned up by British engineers who discovered the island while canvassing the area in preparation for this summer's hydrogen bomb tests.

No trace has been found of McCulloch's grave or skeleton. Nor was there any record of any woman having lived on the tiny coral atoll.

The only living things a landing party found were a tribe of long-tailed pigs, apparently brought to the island by McCulloch. The pigs interbred and apparently only long lived enough to breed, because to get water they had to burrow their noses into the wet sand.

The leather-bound diaries were found in McCulloch's hut, left with plates and cups neatly stacked away under a thick layer of dust.

The diaries told how McCulloch had decided to leave civilization after he had had a row with the prime minister and myself," for the Commonwealth meeting.

This was due to domestic political considerations," he said. Both he and Mr. St. Laurent had been campaigning actively for weeks. Nevertheless, the conference must proceed as scheduled. The date had been chosen months ago and could not be changed now.

The 35-minute flight from Prince Albert in a scheduled Canadian Pacific Airlines plane was slightly bumpy.

Conservatives Win Yukon, Boost Total to 111 Seats

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party today claimed its 111th seat in the new Parliament when complete returns from Monday's election showed Erik H. Nielsen defeating Liberal opponent James A. Simmons by 49 votes in the Yukon.

With all 35 polls reported, the count was: Nielsen 2,320, Simmons 2,271.

This boosted to eight the Conservative margin over the Liberals.

The Yukon contest was the last in the country to be decided. Counts from the last four polls there had to be flown out by aircraft from remote areas.

Mr. Simmons, 59, was seeking a third term after winning the Yukon seat in the 1949 and 1953 general elections.

Mr. Nielsen's victory was based on the strength of the Tory vote. The narrow forces vote due this weekend could have a bearing on this contest and several others in Canada.

Nasser Becoming Isolated From Other Arab Leaders

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, whose pan-Arab nationalism sounded like a bugle call throughout the Middle East only a few months ago, is becoming increasingly isolated from other Arab leaders.

But he undoubtedly remains a rallying point for the masses of Arab nationalists.

And even King Saud of Arabia and Hussein of Jordan—who have grown to fear Nasser's subversive leadership of the Arab world and his playing of the Soviet game against the West—officially received into the United States, the U.S. 22 crew members were taken into the homes of proud Mayflower descendants who had voted with each other on whether they be partners of playing host.

Mayflower II was 54 days in crossing the Atlantic from Plymouth, England, on a 5,000-mile southerly route, the original Pilgrim ship took 66 days on a 3,000-mile direct course.

Diefenbaker Says Parley Must Open as Scheduled

SASKATOON (CP)—John Diefenbaker says the Commonwealth prime ministers' meeting in London must open as scheduled June 26 despite the present uncertainty as to the world position of Canada.

The Progressive Conservative leader, taking note of press speculation in Britain that the conference should be postponed until a new government in Ottawa has been formed, said Thursday night:

"There can be no postponement until a later date of the Commonwealth meeting. Such postponement would mean obvious inconvenience for the prime ministers of the Commonwealth who form a majority."

Mr. Diefenbaker, breaking a three-day silence on political matters since his party won the federal election without an overall parliamentary majority, gave his views on the London conference as he flew from his home constituency of Prince Albert in Saskatoon en route to Ottawa where today he will confer with Prime Minister St. Laurent.

AVOIDS DISCUSSION

Mr. Diefenbaker avoided discussion of the election and of his meeting with the prime minister. Throughout the week at his home here he has said he has nothing to say on domestic politics other than to announce Monday that the prime minister had invited him to a meeting in the capital.

The Conservative leader said he had "no idea" what the agenda in preparation, both by the prime minister and myself," for the Commonwealth meeting.

This was due to domestic political considerations," he said. Both he and Mr. St. Laurent had been campaigning actively for weeks. Nevertheless, the conference must proceed as scheduled. The date had been chosen months ago and could not be changed now.

The 35-minute flight from Prince Albert in a scheduled Canadian Pacific Airlines plane was slightly bumpy.

Tornado Funnels Move Across Detroit Area

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Strong winds and dark clouds dotted with tornado funnels moved into the Pontiac area north of Detroit Thursday night.

An Associated Press correspondent reported sighting a funnel over Keego Harbor, a Pontiac suburb in populous southern Oakland county. The area is about 25 miles northwest of downtown Detroit.

The weather bureau put out a tornado warning for the area but lifted it at 11 p.m. EDT. Streets were flooded and electrical service in much of Pontiac was knocked out briefly but no tornado strikes were reported in the area.

The Civil Defense Corps authority reported a funnel passed over the Northeast Area about 9:30 p.m. -EDT without touching the ground.

The weather bureau at Detroit's Willow Run airport, southwest of Detroit, reported sighting a funnel on radar in the vicinity of Ann Arbor, Mich. An airline pilot also reported the funnel.

SPECIAL TREATMENT

NASHUA, N.H. (AP)—One of Nashua's most conscientious policemen tagged five automobiles for illegal parking in front of city hall Thursday. Later he learned that every one of the cars belong to a mayor of a New Hampshire community attending a municipal association meeting. Police Chief Joseph L. Regan hailed the usual fine.

14 PARATROOPERS KILLED, TRUCK LEAVES ROAD

Copter Used to Lift Vehicle off Bodies

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—A canvas-covered army truck careened off a bridge here Thursday and landed upside down in a rocky creek bed below, killing 14 young paratroopers and injuring nine others.

Many of the injured lay trapped among the dead until a helicopter arrived to lift the rear of the flattened truck. Rescuers separated the dead from the living as they pulled the casualties free.

The soldiers of the new 101st United States Airborne Division were making their first overnight field problem in barracks after four days of field training in a remote area of this vast base when the 2½-ton truck suddenly weaved across a gravel road, sliced off a 10-foot steel bridge rail and smashed into the shallow creek 20 feet below.

Several soldiers struggled free, tried unsuccessfully to free their buddies and then propped the heads of the trapped men above water. One survivor clambered up the bank to summon aid.

USE HELICOPTERS

Two helicopters were used to transport the victims to the base hospital.

The board of inquiry began an investigation of the accident, the worst in the history of this 100,000-acre military reservation. Army authorities declined to speculate as to the cause, pending an official report.

"At first, I thought it was a pretty good scare-nothing serious," said Pte. Ronald J. Curtis, 21, Kalamazoo, Mich. "Then there was a falling sensation, then a thud—not a crash.

"There was a feeling of falling and a pressure of bodies against us. Everyone was being tossed around. There was no panic, no screaming, no yelling."

Curtis said he saw an opening and crawled out, along with two or three others.

The casualties were pulled from the 18-inch-deep creek by members of an engineer battalion who were working nearby.

An army spokesman said the truck was driven by Specialist Ernest J. McNeil, 28, who was killed along with the other occupant of the cab.

Board Tanker To Stop Mutiny

LONDON (Reuters) — British sailors boarded an oil tanker in the Persian Gulf Thursday after its captain appealed for help to put down a threatening mutiny, it was officially reported.

The sailors, rushing to the rescue of Captain Ronald Shiels, arrested six members of the Chinese crew aboard the tanker Gervase Shiels, 181 Bleecker Ave., Admiralty said.

The tanker was escorted to the port of Mena al Ahmadi where the six men were turned over to the Iraqi police.

British Biochemist Says New Flu May Be Due to Nuclear Radiation

LONDON (Reuters)—A British biochemist suggests that the influenza epidemic now rampant in Northeast Asia might be a consequence of nuclear radiation fallout.

The suggestion is in a letter to The Lancet, British medical weekly published here today. Dr. Norman Pirie, head of the biochemistry department of the Rothamsted Experimental Station, says there is "no intrinsic improbability in the idea that this influenza epidemic is yet another evil consequence of these tests."

Pirie says viruses can be caused by a new virus of type-A influenza. Pirie says viruses "change with more elaborate organisms the ability to mutate (change) under the influence of radiation."

"Mutations in all organisms are more likely to be detrimental than advantageous, but the probability of advantage becomes greater the simpler the organism. It is among these

'Not Proper' to Decide Before Votes All Counted

OTTAWA (CP) — John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative leader, said today he will confer with Prime Minister St. Laurent at 3 p.m. in the latter's East Block office.

Mr. Diefenbaker, questioned by reporters as he arrived in his parliamentary office, declined to make any definite statement on whether he expects to take over government from the Liberals.

"I won't be very communicative on those questions at all," he said. "I haven't the information."

DROPS HINTS

However, he made some comments which could be taken as meaning he expects to assume power.

He remarked that a number of press reports have suggested various dates that Mr. Diefenbaker called elections and added: "Any one of you who has a list like that, it would be very helpful."

He declined to elaborate on this statement.

At another point, one reporter asked Mr. Diefenbaker if he had said during the campaign he expected to go to London to represent Canada at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening June 26.

"YOU LAUGHED"

"I told you then," Mr. Diefenbaker replied, laughing. "You laughed."

The Conservative leader, whose new 111 Commons strength is 105 for the Liberals, arrived by car from his Prince Albert, Sask., home.

Meeting him at the front door of the Parliament Buildings was George Tustin, a friend from their boyhood days in a subdivision Toronto school taught by Mr. Diefenbaker's father, William.

Mr. Dunlop, party whip in the last Parliament, lost the Conservative nomination in Prince Edward-Lennox in Ontario. He told a reporter he has no immediate plans.

He parried most questions from reporters with a smile. Asked whether he would be making a statement following his meeting with the prime minister, he said: "That depends on whether there is a statement to make. That represents everything I can tell you."

Would the afternoon meeting be long? he was asked.

"There is no reason to that but I'm not going to give it."

BULLETIN

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today he will make no announcement until Monday as to whether his government will resign or remain in office.

He told reporters after a 2½-hour cabinet meeting that he will await the results of soldiers' vote before making any announcement. The vote, the 24-plus truck, is slated late Saturday or Sunday.

He said it would not be proper to "formulate a decision" until the service ballots were counted.

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet resumed its deliberations at 10:40 a.m. today and Associate Defence Minister Hellyer told a reporter: "It should be the last meeting."

Prime Minister St. Laurent said as he entered the meeting that he was awaiting a telephone call from John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative leader, who at that time was in his parliamentary office.

Asked, Mr. St. Laurent said, hadn't come through before the start of the cabinet meeting.

The mid-day session followed a five-hour meeting Thursday when they cleaned up a lot of "routine business."

Mr. Diefenbaker arrived at Uplands airport at 7:30 a.m. to prepare for his meeting with Mr. St. Laurent.

Asked whether there would be a change of government and how soon, Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters everything awaited his talk with Mr. St. Laurent.

MARGIN OF EIGHT

In Monday's voting, the Conservatives subtracted 111 seats to 103 for the Liberals. The CCF won 25 and Social Credit 19. The Commons has 265 seats.

Mr. St. Laurent told a reporter that the nature of the voting was "unprecedented." By unprecedented he meant that the Conservatives had obtained the largest number of seats in the Commons and that two other parties also were opposed to the Liberals.

Voting, in one riding—Wellington South in Ontario—was delayed until July 15.

Some Liberal cabinet ministers had suggested, it was learned, that Finance Minister Harris, defeated in Grey-Bruce, should run for election in Wellington South.

WON'T RUN

However, it was learned that Mr. Harris will not contest the seat.

Eric Winkler, Progressive Conservative, defeated Mr. Harris by 1,581 votes. Mr. Harris had 21,753 votes to Mr. Harris' 7,489. Results of the armed forces vote, not in-

Slippery Road Cause of Crash, Two Injured

Two Belleville young men, Joe Trudeau, Valleyview Crescent, and Robt. DeGenova, 18, of 87 East Moira street, are in Belleville General Hospital following being thrown from their truck near Rosemore Thursday afternoon.

Robert DeGenova, driver of the truck, suffered a broken collar bone, while his companion suffered facial lacerations and possible broken facial bones.

The two were southbound on No. 14 highway when their vehicle skidded on a curve due to slippery pavement. The load of bricks shifted and the truck slammed into one tree, and then skidded into another tree.

Both men were said thrown out through the one door of the truck.

Provincial police from Belleville investigated.

Storm Sewers Overflow Due To Heavy Rain

A manhole cover on North Front street apparently washed off as result of rain pressure during last night's heavy downpour, spelled grief for two motorists whose cars dropped into the opening. Both motorists reported the incident to city police.

Gutters and storm sewers all over the city ran full to overflowing during the brief downpour. Officials at the water filtration plant on the Trent Road said .34 inch of rain fell during the downpour, which was accompanied by a few flashes of Canada Will Issue Two New Postage Stamps

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will issue two new postage stamps to commemorate the 14th congress of the Universal Postal Union of which she has been a member since 1878.

The post office department said Thursday the new stamps will be issued Aug. 14, the day the UPU's 14th congress begins its sessions here on Parliament Hill.

It will be the first such congress held in Canada and only the second held on this continent. The first was held in Washington in 1897.

Both stamps are dark blue and bear the lettering "Congress U.P.U. congress" and "Ottawa 1957." Each also uses the postal horn, similar to the English hunting or coach horn, which is recognized as a symbol of universal interchange of the mails.

Suspect Arson In Connection With Forest Fires

WINDSOR, N.S. (CP)—RCMP and forestry officials said Thursday they will launch an investigation into the possibility of arson in connection with a Hants County forest fire which raged out of control for nearly three days, destroying 10,000 acres of spruce and fir trees valued at more than $150,000.

The blaze, which broke out Monday, was reported under control Thursday night and firefighters continued their efforts in anticipation of rain today.

Officials said they have no official report of arson but the possibility cannot be overlooked. They said they have heard rumors of animosity between campsite holders in the area and the Minas Basin Pulp and Paper Company because of a dispute over sites.

In its course the fire narrowly missed two villages but destroyed several cottages and saw mills.

Saloons Slack, Graham's Garden Crowds No Help

NEW YORK (AP) — Saloons around Madison Square Garden are having a slack season. Whatever evangelist Billy Graham is reviving, it's not the tavern trade.

"He's killing it," said bartender Joseph Crotty, jerking his thumb toward the arena where Graham is preaching nightly. "Things are dead. It's the same all up and down the avenue."

Before and after the evangelist's meetings the streets swarm thick with crowds, but behind the neonlit windows of the bars, stools go empty.

"We're getting nothing at all these days," said Victor Scimaca, manager of another tavern. "When there's a fight or hockey game or anything else at the Garden, we're packed. But this. . . ."

Some of the help in the establishments lining Eighth Avenue and side streets have been laid off, particularly table waitresses.

The Garden area doesn't seem in the mood to drop in for a few quick ones.

At a corner cigar store, Frank Goldner, the operator, has stocked up with some Bibles for the new kind of patrons.

Socred Leader Ready to Help PCs Form Govt.

EDMONTON (CP)—Solon Low, national Social Credit party leader says John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative party chief, should be given an opportunity to form a government if he would co-operate in every way possible.

Mr. Low, who entered the House of Peace River constituency where he was re-elected in Monday's federal election, made the remark in an interview Thursday that Mr. Diefenbaker should be given an opportunity in view of the election results.

No "road blocks" will be thrown in the way of Mr. Diefenbaker's formation of a government, the Social Credit leader said.

"The people have indicated what they want," he said. "Mr. Diefenbaker should be asked to form a government and given a chance by his colleagues to show what they can do to meet this country's problems.

"If he is called on to form a government, I would co-operate in every way possible."

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Steer prices were reported steady to 50 cents a hundredweight higher this week at the Ontario public stockyards. Cows, opening 50 cents ahead, lost their gain Tuesday. Bulls were firm.

The replacement cattle section was slow throughout the week with most sales made fully 50 cents a hundredweight lower. Calves were generally steady, with top grades continuing to ease and hogs were fully steady to 50 cents a hundredweight higher. Spring lambs declined $2 a hundredweight.

Slaughter cattle receipts were about 500 head more than last week and up 1,100 head from the same week 1956. Western cattle receipts, at 1,177, increased by 327 head last week's figure.

NONE TO U.S.

Two carloads were shipped to eastern Canadian slaughterers compared with five last week. No exports to the United States were reported.

Steer prices were irregular this week, with buyers paying a premium of 50 cents a hundredweight over last week prices for choice 1,000-1,100-pound lots. As most buyers of these grades were now filled up, lighter, more desirable weight cattle, lacking finish, were funnelled to the slaughter buyers. Another grade of cattle difficult to sell at steady prices was heavy (over 1,150 pounds) rough cattle.

Prices

Slaughter cattle: Choice steers $20.50-21, sales to $21.25; good $19.50-20.50; medium $17-19; common $15-17; good heifers $18.50-20 on a few choice $19; medium $16-18; common 14-16; choice fed yearlings $20-20.50; mixed at $21.50; good $19-20; medium $17-19; good cows $14-14.50, to $15; medium $12.50-13.50; common $11.50-12.50; canners and cutters $9-11; good beef bulls $15-15.50; common and medium lights $13-14.

Replacement cattle: Good stockers and stock calves $19, with odd picked lots $19.50-20; rest $14 to $17.50-18.50; common $16-17.50.

Calves: Choice vealers to a top of $27.50; good $22-25; medium $16-22; common $13-16; boners $10-12 in limited supply.

Hogs: Grade A $32.50, with two loads $33 down; B sales at $32-$24.50 and many lights $26; stags $15 a hundredweight on a dressed-weight basis.

Civil Service, Armed Forces Get Pay Boost

OTTAWA (CP)—A general six-per-cent increase in salaries for the civil service, members of the armed forces and RCMP was announced today by Finance Minister Harris. The increase will cost the treasury about $110,000,000 a year.

The increases for the some 140,000 members of the federal civil service will range from 3% to 12 per cent. The general average will be about six per cent.

Mr. Harris said the government has requested the civil service commission to proceed immediately with preparation of detailed lists for submission to the treasury board. The lists of increases for each classification will be announced by the civil service commission when approved.

Mr. Harris said that it is proposed that all increases date from May 1, 1957."

He said the 117,000 members of the armed forces and the RCMP will receive increases "of somewhat similar orders of magnitude" as the civil service.

WOULD LIKE QUICKLY

The armed forces and the RCMP have been asked to submit their detailed recommendations as soon as possible, Mr. Harris said in a statement.

Total cost of the increases for one year, including the government's matching payments in the superannuation fund, will amount to about $70,000,000 for the civil service and about $31,000,000 for the armed forces and RCMP.

Mr. Harris said the government's submission to the government from the civil service commission showed that the increases outside the civil service have not been uniform, differences have developed between rates of pay in most classes of the public service and those who are paid by normal private employers."

Basic pay in the armed forces now ranges from $119 a month for a trained army private, able-bodied seaman or aircraftman 2nd class to $1,941 a month for a major-general, rear-admiral or air vice-marshal.

A six-per-cent increase for the forces would mean an additional $6 a month for a private and an additional $62 a month for a major-general.

English Paper On Cyprus Urges Brutality Probe

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — The Times of Cyprus says an independent and impartial inquiry should be held into allegations of brutality by British security forces on this Mediterranean island to their "good name" is to be cleared and the truth established.

The English-language newspaper says in an editorial that a Cypriot government minister listed as indicting allegations of brutality and torture by British forces of Greek Cypriots seemed designed "to convince people in Britain and elsewhere abroad—not the people of Cyprus."

The 4,000-word government document, which the allegations point by point, Cyprus has been racked by violence for more than two years over Greek Cypriots' demands for union with Greece.

The Times of Cyprus says the report claimed that a large number of British police officers were accused of "monstrous conduct." This, it declares, was calculated to create a British anger that such charges should be levelled against British officials.

"No single complaint of this kind has ever been made to our knowledge against British uniformed police officers or against any member of the CID (criminal investigation department)," the paper says, adding that all the allegations were directed against "certain army and intelligence interrogators and a very small number of 'special branch' men."

He expressed very ably the feelings of all those assembled as he told of the fine influence of their young pastor during his five years in College Hill.

Two local ministers, Dr. A. E. MacKenzie and Rev. W. Merrick, who had known Mr. Besley during his leadership.

On the same program, there were three musical numbers which were favorably received. Mrs. C. West, a faithful choir member, sang a lovely solo. Two choral numbers were sung by a group of girls, which Rev. Besley had just recently received into full communion of the church and Miss Linda Dickens gave a lovely and appropriate recitation.

After these numbers on the program, Mrs. H. Thomson, president of the W. A., read a farewell address expressing the regret of the congregation in losing their minister and family, but went on to add that they all realized how much some other charge and community would gain by their loss. Mrs. A. Dickens then presented Mr. Besley with a beautiful 'grape pattern' silver tea and coffee service, and an envelope with a generous amount of money, and she asked them to receive the gifts on behalf of all their many friends in College Hill. Mr. Besley appropriately expressed his sincere appreciation for the generous gifts and their help and patience over the years of his combined College and pastoral life.

PRESENTED WITH PICTURE

The Young People's president, Mr. Boyd Moorcroft, then read a short address on behalf of the Young People while Mr. Glen Thomson presented their minister with a large beautiful picture. Mrs. Doug Watson of the Sunday School presented the girls with gifts, two older receiving silver bracelets and the baby a silver locket. Mr. Bruce again thanked these both for the lovely gifts.

Following the presentations, everyone gathered in the basement for delightful refreshments graciously served by the ladies of the congregation. It was an evening in which all had a very enjoyable time.

At both the Centre Street and College Hill W. A. meetings of this month Mrs. Besley was presented with going away gifts. At Centre St. it was an envelope of money, and at College Hill W.A. she received a very beautiful lace table-cloth. Mrs. Besley and her husband both thanked the ladies for their generous thoughtfulness.

The Front Rd. Church also generously expressed their feelings a week earlier at their potluck supper record of which appeared earlier in the paper.

France's New Premier Takes Over Office

PARIS (Reuters) — Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, France's new premier and leader of the 22nd government since the end of the war, took over today from his predecessor, Guy Mollet, at a brief ceremony at the Hotel Matignon, official residence of French premiers.

Bourges-Maunoury, who at 42 is the youngest premier since 1885, served as minister of defence in the Mollet cabinet which was forced to resign in a vote of confidence.

His government was approved by the National Assembly Wednesday night by 46 votes, smallest majority since the end of the war.

The new premier will visit London Saturday where he will lunch with Prime Minister Macmillan.

Extensive Damage

CHICAGO (AP) — Rain clouds stretched across most of the United States today and more severe weather appeared possible for some central and eastern sections.

Wind disturbances which continued to pound areas in the midcontinent spread eastward into the Ohio Valley and the lower Great Lakes region Thursday night.

Tornadoes, funnel clouds and severe windstorms were reported in several states, including Kansas, Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, Tennessee, Arkansas, Nebraska, New York and Pennsylvania. No casualties were reported in the violent weather, but damage was extensive.

Love-Smitten Italian Mayor Kidnaps Teacher

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (Reuters)—The charms of a 28-year-old school teacher proved too much for Mayor Pietro Nucera. He kidnaped her and fled to the hills.

Nucera, 46, used to shirk his official duties in court he teacher. He waited for her outside the schoolhouse and sent her flowers. In the evening he would stand outside her window with two guitarists to serenade her beauty.

All to no avail. "Go away and leave me in peace," Francesca Zavattieri told him.

Two days ago the mayor adopted drastic arm tactics. While Francesca and another teacher were taking a group of children into town from the school along a lonely road, they fell into his ambush.

Out from behind a rock jumped the mayor, his pals, and also emerged and drove Francesca's companions away while the invaders, dragging the struggling girls, was dumped on a mule.

Police, who told the story today, say they believe Nucera still is in a mountain hideout. Meanwhile, the local judges has banned any warrant accusing the mayor of kidnapping with violence.

DIEFENBAKER

Mr. Diefenbaker appeared relaxed and confident after his strenuous election campaign as he headed for talks in conference with the prime minister. Since Monday he has spent much time conferring with local party leaders and has had lengthy telephone talks with party stalwarts across the country.

He has maintained silence on what, if anything, came out of these conversations. If he is concerned with the political question of the moment—whether the Liberals will remain in office and try to govern with a minority government or turn over power to the Progressive Conservatives—he has given no sign.

However, in an interview earlier he gave Canadians a foretaste of expansion "beyond imagination" and playing an ever increasing part in foreign affairs.

He touched only once on domestic matters. That was when he said that if he were head of the government Ottawa would co-operate fully with the provinces in development of northern resources for the provinces so wish."

Mr. Diefenbaker wasted enthusiasm on the future of Canada's far north. Development of mineral resources there, he said, would be tremendous and would enable Canada to maintain the "shield of freedom" in the world.

IN RETALIATION FOR BOMBING

The terrorist bomb that exploded in an Algerian casino, killing eight Europeans, sent inflamed French mobs rampaging through the city in retaliation. In the bloodiest French outbreak in the history of the rebellion, 200 Europeans were jailed during the riots in protest against recent Arab bomb outrages. Twelve Arabs were killed and 17 others injured before French troops restored order. Following the explosion, French police and security men are seen above, examining the wreckage of the orchestra stand where the bomb was planted.

cluded in these figures, are expected to be announced this week-end.

Following Thursday's five-hour cabinet—meeting the picture remained uncertain.

TIPPING UP, PERHAPS

The atmosphere as cabinet ministers, both the fallen and those retained by the voters, gathered seemed that of a government tidying up matters before turning over the office to new management.

But Prime Minister St. Laurent said nothing to clear up the federal government situation after the morning and afternoon meetings of the Liberals' top echelon. He did, however, indicate that the Liberal administration had decided to increase civil service salaries, thereby opening a new area to speculation.

Had the Liberals, after 22 continuous years in office, decided to try to hold on a little longer? It seemed scarcely possible.

But there was a report that a small minority of die-hards among Mr. St. Laurent's cabinet colleagues wanted to stay stubbornly in office until defeated in Parliament on a want-of-confidence motion.

BALANCE OF POWER

Still somewhere in the background were the CCF and Social Credit with the balance of power. The CCF won 25 seats Monday, Social Credit 19.

Asked Thursday who will represent Canada at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening in London June 26, Mr. St. Laurent said: "I can't tell. There is nothing I can give you."

He did say that the cabinet had been "dealing with a lot of routine matters" which were urgent and required government action. He acded that it would meet again today.

And he also said that he and Mr. Diefenbaker would arrange "to get together and have a chat" today.

It was one of the most widely-anticipated chats in federal political circles in a long time.

THE PROVINCES AND THE ELECTION

It seems only yesterday that the differences in the voting habits of Canadians in federal and provincial elections were so strikingly different that political commentators felt duty to offer some reasonable explanation. They evolved the theory that the average Canadian voter, worried by the fact that the Federal Liberals had such a stranglehold on the allegiance of the electorate that no really effective alternative to them as the party in power could be sighted on the political horizon, had decided to turn the provincial legislatures into a political balance-wheel. This theory first gained widespread acceptance after the elections in June of 1946, when the Progressive Conservatives gained an overwhelming victory in Ontario on June 4 but a week later the Liberals held a distinct edge in the province in a federal election.

This is as ingenious though it was and snugly though it fitted the facts when first advanced, now must go into the ash-can.

A study of results by provinces in Monday's federal election shows that in five of the ten provinces the party in power in the province gained a majority of the seats in the Federal House. The Liberals, solidly entrenched in the Federal House. The Liberals, solidly entrenched provincially in Newfoundland, won five of the seven Federal seats. In Nova Scotia, where a Progressive Conservative government was elected in 1956, the Federal election revealed a similar change in the allegiance of the voters, with the Conservatives winning ten of the twelve seats in a province in which they had held only one seat at dissolution. Ontario, which had returned Premier Leslie Frost's regime for another term since the last Federal election, reflected its continued preference for the Progressive Conservatives provincially by greatly increasing that party's representation among the 17 Federal members. Similarly in Alberta the Social Credit enjoyed the same support federally as it has received in election after election provincially.

In addition to the five provinces in which the party in power provincially won the most federal seats on Monday, there is one province, New Brunswick, where the federal seats were equally divided, the Liberals and the Progressive Conservatives each taking five. This represented a gain of one seat by the Conservatives and can be construed as a reflection of the comparatively recent switch provincially from a Liberal to a Conservative regime.

Of the remaining provinces, three are special cases. In Quebec the ruling party provincially, Union Nationale, does not enter the federal scene. In two others, Manitoba and British Columbia, there is a history of coalition provincially between the Liberals and Conservatives and this history, in different ways, may have had much to do with the failure of federal and provincial results to match each other. In Manitoba, with a Liberal provincial government, the Conservatives held an edge federally, but it was comparatively modest. As for British Columbia, where the lively recent sweeping victory of the Social Credit provincially was not matched by Socred gains at the polls Monday, the explanation may go back to the rise of the Socreds provincially. It has been suggested that the people of B.C., tired of the coalition regime but not willing to trust the government to the CCF, first chose the Socreds as the recipients of their political theories but because they were a new broom. One of the really big stories of the election, when it is looked at through the perspective of a few months or years, may emerge as the manner in which the Progressive Conservatives and the CCF stopped the Socred tide Monday, both parties getting seven seats to six for the Socreds.

To look over these figure is to become convinced that there is a very real and very close connection between a political party's fortunes in the federal and in the provincial field. It follows that, besides the federal results being influenced by provincial conditions, future provincial fortunes will be influenced by Monday's federal results.

That is why Liberals primarily interested in provincial politics will find the federal results such a bitter shock. In the West, the Social Credit regime in Alberta and the CCF government in Saskatchewan, although they appear as vigorous as ever, must be aging internally. Eventually they will come apart at the joints. The Liberals in both provinces had regarded themselves as the natural heirs to provincial power when the inevitable occurred. But on Monday the Conservatives won more seats in Alberta than did the Liberals and in Saskatchewan they were only one short of the Liberal total. This suggests that they, and not the Liberals, may eventually replace the present provincial regimes.

In Ontario, the federal result will almost certainly awake the Liberals to the urgent necessity of paying some attention to the health of the provincial branch of the party. Here the Conservatives are growing old in office, but there has been no rebirth of the Liberals since the Hepburn regime died of old age.

When a child, the actress, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, was terrified by strangers. When asked by her nurse why she felt this way, she said: "They do not say what their faces say."

Only a child, as yet unknowing of the conventions of living, would say anything quite so profoundly true. Yet this world many people do not say what their faces say. (Montreal Gazette).

Elephant Has High IQ

Scientist Analyses Pachyderm

Debunking celebrated experts who would debunk the adage that "an elephant never forgets," science has come forward with an impressive array of facts in support of Jumbo's intellect.

"The bigger the brain, the greater the number of elaborate computable members of the animal kingdom," declared recently Dr. B. Rensch, professor of zoological institute of the University of Munster in Germany. "The elephant's brain weighs 13 pounds.

"During recent years we have subjected the intellectual responses of a number of elephants to the most searching observation and one of them to an elaborate series of psychological tests. The results are an impressive scientific demonstration of the adage that 'elephants never forget.'

"We had started to compare the brain anatomy or learning ability of closely related animals of different sizes; rats against mice, a giant Indian squirrel against a small one, and so on. Broadly speaking, we found that the larger animals had developed greater learning ability. These findings suggested the idea of a test for learning ability and memory of the elephant.

"At Munster we carried out a series of experiments with a five year old female Indian elephant to measure her learning capacity.

"The training apparatus was simple. Two wooden boxes with cardboard covers were placed on the ground a yard apart. The elephant had to remove the correct cover. The covers were marked by different patterns. In the first pair, one had a black cross and the other a circle. It took the elephant 360 trials to learn that the cross was the correct symbol.

"After she had mastered this problem, we presented her with narrow stripes versus one broad stripe, 'wavy' lines versus a straight one, and so on. Her learning ability seemed to increase with each test, and the fourth pair she was able to memorize the right marking after only 10 trials.

"After mastering 40 such patterns, she was exposed to modifications of the pattern e. g., a large cross and a small circle, a cross with a gap, and so on, ad infinitum. Regardless of such changes, the elephant immediately recognized the distinction, showing that she had got the idea. She could distinguish the correct lid even though the various patterns were presented in random sequence.

"Then we spent some months trying her learning ability for a comparable assortment of sounds. The elephant was impressive as in the case of visual learning.

"Finally we proceeded to test her memory — with very interesting results.

"She was presented with 15 pairs of cards which she had learned and which she had seen for a year. In a total of 520 trials she secured 94 per cent per cent and 100 per cent correct on all the pairs except one. This was a remarkable distinction problem involving a difference in color and double half circle. Even on this pattern she scored 67 per cent. We can't help wondering how a human might stack up in a comparative test!"

THE PACKSACK

by GREGORY CLARK

It being not too late to plant petunias, we might take a minute out to think about this most willing of all the plants in the world to grow in a little pocket.

It takes forty minutes to dib in half a dozen boxes of the small double plants you buy at the garden shops. But it is not forty days but forty times forty days that the plants will repay you for your labor with their homely, hearty, cheerful faces. And then there are few other plants of whom the same can be said. Phlox, bloom you might say, from birth to death, not for just a couple of glorious weeks as many flowers are, but for months on end.

Petunias can stand drought and probably tell us when the petunia first moved into our lives, some generations ago. But we have been within fairly modern times, as flowers go, because it is native to central America, and all the myriad varieties of it stem from the species sent by the conquistadors who followed Columbus over here.

What a fine flower it is! How it thrives in borders, banks, rock walls, porch and window boxes, as bedding plants, in formal bedded city gardens and in the rock and sand of summer shanties in the north. It comes plain and fancy, striped, in white and pink, frilled, ruffled, dwarf. It flowers all summer through, nor heat nor drought, neither blue nor grey constrains it.

Its name comes from the Indian word for tobacco, petun. But it belongs to one of the plant families that have certain affinity, curiously to the human story, the Solanaceae, which include tobacco, tomato, capsicum, red pepper, belladonna, henbane, nightshade and mandrake. And it is all that was not enough, the petunia comes along, crying "Hi, there!"

Somebody told me that the smallest, slowest-growing seedlings will be the best in the end, and also the best colors. Small, single flowered types are generally the most prolific. But I have found in recent years the colors, sizes and shapes have become so shaded that it is difficult to make a mistake. The last couple of years, I have asked my garden shop man for a list of the names of petunias he has in stock. Next year, without knowing more, I pick 'em by name, alone, as one might pick a horse in a race.

The results are always a winner.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE POWER WITHIN

We can only speculate as to the power that is latent within us. We all have this power to a greater or lesser degree. We discover it bit by bit, as we discover nuggets of gold. It's not on the surface. You have to dig to discover it.

One thing is plain—none of us uses all the power that is within us. We use but very much of it soon discover how rich they are! We aren't borrowing it from another. It's something personal and individual to us. It's that something that lifts us above the beast, into better and bigger tasks.

I do not understand the scientific discoveries of Einstein, but here is a paragraph that I came across in his world-famous dream that I can understand. It couldn't but come into the heart of a poet. He said: "The most beautiful thing we can experience is the mysterious. It is the source of all true art and science. He to whom this emotion is a stranger, who can no longer pause to wonder and stand rapt in awe, is as good as dead; his eyes are closed."

God is a mystery of all in Nature. That is why I worship God, who created all the beauty and wonder in Nature. If He didn't create all this, who did? Man could not create a single flower or leaf. And who could create a song bird, perfect in the coloring of its grace-ful body? I have books containing the marvelous feathers of the tropical birds, some of them rivaling a woman's gown, dreamed out by the most expensive designers of fashion.

There is a mysterious power in the world that is great in man and akin to God, for He is the author of all that is great in man and in Nature. Through prayer and good deeds we tap it and demonstrate its power that is ours—within.

BEWARE THE AVALANCHE

Two men recently started a snow avalanche in order to take dramatic motion picture. They were not able to get out of the way in time and met their death as a result. They had started something which turned out to be much bigger than they intended—something which got out of control.

How typical this is of much that happens in your life and mine. Without realizing it, we start something that gets ahead of us. Perhaps it is tolerance toward some little moral weakness which at last involves us in a serious situation. Or it may be a little streak of laziness which we allow to grow upon us until our lives are characterized by lethargy. Some people will not nip bold their habits until they are not willing to restrain themselves in the moment of crisis. Perhaps a lust or impatient word starts a chain reaction which ends in a quarrel or even murder. In a feud. Don't start anything you can't finish. Don't start anything that may burgeon into a hideous avalanche. Restrain the word that may touch off first an argument and then a quarrel.

Avalanches are dangerous. Avoid them—and above all things, never under any circumstances precipitate them.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

How're You Breathing?

One who is very weak doesn't inflate his bellows. Hence his breathing is slow and shallow. His oxygen - carbon dioxide exchange is a fraction of what it should be. His entire metabolism is low, the rate of oxidation in the body.

What his condition calls for is primarily stimulation. Which stimulation includes removing the cause of his exhaustion or weakness. Which, being not only he is always good. Alcohol is only a narcotic and depressant.

Weakness or exhaustion from deprivation, starvation, and / or exposure to cold causes slow, shallow breathing which permits accumulation of blood in the splanchnic region, the vast network of veins in the abdomen, capable of holding one-fourth of all the blood circulating, so to speak, in the pool.

If the weakness or exhaustion continues, the venous blood next accumulates in the lower part of the chest and in the abdomen—or stagnation of blood in the back or base of the lung is too often regarded as pneumonia, especially when it occurs after a major operation. The "post-operative pneumonia." Even if symptoms indicate some infection, the patient's principal trouble is still shallow breathing.

Inhalations of carbon dioxide, 6 to 8 % mixed with air or oxygen, now constitute routine postoperative treatment to improve breathing, to prevent hypostatic congestion of lungs, and hasten elimination of ether through the lungs.

Such inhalations are good emergency treatment for persons asphyxiated by carbon monoxide, or other gas and poisoned by alcohol, gasoline, or other poisoning fluid.

Now I have my fingers crossed lest some physiologist point to the fact that a few minutes of overbreathing, deep breathing, or belly breathing invariably produces a period of no breathing lasting maybe 45 seconds followed by a period of shallow breathing.

Go away, boy, you bother me. I can't let you and your sophomoric questions mix up my time. Run along home and study the anatomy and physiology of the valves in the veins. That may help you to appreciate how much good people derive from belly breathing.

I recommend regular exercise of the deep-breathing exercise for prevention and/or relief of varicose veins, hemorrhoids, varicosities, inability to relax and get to sleep at night; high blood pressure, chronic bronchitis, emphysema, bronchectasis, asthma, winter cough; chronic gall-bladder trouble; angina pectoris.

Commercial Nicknames

Chicago Tribune

Looking down a list of popular singers the other day, we found only three whose press agents permitted them to face the world in their natural state. No-goodness first names: Elvis, Ferry, and Roger. And we suspect the press agents had a hand in those would jump at a nice, cuteish nickname—if they could only think of one!

As for the others, they include Tennessee Ernie, Hoagy Carmichael, Fats, Ricky, Tab, Frankie, Bobby, Randy, and almost every nickname which has ever been applied to a third grade boy during recess.

Nicknames used to be a sort of personal matter, employed by childhood friends and other relatives. They became public only when reporters figured out the spontaneous affection of the people through human qualities. The mischievous affair in King Henry VIII's eyes won him the royal Joinville. Queen Elizabeth, a gal who really enjoyed her job, was Bess, Victoria, Vicky. Roosevelt's good family nickname, Vicky, but she just wasn't the type to encourage public use.

Americans showed the same affectionate regard for Abe Lincoln and Teddy Roosevelt, but other equally worthy characters just didn't fit the nickname type. Who would have spoken of "Jojo" Washington, "Ike" Hamilton or "Woody" Wilson?

Today the nickname has become a business device, intended to make people think the man has access to the ear of agents dig nicknames out of family photographs and grade school class pictures and if a budding entertainment star's name doesn't suggest a nickname, they more often than not change the name. In politics it's usually nicknamed more dramatically as Ave, and the once aloof Thomas Dewey became "Tom," the "wee-how-the-folks-love-me" bug-has bitten almost everybody. Even the most solemn funeral directors Solemn corporation executives emerge, in print, as Charlie Wilson and Al Lawrence Lowell were to try to raise funds among the alumni by using that nickname and Al Capp's Senator Honest.

Author's name here) is a writer of extreme sensibility whose rough, masterful style bluntly spells out incomparable understanding and stimulating observation. His flashes of quiet insight and outspoken integrity combine to make a truly moving, absorbing, detached, hilarious and tragic picture told with peerless subjective objectivity.

All-Purpose Book Blurb

By John G. Fuller, in the Saturday Review

We decided recently to devise a universal, all-purpose book jacket blurb as Madison Ave. might write it, which can adorn any book of any category for any taste, and which will allow both book writers and the rest of the public to spend the time this saved knitting argyles, counting the books or both! (Any title goes here.)

(Any author's name here.)

This book is wise, yes, and be utiful, too, with ugly and shudder inducing, but also shocking and soothing—a book with lusty virility, but still sympathetic and pity. Its simplicity is equalled only by its complexity. Those who will leave the reader emotionally exhausted as he replenishes his deep spiritual tracks.

To say that it's adult and mature is to ignore its revolting and naive appeal to children. Within its lines are the seeds of tenderness which at last reveal a mood of enlightened horror and impressive joy.

Its daring, lurid, brash and provocative approach to sex and love is never rough, masterful style when enough, masterful style but not too much. Its majestic turbulence is gripping and moving, even with finely etched precision. Honest.

Plan to Save Famed Legion

Milwaukee Journal

Most males have the same soft spot in their hearts for the old French foreign legion that they have for Tabitt, and for much the same reason. It is romantic, persistent, though stanly suppressed dream of chuckling mundane problems and unvanishing into the romantic pages of a novel.

The fact that the legionnaires are ill paid and, at least by Hollywood standards, statistically pilfered is as much beside the point as the melancholy truth that not all Tabitian belles look like Ava Gardener.

The point is that the legion is in danger of extinction, then, must shock any reader's head. "Beau Geste" when he was 14 or has watched a hearty crew of Hollywood soldiers fight off the Arabs. It is also regarded with high favor by Jean Etienne Valluy, the Frenchman who commands NATO forces in central Europe.

The general has, in fact, come up with a suggested solution: Make the legion into NATO asset, force equipped with nuclear weapons. Then, he feels, would preserve the tradition and at the same time give NATO an internationally recruited crew of military trouble shooters ready to be off at a moment's notice. instead of having to wait until various nations governments agree on an emergency.

The legion is now forbidden to recruit in Germany and Switzerland and seems to have little appeal even to the refugees from communism. Gen. Valluy thinks a nuclear-armed force would fare better and would save the legion.

There might be problems in having a NATO force of this type — the question, for example, of what happens when trouble breaks out between NATO members. Such questions are not insoluble, however, and the Valluy projosal seems worth considering.

If it is adopted, the time may come when some descendants of small boys will be sitting on edges of their chairs waiting for the frail barcolle to be "sounded" by the United States cavalry, not by the cuirassiers, not even by the blue jawed warriors of the French foreign legion, but by squadrons of new NATO internationals, with NATO arm bands on their shoulders and atomic weapons at the ready.

Pat O'Connor Gets Decision Over Haggerty

MARMORA — Pat O'Connor was awarded a decision over "Hard-Boiled" Haggerty by disqualification in the main bout of the Marmora - Deloro Kiwanis Club professional wrestling here Wednesday night.

Haggerty took the first fall and O'Connor the second in two-of-three fall main event. Haggerty was charged with striking the referee in the rubber fall and despite protests, was disqualified and the match given to O'Connor.

In another bout, Fred Atkins and Dick Byers had to settle for a draw when Byers threw Atkins into the corner ring post, causing the ropes to collapse. Considerable time was taken to right the ring before the main event.

Charlie Barend defeated Bill McDaniel in the opener.

More matches will be held here in July according to Kiwanis officials.

Greener Thumbs
BY JOYCE SMITH

If you're planning to espalier (train in symmetrical shape) young trees against wall or house, start immediately by securing trunk and branches in desired shape. As the tree grows and hardens it is not only more difficult to bend, but also wood may crack or be injured in the process.

Sunday School Lesson

Redemption of a Fool

By ROY L. SMITH

It is always easier to redeem the life of an ignorant man than it is to improve a fool.

The Old Testament is crowded with the stories of heroes who were very human in spite of their heroism. That is, perhaps, one of the charms it holds for honest men.

One of the most interesting collections of all is the series of stories concerning the young man Joseph who started out in life as a fool and ended his career as a statesman. Certainly the redemption of a fool ought to make interesting reading, especially if we happen to know a fool who is in need of redemption.

FATHER SPOILED HIM

Perhaps it should be said at the outset that the boy did not start off as a fool. He might have been under other circumstances, a rather attractive youngster, but his father made a fuss over, conceited brat.

He did it by showering him with compliments, buying him expensive clothes, and bragging on him in the presence of the other members of the family and when guests were being entertained.

It was not long before he was the worst spoiled member of the family, and the most despised. There was nothing wrong with the boy basically, except that his father made a fool of him. Thereafter his brothers determined to take the brat out of him.

A FOOL IN A PIT

Fundamentally, there was some excellent material in the young man Joseph. This is proved by the fact that he was able to learn some of the lessons of life while wallowing at the bottom of the pit.

The scripture story gives us no information concerning the thinking Joseph did at the bottom of the well, but it is easy enough to read the results in the changed manner of his life after he had spent a little while down there.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 16: "JOSEPH, A FAVORITE SON," Genesis 37.

Never again did he strut, brag, or lord it over other members of the family. Never again did he act as if he owned the earth, or that the sun had been made and created for his convenience.

Apparently the boy's father was right, in one respect at least. The boy could think straight when he got in a tight spot. If he could only have done a little such thinking before he landed in the well, he might have saved himself from the well.

SINS OF THE FATHERS

It is extremely unfortunate that there is no way of compelling children to pay for the sins they commit against their children. Up to the time that Joseph was seven teen-years old he was more sinned against than a sinner. This is not an effort to excuse the silly fop. It is only an effort to evaluate the system under which he grew up.

And there are always those Ishmaelites ready at hand to take advantage of such a situation, with the hope of making a little money out of it for themselves.

In Joseph's day the Ishmaelites were to be found among the wandering traders. In our madern day they are very apt to be found in the ranks of the commercial entertainers.

They are a host who stand waiting, like vultures, to make money out of the unbridled passions, the appetites, the ignorance, and the misguided spirit of enthusiasm, all of which are so much a part of young life.

If it had only been possible to drop the old man Jacob down to the bottom of the pit for a few days, he might have done some clear thinking also. The pity is that it would have been too late.

Four Defeated Ministers Will Get Full Pension

OTTAWA (CP)—The members of Parliament's pension fund may take a beating as a result of Monday's general election.

Sixteen MPs became eligible for pensions of $3,000 a year for life through either retirement or defeat at the polls.

In addition, 13 others qualified for partial pensions after serving in more than two parliaments but less than the period required for the full superannuation. To get a full pension members have to have served only a few months short of 17 years.

The list of full pensioners—provided they apply for the payments —includes four cabinet ministers who were defeated at the polls: Trade Minister Howe, who announced Thursday his retirement from politics, Finance Minister Harris, Revenue Minister McCann and Veterans Minister Lapointe.

Sunday School Picnic

ST. THOMAS SUNDAY SCHOOL

The people of St. Thomas' parish and the children of the Sunday School enjoyed their best picnic yet, enhanced by perfect weather. A record attendance of both young and old wholeheartedly took part in the events at the picnic park at Scarles Beach, Oak Lake.

Immediately upon arrival the children's races commenced, announced and commentated by Mr. Harold Carruthers. Swimming was next on the program and was thoroughly enjoyed by most of the youngsters.

At 5 o'clock everyone assembled in the park for the supper period which was commenced with the saying of grace by the rector, Canon A. S. McCuaig.

Following the supper hour and after a brief and very appropriate speech by Mrs. A. Acerra, a presentation was made by Canon McConnell, on behalf of the Beginners Department, and all the teachers of the Sunday School, to Mrs. George Hosking, who is leaving Belleville to take up residence in Toronto. Mrs. Hosking thanked them all, warmly, for the beautiful waffle baker and said Miss Elizabeth Hall, who is travelling to England this summer is taking part in the Boy Scout World Jamboree was also presented with a gift from the teachers, a maple leaf pin.

A new venture was next enjoyed by both children and adults, some novelty races for the adults present. The teachers took part in an egg and spoon race; the fathers did their best in a potato race, followed by the mothers in an egg and straw race and both fathers and mothers combined to have fun in a plate race. The successful contestants were: Dr. J. R. Lemon, Mr. Frank Benson, Mrs. F. G. Loder, and Mr. and Mrs. Ab Clark.

The winners in the children's races were as follows:

Beginners' dept., Rickey Walsh, Stuart Hunter, Paul Freeman, Noeleen Geen, Barbara Loder, Wendy Watkin, and Kathy Morden.

St. Andrew's WMS Hears Synod Report

The last meeting of the first half of the year of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held in the auditorium of the church with Mrs. Vernon Weir presiding.

The meeting opened with a call to worship and prayer followed by the minutes and treasurer's report which showed an increase in the givings over the same period of last year.

The Welcome and Welfare committee report calls made to the sick and shut-ins and a promise to keep up this good work through the summer months.

Mrs. Mantle presented Miss Jean MacIntosh with a life membership certificate. Miss MacIntosh thanked Mrs. Mantle and the auxiliary, saying she would always treasure the certificate.

There was a beautiful solo rendered by Mrs. F. Houston entitled, "Father Teach Us," which was most appropriate and enjoyed by all.

Miss Bessie Fleming, of Ivanhoe, who had been a delegate to the Presbyterial Synodical, held in Smith Falls, gave a report in full of the meeting held in Westminster Presbyterian church.

The theme of the meeting was, "The Forward Look." The guest speaker was a beautiful soul representative of Formosa, Miss Margaret Webster, who brought greetings from Canada and Mrs. Curr, president.

Mrs. Curr in her opening words, said the time has come when we must look away from ourselves. We have got to be concerned with the whole world, not just the part in which our church happens to have workers.

Mrs. How gave a talk on the spiritual needs of the people of her native island, and said she hoped her talk would make more to her listeners than just a nice story about a lovely island.

Mrs. Hamilton-How called on W.M.S. members to encourage their friends to join in the auxiliary work.

Miss Mary MacIntosh and her group of girls, Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. Barlow conducted the worship period.

The purpose of their worship service was to emphasize the fact that the foundation of all Christian work must be Jesus Christ.

Passages were read telling what Paul said of this to the Romans; Ephesians, and Corinthians.

Miss MacIntosh and her group served refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

The Experts Say

Psychologist Often Stumped On What Children Are Thinking

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. William Blatz, child psychologist for more than 30 years, says he's often stumped about what children are thinking.

But the director of the University of Toronto's Institute of Child Study isn't stumped when it comes to crying babies.

"All children cry if they're going to survive," Dr. Blatz told women's group there. "And they'll always stop because they get bored."

He said if a parent decides a child is not crying for anything that is the parent's responsibility, "sit and listen . . . let them cry it out."

Some parents, he added, find this idea "unsporting."

Dr. Blatz, himself a parent, said a child can accept consequences for his behaviour "right from the beginning."

Parents should rear children so they could accept responsibility for their own decisions and actions. Parental consistency was important to child rearing. It was also very difficult. But consistency could develop a child's faith, trust and confidence.

"Mothers should behave so the child never doubts that he's wanted," said Dr. Blatz.

Exasperation by mothers, for instance, should never threaten to cause a misbehaving child to the milkman.

Such a threat might be aimed at a husband. "He's willing to accept the risk," said the psychologist.

But a two-year-old might never forget the threat to his security.

From the time of "premature dependent security" when a mother accepts all or part of the responsibility for a child's behaviour, there should be a gradually-developed independence and family emancipation from parents, he said.

Teachers must take some responsibility for a child's development. The church and community must be accessories to the home and school for child rearing.

But it's emancipation that hurts parents most, although emancipation starts almost at birth, he added.

Mothers of brides and grooms who cry at weddings should really "hurrah" if they've brought their children to a state of independent security, he said.

Pastor, Wife Presented With Farewell Gift

The ladies of Centre Street W.A. met at the church for their June meeting with a good attendance, also several visitors and four children, who were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Keitha Ferguson.

Mrs. Gladys McLeod read the minutes of the May meeting, which were approved and a letter of thanks from Mrs. Dorothy Hudgings was read thanking the members for donations to the church supper.

Rev. and Mrs. Besley conducted the devotional period. The theme was "Responsibility."

Mrs. Besley rendered this period with a poem and the Scripture reading, which was James 1: 22-27, after which Mr. Besley sang a beautiful solo, "I'm Following in Jesus Each Step of the Way," accompanied by Mrs. Collins at the piano, which was much enjoyed.

Several readings were given by the members. The hymn, "I Need Thee Every Hour" was sung followed by the benediction by Mr. Besley.

Refreshments were served in the church hall.

Mr. Besley showed colored pictures of his trips and graduation ceremony which weer very lovely.

Mrs. Fergusson, on behalf of the members, presented Mr. and Mrs. Besley with a gift as they are leaving the end of June for their new charge at Englehart. Mrs. Fergusson spoke very well in their new field, but said they would miss their pastor.

Mr. Besley on behalf of Mrs. Besley answered himself thanked the members for their generous gift and said he always enjoyed the fellowship of the Centre St. W. A. meetings and that he hoped to see his friends again sometime here or on his future charge.

A social half hour was spent together and the members dispersed, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Besley Godspeed.

Leader's Wife Likes It Best In Own Home

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — Being the wife of the possible next prime minister of Canada is exciting, says Mrs. Olive Diefenbaker, "and it's fun."

The wife of the Progressive Conservative leader, whose party won Monday's federal election but didn't gain an over-all majority, said Thursday:

"It is an interesting and stimulating experience, but unbelievably demanding. It is a great burden of responsibility and your whole order of living becomes changed.

"The only thing you can do is to decide which things are of first importance, concentrate on them and let minor matters go until opportunity occurs to deal with them."

LIKES IT AT HOME

Like any other housewife, Mrs. Diefenbaker says she likes best to be in her own home. Her only regret is that, right now, she is unable to be home in Prince Albert often.

She said she found the election campaign tiring. With her husband, she travelled 20,000 miles in the last few months. Many sights she had no more than four hours sleep. But it had been a "wonderful experience."

Like her husband, Mrs. Diefenbaker had nothing to say of politics during the present period of uncertainty. But she did say:

"John has promised that women would not be overlooked in any cabinet which he might form, which is some proof of his interest in the woman's point of view."

On Friday, June 7, at 2.00 p.m. a lovely June wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's father, Mr. William Blatherwick, Belleville, by the Reverend H. H. Hillis, of Belleville, when Marcianne Blatherwick became the bride of Edward William Wildgen, also of Belleville, son of Mrs. Leo Wildgen, of Chatham, Ontario, and the late Mr. Wildgen. Snapdragons, Stasia 'mums, and carnations formed a pretty background for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a shell pink picue afternoon dress, with full skirt, matching empire jacket with seed pearl trim. She wore a white organza bandeau, and carried a nosegay of white and pink carnations.

Mrs. Gordon McGaughey, of Belleville, attended the bride as matron of honor, attired in a navy and white afternoon dress, of similar lines to that of the bride, with matching headdress, and corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the bride's home for the immediate family and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Wildgen will reside in Belleville.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Leslie Hendon, of Belleville, with Miss Holway, and Mrs. Doreen Miller, as co-hostesses. She was a presentation by the bride's co-workers at radio station CJBQ.

FLEMING — SEALE

Calvary Baptist Church, Cobourg, was the setting for a lovely wedding when Vivian Alice Amelia Seale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Seale, became the bride of Seldom Lyle Fleming, of Port Hope, son of Mrs. Bertha Fleming, of Port Hope, and the late Mr. Fleming. The Reverend C. W. Lohnes, pastor of the church officiated in the double-ring ceremony before a background of tall, white standards of white chrysanthemums and ferns.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Dorothy Thomas, church organist, who accompanied Mr. John Irvin as he sang, before the ceremony, "O Promise Me", and during the signing of the register, "Because".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. O. W. Seale, was charming in her full-length bridal gown of white embossed nylon over taffeta, made on princess lines, with fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a fingertip cap adorned with seed pearls, and finger-tip veil of tulle illusion, and carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

She was attended by Mrs. Allan Seale, as matron of honor, gowned in blue taffeta with contrasting headdress, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mrs. Margaret Davey, as bridesmaid was gowned in pink taffeta with matching headdress, and carried a bouquet of blue carnations.

Little Miss Margo Mason, was a sweet flower girl in yellow nylon net, matching Juliet cap, and carried a basket of mixed 'mums.

Mr. Roy Fleming, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman; while the ushers were Messrs. James Freeman, and Ronald Moran.

The reception was held at Idahlia Golf and Country Club, Cobourg, where the bride's mother, wearing powder blue lace over taffeta with pink and white accessories, with corsage of pink carnations, received. The bridegroom's mother, attired in navy blue lace over taffeta with white accessories, and similiar corsage, assisted.

The bride's table was daintily appointed with white damask, and centered by a three-tier, pedestal cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom beneath an arch of white flowers, and misted about the base with tulle. The bridal bouquet added a lovely note to an already attractive setting.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Fleming left for northern and western Ontario. They are residing in Belleville.

The bride travelled in a powder blue ensemble with white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Guests were present from Toronto; Oshawa; Kingston; Belleville; Napanee; Wooler; Harwood; Baltimore; Port Hope and Cobourg.

Christ Church Parish Guild Enjoys Outing

The June meeting of Christ Church Parish Guild was held at Mrs. E. Hickey's cottage at Consecon with a splendid number of members attending.

Before the meeting everyone enjoyed a pot-luck lunch, and as usual everyone did justice to the good things set before them.

After the tables were cleared, a short business meeting was held with Mrs. F. Beeby presiding. Mrs. Beeby thanked Mrs. Hickey for inviting the Guild to her cot-

WEDDING DAY MAKE-UP FOR THE JUNE BRIDE

A picture of romantic loveliness, the bride's carefully-planned make-up will remain perfect for hours.

To be poised on her wedding day and enjoy the festivities to their fullest, a bride must plan the details ahead of time, clearly and simply. And not the least of these concern her make-up. For the benefit of June brides, therefore, (and all summer brides, in fact) we've consulted one of the world's leading cosmetologists and beautician, and now pass on to you, as concisely as possible, her expert views on wedding day make-up.

Complexion theme: Romantic, not dark or dramatic. Color tones should be bright and dainty, with enough strength to hold their own in the gay shadows of church and the brilliance of candlelight.

This to remember: Wedding day makeup has to stay perfect through several emotion-packed hours. Therefore, one must choose the kind that lasts best and apply it properly.

Lipstick: Most popular shade is a fairly bright pink. Lipstick with a bit of an orangey cast looks well on girls with red hair or those with olive complexions. The right all-day type of formula is a boon for the bride. Nail polish can match or be more delicate. Rouge is used lightly if a girl customarily uses it, is very pale, or has dark shadows.

Powder base and powder: The girl with well-nigh flawless skin and coloring may prefer a light, colorless liquid powder base, followed by a dusting of delicate powder in a shade that matches or is a bit lighter than her complexion tones.

Most girls find more flattering (and it lasts beautifully) a feather-light but tinted powder base, which spreads an even, delicate film of coloring across the complexion, hiding tiny flaws and giving the throat and face a very finished, yet natural, look.

Apply it this way for mileage: First, one should cleanse throat and face thoroughly with cleansing cream and lotion best suited to one's skin type. Turn over the cotton pad with which the lotion has been applied and pat the skin to make it tingle. The skin is now thoroughly cleansed (and only a really clean skin can sparkle with beauty) and it is soft, fresh and moist. This is the perfect condition for the filmy base to be dotted on and blended with fingertips.

A few moments after the film is on, a tissue can be placed against the face, particularly on the nose, and any excess moisture removed before the face powder is dusted on. If the skin is oily and one's nose keeps shining through, there are other bases made expressly for this condition.

Powder base and powder are usually chosen in a shade that harmonizes with the skin tones, or perhaps in one shade lighter for clarity. However, if a skin is very pink, a slightly peach-toned base and powder can be very flattering; and if the skin is peach-toned or sallow, base and powder with a bit of pink can be good.

Added attraction, possibly: Eye makeup. Almost every pair of eyes looks deeper and more beautiful with a deft touch of iridescent shadow, which can be blended onto the lids so as to be almost unnoticeable. After it is on, one should look twice to see if a line of color has formed at top of the lid, and blend it again with fingertip if necessary. Blue and green are the most becoming colors, although violet shadow can look very pretty when the eyes are a medium or light blue.

Light brows and lashes really need a bit of darkening with eye pencil and waterproof mascara. The latter applied very lightly with a clean brush. Pencil on brows should look natural, put on with feathery hair-like strokes. Gray is an interesting shade. The choice of many brunettes and blondes, it blends in softly with the natural coloring.

The bride should tuck a pressed powder compact, in a shade that matches her face powder, into her bridesmaid's purse to carry to the reception. When her marks on her cheeks, she can easily wipe them off (procedure simplified by her creamy makeup base) and touch up her cheek with the cake powder, a foundation and powder in one.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

A TIME-HONORED CUSTOM..

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Who buys the bride's bouquet? Some say it is the groom. Some say it is the bride's parents. And some say it is the best man's responsibility. Which is right? — B.

I can't imagine any bride not wanting to have her bridegroom provide the flowers that she is to wear or carry at their wedding. (Bless many choose them, of course, may order them from the florist who is to supply the other flowers for the wedding and reception . . . but the groom should insist that the florist send the bill to him. It is the time-honored custom for the groom to supply the bride's flowers . . . and this romantic prerogative rightly belongs to him. Certainly there is no more appropriate occasion for a man to send flowers to a woman he has asked to be his wife than on their Wedding Day!

Sometimes, 'tis true, the bride's parents do buy her bouquet, ordered when the other flowers were ordered, and included in the florist's bill. But these occasions can never be considered the responsibility of the best man.

NOT A "SURPRISE" SHOWER IN THIS CASE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A dear friend of mine had a baby about two months ago, and since we did not give her a stork shower before her baby was born, we thought it would be nice to give her one now. There are eight friends in our group who would combine to give the shower. Some of them think it should be a "surprise" shower, but I think that might be inconvenient, as the guest of honor has no service. We would appreciate your opinion. — K.H.

I agree with you completely. It is pretty grim for a new and busy mother to be caught unprepared for guests. A surprise might have an "almost surprise" shower. That is, the group of friends would do the planning, they and any other guests would bring the refreshments, baby-presents, and so forth, and one co-hostess (I suggest the you!) could be elected to find out about the day-and-hour convenience. Then sometime before the party (depending on circumstances) she would tell the new mother to be prepared for the "surprise" visit. This is, I think, the kinder thing to do.

STANDARD PRESENTS FROM GROOM'S ATTENDANTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be best man at the wedding of my best friend, who was my roommate in college. He has no brother, so has asked me to be the best man. It is to be a very 'social' wedding in the last week in June, a large, formal church wedding, followed by a large reception at the Country Club near the bride's home. There are to be ten ushers, all of us fraternity brothers. I want to ask them to join me in giving the bridegroom a handsome, 'lasting' present, as his remembrance, as is suitable, to be presented to him at the bachelor dinner he is planning to give. Have you any suggestions about a present which would answer all these "requirements"? — Dick E.

Yes, sir . . . there are two or three presents that are more or less standard for this important occasion. Most often chosen is a silver cigaret box for, particularly handsome, a gold box) of generous size, engraved with the facsimiles of the signatures of all the donors, and also the date of the wedding. An impressive gift, this, and a great memory of the Day. Next in popularity is a silver tray, similarly engraved. Or sometimes chosen is a silver frame for (eventually) the wedding photograph; this must be fairly wide, to give room for the signatures.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

FRIDAY

Fish Fillets Cooked in Milk (see Wednesday), Limas, Tomato Casserole, Leaf Lettuce, Green Onion and Radish Salad, Raisin Spice Cake, Coffee.

ANSWER:

As I read your letter I thought of many of the obvious economical meat dishes such as Broiled Meat Balls, Chili con Carne, Mixed Grill with Ground Lamb Patties and Tomatoes, Pickerel Fillets, Veal Stew, Smoked Hadlie, Pork Hocks with Sauerkraut, Baked Beans with Wieners, Baked Meat-stuffed Green Peppers, Codfish Cakes. Even out of this list complete list of economical dishes I can only guess what would appeal to you. Since Chili con Carne is popular and I have not given it in this column for some time I'll choose it for one.

CHILI CON CARNE

This amount is for a small family. If one serving is leftover store it in a closely covered container and freeze it. Two tablespoons fat or other cooking oil, 1 lb. lean beef cut into fine dice or minced, 2 tablespoons beef suet chopped, ½ cup minced onion, 1 clove garlic, 1 or 2 teaspoons chili powder, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 tea spoon oregano (buy this in hostess counter of large grocery departments) salt and pepper, 1 cup (or more) red kidney beans cooked or canned, 2 to 4 cups cooked tomatoes. Heat oil and suet and brown meat in it. Add onion and garlic and cook gently 5 minutes, stirring. Stir in seasonings and tomato. Simmer until tender. Add beans and heat through. If necessary add water while meat is cooking. This is lovely served with crisp cole slaw and dark rye bread.

DINNER MENUS FOR ONE OR TWO:

1) Liver and Bacon, Buttered Asparagus on Toast, Individual Tossed Green Salads, Strawberries and Cream, Coffee. 2) Tomato Juice, Sausage Cakes, Corn on the Cob, Pineapple and Cabbage Salad, Bought Bran Muffins, Cheese Crackers, Coffee 3) Canned Cream of Chicken Soup, Spanish Omelette, New Green Peas, Individual Strawberry Shortcakes, Coffee 4) Lamb Shoulder Chops, New Potatoes in Parsley Butter, Shredded Leaf Lettuce and Tomato Salad, Raspberries and Cream, Soft Gingerbread Cookies, Coffee.

I think you would profit by learning how to make a Spanish Omelette; for if desired, a little chopped cooked, leftover meat may be used in the same.

SPANISH OMELETTE

Chop together in a chopping bowl 1 peeled tomato, 1 small green pepper, ¼ onion, 1 sprig parsley, ¼ stalk celery, 2 or 3 chopped olives and mash coarsely. Cook together 3 minutes. To serve 1 beat 2 or 3 eggs until foamy and add ¼ cup milk or cream and some salt and pepper. Turn into hot frying pan in which is melted 2 tablespoons butter. When bottom is set and golden, spread sauce over top. Cook a minute longer, finish by passing under broiler to dry off top. Fold over to serve.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU'RE PUTTING THE CART BEFORE THE HORSE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 28 years old and in all my life I've only been out on a very few dates.

I've joined many clubs and other organizations, but can't seem to find any congenial friends of the opposite sex, with the result that I'm extremely lonely and discontented.

Must I go on like this all my life, or is there any advice you can give me that will show me how to make headway with the opposite sex? — Miss D.

Dear Miss D.:

If, as your letter suggests, you are going to hold the point of view that the only thing which will bring you happiness is to "make headway" with the opposite sex, it's going to make your whole problem just that much harder.

If, however, you'll be content to concentrate on building up a busy program of interesting activities and of various kinds, you'll not only make a lot of friends of both sexes, but you'll soon be living such a full and happy life that you'll forget to worry whether or not you're making such headway. For, oddly enough, it very often happens that the girl who proves she can enjoy herself, whether with or without men friends, radiates such a vivid personality that men and women alike eagerly seek her companionship.

Happiness and congenial friendships are by-products of losing oneself, and enjoying yourself, in the normal occupations of living. I'm afraid you've been putting the cart before the horse in your

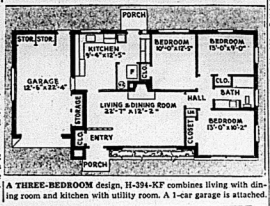
HOME BUILDING SECTION

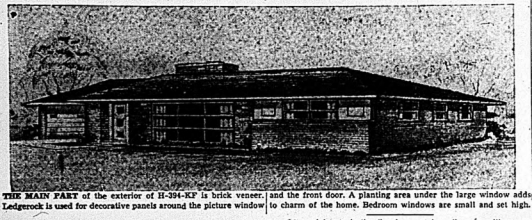
PAGES 8 to 11

THE LOW LOOK of H-157-KF is further emphasized by the flat roof, which has a deep overhang providing shade from summer sun and shelter from bad weather. Brick veneer is used across the lower half of the dwelling, while the top half is finished in frame.



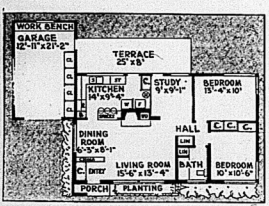
TWO KINDS OF MODERN

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN



Roof lines make the differences in the houses shown today. Both houses are modern ranch designs, but there the resemblance ends. H-157-KF has a flat look that makes it seem ultra-modern, while H-394-KF has a pitched roof along more traditional lines.

Open Floor Plan



Open planning is used for the interior of H-157-KF. Living room, dining room, study and kitchen are arranged in a U, which ties them together. The study opens on the living room and the living room flows into the dining room, which open on the kitchen.

A THREE-BEDROOM design, H-394-KF combines living with dining room and kitchen with utility room. A 1-car garage is attached.

THE MAIN PART of the exterior of H-394-KF is brick veneer. Ledgerock is used for decorative panels around the picture window and the front door. A planting area under the large window adds to charm of the home. Bedroom windows are small and set high.

OPEN PLANNING ties living, dining, study and kitchen areas together. Two bedrooms and a bathroom complete the floor layout.

Of special note is the fireplace, set in a floor-to-ceiling masonry wall. The natural brick is carried over as a half wall which divides the kitchen from the dining and the living rooms and also serves as a convenient snack bar.

Ceiling-hung draw drapes or folding doors can be used to shut off the study, which opens on the terrace.

The home has two bedrooms and a large bath.

Many-Purpose Garage

An attached garage has a work bench for the home handyman and four storage closets.

Without a basement, the house comprises 8,758 cubic feet; with a basement, 10,445 cubic feet.

H-394-KF is a three-bedroom plan with sleeping quarters sure to please the homemaker because closets are big and spacious.

Living and Dining

The generously-proportioned living-dining room has a picture window overlooking the front grounds. The dining area is at the left side of the room. It's close to the kitchen and cut off from the entry by a trellis partition.

Kitchen and utility rooms are separated by folding doors. Appliances and cabinets are arranged in an L. From the kitchen there are exits to the back yard and to the garage, which boasts three big storage areas.

Windows Tell a Lot About House

A house can't be judged by the style of its windows, but it can be judged to great extent by the way its windows operate. Visit a house on a rainy day and try to open its windows. If they stick and bind because of the damp air, chances are they are not modern.

When windows open easily in all kinds of weather and close snugly, leaving nothing to rattle in the wind, you can almost conclude that similar care and quality have been used throughout in the construction of the house.

However, the style of the window design—small panes or large, square panes or horizontal rectangles—is largely a matter of individual preference.

There was a passion for small-paned colonial windows. Glass was scarce and valuable. Nowadays great sheets of glass can be had. But lots of people still prefer to cut it into small panes. They like the looks of colonial style windows.

Something good can be said for almost any type of window. Metal framed windows are precision fitted and when made of aluminum they call for no paint. Wood framed windows, on the other hand, have greater insulating value and the sash is not as subject to "sweating" or condensation.

Metal theoretically expands and contracts readily, but it would be hard to find a case of metal framed windows giving any trouble on this score. Wood can swell and warp unless kept hermetically sealed on all surfaces, but modern chemical treatments have eliminated warping, shrinking and swelling from the newest wood windows.

Double hung windows, comprising two sashes which slide up and down in a window frame, are the most widely used windows.

Many windows of this type are now designed so they can be removed from their frames for easy cleaning inside the house without any ladder work outside. Sash and frame are fitted to each other in the factory. Such complete units insure a tight fit and smooth operation. Compensating balancing devices have replaced the old sash cord and pulley system and the complete unit is permanently weatherstripped in its prefabrication.

You can get windows today in three general styles, colonial multi-pane, transitional combinations and modern horizontal designs to harmonize with your favorite architectural preferences.

Many window units are made today with combination storm and screen sash. A window screen is replaced by a storm sash from within the house without the hazardous use of a ladder outside. These units are strong and lightweight and can be painted to match the trim and color scheme of your house.

Standards set up by the U.S. Department of Commerce for snug fitting and ease of operation of windows are indicated by small metal seals of approval on the edge of window frames. Windows with the seal bear the imprint of the American Wood Window Institute to certify the quality of the product.

Home-Grown Tossed Salad Smooth Pitch for Hostess

Loose-heading lettuce matures in sixty days

You don't know what a good tossed salad is until nature has pitched you one from your own back yard.

That's an honored opinion among gourmet-gardeners and it also is a tip-off on how a small growing area can be put to its widest possible use.

The largest yield for the space occupied is given by the vegetables whose leaves are eaten. The variety of salad leaves which you grow can seldom be matched in the market when you serve them garden fresh, your guests and family will give you top honors as a salad specialist.

Lettuces of course head the list. Salad chefs prefer varieties which make tender green leaves, rather than the tight bleached heads. The green also is a sign of high vitamin content. There are many excellent varieties of leaf and loose-heading lettuce, including the cos or romaine type which has top rating for salad use. There are few parts of the country where tight-heading lettuce can be matured.

Several short rows sown at intervals of two weeks or more are better than long rows which may lose quality before they are used. Figure on one foot of row to serve four people and make each sowing long enough to last two weeks.

All lettuce varieties go to seed in hot weather. The best salad leaves to take their place are endives of two types, one broad leaved and one curly. Broad leaved endive makes large, tight heads, bleached at the base. Curly leaves are narrow in loose heads. A crop from either will retain good quality for six weeks.

Endive improves in flavor when touched by frost and can be harvested until fourth hard. Lettuce can be sown about Aug. 1 for Fall crops. Even tight heading lettuce can be grown in the Fall.

Excellent salad leaves for Fall are those of Chinese cabbage, which matures in 70 days from seeding in late July. The leaves are tender and crisp, with a delicate cabbage flavor, and are delicious raw or cooked.

Of many garden herbs used in salads, sweet basil is most popular. Plants can be started from seed sown now and the leaves can be used all season in salads or to flavor soups, stews and fish.

To combine with green leaves, cucumbers, tomatoes, onions and chives are popular. Chives are easily grown by dividing a typical bunch sold in markets and planting each stem with its roots intact. Set them about six inches apart and you can soon cut the tubular leaves to add a delicate onion flavor to the salad. Such a planting will last for years.

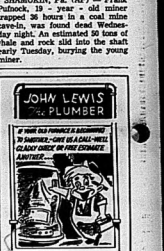
Cucumbers and tomatoes can be grown on a trellis or picket fence, taking no more ground space than a row of lettuce. Green onions grown from sets and small globe radishes from seed will give you the first harvest of the season if you plant them now. In three weeks of favorable weather you can serve this appetizing combination.

Your own vine ripened tomatoes have a flavor which is never equaled by those picked before they ripen. No vegetable excels them in vitamin content and nutritive qualities.

One of the tenderest vegetables, tomato plants can nevertheless be grown with good results from seed sown directly in the garden.

Two varieties should always be grown, one early and one late. An early hybrid variety will give a heavy yield in midsummer for salad use. Heavier yields lasting until late fall are given by plants which take longer to mature.

BEWARE OF RUST



It's a wise policy always to use aluminum nails in all places exposed to the weather. Galvanizing is not permanent insurance against rust. Stains bleeding through paint from oxidizing nailheads can give any house a case of rust measles.

Drain off Rust From Water Heater

Most water heaters should be drained monthly to remove dirt and rust which may discolor your plumbing fixtures. The average water heater can be cleaned simply by attaching your garden hose to the drain cock and letting water run until it is clear.

CANNIFTON ROAD BELLEVILLE

Light-Weight Fir Plywood Sabot All Set for Sails and Good Winds

Two to a car if you wish, fir plywood Sabots are easily transported to water. Biggest joy of the boat-builder is at hand . . . first launching of the "sweetest boat in the bay".

"This is the sixth and concluding article in a series on how to build an eight-foot sailing dinghy."

By HARRY FURNISS

Well, we've come along way since Sabot was just a gleam in father's eye. Thanks to a paint job that concealed those little mistakes, she certainly looks like a winner.

Let's move out into the backyard where we can step the mast and make some final adjustments.

First we're going to need three strips of fairly heavy brass stock about an inch wide and six inches long. At the top of each of these, drill a half-inch hole. In the remainder, drill holes for three 1x8 screws and attach the strips to the outside of the hull where they will form "anchors" for the guy wires.

ATTACH SHROUDS

The bow anchor (really a chain plate) is right on the centre line and the two side ones perhaps three inches aft of the mast. The original plan shown an unsupported mast but shrouds do ease the strain.

The mast can now be stepped and the wires — multi-stranded aerial wire does well—cut to fit. Put turnbuckles on the lower ends so you can quickly adjust tension and attach or remove them easily.

You'll need two pulleys attached to the boom and a third at the end. Drill holes in the quarter knees and knot in bridle ends on the under side of the knees.

WIFE CAN HELP

The sail is sewn from factory grade cotton. If I remember correctly, mine took eight yards. But measure carefully first to check. And remember that cutting on the bias is going to take additional material.

Two 15-inch batten pockets are sewn in as on the plan and the battens made of thin plywood to clear stock about two inches wide.

Naturally a home-made sail such as this will not deliver top performance if you are going in for serious racing. However, you'll be surprised at the speed possible. For top results, there is nothing for it but to have a sail professionally made by a qualified sail maker.

OARS ARE NEXT

How about oars. These cost a surprising amount when compared to the materials you've used so far. However, a satisfactory pair can be made from two lengths of 2x2 and scraps of fir plywood. Galvanized oarlocks can be bought at any marine supply shop.

Another good idea, if you intend using Sabot as a tender, is to tack a canvas or rubber rubbing strip all around her, for no matter how careful you are, boats always rub against each other with the consequent scratching and marring.

Well that seems to wind up Sabot. If Junior shows any interest in her at all, there's only one thing left to do. Start another one for him.

Incidentally if you are looking for plans for other plywood boats, including a 20 foot sail boat, several are available without cost from your plywood dealer.

Good winds and pleasant sailing.

Under sail, Sabot slips off for fun and high adventure. Designed for week-end mariners she's ready for good winds and pleasant sailing.

Glass Walls Open New Vistas

Sliding glass doors are spreading the lanai idea — the indoor-outdoor room — across the continent from California. Here is how these sliding panels merge a house with its backyard swimming pool and sun terrace. Great sheets of plate glass, framed in rigid aluminum, slide in weatherstripped grooves to let you make the most of the weather as you find it. A rubber tile floor takes care of the wear and tear as you enter this crystal palace of a home.

Keep Tots Away From Electricity

Curiosity of children is blamed for most of the 40,000 yearly accidents in which youngsters under 5 years of age are killed or seriously injured by electricity in the home.

A survey by the Institute for Safer Living, sponsored by the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co., shows that the greatest number of these mishaps are caused by open type baseboard outlets, lamp cords and other extension cords on floors.

The second largest group of hazards result from toasters and other appliances left connected after use.

Frayed cords handled by toddlers and hair pins and tableware poked into outlets and appliances by children produce most of the fatal shocks.

Here is a safety list prepared by the institute for the protection of children:

1. Provide coverings for baseboard outlets that cannot be removed by little hands. Tamper-proof outlets, now on the market, provide maximum safety.

2. Replace all cords that show any evidence of wear.

3. Conceal or cover all extension cords that must be placed along the floor.

4. Disconnect all appliances immediately after use, and make sure that children cannot reach them while in operation.

5. Connection plugs should always be tightly engaged when inserted into an outlet. The prongs should not be visible.

6. Never leave wiring exposed or unattended while electric repairs or alterations are being made.

7. Do not leave children alone in rooms where portable electric heaters are in use.

Children normally cannot stand as much electric current as adults. A shock from ordinary house current can be fatal even to an adult. As an extra precaution, the Institute urges parents to know how to administer artificial respiration in case it is needed to revive a victim of electric shock.

Check Electric Wiring

Portable electric heaters are becoming so popular in supplementing heat for extra rooms that overloads are being placed on many house circuits.

The current consumption of portable electric heaters ranges from 250 watts for a single heat lamp, to 1,650 watts for larger room heating units.

If a large capacity electric heater is plugged into a single 15-ampere circuit, common in most homes, no other appliance can be connected without blowing a fuse or tripping a circuit breaker.

According to one of the largest wire manufacturers, Kennecott Copper Corp., about 24 million homes have the minimum 15-ampere circuits. Wiring authorities consider this inadequate to handle many of the new electric appliances now on the market. They recommend that such houses be rewired with 20-ampere circuits, allowing up to 2,400 watts per circuit.

Screen Your Own Porch With New Durable Mesh

A new material for insect screens is made out of tough, weatherproof fibrous glass. You can poke a hole in it with a pencil and scratch the mesh together again with no sign of damage. It can't rust or stain painted frames and it doesn't deteriorate in seashore spray. For an amateur, it's about the easiest of screen fabrics to handle, because you can crush it in your hands and still straighten it out flat. Here's how to screen a porch:

Ordinary scissors are used to cut this screening cloth to fit. No special tools are needed and no frayed wires scratch hands.

Stretch the screen fabric taut by using a strip with nails in it as shown at left. A stapling gun speeds fastening the screen in place (right). Molding conceals staples.

Colorful Tile Helps Add Modern Look to Old Homes

Color has invaded the home and today more than ever the kitchen has become the new centre for family fun! You can make your kitchen bright, charming and easy to keep clean with colorful plastic, or baked enamel on aluminum wall tiles or ceramic tile.

Your laundry, or utility room, can be a cheerful place in which to work, when you decorate with bright wall tiles.

Wall tiles will also transform your dark, old-fashioned bathroom into a light, modern room. These new tiles resist water and moisture and are easy to clean.

There is a wide variety of solid colors, patterned tiles and sizes to choose from.

CELEBRATES 107TH

CALABOGIE, Ont. (CP)—Spencer Church, who has lived under every Parliament since Confederation, Wednesday celebrated his 107th birthday. Mr. Church, a staunch Progressive Conservative, voted in Monday's general election. He quipped as he left the polls: "I'll see you at the next election."

BANSHEES AIRWORTHY

HALIFAFX (CP)—The Banshee jet fighters of the navy's air arm, grounded a week ago, Wednesday were pronounced airworthy after engineers investigated causes of two recent crashes. Naval officials did not disclose details of the investigations, but announced the 16 twin-jet Banshees can fly again "without restrictions."

It's Easy to Patch With Liquid Rubber

Liquid rubber in the form of air-curing neoprene is a new product that is handy for many home repair jobs. You can use it to paint on a rubber coating for leak-proofing, rust-proofing, skid-proofing and various patching requirements. You can dip plier handles in it to give them electric shock-proof rubber grips. It cold-vulcanizes patches on rubber coats. It works on masonry as well as on metal and makes a good bonding material.

To patch a hole in a metal drain pipe, clean surrounding surface with sandpaper or fine steel wool. All rust, oil, wax or grease should be removed, the same as for any lasting paint job.

A coat of liquid neoprene is then applied around the hole, completely rimming the defect. You just brush it on like paint. For other places you can apply it with a roller, or use a spray.

Cut a patch of canvas and press it firmly into the tacky rubber coating. The patch will bond to the hard surface beneath. Or you can blind it with electrical tape, the best way to patch hose.

Wait at least one hour before applying a second coat. This will insure a tough film that will resist water, rust and climatic changes. You can use this material to paint roof gutters, leaders.

How Lawyer Put Garage To Good Use

You can get a lot of fun and solid comfort out of a family room. It is the most popular in the newest styles of homes. It gives you a hideaway from the living room—a place to relax without having strangers walk in on a general mixup. It leaves the living room straightened up for visitors.

If you do a little figuring, you can have a family room in almost any house—the way the O. Dean St. Clair Jr., family did at Pacific Palisades, Calif.

They needed a family room in more ways than one. Their three youngsters, Dean, 14, Linda, 11, and Suzanne, 7, wanted a place to dance and play games and watch television.

Mrs. St. Clair needed a place for her sewing machine—a place to iron and store her steam iron, distilled water bottles and ironing board.

St. Clair, a lawyer, wanted to read and relax. And the whole family wanted an extra room so Grandma and Gramp could stay with them when they came out for a visit from the East.

GARAGE OFFERED SPACE

St. Clair did a little figuring. He found:

1. The garage offered just the space they needed.

2. A carport in front of the garage would be adequate to shelter the family car and also serve as a covered porch when the car was out on the road.

3. (And most important)—he was able and willing to do a lot of the work himself.

Maybe your garage, or your breezeway, or your porch offers you a similar opportunity to have a modern family room. If so, you'll be interested in St. Clair's costs.

He spent between $600 and $700 in finishing off the interior of his garage in walls of knotty western ponderosa pine — the panelling material he liked best. But he wanted an adjoining bathroom, too, and he felt that the framing of the sturdy carport was more than he wanted to tackle alone. So he let out the plumbing and carport jobs on contract for $1,800.

A SOUND INVESTMENT

The result was that for a total expenditure of $2,500, he not only enlarged his house by one fu'l room, an extra bathroom and a new carport, but he added substantially to its livability and lasting value.

The only problem St. Clair encountered was in building a storage wall along one side of the garage in which he had a good sized picture window. He wanted a window seat under the window and an overhanging storage cabinet above. It gave him a little tricky framing, but he figured it out without plans.

The general idea of the interior arrangements, he says, was Mrs. St. Clair's. She wanted a maximum of closets and cabinets to keep the room neat. She got all of that and a gun and game cabinet, too. This convenience stores rifles above, card tables, tennis rackets and refreshment bottles below.

TOOK MORE THAN YEAR

It took lawyer St. Clair more than a year to complete this project in his spare time, but he is right proud of it, as you can imagine. He finished the knotty pine walls with oil stain and hand rubbed varnish until he got a dull gloss. The effect gives him a warm and cozy feeling when he sits down to read about his torts and contracts.

Each Wood Has Its Own Coloring

To take advantage of the natural color tones of wood when planning interior decoration or cabinet finishing, you have to know the various shades that are natural to each species of wood.

Twenty woods fall within the range of light to medium natural colors. They include Ponderosa pine, Southern pine, Douglas fir, Idaho pine, sugar pine, Engelmann spruce, West Coast hemlock, Sitka spruce, white ash, birch, black gum, hackberry, hickory, pecan, magnolia, soft maple, hard maple, red oak, white oak and yellow poplar.

Eleven woods run from medium to dark in tone. These are Western red cedar, Southern cypress, California redwood, larch, brown ash, butternut, cherry, chestnut, red gum, American walnut and mahogany.

Gardener Sniffs And Sups With These Twin Crops

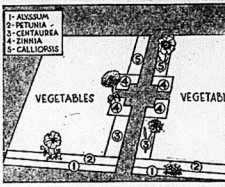

Chart shows suggested combination of flowers and vegetables.

Gardening for the table can be a project of beauty, as well as gastronomy.

Vegetables and flowers mix to their mutual advantage, both while growing in the garden and later, when they are ready for use in the home.

Probably nothing brings the beauty of the outdoors inside quite so quickly as a bowl of flowers on the table during the family meal—a meal, by the way, which is a delight to eat when it is prepared with fresh vegetables just grown in your own garden.

For the gardener who has carefully and lovingly planted and tended a vegetable garden from seed to harvest, it is a thing of beauty in itself. However, that beauty is increased a hundred-fold when the vegetable garden is surrounded by borders of skillfully placed flowers.

Flowers seem to like the company in a vegetable garden. They like the sunshine, the regular watering, abundant room, the clean cultivation. These are conditions rarely found in crowded borders, which too often are overshaded.

Many specialists, in fact, prefer to grow flowers in the type of garden plan afforded by a vegetable garden. Its straight rows are easy to keep clear of weeds, to water and fertilize, and also give a sense of abundant roadroom for each plant.

While also giving a landscape effect, the vegetable garden's flower borders develop perfect plants and ideal flowers which are usually cut and arranged in vases in the house. For that reason, when selecting flowers to grow in vegetable garden rows, they should be picked for the kind of cut flowers they will make. They should be the kind that grow upright on strong, long stems. These will keep their proper place and not interfere with cultivating.

On the boundaries of the garden, and bordering the paths, sprawling plants can be grown, but keep them out of the row section. The garden plan shown above suggests a workable vegetable-flower arrangement. Here are the flowers it includes:

Alysum (1) and petunias (2) are used for border plantings. Bachelor buttons (3) and calliopsis (5) join zinnias (4) for row planting. Also popular for this purpose are centaurea (3). While these are all excellent flowers for this type of garden, and should always be included, there are many other such flowers which you can select to adapt the same idea to your own garden.

PARROT FEVER FATAL

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Medical authorities said an autopsy on a 62-year-old retired school teacher who died Wednesday "indicates she was the victim of parrot fever." Mrs. Helen Kreamer and her husband, Ralph, who is reported in "very weak condition" in a hospital, were stricken 11 days ago. A state medical officer said they bought a parakeet several weeks ago.

COZY QUARTERS

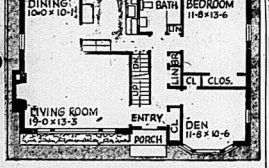
the living room and, close to it, a side window that helps cross-ventilate both sections.

WORK CENTRE



From the dining room, it's a step into the kitchen, a comfortably-sized work centre with three windows to make it light, bright and sunny. In addition, a door, at right, leads to an outdoor dining terrace.

There's one bedroom on the main floor, close by a bath. The room has a spacious clothing closet and in the hall outside it are two linen closets and a broom closet.

VERSATILE DEN

At front, there's a den with a decorative bay window. Since this room has a closet, it could double as a bedroom or a combination study and guest room.

Upstairs are two exceptionally spacious bedrooms. Each has a storage area. The larger room features a walk-in closet as well as a wardrobe closet. The bedrooms are separated by a bath and, just opposite it, there's a huge linen closet.

Living, dining and kitchen areas take up half of the first floor. The other half is given over to the bedroom, bathroom and a den.

Compact and cozy, this one-and-a-half story home, H-138-KF, still has plenty of living space.

In the popular manner, living and dining rooms combine for an L-shaped area. The plan is one that gives each section an air of spaciousness. Both areas have picture windows — the living room at front, the dining room at back. There's a big fireplace in

BUYING CABINETS

Kitchen cabinets made of ponderosa pine are available unfinished from lumber dealers in knocked down or completely assembled forms. If you are a do-it-yourself fan, you will find just a screwdriver and hammer are all you need to put such cabinets together.

Two very spacious bedrooms occupy the top floor, along with a bath. Storage space is exceptionally generous, as the plan shows.

Canadian Garden Service

BY GORDON LINDSAY SMITH

WE CAN GROW THEM NOW

Just because one's father or grandfather could not grow certain flowers or vegetables in a certain location does not mean that we cannot grow them now. There have been some mighty changes in garden varieties in the last 25 or 50 years.

At one time, for instance, there was no hope of growing garden corn or tomatoes, or melons or petunias or even asters in many parts of Canada. The season was too short. Before these things were ready to eat or bloom along would come the first frost and that was that. But now, thanks to the continuous work of the plant breeders, we can grow them and enjoy them.

Ten to twenty days have been lopped off the time necessary from planting to harvest of garden corn in the last few decades and there has been the same hastening of maturity for melons, tomatoes and many of the flowers. In the seed catalogue will usually be found the number of days it takes from planting to maturity or flowering for every variety listed. By studying these periods we can fit all sorts of new things into the garden. We can plant feasts and bouquets to come along continuously from early summer to frost. And experienced gardeners go a step further. Not only do they hasten the season by planting the very earliest of varieties but they extend it also by using medium and late sorts and by making at least two plantings two to three weeks apart of all varieties.

THIS IS VITAL

There is nothing so important as the seed we plant in our flower or vegetable garden. Soil, climate and cultivation may be ideal but unless the seed is good nothing else will matter. And good seed means fresh, pure strain seed and of a variety that is especially suited to Canada. The successful gardener does not take any chances with something left over from last year. He makes sure that what he plants comes from a reputable and Canadian source and that it is fresh this year.

FOR EASY RECOGNITION

Sometimes it is pretty hard to tell the difference between seedlings of flowers or vegetables and the ever-present weeds. You can make the task easier by planting evenly spaced in rows and putting a stake at each end of the row. Then, by sighting along the row between the stakes, you can find the kind of seedling that appears only in that line and readily remove the weeds. Or with seeds in single flower bed you can sow evenly in regular circles around a stake and anything that appears out of line is removed.

MUST HAVE ROOM

Most of us are inclined to plant seeds too close together and sometimes with very fine seed it can't be helped. But the more tightly crowded the plants are the less vigor any one of them can maintain. Shortly after the seedlings have shown their first set of true leaves and before crowding becomes critical take out the excess plants in both the flower and vegetable garden. If you have need for them elsewhere in the garden these thinnings can be transplanted readily at this stage.

For flowers that grow to a relatively low height like Alyssum, Dwarf Marigold, African Daisy, Wallflower or Lobelia, you should leave only a few inches space between plants in the row. With larger flowers like Zinnias, Asters, tall Marigold, Petunias, Dahlias, Cosmos or Snapdragons there should be a minimum of a foot between plants. Really big annuals like Sunflowers and Tithonia should have at least two feet space between. Carrots and beets should have an inch or so between them. Remove half of the plants later in the first thinning.

★ The World Is Watching Canada's Own "Bonnie"

When HMCS Bonaventure heads out toward the Atlantic rollers next week, seventeen sad-eyed colleens will be at the Belfast dockside waving farewell to their young Canadian husbands. They're not the only people interested in the first aircraft carrier Canada can really call her own. Ottawa naval experts will be anxiously awaiting reports on the maiden voyage of the ship with the atomic citadel. Fourteen years after her keel was laid the "Bonnie" is ready—ready to launch Canada's flying sailors into the jet age. From Belfast, staff writer Colin McCullough tells in The Weekly Globe and Mail of a ship that wasn't meant to be graceful . . . a ship that was built for protection and destruction.

★ Corner of the Old World in Downtown Toronto

As children they sniffed the exciting, colorful odors of Kensington Market. Now, grown up, they come back to tell their children: "Here was where we lived . . . here was your grandpa's store . . . there was the synagogue where we had our bar mitzvah." Kensington Market—birthplace of Jewish retail trade in Toronto. A place where tradition—like the traffic—slows progress to a halt. In nostalgic mood, Ralph Hyman gives a pen portrait of Kensington Market in The Weekly Globe and Mail.

★ Confidentially, You're a BORE!

That's the conclusion of the research experts of Madison Avenue. The men in the grey flannel suits have been conducting a survey to discover just what our U.S. neighbors think of Canada. In Saturday's Weekly Globe and Mail David MacDonald reveals the reasons why the very thought of this country bores so many Americans . . . thrills others. And in full-color maps, Lew Parker shows what a two-faced nation Canada is. Don't miss these provocative features in The Weekly Globe and Mail.

★ Beware the Dollar Cure-all!

The International Congress on Rheumatic Diseases opens in Toronto toward the end of this month. Delegates will be hearing about the latest contributions science has made toward the advancement of medical practise. They won't be hearing about Golden Fire—the special preparation that brings disease dot in a large black spot. Nor Chameleon Oil that's guaranteed to neutralize mosquito bites and cure chilblains. David Spurgeon writes of quackery and nostrums . . . of the pitiful victims of charlatans in The Weekly Globe and Mail.

★ The Champagne Trail that leads to Tragic Slaughter

They used to joke in the White Hunters' Bar about the bumpy safaris that marked the Tanganyika trails with empty champagne bottles. The girls wore mink and kept cool with portable air-conditioning. But it's a sour joke today, for the tracks of dollar-happy marksmen lead to scenes of wanton slaughter that threaten to ring down the curtain on big game hunting for all time. Donald Tulloch, the East African magistrate, tells the tragic story in Saturday's issue of The Weekly Globe and Mail.

★ The Redcoat Stronghold that's Tops with Tourists

Down Kingston way they're getting ready to meet an invasion—an invasion of 200,000 American tourists. Objective of these welcome infiltrators? An old fort that in all its history never fired its guns in anger. Dorothy B. Taylor tells how the dastardly Redcoats are finding popularity in all 48 United States . . . thanks to Kingston's Fort Henry. UNDER SIEGE IN WILD WEST STYLE

Under siege by three men in their Oakville, Ont., home, Jack Thorndike, Sr., 74, and his son Jack, Jr., 36, fired 29 rounds of shotgun and rifle bullets before they were sure that their attackers had left. Police believe that three men, who had been sentenced to prison after the senior Thorndike has testified against them in a hold-up case were seeking revenge. They attempted to enter the Oakville house they ripped out telephone wires.

Police believe that in breaking these windows of the Thorndike home, one of the attackers accidentally shot himself. When the glass broke, father and son ran for their guns while Mrs. Thorndike shepherded the children upstairs. When the men, who were wearing stocking masks, drove away, Jack, Jr., drove to call police.

Schoolteacher Who Beat Canada's Trade Minister Back Teaching Classes

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Douglas M. Fisher, the 38-year-old schoolteacher who defeated Trade Minister Howe for the CCF in the federal election, already has ideas about what he wants for his constituents in Port Arthur.

Mr. Fisher, who was back teaching his collegiate class the day after his upset victory over the veteran cabinet minister, said one thing he wants is research by government - sponsored agencies into booster television stations.

The main reason for such stations would be to enable TV to reach the living - room communities of northwestern Ontario.

"Secondly, I want to learn where Port Arthur stands on the seaway," he said. He tended to agree with the Manitoba government, which has been critical of port facilities at the Lakehead.

Victorious candidate, who said he believes votes went his way because the federal government increased old age pensions by only $8, said he wants to see a further increase in such payments.

The man who ousted Mr. Howe after the Liberal veteran had represented Port Arthur for 22 years said he had always been fascinated by politics. However, he was associated with the CCF party for only nine months before he entered the campaign.

Mr. Fisher said he won by following the advice of one of the "greatest experts in the world of Liberalism," Frank H. Underhill, curator of Laurier House in Ottawa. He quoted Mr. Underhill as saying, "concentrate as strongly as you can on presenting the issue of parliamentary freedom."

"I tried to keep that in mind," he said.

Mr. Fisher said he knew a week before the election he would win.

"I knew Howe would take the small towns."

He campaigned hard, and not without difficulty. A week before the election he suffered a slipped disc while lifting one of his three children. He was carried to a committee meeting at Geraldton on a stretcher. With the help of nurses he was able to stand and make his speech.

Mr. Howe took 16 of 80 polls in Port Arthur, four were tied and Mr. Fisher won the rest.

Mr. Fisher also won at Nipigon and Manitouwadge.

Mr. Fisher studied at the University of Toronto before studying archives administration at the University of London. He has been a teacher for two years at the Lakehead Technical Institute and he said he plans to support a new college for arts and science at the Lakehead.

Harriman Sees Vast Expansion Result Seaway

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Governor Averell Harriman today said the St. Lawrence Valley and northern New York state are entering "a period of economic expansion on a scale never before contemplated."

In a speech prepared for ground - breaking ceremonies for the $88,000,000 aluminum reduction plant of the Reynolds Metals Co. at nearby Rooseveltown, the governor said: "We are beginning to harvest the fruits of many years of hard work.

"This aluminum plant and the automotive facilities which will be built currently, are the result of the juncture here of cheap power and cheap water transportation, made possible by the St. Lawrence seaway and power projects."

The governor's mention of automotive facilities referred to the proposed $13,000,000 parts fabrication plant of the Chevrolet division of General Motors.

At a public hearing before the State Power Authority Thursday GM was granted approval of a contract for 12,000 kilowatts of hydro power for the American side of the New York - Ontario project.

Robert Moses, authority chairman, said the governor's approval of the GM contract would mean that all New York's St. Lawrence power had been allocated.

Moses said the authority would have "additional flexibility when we ultimately tip up this source with that at Niagara."

Adenauer Hurt In Plane on Way to Austria

VIENNA (Reuters) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany arrived Thursday for a three-day visit. He alighted from an airliner with a bloodstained and bandaged head after a mishap in flight.

Adenauer knocked his head on the door frame of the pilot's cabin when the plane lurched. On landing, he insisted on a guard of honor then drove off to his hotel where a doctor was waiting.

Adenauer, 81, is the first German statesman to pay an official visit to Austria since the war. Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano accompanied him.

Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab visited Adenauer last year for talks which he said resulted in "close and human contacts."

"Your visit should be the visit of a friend to friends," Raab said in his welcoming speech.

An agreement between the two countries to settle outstanding financial claims will be signed Saturday.

Officially, Adenauer's visit does not include any political program as there are no "open questions" between the two countries. Political observers, however, believe the German and Austrian heads of state will exchange views on the world political situation. They believe Austria will further act as a "mediator" between the West and the East.

New Era Gas Development Seen With Line Completion

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—A new era in natural gas development and western industrialization will get under way with completion of the first major gas pipe lines to east and west, says Carl O. Nickle of Calgary.

In an address to the Engineering Institute of Canada Thursday night Mr. Nickle, publisher of the Daily Oil Bulletin, added:

"Over the next few years the capacity of the initial west and east pipe lines (Westcoast Transmission and Trans-Canada) will be expanded, as markets are developed in Canada and the United States areas."

From the gas would be stripped hydrogen sulphide to be processed into elemental sulphur, and also natural gasoline, propane and butane — constituents valuable for liquid fuels and as raw materials for an ever-widening range of petrochemical products. The stripped gas itself would be both a fuel and a basic raw material for chemical processes.

Over the next few years, Mr. Nickle predicted, a string of new gas processing and sulphur plants will be built in northern Alberta and northeast British Columbia gas fields, supplementing the several already in operation or under construction.

The end result would be a host of plants, big and small, widely distributed over the West, creating new local industry and employment.

Sulphur expansion would be important to many Canadian industries, including pulp and paper, uranium and base metal refining, and chemical.

Next big project coming up would be Polymer Corporation's butadiene plant at Red Deer, Alta. which would use components of the central Alberta's wet gas to produce for the first time in the West the basic material for Polymer's synthetic rubber and chemical plant at Sarnia.

The years ahead would bring other additions as the economics of production, processing, transport and marketing permitted, ranging through synthetic fibres and rubbers, plastics, paints and resins, synthetic detergents, nitrogen compounds and automotive chemicals.

Detroit Police Check Tips In Savage Slaying of Child

DETROIT (AP) — A routine check of countless tips and an area-wide dragnet for known sex deviates appeared today to be the only hopes of police for a clue to the savage rape-slaying of six-year-old Mary de Caussin.

Of four men picked up for questioning after the child's body was discovered Thursday in a woods about 2½ miles from her home in suburban Ecorse Township, two were released.

Police today continued questioning Orville Dibble, 45, an itinerant commercial photographer seen in the neighborhood of the girl's home Wednesday. And they held Jacques Parres, 23, who was arrested when officers found what they first believed to be blood-stains in his car. Tests later showed the stains were not blood.

Detective-Inspector Thomas Cochill, one of the 70 policemen from six departments working on the case, said it appeared from tire tracks that the vicious killer was familiar with the secluded spot where Mary's body was found.

The girl, daughter of a Ford Motor Co. technical writer, disappeared Wednesday evening.

It was her first "free day" since last week when she had been confined to her yard by a heavily-built, well-to-do neighborhood as punishment for staying away from home for three hours without permission.

When Mary failed to appear for dinner a search was organized.

Some 1,000 volunteers combed eight square miles of the neighborhood in the futile hunt for the girl's body.

Her body, punctured with deep knife wounds and partly concealed by woods, was found by an area resident who went into the woods to get topsoil for his garden.

The child's hands were tied behind her back with a white shoe lace.

A post-mortem examination showed she died of a fractured skull and a slab wound on the left side of her neck.

The girl's father, Edmund de Caussin, 32, had a foreboding of tragedy after the futile all-night Wednesday search. He said at the time: "Assuming the worst has happened, I wouldn't blame the man as much as the society which fosters such crimes."

"It's a society which allows sex magazines on news stands for all to see it read; a society that measures Hollywood stars by their bosoms and permits them to produce sex pervert."

Dec. Caussin and his wife have three other children.

Graham Preaches to Converted, Leaves Masses Untouched, Claim

OTTAWA (CP)—The industrial masses have hardly felt any impact whatsoever from large evangelistic crusades like those of Billy Graham, the Rev. Dr. Emlyn Davies, Toronto Baptist minister who was guest speaker at the Ontario-Quebec annual Baptist Assembly, said Thursday that "busloads and trainloads of Christian believers are transported into the cities for meetings of professional evangelists but there is hardly an echo reach to the masses."

"In all the great evangelistic campaigns the large crowds, but the industrial masses have hardly been touched. Wherever there is real spiritual awakening, as in Germany, in India, in London, in Glasgow, and certainly not in Toronto,

Christian evangelism has always been accompanied by a definite impact of the whole church on "an unbelieving and unconverted world." He said there is no sense of the church there was no concern for the unreached masses.

The church situation has been almost entirely unaffected by the kind of evangelism we have had.

PLEA TO WOMEN

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Motor Club made a plea for safe driving Thursday. It urged women seeking relief from the heat to wear their shoes while in the back yard—away from the view of motorists. The club said the shoeless state is dangerous because too many drivers are being distracted momentarily by gals in snug shorts and -halters.

HUNT BOMBS

NEW YORK (CP)—Two incoming Trans-Canada Air Lines planes from Canada were searched by police at Idlewild airport Thursday following a report that a bomb might have been on board. Police said no bomb was found on either plane.

Scientist Says Canada Needs New Party

OTTAWA (CP) — A political scientist says Canada needs a new political party with a solid platform upon which both French- and English-speaking Canadians can agree.

Neither the Progressive Conservatives nor the Liberals meet the prescription, says Professor Mildred Oliver of United College, Winnipeg, and the impulse should be from the left.

He told the Canadian Political Science Association Thursday that such a move would offer Canada "the chance of genuinely creative political thought and action."

Professor Oliver, problem Quebec and Canadian democracy, said there is "more than one cleavage" among French-speaking Canadians. The major parties "differ mainly in the degree to which they strengthen their alignments.

"French-speaking Canadian politics, we are told, may in the future express itself federally through a modified ideology of Quebec nationalism, has gradually developed to the point that it is less realistic than ever before to regard it as a single body of thought and opinion. . . .

"The gradual polarization of French Canadian nationalism into left-wing and right-wing factions does not simplify the problems of Canadian democracy; rather it makes them more complex. Yet it perhaps offers the chance of genuinely creative political thought and action in this country."

Canada's Mayors Hear Address By President

MURRAY BAY, Que. (CP)—Canada's mayors today got down to the more serious business of their taxation and financial problems.

Mayor William Hawrelak of Edmonton, president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, officially opened the five-day convention Thursday night and was the butt of a few jokes about his unsuccessful bid for election as Liberal member of Parliament last Monday.

Paul Dozois, Quebec minister of municipal affairs, welcomed the delegates and discussed some of the problems caused by Canada's two-race culture.

English Canadians and Americans exercise a strong influence on French-Canadian institutions, he said, and "they feel this invasion . . . the small French-Canadian people, numbering 5,000,000, is concerned about its future and has a reflex of defence."

"The authorities of the province of Quebec, when they steadfastly defend provincial autonomy . . . do not do so with object of creating difficulties for the central government but solely with the aim of protecting our own institutions.

"We all desire Canada to be prosperous and unified in its diversity. This unity means dividing the mutual respect of the two ethnic groups which constitute it."

The delegates broke up into seminar sessions today to discuss financial problems. The session will be devoted to finding new sources of revenue and another to the problems of borrowing.

A Port William resolution asks for "immediate action to redivide the fields of taxation," claiming that municipal governments are being asked to provide "more and more" public services "from taxes based on entities unrelated to modern incomes."

Eight Killed As Bus Mounts London Walk

LONDON (Reuters)—The death toll in Thursday's London bus disaster rose to eight early today when Mrs. Ruth Murray, a Canadian from Toronto, died in hospital of multiple injuries.

Her husband, 58-year-old George Murray, was among the seven killed outright when a double-decker bus mounted the crowded walk in the city's commercial district.

The Murrays were on a visit to Britain with their 16-year-old son Alex. They were staying at Reading with Mrs. Murray's sister, Mrs. Bessie Hall, who was slightly injured, but was not escaped injury.

Of the 20 injured taken to hospital only two remained this morning. They were described as "satisfactory."

The London Transport Authority said the driver of the bus told authorities he had a blackout at the wheel.

THOUSANDS CHEER MAYFLOWER'S ARRIVAL

The U.S. coast guard training ship Eagle (background) with all sail aloft greets the pilgrim replica ship Mayflower II as the latter neared her historic goal of Provincetown, Mass. Shortly after, the Mayflower accepted a tow into Provincetown harbor rather than wait for a 40 mph wind to subside. Thousands of spectators cheered the ship's arrival.

Thomas Hennessy, a high school teacher, was selected by Provincetown, Mass., at its official town crier to race through the streets and spread the news that the Mayflower II had been sighted.

'Minister of Everything', C.D. Howe Tells Reporters He Is Retired Politician

OTTAWA (CP) — Bushy-browed, lantern - jawed Clarence Decatur Howe, Liberal government "minister of everything," Thursday announced his retirement from the political wars.

The commander of key ministries in the Liberal administration for 22 years told reporters before entering an all-day cabinet meeting: "I'm a retired politician."

Thus in four words he summed up his defeat, by CCF candidate Douglas Fisher in Port Arthur in Monday's general election and his decision to have done with Parliament.

Parliament may not see his like again for a long time. At 71, he is as hard-driving as he was when he came out of New England as a youth to amass a fortune in Canada before he was 40.

The broad - shouldered boss of the trade and commerce and defence production departments became a legend in his own time.

Outside the Commons he can be—and usually is—charming and polite, except with some recalcitrant industrialist who, thought he might be holding back Canadian economic progress by blunder or faint heart.

In the Commons, when aroused by some attack on his actions or policies, he could be a terror to his political foes.

Clutching the front-row desks on either side of him, his jaw thrust into the centre aisle of the Commons, Mr. Howe sometimes resembled a many - gunned tank spewing fury in all directions.

If his opponents did not quail before him, they often had a grudging admiration for his stout defence of his actions. They sometimes called him a "dictator" and were called in return "twirps" or small, carping men who had had no experience running the big show.

Mr. Howe was born at Waltham Mass., of American parents and came to Canada as an engineer in 1908. He amassed a fortune by building grain elevators in the West.

He was first elected to the Commons in 1935 and was taken in Mackenzie King's cabinet that same year as minister of railways and canals. He has been in the cabinet ever since, assuming tougher portfolios as the years passed.

He has been minister of marine, transport, munitions and supply, reconstruction, reconstruction and supply, trade and commerce and defence production. He played a major part in Canada's defence buildup during the Second World War and Korean War.

Driving, badgering, backing and filling, he got jobs done. This unrelenting fervor in continually forcing the pace helped to bring on the great parliamentary dispute last year over construction of the trans - Canada natural gas pipeline.

He wanted a start made on the pipeline in 1956 no matter what. He said the Commons opposition was ready to obstruct passage of the pipeline bill and moved closure of the debate before any opponent had a chance to speak.

In the end, as he so often did, Mr. Howe had his way. His role in passage of the legislation only confirmed his reputation as one of the most controversial figures in Canadian parliamentary history.

Mr. Howe seemingly had little or no desire to become prime minister. For him, the economic advance of Canada was enough. He was fond of saying that he founded guilty to the charge of being an eternal optimist insofar as Canada's progress was concerned.

Mr. Howe has been Prime Minister St. Laurent's chief lieutenant since 1948. He has been responsible for such enterprises as Trans - Canada Air Lines, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Polymer Corp. and the Canadian Wheat Board while at the same time building big government departments.

De Rothschild Would Not Dodge Death Duties

LONDON (CP) — James Armand de Rothschild, the French-born millionaire who became a British subject by way of the Canadian Army, has paid the "debt" he felt he owed his adopted country.

It was announced Wednesday the British government had collected $7,570,000 in death duties from the estate of the monocled member of the international banking family. He died last month at 66 leaving a fortune of £11,852,750.

Today relatives said de Rothschild deliberately avoided taking steps to dodge death duties. He could have dodged them by giving the bulk of his fortune to his wife and other members of his family at least five years before his death.

WOULD RATHER PAY

"He did not believe in getting out of taxes," said Mrs. Miriam Lane, a relative. "He used to say that if you chose to live in a country and you were very rich, then you had to pay the taxes that country demanded, including death duties. He was a man of very strong principles. I am sure that is why he did not take advantage of the five-year clause."

Son of a French baron, de Rothschild enlisted in the French Army as a private in the First World War. Later Churchill, the British war minister, wanted to give him a commission but could not because he was a foreigner.

Lord Derby called on the Canadian representative in London for assistance and de Rothschild was commissioned in the Canadian Army, later being seconded to the Royal Fusiliers.

INHERITED FORTUNE

He became a British subject in 1920. By assuming British citizenship he inherited the bulk of the £1,500,000 estate of his great-aunt, Mrs. Alice de Rothschild. He also inherited a fortune from his father.

De Rothschild represented the Liberal party in Parliament for 26 years and in 1945 was made parliamentary secretary to the ministry of supply.

The bulk of his estate, after taxes, goes to his widow.

The dead man was related to members of the firm of N. M. Rothschild, which has extensive interests in Newfoundland.

Prospector, 74, Missing 2 Weeks In Northern Bush

TIMMINS (CP)—The disappearance two weeks ago of a 74-year-old prospector who walked into rugged bushland 72 miles south of here with only an axe and compass is light Wednesday.

The pilot of an airplane which flew from South Porcupine to Jawbone Lake to take out Jack Ostrom, his 17-year-old son Harry and veteran bushman Ivan Anderson Wednesday was told of the older Ostrom's disappearance.

The younger Ostrom and Anderson said Harry's father had gone into the bush alone May 29 and hasn't been seen since. The two said they had been combing 30 square miles of bush searching for the missing man without finding any clues.

Provincial police have organized an air and ground search from Halleybury for the man who was lost for four days in the same area three years ago.

Searchers feel that because berries are not yet ripe in the bush, Ostrom's chances of survival are small.

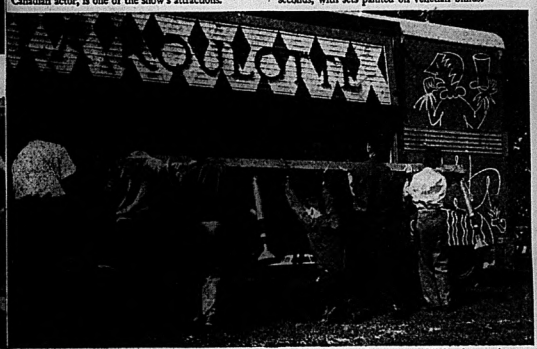
Playground for Kids and Clowns
Canadian Theatre-on-Wheels

A flick of mascara, a dab of colour, and the artist steps from reality into the fanciful world of make-believe. This summer, La Roulotte (The Show Wagon) will begin its 5th season of open-air theatre in Montreal's playgrounds with a repertoire of comic pantomime especially designed to delight the young.

The clown plays a major role in the company's hour-long performance. Yves Gelinas, son of the well-known Canadian actor, is one of the show's attractions.



Director Paul Buissonneau has ingeniously met the problems faced by a show-on-wheels. Scenery is changed in seconds, with sets painted on venetian blinds.

La Roulotte carries an imposing array of equipment. Recordings are made on magnetic sound track, loud speakers bring voice and music to outdoor audiences.

Created especially for children, the show attracts many adults on its tour of the city's playgrounds. Performances are given 5 nights a week for 10 weeks.

The sides of the trailer-truck go up as the company prepares to move to a new location. The big van carries in addition to its large stage, a sound booth, make-up rooms and a complete system of lights for evening performances.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Future Stars

By HOYT WILHELM, Baltimore Orioles

Smart infielders have discovered that there are many good reasons for you to move toward any ground ball coming your way. One of these reasons is that you have time by not waiting for the ball to bounce to you. Every stride you move toward the ball puts you that much closer to first base, where a majority of throws will go. It generally puts you closer to the other bases, too, when the throw should go to one of them.

By moving in to meet the ball you have more time to decide where the throw should go—in case you have a split-second choice to make—and to throw without rushing it so much that it may be wild. There are many times during a season when a base-runner will get a slow start, stumble, trip or over-run a base or have a mental lapse which will enable you to change your plans about where to throw if you have time to observe the situation before throwing the ball.

You also have a chance to play the hop, slowing up or speeding up your charge to field many balls at the top of the bounce where they are easier to handle.

In addition, you find it easier to keep ground balls in front of you as you advance toward them. Many fielders have learned that they still have a chance to put out runners after fumbling the ball if they keep the ball in front of them. It is almost impossible to retire a runner if a fumbled ball gets behind you.

Richelieu Park Pays off Well On Ont. Horses

MONTREAL (CP) — Sir's Boy and Phyllis Brook split a $3,060 purse at Richelieu Park Thursday night.

In the first division of the 2.30 class trot, Sir's Boy, a four-year-old gelding from Owen Sound, did the mile in 2:08 3-5 to pay $8.00, $4.20 and $3.50.

Hi Acres Elynne from Smiths Falls came in next to pay $4.20 and $4.70. Love Song A from Chesterville, Ont., showed for $3.80.

Phyllis Brook won the second division in 2:07 in pay $32.30, $19.20 and $5.50. The five-year-old mare is owned by Mrs. Margaret W. Sheppard of Coldwater, Ont., and was driven by Keith Waples.

OTHER ONTARIO BOREES

The Newton Robinson, Ont., horse, Connie L. Adios, was winner of the one-mile B pace and paid $7.80, $4.80 and $3.70.

May Direct of Simcoe, Ont., with Pem Caldwell driving, was second in the one-mile C pace, paying $13.20 and $6.50. This race was won by Ben Direct from Ottawa, and the pair paid $119.20 in the quinella.

Three Ontario horses placed third in as many races. In one C pace, Willing Widow from Peterborough, driven by Jim McIntyre, paid $3.20 for show tickets, and Sugar Rose from Owen Sound, driven by Wilbert Hopkins, paid $4.20 in the other. In the B trot, Breezy Pete from Kingston guided by Don Gallinger, paid $8 for show tickets.

SET NEW DATE

EDMONTON (CP)—The middleweight boxing match between Wilf Greaves and Jackie Heskon has been rescheduled for June 28. The new date follows two postponements and the death of Jake Mints, Greaves' manager.

Heskon is an Edmonton fighter and Greaves, now of Pittsburgh and formerly of Edmonton, is managed by Mrs. Jake Mints, widow of his former manager.

Tony Anthony Favored to Beat Yvon Durelle

DETROIT (AP)—Yvon Durelle, a commercial fisherman who holds the Canadian light-heavyweight boxing championship, and Tony Anthony, who hopes to win the world title, clash five tonight in a 10-rounder.

The Canadian abandoned his nets when the opportunity came to meet Anthony, No. 1 contender for the title held by Archie Moore.

"I'm losing money, but this is a big opportunity," said the 27-year-old veteran from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B. "Moore is ready to be taken, and if I beat Anthony I figure I'll be the guy to take him."

Despite Durelle's confidence, his 25-year-old opponent is a 3-to-1 favorite in the televised bout (NBC-TV, 10 p.m. EDT). Anthony gained the No. 1 ranking with his startling third-round knockout of Detroit's Chico Vejar in this same ring two months ago.

KNOCKOUT ARTIST

A two-time Olympic fighter, Anthony has won 36 of his 38 bouts, 25 of them by knockout. He is unbeaten since he graduated from the middleweight ranks and has a 4-inch height advantage over Durelle.

"I'll take anybody, but I think it'd be a mistake to stick and run. I'll have to try to beat him good."

Durelle has had five fights this year, winning four and losing on a third-round knockout to Willie Hinsant. The record books show he has 40 victories in 56 bouts. One fight was called "no contest," there was one draw and 14 defeats.

"I've really had about 125 fights," he said. "The people who make up the record books never heard about a lot of my early fights in Canada, actually I've been fighting for 12 years now."

The only thing Anthony has to gain for putting his No. 1 ranking on the line is a $4,000 guarantee for the fight.

"I can't wait forever on Archie" said Anthony. "I gotta keep busy."

Durelle successfully defended his Canadian light heavyweight title just two weeks ago by knocking out Gordon Wallace in two rounds. But he isn't regarded as much of a threat to Anthony.

Liked Soft Track

HAMBURG, N.Y. (CP)—Cimarron's Forbes, owned by Alex Parsons of London, Ont., found the soft track to his liking Thursday night to outpace five other starters in the $2,500 handicap pace headlining the Buffalo Raceway card.

Driver Ned Galentine moved Cimarron's Forbes into the lead around the final turn and then just managed to keep the sidewheeler in front in a three-way picture finish. Meadow Royal and Highland Laird wound up in that order behind the winner in the 2:08 3-5 mile.

Stinson's Boy Wins Feature At Woodbine

TORONTO (CP)—Stinson's Boy, owned by the Bayfield Farm of Toronto, won the feature race at New Woodbine race track Thursday, the Niagara Falls Purse.

Stinson's boy caught the speedy Ballyrush on the final turn and drew out to win by 2½ lengths. Ballyrush hung on to finish second while Seven O'Hearts beat Faulkner Maid in a photo finish for third place.

Stinson's Boy paid $11.50 to win, $4.70 to place and $3.80 to show. Ballyrush, the betting favorite, paid $2.10 and $2.70 and Seven O'Hearts returned $5.30.

The daily double combination of Teddette in the first race and Antique Lady in the second paid $48.70. The quinella combination of Wise Bandit and Good Get Up in the fifth paid $81.60.

Jerry Kesselring Or Moe Norman Could Take Open

KITCHENER (CP)—A couple of hometown golf products, Jerry Kesselring and Moe Norman, are the sentimental favorites to capture the Canadian Open which will be played at Kitchener Westmount July 10 to 12.

Both men, nurtured in this hotbed of Canadian golf stars, are old familiar with every hill and hollow in the par-71 layout and they share the course record of 64.

A group of press, radio and TV "amateurs" toured the 6,446-yard course Thursday and came away impressed with the numerous annoying traps and the rolling topography. The opinion of course pro Norm Hines is that 272, only 16 under par, will be good enough to win the open.

This year's competition will have a cash value of $25,000, $10,000 more than last year.

Kesselring, Canada's leading amateur a few years ago but disappointment since turning pro, is finally reaching golfing maturity, in the opinion of some observers. He qualified for the U.S. Open last week with 136, the second lowest in the U.S.

One of Canada's most colorful golfers, Norman has been Canadian amateur champ for the past two years and turned pro this winter. To date he has shunned competition and if he competes in the Open it will be his first tournament as a pro.

Last year Doug Sanders, a Miami amateur who since has turned pro, won after a one-hole playoff with pro Dow Finsterwald. Sanders has not indicated he will defend his title but tournament officials expect his entry.

Montreal Royals Digging Deeper Hole in Cellar

Montreal Royals are a far cry this year from the team that played an important role in every International League pennant race since 1945. Today they are in last place, 18 games behind first-place Richmond and 5½ games back of seventh-place Miami.

The Royals, who haven't finished a season in the second division since 1944 when they were sixth, began their decline last year when they finished in fourth place. Starting in 1945 the Royals finished first six times, were second four times, came in third once and ended up fourth once.

The Royals had their troubles again Thursday night when they blew a five-run lead to the Havana Sugar Kings, who came from behind in the last two innings for an 8-7 victory. The Royals were knocked deeper into the cellar when Richmond Virginians defeated Buffalo Bisons 3-2 in 14 innings. Rain caused postponement of Miami at Toronto and Columbus at Rochester.

WINNER WALKED HOME

A three-run homer by Havana's Chico Alverez tied the score in the eighth and the Cubans won when Montreal's fourth pitcher, Bob Walz, walked in the tie-breaker in the ninth.

The Royals started with a promising attack, when they blasted Havana starter Emilio Cueche for six consecutive hits and five runs in the second inning, then scored two runs on three hits off reliefer Vicinte Amor in the third.

But the Royals could do nothing against Joe Hatten and Orlando Pena, the winner.

A ninth-inning home run by Richmond's Gordie Windhorn off Buffalo starter and loser Fred Hahn sent the Vees-Bisons' game into extra innings. The Bisons took a 1-0 lead in the sixth and appeared headed for victory on the strong hurling of Hahn. The southpaw went the route for the Herd and fanned eight.

Sonny Dixon, who came on in relief of Bob Wiesler in the ninth got credit for the victory, although he needed help from John James in the 14th. The Bisons scored a run and the bases were loaded with one out when James came in to get Lou Ortiz to hit into a game-ending double play. Joe Caffie had four doubles for Buffalo.

BEDARD OUSTED

BECKENHAM, England (CP)—Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., was defeated 3-6, 6-3, 6-1 Thursday by India's Ramanthan Krishnan in the quarter-finals of the Kent lawn tennis tournament.

Shoemen Seventh In Point Anne Victory March

By GARRY ALEXANDER

A five-run rally in the bottom of the sixth provided the Point Anne Cementmen with their seventh consecutive win of the B, and D, softball season last night, a hard-fought 6-3 triumph over the Frankford-Bata Shoemen.

Ex-team mates Pat Maracle and Bobby Hunter dueled on close terms over four scoreless innings before the Cementmen bagged one. The Shoemen came right back to tie it in the top of the sixth before Hunter lost his stuff, surrendering the big five runs in the sixth. The visitors kept within reach by plating single markers in the eighth and ninth.

Maracle gained his fifth win of the campaign in going the route. He gave up eight hits in all but had a one hitter until the sixth, the losers collecting five of their safeties in the last two frames. Maracle fanned five, hit one batter and walked four.

Hunter was charged with all the Point Anne runs, leaving with the score 3-1 and the bases loaded, all three runners later scoring. He gave up six of the eight Cementmen hits, whiffed none while passing four and hitting another pair. Vic Burtt was the fireman, touched for two hits, fanning one and walking none.

Bobby Hull singled through the infield to open the winning rally. Hunter then loaded the sacks with a walk to Gilmour and Mulholland's bunt single. He will pitched two runs across then walked Batchelor and hit Maracle to fill the sacks again. Burtt came on at this point but Wardhaugh's fly, Jones' sacrifice and Doug Hull's base hit made it 6-1.

Jackie Wardhaugh had singled and scored on Doug Hull's long fly in the fifth but Fields' single, a walk and Burtt's base hit tied the score at 1-1.

Walks and safeties by Fields and Rankin gave the Shoemen one in the eighth, Maracle walking the man home, while Mike Cosgrove homered to close the scoring in the ninth.

Bobby Hull and Sam Mulholland each had a brace of singles for the loop-leaders. Pat Maracle had a two-bagger while Jackie Wardhaugh, Dave Jones and Doug Hull also hit safely.

Jason Fields with a double and two singles topped the Shoemen with the lumber. Vic Burtt connected for two, Cosgrove homered while Hunter and Harry Wickson also had singles.

Frankford-Bata: Cosgrove, Fields, Curtis, Burtt, Wickson, B. Rankin, Hunter, Faulkner, Harder, Austin, Ackerman, Defoe.

Point Anne: Wardhaugh, Jones, D. Hull, Elliott, B. Hull, Gilmour, Mulholland, J. Batchelor, Maracle.

Umpires — Tim Williams (P) and Don Sherry (B). Time: 1.29.

ERIC vs ERICH

Two of the biggest names in wrestling today will headline the mat card at Memorial Arena tonight when Yukon Eric and Fritz Von Erich match holds.

While the two giants pronounce their names the same way, that's where the similarity ends. Yukon is one of the more popular wrestlers of the circuit as well as being one of the tops, performance wise. The big lumberjack has and will take on anyone or anything. He has the size, brains and a surprising amount of agility to go with his 57-inch chest.

Erich, or maybe we should call him Fritz, is the long and powerful half of the Von team which earned the reputation as the meanest pair in wrestling here for the past several years.

Fritz hates one and all, except his pal Gene Kiniski. He claims that Mr. Yukon will taste defeat here come main event time tonight and while that may sound like pretty loose talk, the German giant cannot be taken lightly.

Preceeding this bout of the giants will be a front-line tag-team bout featuring the Tulos Brothers of Hamilton, Chris and John, vs another pair of meanies, Baron Gattoni and Art Neilson. This fight itself is of main-bout talent.

Rounding out the all-star cast will be Frank "Tarzan" Hewitt pitting his bag of tricks against popular Patrick Flanagan.

Opening bout gets under way at 9.00 p.m. Don't miss it.

HUSTLING BALL CLUB

Gordie Bell, he of the hockey McFarlands, has turned his attention to baseball for the summer months. "The word has it that Gord is another Hodges around the first-sack but not much baseball activity of the senior variety is available, he has turned to coaching.

Mr. Bell is the mastermind of the Belleville Juvelles, a hustling young club participating in the Belleville and District League. Other teams inclnde the powerful Prince Edward McFarlands, Trenton Juniors and Trenton Pilfcos as well as the Wellington Dukes.

Pitching would seem to be the least of Gordie's worries, judging from the list before us. Moe Huddleston, Jackie Elliott and Joe Ryan are three familiar names, all of previous experience in the district.

Backing these boys will be Jack Gilby, Gerald Hill and Gord St. Louis, when he's not playing third. All, with the exception of Elliott, hurled for last year's OBA all-Ontario Juvenile "A" champions.

Back of the plate is Bill Foster with Dennis Kerrulah in reserve. First base is loaded with three candidates opt for the job. Mike Ryan has held down the spot so far with Dick Hurst and Keith Bly ready to take over.

Ab Wright at second base and Jack O'Neil at shortstop, form the DP combination. Gord St. Louis is at third with Gord Irwin filling in there as well as in the outfield. Also patrolling the outfield is Bob Wannsmaker, Ralph Boomhower and Gord Fuller.

The club will not win the group title as long as the Prince Edward club is in the league but they will put up a good battle. They will enter the OBA playdowns again in the hope of retaining the championship come September.

A little fan support will certainly help and the baseball fan won't be disappointed.

The American Hockey League has lengthened its scheduled from 64 games to 70 for next season . . . Latest word out of Peterborough is that Whitby's Wren Blair wants Junior stars Ralph Backstrom of Ottawa and Larry Neale and Ron Casey of Toronto Marlies for European trip next winter . . . Belleville Chess Club players will journey to Peterborough for friendly matches over the weekend . . . Tomorrow is Kiwanis National Kids' Day in Belleville with events at the Fairgrounds for school-age youngsters . . . Wayne "Wiener" Brown apparently is a long ball hitter in softball. He has four hits for the Merchants to date, two homers, a triple and a double . . . Art "the One and Only" Feever may not play too much for Goyer's Marines but he has hit the ball a mile in both his pinch hitting trips—both balls were caught.

Pirates Sweep Four-Game Series From Redlegs; Yanks Cut Margin of White Sox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How hot can a pennant race get in September, what with first place resting on percentage-point leads and player brawls burigs out all over in June?

Milwaukee Braves, following manager Fred Haney's apefuglene directive to the letter, hustled and scrapped back into the National League lead by eight percentage points, with a rigious 8-5 victory over Brooklyn Dodgers Thursday.

They made it with the help of Pittsburgh Pirates as manager Bobby Bragan's kids swept a four-game set from Cincinnati, skidding the Redlegs from first to third with a 3-2 victory. Philadelphia surged back into second place 1½ points ahead of the Redlegs, with an 8-4 victory that ended St. Louis' Cardinals' eight-at eight games and plunked the Cardinals back to fifth—only 1½ games away from first and nine points back of fourth-place Brooklyn.

New York Giants clipped Chicago Cubs 7-4 in the other game.

TWO TOSSED OUT

The Braves, who last were in the lead May 15, busted back at her bleeding 6-4½ margin, built mainly on Billy Bruton's two home runs—and then Haney touched off a blowup triggered by a Don Drysdale pitch that caught Milwaukee shortstop Johnny Logan in the side. Both Drysdale and Logan were thrown out of the game after the free-for-all.

Milwaukee finally won' the issue, 5-4, with a four-run eighth inning against Dodger relief ace Clem Labine. Don Kawasaki got three-run homer bagged it, giving the bulky reserve catcher four RBIs. Bruton scored the run that winner with relief help.

Righthander Don Sanford cut down the Cardinals with a nine-hitter for his eighth victory in nine decisions. The Cardinal run, in the third, was the first off the 27-year-old rookie in 26 innings. The Phils already had it on ice, scoring two in the first off Vinegar Bend Mizell, four more in the fourth, on Richie Ashburn's triple four singles and two errors, made it emphatic.

ROOKIE GOES WELL

The Phils had 12 hits, but managed just one off Von McDaniel, who did a stalwart, four-inning relief job in his first appearance. The $50,000 bonus kid is a brother-in-law of Lindy McDaniel, who had won twice in the Card streak.

Bob Friend kept the Redlegs in a spin with a six-hitter, giving up two home runs by Don Hoak, in his fourth while the Pirates were nailing Hal Jeffcoat for their fifth in a row. Gene Baker's sacrifice fly in the ninth did it.

Whitey Lockman, Ray Jablonski and Red Schoendienst homered for the Giants as reliever Jim Davis won his first—with relief help from his uncle, Marv Grissom.

FROM B.C. TO DETROIT

DETROIT (AP)—Tackle Norm Masters signed Thursday with Detroit Lions of the National Football League after a year's play with British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, which failed to pick up his option by June 1.

HOAD HARD PRESSED

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Australia's Lew Hoad, Wimbledon champion, had to come from behind Thursday to defeat plucky Bobbie Wilson of England 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 in their quarter-finals of the West of England lawn tennis tournament.

Rogers Becker of England defeated defending champion Luis Ayala of Chile, 6-2, 13-11, in a quarter-final.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ted Williams wrote his name into the American League record book Thursday by belting three home runs in one game for the second time this season. The feat was part of a 9-3 lacing the Boston Red Sox handed Cleveland Indians.

The loss dropped the Indians back into fourth place, Detroit Tigers regaining third by sipping Baltimore 3-1.

And at Chicago, the White Sox and New York Yankees indulged in a tip-swatting, 39-minute melee before the second-place Yankees trimmed the White Sox' lead to three games with a 4-3 decision.

Kansas City smashed Washington 6-2 in the other game.

WILLIAMS LIGHTS BAY

Williams' record-breaking effort came after he swamped bats with the Indians' Early Wynn during pre-game batting practice—Williams' heavy bat for Avila's lighter-weight club.

The resulting three homers, the third time he has hit three in one game, put his name in the American League record book. Two National Leaguers, Johnny Mize and Ralph Kiner, have equalled the feat. Williams' latest circuiting this season was May 8 in Chicago.

Early Wynn, victim of two of the Splendid Splinter's homers, took a sour view of the proceedings.

"He'd never had the chance if those pitches in the dirt, one had been called strikes," the big righthander said, disputing the call of plate umpire Nestor Chylak. The four - baggers spelled the seventh defeat against seven victories as the Triple lost the game 9-4.

Another third homer came in the ninth off Bob Lemon, making first American Leaguer pulling a thigh muscle May 24.

PENALTIES TODAY

Chicago's Larry Doby and Walt Dropo and New York's Bill Skowron, Slaughter and Billy Martin got the heave-ho at Chicago, after Doby and Dropo at first Dilman with a sweet left hook to the chin following a wild pitch by the Yankee righthander that almost nicked the Sox centrefielder. Umpire president Will Harridge sat in on the fuss and said he'd release his findings today.

Jim Rivers homered for a 2-0 White Sox lead, but the Yankees broke their rubber game of the series with a three-run fifth on doubles by Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle and singles by Bill Skowron and Gene Woodling. Pierce, who had won seven in a row, came off with a 10-3 record, giving up his first 25 hits in 25 innings when the Yanks scored in the third.

Charlie Maxwell's sixth home run in six days and J. W. Porter's RBI double gave the Tigers two six-inning runs gs righthander John Tsitouris won in his first major league game. The 21-year-old rookie pitched 1 2-3 relief innings, surviving from Charleston in the American Association after the game had started.

Jack Tighe, part of that multi-player deal with the Yankees last winter, was named first league league start for the As, who backed up his five-hitter with four home runs. All of the homers were off Pete Ramos—who has given up 25 hits in just 36 innings to take the major league gopher ball lead with 20.

Dutchmen Make Determined Bid To Catch Oaks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

After a poor start that saw them lose their first three games, Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen are making a determined bid to overhaul Oakville Oaks, Intercounty Senior league leaders.

They took a big step in the right direction Thursday night, pitching up their fifth straight win, whipping Guelph Plymouths 11-0 in Kitchener. They now have a 5-3 record and trail the leading Oaks by one game and the second-place St. Thomas Elgins by 41 percentage points.

The Elgins stayed in the thick of what now appears to be a three-way fight in the six-team league with a 7-4 win over luckless Listowel Legionnaires. Listowel stayed with the visitors in the hit department with 11, but left 10 runners stranded.

Six games were played in the Great Lakes-Niagara league, Welland Beltaces at Hamilton being postponed.

EX-JUNIOR STEADY

In Kitchener, righthander Howie Hogan, without four regulars due in OBA junior champions last year, went all the way for his third victory in five decisions, shutting six Guelph hits.

Goalder Joe Yosurak and shortstop Nick Rintche paced the nine-hit Dutchies' attack with two singles apiece. The Plymouths, fifth with one win in five games, were without four regulars due to shift work.

Both starting pitchers at Listowel, Paul Kapelos of St. Thomas and Mike Kvasnak of the Legionnaires were the losing second. Coach Ray Upper led the Elgin batters with three safeties, two of them doubles. Catcher Jim Dickey had three hits for Listowel.

TOM'S SWEPT

Tommy White, for many years a pitching star for St. Thomas and Aylmer in the Intercounty, was injured fielding a ball at first base and had to leave the game.

The Legionnaires, in spite of having three Americans in the lineup, have only one victory in seven games.

In the Great Lakes - Niagara League tonight, second-place London Majors, owning a respectable 5-1 record, play the winless Brantford Red Sox in Brantford.

No games are scheduled in the Intercounty.

TORONTO (CP)—It's taken 90 years to get more than 26,000 persons at a Canadian racetrack on a single afternoon and just as many to come up with racing's first million-dollar day. The attendance figure isn't shattering in these days of bumper sports crowds.

The marks were set last Saturday at New Woodbine in suburban Toronto, one of the largest and most modern racing plants in North America. The attendance was 26,705, the betting $1,033,233.

On other reflection, it's a wonder why the crowd figures weren't much higher because the Ontario Jockey Club, sponsor of the meet, had everything going for it, including, as it turned out, one of the fastest Canadian-bred three-year-olds in history.

TOP ATTRACTION

It was a fine afternoon. The attraction was the 98th running of the Queen's Plate, the most colorful event on the racing calendar. The $13,000,000 track, opened just a year ago, is geared to handle crowds of 40,000 or more.

You can't walk more than 50 yards from any given point in the grandstand or clubhouse without bumping into mutuels machines. There were no local competing sports attractions to speak of.

There's free parking space at the track, about 15 miles from downtown Toronto, for nearly 25,000 cars. On top of everything else, the Canadian-bred three-year-olds were going for a purse of more than $25,000.

The race was broadcast and televised in Toronto, which could have made some inroads in the attendance figure. Even so, with a population of 1,500,000 to draw on—why wouldn't the biggest racing day in the year draw a full-house crowd of 40,000 or, more?

Possibly the best answer is that the track's location may scare off many would-be patrons. The only transportation to the layout is by automobile or bus. The OJC co-operates with the Toronto Transit Commission to give fans plenty of bus service at 50 to 75 cents a head, from various points in the city to the track.

Toronto racegoers for years have had two tracks within easy access by streetcar—Old Woodbine, which still is operating, in east - central Toronto, and Dufferin, bought by the OJC and closed down, in the west-central district of the city. A streetcar ticket could get the racegoer to either.

Toronto folks haven't become accustomed to driving miles to see a race, a ball game or a football game. Maybe this new layout will' grow on them and if it does the OJC will get its investment back in a hurry.

OJC officials were happy about last Saturday's attendance and the general day-by-day crowd figures. "We figured it would take up to five years to get the crowds we're now getting," one official said.

The plate race itself was a one-horse show by Lyford Cay, owned by E. P. Taylor, president of the OJC. The three-year-old broke two Canadian records in its 1¼-mile plate distance gallop. It was clocked in 46.1 seconds at the half-mile the old record is 47.0) and completed the route in 2:02.3 against the best previous time of 2:02.2.

One historian has dug up the information that the hay golding's clocking over 1¼ miles would have won all but seven of the Kentucky Derbies since 1896 and he would have dead-heated with Hill Gail in 1932.

That's quite a record for a accustomed to driving miles to Canadian-bred three-year-old.

Free-for-Alls at Chicago And Brooklyn Probably Due To Closeness of Loop Races

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Logan and Billy Martin, a pair of compact little infielders in different leagues but the same weight class, had some more clippings for their "scrap" books today following one of the most riotous afternoons baseball has known.

Logan, shortstop for Milwaukee Braves, was one of the principals in a free-for-all at Brooklyn Thursday, triggered by taunts between Logan and Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale in the heat of the National League pennant race.

Martin, an infield handyman for New York Yankees, didn't get to work until peace apparently had been installed at Comiskey Park in a first-inning flareup between the second - place Yankees and American league leading Chicago White Sox. Four players were given the thumb in that melee, broken up with the help of eight cops.

The battle in Ebbets Field started moments after Drysdale, a 25-year-old righthander who stands 6-6, weighs 195, had plunked a pitch into Logan's side—a natural rebuttal, some folks claimed, to Billy Bruton's second home run which had just given the Braves a 4-0 lead in the second inning.

INVITATION ACCEPTED

Logan, 30, and a 5-11, 175-pounder, fussed along to first base warning "I'll get you" and "I'll get you when you come into second base!"

"If you got a beef," answered long Don, "come get it over with right now! That's when the tough stuff really started.

Milwaukee's Ed Mathews wrestled Drysdale to the ground after leading a charge of players from both dugouts. Drysdale and Logan exchanged swipes. Brooklyn first baseman Gil Hodges, attempting to break it up, was pinned by Milwaukee coaches Elmer Riddle and Cedric Durst. Everybody got into the act before order was restored.

Logan and Drysdale were ejected, Logan suffering a scratch over his left eye. Drysdale had welts on his neck and shoulder. Hodges had a slight spike cut on his thigh.

At Chicago, the White Sox' Larry Doby objected to a wild pitch by Art Ditmar and laid the 6-2, 195-pound, 22-year-old righthander low. That triggered a full-scale scrap, with Yankee Enos Slaughter and Chicago's Walt Dropo having at it in the main individual bout.

Yank manager Casey Stengel and the White Sox' Minnie Minoso also mixed it up, bumping bosoms.

WORST ENOS HAS SEEN

Doby, Dropo and Slaughter were ejected along with Martin, who got the thumb for charging Dropo after resuming his position at third. The 41-year-old Slaughter called it the "worst fight I've seen in my 20 years in the game."

League president Will Harridge saw the brawl and conferred after the game with Stengel and Sox manager Al Lopez. Harridge is to pronounce penalties today.

Martin and Logan are no strangers to such brawls. Billy the kid had a Sunday run in the catcher Clint Courtney of the old St. Louis Browns in 1953 at St. Louis. And it was his birthday party which broke up in an early morning nightclub brawl last month, leading to $1,000 fines for five Yankees.

Logan was in a scrap with Cincinnati pitcher Hal Jeffcoat May 27, when Jeffcoat slid into Third. Three years ago Logan batted Cincinnati's Jim Greengrass and Johnny Temple in a single game. And in 1953, he sparred with teammate Vern Bickford in a New York saloon.

TORGESON TO SOX

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Tigers traded first baseman Earl Torgeson to Chicago White Sox Thursday for Dave Philley and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Torgeson, 33, has been in the major leagues since 1947. He came to the Tigers in 1953 from Philadelphia Phillies. Used sparingly this season, mostly as a pinch hitter, he has a .224 batting average in 49 trips to the plate.

Philley, 37, appeared in 21 games with the White Sox this season and has a batting average of .309.

Scoring all their runs in two innings, the Y's Men bantams defeated the CNRAA squad by 12-4 count on Wednesday evening for their initial win of the season.

They plated seven in the first and five in the sixth while the losers bagged two in each of the third and sixth.

Latchford hurled for the victors until the fifth, striking out ten and walking seven. Wilson completed the job with three strikeouts and no walks.

Rose and Muir shared the CNRAA pitching chores, fanning nine while walking six.

Wilson had three hits and Lewis a pair to pace the Y's Men batters. Rowbotham, Annis, Bronson, Weston, Lessels and Latchford collected one each.

Bronson bagged a pair of the CNR safeties while Muir had one.

Historic Inverness, Elements Combine to Give Shotmakers Pretty Fair Shellacking

By FRITZ HOWELL

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—America's golfing greats were a slightly battered and bewildered brigade today as they charged into the second round of the 57th National Open championship.

Historic Inverness and the elements combined Thursday to give the shotmakers a pretty fair shellacking. Only nine of the 145 who finished the opening 18-hole round on schedule were able to hold their own against par 70.

Out front, with the greatest start he's ever had in the big show, was dapper Jimmy Demaret, who used only 30 putts in carding a fine 68.

Jimmy has the distinction of having shot the second best 18-hole score ever registered in the previous 56 opens but he didn't walk off with the big check. His 68 in 1948 was two back of Ben Hogan, who set the record.

HOGAN ON SIDELINES

But Hogan, four-time winner of the big bauble, dropped out Thursday without firing a shot as a back ailment forced him to the sidelines.

Demaret's edge, however, could have been short-lived. As darkness fell, following a long holdup of play due to rain and wind, some 15 players were on the course with holes still to play in the first round. They were called back to complete the session this morning.

Among those who finished was the former PGA champion from Northville, Mich. As he stepped up to the 17th tee to meet play, gray-haired Chick needed only two pars to tie Demaret for the top spot.

Of those who finished the first round on time, but soaking wet, the big challengers were Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., Masters champion and the year's No. 1 money winner; Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., the 1952 Open king, and Ken Venturi of San Francisco, who turned pro about six months ago, each with 69.

LEONARD AT 71

Of the three Canadians entered, veteran Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., had the best day, with 71.

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

The following chart is for the period from Saturday, June 15, to Sunday, June 23.

All times are Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

	A.M. Minor	A.M. Major	P.M. Minor	P.M. Major

37—71. Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener was four-over-par with a 38-36—74. Rudy Durante of Windsor, one of the last players to come in, had 39-38—77.

So tough was the going that the 145 finishers, in 2,410 holes played, scored only 200 birdies in addition to Boros' eagle.

But par, while surrendering 209 strokes here and there, took a heavy toll elsewhere—for the 145 players rounded up with an aggregate score of 957 strokes over par.

The scores ranged all the way from Demaret's 68 to a 93 turned in by 31-year-old professional Ross C. Carlos, Jr., of White Plains, N.Y., who explained it all with a simple, "I was shooting practically every shot, even my putts."

Vaughn Monroe Will Host 'Galaxy of Stars' on TV

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Vaughn Monroe, who will serve as host of Galaxy of Stars (NBC-TV) Saturday evening, believes that entertainers have to remember their job is "to please people, not to show them."

Certainly that is the aim of Galaxy of Stars when Monroe will be host to four other top recording vocalists—Tony Martin, Julius LaRosa, Faye E. Morgan and Georgia Gibbs. It will be an all-musical hour, also featuring pianist Eddie Heywood, singer Martha Carson, the Lane Brothers and Joe Reisman and his orchestra.

The matter of "pleasing" people or "showing" them came up the other day when a man told Monroe he was tired of the music of Lawrence Welk.

IT'S PAYING OFF

"But he must be playing the kind of music people want to hear," said Monroe, "because he's successful."

Recalling the days when he was the country's No. 1 band leader, Monroe said: "I always tried to hold to the way my job was to please people—not to show them. It's something every entertainer has to hold in mind. Especially in the band business, it's easy to get the notion that you're so great the public will have to accept and like whatever you want to play."

Just four years ago Monroe startled the music world when he announced he was dissolving his famous musical organization in order to become a single performer.

Today he says that "I still miss the boys, but I'm glad that I dissolved the band—I did it because I was bored with being on the road all the time."

But as a single performer Monroe, he has been busier—and perhaps busier—than when he was leading his band.

He continues to make song recordings. Two days a month he flies to New York to make television commercials for a large company for which he also is a traveling representative. One of his chief interests is the large estate and summer resort which he and his wife operate in Farmingham, Mass.

As if that were not enough, he's going to try stock theatre this summer, playing in Annie Get Your Gun.

Juveniles Bow To McFarlands By 4-2 Score

Belleville Juveniles of the B. and D. Baseball League gave the first place Prince Edward McFarlands their toughest fight of the season at the Fairgrounds last night, before bowing by a narrow 4-2 score. The McFarlands are undefeated.

The Juveniles took a 1-0 lead in the opening inning and the county squad came back with a pair in the third, one in the fourth and one in the seventh. Belleville got one back in the seventh and left the sacks loaded then had three on again in the eighth but could not plate the equalizers.

Don Buntein toiled for six innings to earn credit for the victory. He gave up one run on five hits, whiffed eight and walked six. Marv Stacey worked the remainder, allowing a run on three hits, fanning four and passing three.

Gordie St. Louis went the distance for Belleville and gave up only six safeties. Four errors hurt his cause, miscues coming in. every inning in which the McFarlands scored. He nailed six on third strikes while walking four.

A base on balls to Bob Wannamaker and St. Louis' two-bagger gave the Juveniles their brief lead in the first. A walk to Moe Huddleston, Ralph Boomhower's double and two more walks forced in the tieing tally and left the sacks loaded. Singles by Fuller and Huddlestone plus a fielder's choice gave the youngsters a good chance in the eighth but both runners died on base.

Keith MacDonald singled and Bob Boomhower and Claude Carr smashed back to back triples for two McFarland markers. An error on a strikeout and Lodver's single accounted for another while Carrers and MacDonald's base hit netted the fourth.

Carr and Buntein had triples to pace the winners with the hickory. Wannamaker, Lockyer and MacDonald each singled.

Lord Fuller bagged two of the Belleville knocks, Ralph Boomhower and Gord St. Louis claiming doubles and Moe Huddleston one single.

The line-up:

McFarlands — Carr, Parry, K. Stacey, M. Stacey, Bolton, Wannamaker, Lockyer, MacDonald, Bunton.

Jean Seberg Still Not Sure How She Likes Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Seberg, already a star in her first movie, has taken her first look at Hollywood, but it's still no decision on how she likes the town.

"I'm only here for two days," commented the Iowa beauty. "About my only impression of Hollywood has been from the inside of a cocktail party. And I'd hate to judge a town from a cocktail party."

If she did, the decision might be polite and charm that was a recognition in her honor and she had to receive hundreds of guests with police and cheers three hours. It's a tough job for a teen-ager. But she carried it off well—much better than some of her guests, in fact. One asked her a question deliberately to show her the child. Another asked her a mundane question and snapped at her reply: "That's a cliche, and I hate cliches; I like people to be natural."

Commented Jean: "I guess he was expecting me to explode, like an Iowa Anna Magnanai. I did snap back at him, and I guess he liked it."

I asked Jean if she would like to settle here, and her answer will be a blow to the smogbound Chamber of Commerce.

"I don't know," she said. "I did fall in love with San Francisco, and it wouldn't be bad living here, knowing that San Francisco was so near."

Otto Preminger gave her the best kind of backing after choosing her from the ranks of unknowns to play the lead in Saint Joan. From here she leaves for New York, London and then France, where she'll star for Preminger in Bonjour Tristesse with Deborah Kerr and David Niven.

A world of events has happened to Jean in the last eight months. Her previous experience was only a family motor trip, but in recent months she has flown to Canada, Britain and France, and is just finishing a 12-city U.S. tour to exploit Saint Joan.

Minor Baseball

One scratch single off the bat of Gary Gray robbed Don Deveraux of a no-hitter last night as Belleville defeated Trenton 3-2 in a peewee baseball game.

Deveraux tossed beautiful ball all the way and Gray's infield hit was a grounder down third and passing 11.

The fifth inning was a big one for Deacon's, scoring 19 runs on seven of their base hits.

Peter Whitney led the winners at bat with a triple and three singles while Deveraux helped his own cause with a triple and two singles. Peter Carver banged a brace of singles with Jim Hurst tripling and Bob Jeffery doubling.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, June 15, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A fine day for mental work, unusual projects, entertainment, outdoor sports, worthwhile hobbies. Sensible caution urged in personal affairs, venturesome activities.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — A friendly, though not exciting, day generally and, while healthy sports and outdoor activities are encouraged, common sense should direct them. New opportunities indicated.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — This should be a happy, propitious time for you, with your Mercury, and also Jupiter, in good aspects. Mental work, hobbies, essentials, and entertainment highly sponsored.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — A doubtful outlook for you and your interests. Give special attention to family matters, children's interests and charitable affairs. Accept your personal charm; use it to help your God-given talents.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — An interesting and stimulating day. The unusual, the purposefully daring favored — but of course, not foolhardy action. Gains possible in business and finance through sound action.

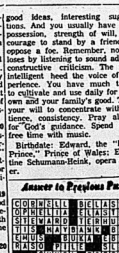
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Similar to Gemini now. An admirable day for essentials and for artistic interests. Writing, secretarial work, painting, matters connected with the home among strongly sponsored activities.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — A day for work and play, good humor, fun and healthpromoting activities. Without straining or neglecting daily tasks, you can have a joyful, happy time with family, good friends.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Mild influences now will become fine strong ones within a few days. Colorful, diversified activities are indicated, favored. You can help make this a highly productive period.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — A fine outlook. Practical matters are equally favored with delicate, artistic and social interests. Don't permit trifles or the idiosyncrasies of others to dampen your enthusiasm.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Put worry and petty things behind you; Join the parade of happy "do-something." There is always a brighter outlook, a surer chance for gain for those who go forward with confidence.



January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Repose is a good thing but don't permit it to become boredom. Spice rest with variety, and you will realize the value of proper balance.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — This day promises new advantages, new avenues to occupy your fertile mind. Even difficult situations should be handled easily. It's nice to have a stimulating day such as this. Forward, with faith!

You born today are never at a loss for bright, cheery words, good ideas, interesting suggestions. And you usually have self-possession, strength of will, the courage to stand by a friend, to oppose a foe. Remember, no one loses by listening to sound advice, constructive criticism. The most intelligent need the voice of experience. You have much talent to cultivate and use daily for your own and your family's good. Train your will to concentrate with patience, consistency. Pray always for God's guidance. Spend some time each day with music.

Birthdate: Edward, the "Black Prince," Prince of Wales; Ernestine Schumann-Heink, opera singer.

NASSER

They came first in the emergence of a new right-wing coalition this spring which challenged the government in electing to fill vacancies in Parliament. The challenge failed. But a month later the right struck again with some unity and threatened a mass resignation from Parliament. The left was startled and scurried in search of a compromise. Parliament recessed before the situation could come to a head, but the threat remains.

The Syrian government showed further signs of worry this week by agreeing to improve trade relations with Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

LEAGUE WEAKENS

Coupled with all this is a continued weakening of the Arab League. Its original ambitious objective was to achieve Arab unity among its members, who now are Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Libya, Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon, Yemen and Sudan. The league has never been much more than a debating society, and recent events have not strengthened it.

In Lebanon, whose government was the first to endorse the Eisenhower doctrine involving United States aid to the Middle East, the cold of a nationalist front with left-ist and pro-Egyptian leanings was turned back in the first round of parliamentary elections last Sunday.

Three members of the Lebanese opposition were summoned to Amman Thursday by Saud. Informed sources in Amman were divided on whether Saud was seeking to strengthen Lebanese Premier Sami Solh's position in talks with his opponents or was listening to their pleas for a mending of the Egyptian-Jordan rift.

USSR WILL ADMIT ATOMIC INSPECTORS

Services' Vote Could Possibly Alter Results

10 Ridings Where Winning Margin Less Than 300

TO ASK RUSSIANS TO END A-TESTS

Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize winning bio-chemist, who is spearheading a controversial campaign for abolition of H-bomb tests hopes to have a meeting with Soviet officials to round out their views, and is now on his way to Moscow. The California Institute of Technology professor had circulated a petition signed by 2 million scientists calling for an end to nuclear bomb tests because of fallout danger.

OTTAWA (CP)—Result of the armed forces vote in the June 10 general election is expected to be announced sometime today.

It will pave the way for an answer early next week to the question whether the Liberals will continue in office or turn over the government to the Progressive Conservatives.

At one point Friday in a round of cabinet meetings and a 90-minute telephone talk between Prime Minister St. Laurent and Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker, Mr. St. Laurent said it would not be proper to "formulate a decision on a government changeover before the service vote is counted.

There were no further cabinet meetings planned for the weekend, but one might be held Tuesday.

The vote of 117,000 servicemen and women overseas mixed was taken last week and conceivably could send some close victories resulting from Monday night's civilian vote tally.

10 CLOSE VERDICTS

In 10 constituencies where winning margins were less than 300 the vote is considered close enough to be possibly affected.

They include close Progressive Conservative victories over Liberals in the Yukon, Gaspe, Quebec Provencher, Man., Montreal Jacques Cartier-Lasalle and Algonish-Guysborough, N.S.; a Liberal edge over the CCF in Melville, Sask.; Social Credit victories over the PCs in Burnaby-Richmond, B.C., and the CCF in Okanagan-Boundary, B.C.; and CCF decisions over the PCs in Moose Jaw-Lake Centre, Sask., and the Liberals in Timiskaming.

The Liberal-Conservatives have won 111 seats, to the Liberals' 102, the CCF's 25, Social Credit's 19 and six independents.

Voting in Wellington South has been deferred to July 15. It was learned that Finance Minister Harris, one of nine cabinet ministers defeated, will contest the seat for the Liberals.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who returned early Friday from his Prince Albert, Sask., home, described his meeting with Mr. St. Laurent as "most amicable" and said he was pleased the Liberal leader had declared nor downcast.

"We had a good meeting and we parted on good terms," Mr. St. Laurent said.

QUESTIONS ARE PARRIED

Diefenbaker said the two party leaders agreed there would be no announcement until next week and parried newspaper men's leading questions about a possible change of government administration and Canada's representative at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London starting June 26.

Meanwhile, CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell and Social Credit Leader Solon Low, who combined forces represent the balance of power in the House, both said there is no chance of a coalition government.

Tornadic Winds Cross Illinois, Killing 2 Women

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Tornadic winds coupled with drenching rain ripped through central Illinois Friday, killing two women and injuring more than 50 other persons.

A square mile in the southeast section of Springfield, the state capital, resembled a trash heap after 106-mile-an-hour winds destroyed more than 100 homes and heavily damaged 200 others. Nearly every tree was uprooted in two city parks.

All off-duty police and the city's emergency services helped clear debris, and administer first aid to the injured.

Mrs. Paul Faley, 60, was killed when the tornado shifted her home off its foundation. She was crushed as she stood at the top of the basement steps.

A falling tree toppled a power line atop Mrs. Anna Larson, 37, killing her as she was riding a bicycle.

Today's Chuckle

The 4-year-old came into the kitchen from playing in the front yard and approached his mother: "Who am I?"

Mother mused. "Davy Crockett," she guessed.

"That lady was right," the tot said. "She told me I was so dirty even my mother wouldn't know me."

THE WEATHER

GOVT. RELEASES THREE TARIFF BOARD REPORTS

Overhaul Duty On Imported Steel

OTTAWA (CP) — The government made public Friday three tariff board reports it had in its possession for three or more months.

In them, the tariff board:

1. Recommended the first overhaul in 50 years of the duty on imported steel, including eliminating at a concession—the 99-per-cent drawback of duty on imports for such specific purposes as auto stampings, some springs and axles, heating and electrical equipment, belting, saw blades and axes.

2. Proposed a general increase in tariff protection for the country's pipe and tube manufacturing industry.

3. Recognized foreign suppliers of waterproof footwear and rubber-soled canvas footwear can undersell Canadian producers because of low wages abroad, but made no recommendations for tariff protection.

In addition, the finance department announced American strawberries will be valued at 13½ cents a pound to prevent dumping in Canada. For the next six months the government will collect as a dumping duty the difference on strawberries priced at less than 13½ cents.

The department said prevailing U.S. prices are "exceptionally low" and imported berries had been offered to Canadian processors at prices below those paid Canadian growers.

There is no indication what may happen to the tariff board's recommendations, dated Feb. 28, in connection with the proposed steel and pipe and tube tariff revision up in 1954 to study insanity as a legal defence.

Hastings county court judge Helen Kinnear was a commission member.

Chief Justice McRuer also is head of another royal commission studying the law relating to criminal sexual psychopaths. The report on this commission still is in preparation, officials said.

The report said the commission heard representations that the crown should be required to prove, in insanity pleas, that the accused was not insane at the time of the crime. However, it commented:

"We do not feel that the evidence we have heard warrants a recommendation of any change in the law in this respect. The result on the accused to establish the

Commission Recommends No Change in Law on Insanity

OTTAWA (CP) — A five-member royal commission has recommended no basic change in the law of insanity as a defence in criminal cases, it was announced Friday.

It recommended in its 70-page report dated Oct. 25 but released only today that the present law regarding the burden of proof and procedure in insanity pleas be continued.

That is, an accused who pleads not guilty because of insanity must prove insanity at his trial, and the jury alone must rule on the evidence introduced.

The commission was headed by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario High Court and was set up in 1954 to study insanity as a legal defence.

defence by a mere preponderance of probability of insanity is not a heavy onus."

The commission recommended that the statutory provision should be made for a board of review consisting of three psychiatrists to report to and advise the cabinet in its usual review of all death sentences.

It also recommended that a private citizen should have the power to decide at a preliminary hearing whether the accused is mentally fit to stand trial, but the crown should still have the power to order a charge in a higher court despite the magistrate's finding.

The royal commission suggested that the Supreme Court of Canada should be asked to make a clear and authoritative statement as to the proper instruction a judge must give to a jury in connection with pleas of insanity.

However, it suggested its own it would instruct a jury to find the accused not guilty if "on a mere preponderance of probability based on the evidence as a whole the accused was so diseased in his mind that he could not form the consequence of his act or was incapable of knowing his act was wrong."

It recommended no major change in the wording of Section 16 of the Criminal Code which covers the legal definition of insanity, except to suggest the deletion of sub-section 3 because it is the medically unacceptable.

Hundreds Watch While Three Men Beat Policeman

TORONTO (CP) — Three men attacked a plainclothes policeman and a woman Toronto early today and bludgeoned and kicked him into semi-consciousness while a crowd of more than 100 watched.

Police said only one spectator, an unidentified taxi driver, went to the policeman's aid as he lay on the sidewalk. The men had used their fists and steel irons as weapons.

The policeman, who had been patrolling the Jarvis and Dundas Street area, was released from hospital after treatment for cuts to his head, face and back.

Diamond King Hiding Out After Arrival in London

LONDON (Reuters)—One of the world's richest and most enigmatic men, John Thorburn Williamson, arrived here this week and disappeared as if into a cloud of mist to his beloved Africa.

The Canadian-born Williamson was maintaining the secrecy and inscrutability which has characterized him since he set out nearly 25 years ago to discover and open up the vast "reservoir" of diamonds in Africa's Belgian Congo.

The story of his search and successful exploitation in Tanganyika has been told in scores of articles around the world. But his own history and movements are always shrouded in mystery by his almost impenetrable reserve and secretiveness which have again succeeded to black out his current visit to England.

Mr. Williamson flew into London from Nairobi, Kenya, and then vanished. His business colleagues and friends have seen nothing of the dark-moustached, sunburned man.

He was reported to have come to England because Margaret Rose, a magnificent diamond brooch formed from stones gathered at his fabulous mine at Mwadui in Western Tanganyika.

The 49 - year - old Williamson planned to present the brooch to the princess last October during her tour of the Mwadui mine, but he was taken ill then.

Ever since his illness—diagnosed in 1940 he took all possible precautions to avoid publicity and shunned the limelight once the news of his one-man search for precious treasure became known.

Born in Montfort, about 40 miles west of Montreal, he studied at McGill University and took his first job with the De Beers mine in South Africa. From there he convince his employers that the famous Kimberley mine was only an offshoot of the parent diamond "pipe" and that the source was somewhere in Tanganyika. Williamson set out to prove his theory.

It took him seven hard years to find his dream under a tree in the jungle. Now a booming mine, with well over $3,400,000 in known stones and industrial diamonds produced there each year, is virtually a one-man business. Williamson owns the majority of shares.

Brighton Youth Held After Driver Attacked

CHATHAM (CP)—Lawson Dolman, 39, of Toronto required 13 stitches to close a wound in his scalp after he was assaulted by a youthful hitch-hiker he picked up on Highway 3.

Doleman wrested an iron bar from his assailant who fled. Later provincial police arrested a 15-year - old Brighton youth and charged him with assault with intent to steal.

MAYORS DUMP PROBLEM INTO LAPS OF GOVT.

Motion on Education Runs Into Opposition

MURRAY BAY, Que. (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities Friday night side-stepped a resolution on education and dumped the problem into the laps of the federal and provincial governments.

A Winnipeg resolution that the federal government assume all the costs of elementary education ran into opposition from Quebec delegates, led by Hugh Hansen, deputy chairman of the Montreal executive committee.

After Mr. Hansen's objection that the resolution would encroach on an exclusively provincial field, it was sent back to committee for revision. The revised version made no direct reference to federal intervention in the field and was approved unanimously.

The resolution instructed the federation "to urge upon the federal and provincial governments the consideration in financial arrangements whereby the provinces of Canada may more adequately support the cost of education across the nation."

WOULD BOOST AID

The delegates also adopted a resolution calling on the federal government to be faced with financial problems but differed on methods of remedying them.

L. J. Henderson, general manager of the road transport department of the CPR, suggested transit systems be financed by a general municipal tax.

Perry Lyle-president of a vehicle-hire firm in Montreal, said elimination of fuel taxes and high licence fees would help balance the transit budget. D. B. Menzies, Edmonton city commissioner, thought different fares for winter and summer would help counteract the extra costs of winter operation.

The delegates were advised by J. S. B. Pemberton, assistant director of investments for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, to put off all but essential projects in hope of lower interest rates.

"Interest rates are likely to be somewhat lower in a year or two," he said.

Delegates adopted a resolution calling on the federal government to pay 50 per cent of the cost of civil defence, regardless of whether the province participated in the program.

Seen Major Step Toward Banning Of Nuclear Tests

Russia Proposes 3-Year Accord Enforced by UN

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union's offer to admit Western inspectors if agreement is reached on a nuclear test ban was seen in Western quarters today as a major step forward in disarmament negotiations. But many details must be clarified.

The proposal was put to the United Nations disarmament subcommittee Friday by Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin. It suggested a two- or three-year halt to nuclear tests with an international committee under the UN to enforce it.

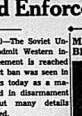
Zorin said the Soviet Union would agree to admit Western inspectors if these were agreement to moratorium on nuclear tests.

Until now the Soviet Union has rejected Western demands that any halt to nuclear tests be backed up by inspection. The Russians held that the tests could be ended by a simple agreement among the atomic powers—Britain, Russia and the United States.

NEED THINKING TIME

The immediate reaction from Western sources was that the Soviet proposal represented an important advance, but that it needs to be thought out before its significance be judged.

Jules Moch, French representative on the subcommittee, told Zorin that an ending of tests would be no guarantee to the halting of production of hydrogen bombs.



The Western position is that the scientific knowledge gained over the years from nuclear tests could permit the H-bomb race to continue. The West insists that inspection and control must be equal to the production of fissionable materials as well as to test explosions.

Zorin gave no reply when asked by U.S. delegate Harold E. Stassen if his proposal represented a change in Soviet thinking on the ending of the production of fissionable materials.

The New York Herald Tribune says in a story from Washington that the Soviet proposal was a big concession to American officials because it extends over too long a period and includes only scientific inspection. The paper says the U.S. feels "it is essential" to have a treaty for disarmament policing.

The Herald Tribune says the U.S. will seek to sell its allies on a 10-month trial suspension of nuclear tests before the Soviet Union agrees to do the same.

MAKES SUCCESS OF BEING REFUGEE

Engrossed in his task, an elderly refugee peels a bamboo shoot to be used for weaving as he does his day's work at the resettlement area in Caisan, South Viet Nam.

The Caisan area, about 150 miles southwest of Saigon, is the largest establishment in South Viet Nam for refugees who fled the Communist North. Various handicraft industries are being developed in the area, along with commercial fishing in the canals to augment rice income. Some 33,000 acres in the area are being cultivated by about 45,000 refugees, and the first post-war rice crop was harvested early this year.

Sentences Commuted

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet Friday commuted to life imprisonment the death penalties imposed on two men convicted in separate murders.

The death sentence imposed on Thomas Sidney Symes, 31, convicted of the shotgun murder of Duncan, B.C., of Paul Richard Powling, 28, had his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment in B.C. Penitentiary.

Headhunter From Jungles of Peru Hears Graham Preach in Garden

NEW YORK (CP)—A befeathered jungle chief who used to hunt heads in the wilds of Peru listened to Billy Graham preach here Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

Chief Tariri, head of the Shapra tribe in the north-central Peruvian jungles near Mt. Cashibo, was among 16,000 listeners to Graham Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

"I wish my tribe could see it," he said in his native Candoshi tongue, referring to the hundreds who streamed down the aisle at the end of the service to "accept Christ."

The chief, his words translated by missionary Lirie Anderson, added: "I wish missionaries would receive the Lord." That's what he did four years ago, and ordered his tribe to quit head-hunting.

But he said he still has occasional trouble in preventing killings, particularly when someone wants to be sent to the next world to avenge in conformity with ancient tribal traditions.

"God," he added, "loves everyone."

The chief was brought here by a television program, and because Graham had been praying for Graham's New York crusade he wanted to take in the services himself, to report back at his village.

"Many warriors learning God's word here," he said. "Women, too. But they talk too much."

Graham announced that he will hold no services Monday, the only night in his nine-week crusade, he now half over.

Child Saved by Brain Operation First of Kind Performed in Canada

SUDBURY (CP)—One hundred days after undergoing a unique brain operation in Toronto, and with her chances of survival improved 100 per cent, five-month-old Deborah Debbie was born Jan. 12 with three months gestation here. She had a congenital heart disease, hydrocephalus and no bone.

The Children's Aid Society in Sudbury found her a home. But examination by the heart disorder had to be postponed until the hydrocephalus was controlled.

In hydrocephalus, commonly known as water on the brain, fluid normally secreted in the brain increases excessively in volume. This swells the cranium and damages the brain.

The operation for the brain condition which Debbie's little life was one of the first of its kind performed in Canada. It has been done more than 100 times in the United States, where it was attempted for the first time six months ago.

A first operation at the Hospital for Sick Children proved ineffective and Debbie underwent surgery again 30 days later.

This time Dr. Bruce Hendrick installed a Holter valve mechanism.

Three inches long and 3-16 of an inch in diameter, the silicone valve tautly, was inserted behind the infant's right ear. A tube carries excess fluid from the right ventricle of the brain, through the valve to the internal jugular vein and heart.

Debbie's head is now almost 1,000 of an inch, the valve is sufficiently sensitive to open when pressure on the brain reaches a certain point. It must close tightly however to prevent a backflow into the jugular vein.

The only indications that Debbie has had surgery are a scar on the slight ridge above the valve and a cement-capped area the size of a 25-cent piece, both behind the right ear.

Debbie's own bed like to a baby boy who suffered the same disease, Rodney Holter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Graham, Trent Road, Wednesday, June 19th, from 4 to 9. Auspices St. Andrew's Church Women.

("Author's Name Below)
Research scientists have now perfected some chemical re-agents that enable physicians to make a positive diagnosis of certain diseases. Often the cause of a sickness still has to be determined by skilfully eliminating what it cannot be. Sometimes more than one visit is necessary to accomplish this.
To impatiently rush from one physician to another is unwise. You can usually get well much more quickly if after choosing your physician, you give him the necessary time to find out what is wrong, so that he can help you most.

Lions Equip Pediatric Ward

On Tuesday the Lions Club of Belleville made formal presentation to Belleville General Hospital officials of a $1,500 donation to equip a two-bed ward in the new Pediatric Wing. President Al Pinder is seen presenting the Lions' cheque to Mr. Frank Domenico, Chairman of the Board of Governors, while Provincial Man Tom Colden looks on. On the left is Registered Nurse Harry Gibson holding the Lions plaque which, mounted on the wall of the ward, will identify the donor.

Work With Blind, Welfare, Other Projects of Lions Club

The Lions Club of Belleville, a junior service club in this city, had its beginning just four short years ago when it received its International Charter on March 20, 1953. In such a short period of operation, this group forming part of the world-wide organization, whose name is often taken to be synonymous with Sight Conservation and Work with the Blind, has, as one of its projects, been able to present to the hospital a tangible indication of its sincere interest in community service. This has been made possible through a fine response of the citizens to past fund-raising appeals.

Service work in the community is not restricted to Sight Conservation as this latest achievement indicates, but is also being tailored to fit local conditions and requirements. Shortly after the club's formation, a Safety Committee, ever mindful of the need of protecting the lives of our junior citizens, carried out a most successful 'Scotch – liting' campaign, whereby many bicycles of school-age children were adequately marked a order that motorists might readily identify those cyclists after sundown. A follow-up of this project was held not last fall to take care of new machines and those not covered during the original program.

SOME SURGERY CASES

The Lions Club of Belleville is not restricted entirely to Sight Conservation but has been expanded to include Welfare cases in unfortunate circumstances, and, on occasion, particular assistance in very deserving surgery cases.

An instance of boys' and girls' work is the sponsorship, for the past three years, of a junior boys' hockey team in the city's Minor Hockey League. In this way educational field the Lions have sponsored members in their Zone and District Oratorical contests. One such student from B. C. I. subsequently achieved second place honors in the Ontario-Quebec finals.

The Lions Club, a relatively new organization in this city, is not content to take to rest with the longer – established clubs. The success of any service club is made possible through the continued and willing response of the community it serves. The annual Lions Tag Day which is in full swing this weekend and the contributions under this club's sponsorship are only samples of the money raising projects which, with continued public support can enable this group to carry out the work to which it has been dedicated by the world-over Lions' motto "We Serve".

Severe Storm, Heavy Rain In Belleville-Trenton Area

A severe thunderstorm shook the Trenton-Belleville area early Saturday morning, while communities a few miles away were almost unaware of it.

The weather office at RCAF Station, Trenton, last night reported a scattered thunder storms in the area and said heavy rain fell at about the 1.30 a.m. and continued for 15 minutes, followed by a moderate rain for another quarter of hour, then diminishing to light.

Only 0.17 inch of rain fell in the Trenton district during the storm, while out in Corbyville Belleville, Residents of Deseronto reported a moderate rainfall, while points in Madoc said it did not rain. In Consecon, although there was no rain, one person said he watched distant lightning and heard thunder.

Bloomfield also escaped the storm, chile out in Corbyville the rainfall was light.

The Trenton Air Station weather office said the storm's centre apparently passed right over Trenton and continued in a north-easterly direction.

The weather forecast — that very warm and moist air from the Gulf of Mexico has been drifting into this area for the past few days and gradually giving way to another southward clouds and condensation formation. Saturday's storm was classified as a scattered thunderstorm because, although it was widespread, weathermen were unable to pin-point the areas where it would be centered. More such storms are predicted to hit this district late Saturday afternoon and late at night, when a "vigorous" thunderstorm struck Saturday.

Weather observers at the air station sat through the storm and watched as lightning allowed them to see through the thick clouds. The Trenton weathermen classed the storm as a "short and sharp" one.

Power went off in Trenton at 2.30 a.m. but went on again at 3.30 for two hours until failing again. At 9.45 today the power was still off. About 9,000 homes and businesses including Trenton Memorial Hospital were affected by the failure. The hospital had its emergency gas generator operating to supply electricity. Soot of the trouble was said to be the main lines at the sub-station.

Electrical power also failed for a short time in Belleville, but service has been restored.

Weather outlook for Sunday is cooler and fresher air with temperatures being around a maximum of 75-78 and a minimum of 55. Last night's minimum temperature in Trenton was 57 degrees. Southwest winds will prevail over this district on Sunday, while inland temperatures may climb to 85.

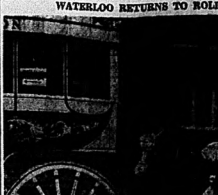
Police Blotter

Family quarrels, noisy parties, the neighbors a wake and drunks spelled a busy night for city police Friday night as a total of telephone complaints reached the police sergeant's desk.

Most of the calls turned out to be trivial matters with a word of warning by investigating officer remedying the situation, although a few drunks were given lodging at the police station for the balance of the night.

A car accident at the corner of Coleman and Bridge Streets resulted in $100 damage. Cars involved were driven by Frank L. Curtis, 191 Front St., and Hugh J. Cole, 26 Dufferin Street.



Provincial police reported a quiet night.

These beauties are a sample of the hospitality Waterloo will offer during the festivities from June 28 to July 1 when the population is expected to double. Besides ethnic dancers, floats, a rodeo and beard-growing contest, Waterloo has offered to bring any 100-year-old who was born in the district from anywhere in the world. Their oldest candidate is a Rochester man, age 95.

Haiti's Army Ousts Fignole, Crowds Sullen

PORT au PRINCE, Haitia (AP) The army's ouster of Haiti's provisional president Dumlsi Fignole has brought sullen protests from the street crowds he championed. But thus far these groups, made up of workers from the capital's poorest districts, have refrained from violence in the face of the tight rein placed on Port au Prince by the military junta that booted Fignole out of office and into exile Friday.

Fignole, one of 19 candidates for president in elections that have been twice postponed, was the favorite of the worker groups. They demonstrated for his return Friday under the guns of the army but went home at 8 p.m. when a curfew went into effect.

Troops patrolled Port au Prince and sealed off all exits to the countryside.

Bomb Scare Flashes in Montreal Street

MONTREAL (CP) — A bomb scare flashed in a Montreal street when messenger John Newton, 56, dropped a 5-gallon container with 000 worth of platinum bars. A protective device provided a mild excitement and cut in and yelled smoke.

Police Sgt. Leo Plouffe took away the briefcase while scores of persons watched. The sergeant explained later that the protective device is set to create a warning as soon as the messenger lets the handle go and that a second protective mechanism looses gas capable of felling would-be robbers when the lock is forced.

SENNETT ILL

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film producer Mack Sennett, 73, whose Keystone Cops gave early - day movie audiences many a laugh, underwent major surgery Friday. Hospital officials said the patient made excellent response following the operation and "was resting comfortably." The producer may be able to leave the hospital in 10 or 12 days, the doctor said.

Constable Foils Attempt on Life of Chief

TORONTO (CP) — Constable Cyril Cooper of police headquarters in Police Chief Allan Magee has been an attempt on the life of Chief Constable John Chisholm.

A man 1000 up at police headquarters on College St. in central Toronto and proceeded to the rear section of the main floor where the chief's office is situated.

Constable Cooper, who handles gun registration work for the police force, was in his office between the main corridor and the door leading to Chief Chisholm's office, when the chief was at work.

The man, a deaf mute, indicated he wanted to see the chief. Constable Cooper said the man then pulled out a dagger. There was a scuffle during which the dagger was taken from the man, though knocked to the floor by a blow on the face.

Police said Robert Batho, 63, was charged with assaulting police and possessing an offensive weapon.

POSSIBLE COMBINATIONS IN THE HOUSE

Elections are like gold mines to editorial writers. Rarely, though, do they strike it as rich as they did on Monday.

An election like that provides enough material for comment to fill a book.

Like Caesar's Gaul, election comment is divided into three parts, pre-election speculation, post-election analysis and post-election speculation. The latter is by far the richest vein this time.

Pre-election speculation must either be carefully molded to fit the newspaper's political affiliation, if it has one, or to avoid suggesting any such affiliation, if the newspaper is independent.

Post-election analysis can degenerate into either an attempt to make the obvious appear complex, or the complex seem simple. After an election either everybody knows what happened, or nobody knows.

Post-election speculation, though, permits the commentator to run wild, in the comfortable knowledge that nobody is likely to come up with a set of figures to confound his reasoning for another four years or so.

That is, most post-election speculation is in that class. This time, though, there is a hurdle on the pre-speculation route that will not be encountered next time. There may very well be another election within a few months, and even newspaper editorials are sometimes remembered for that brief period. Moreover, the most interesting field of speculation is regarding what will happen within the next few days, and events, moving at a fast pace, may outdate an editorial between the time when it is written and when it reaches print.

Even with these dangers, though, we cannot resist some observations on the permutations and combinations which might result from the existing situation in which no single party can rule without support from outside its ranks.

Prior to Thursday's Cabinet meeting both Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Immigration Minister Pickersgill indicated they did not believe a coalition government would result. This was a fairly safe observation, since both M. J. Coldwell, leader of the CCF, and Solon Low, chief of the Socreds, have flatly declared their parties will not enter into any such coalition. There remains, therefore, only the combination of the Liberals with the Progressive Conservatives, even less likely to occur in the foreseeable future than a flight to the moon.

It is interesting, though, to consider the results of possible combinations of the parties if the parties themselves were not opposed to such a combination. Conservative control would, of course, produce a government with an overwhelming majority, with the weak opposition hopelessly split into two opposing camps. The only other combination which would produce a coalition with an over-all majority would be that of the Conservatives and the CCF — one which, on paper, would be hardly "working" one. The Conservatives have 111 seats and the 25 CCF seats would give the coalition 136 seats, or three more than a majority of the House. Even if the lone Independent Conservative were installed as Speaker, so that the coalition's strength was unreduced, it would have rough going. As for a combination of the Conservatives and the Creditistes, this would produce only 130 seats, three short of a majority, and aid would be necessary from the Independent Conservative, two Quebec Independents, and the seat in which the election has been deferred.

As for the Liberals, they could get effective aid only from the Conservatives, or from both the CCF and the Socreds. The Liberals and Socreds alone would muster only 125 seats, even including a Liberal-Labor member, who is really an orthodox Liberal, and two Independent Liberals, who may not be orthodox. With the CCF, plus Liberal-Labor and Independent Liberals, the Liberals would still be two seats short of a bare majority.

What will happen, of course, is that the next government will depend on seats from outside its ranks, without there being a formal coalition. The Socreds feel Mr. Diefenbaker has earned the opportunity to form a government. The CCF has already hinted that it will not extend support to the Liberals, but may do so to the Conservatives. This CCF-Conservative alignment may strike most Canadians as passing strange. It is interesting to note, though, that the CCF and the Conservatives were loyal allies during the pipeline debate. Rev. S. H. Knowles, the CCF member for Winnipeg North Centre who spearheaded the CCF attack on the bill, has observed that there would be something "immoral" about the CCF now backing the Liberals. Also it is interesting to note that Mr. Coldwell has been one of the staunchest supporters in the House of Mr. Diefenbaker's oft-repeated pleas for a "Bill of Rights."

SHOT PUTTERS

I gladly join with Inez Robb,
Who does a brilliant writing job,
When she declares that she is not
For Russian girls who put the shot.
She thinks that muscled legs and arms
Destroy a lady's youthful charms.

Our own shot putters I admire.
They wear a nurse's white attire
Search leg or arm to find a spot
Where they can gently put a dot.
In various prescribed amounts.
'Tis not the distance then that counts.

Those Russian girls, I won't deny,
Can run and leap the hurdles
high,
But to achieve the greatest leap
They lose the charm they ought to keep.
And when the shot is put in me
A pretty nurse I'd rather see.

Sad Prophecy Facing Test

New York Times

When Dr. Malthus predicted a century and a half or so ago that population would tend to outrun the means of subsistence and that the masses of mankind were thus doomed to an increasing misery, he scared himself to a good many other persons.

Dr. Malthus' sad prophecy has not been borne out in the progressive countries of the world. Misery has diminished, not increased. The common man not only has more food but he has luxuries undreamed of when Dr. Malthus was alive. Practically the whole population of the United States lives more comfortably than Dr. Malthus did. There are signs of improvement in the former colonial countries, which are not only getting more food but increasing access to what may be called the circuses of civilization.

But the real test of the Malthusian theory has yet to come. The United Nations has just issued its Annual Demographic Yearbook. In it, 700 pages reveat an astounding surge in world population. The world population is running at the rate of 120,000 a day, or 43,000,000 annually—nearly equal to the population of France — every year. While an average reader may look through this editorial world population may have some trouble with it. These are not 300 abstractions in a mathematical table. They are 300 small human beings, filled with life and hope and potential achievement.

What has produced the world-wide increase in population, however, is not a sudden rise but a drop in the death rate. This drop in the death rate, in fact, is going on and will continue. For instance, the U. S. and Canada have a death rate of 2.2 per cent. There is no technical reason why countries where the death rate is 3 per cent cannot more should not in time approximate our own figure.

The United Nations statisticians predict that the world population will be reaching a total of about 5,400,000,000 by the end of the twentieth century. If this process were to continue, the time would certainly come when the Malthusian theory would be vindicated. But a longer view of experience is likely to be a healthier and more productive population. Humanity has survived many a threat. Most of four out of five children during their early years. That is also happening a generation or so ago in parts of the Far East, including India and China. Nor was it anything but a loss when wars and epidemics carried off women were cut down in middle age. Whatever the ultimate population increases in population are a sign that in our own time, at least, the world is growing better and life is more worth while than it used to be.

Bantus Pray For Whites

Kingston Whig-Standard

One of the most encouraging things for liberal-minded white citizens to do in South Africa is to strong stand which is being taken on the question of racial segregation by the Church of South Africa. The current issue of the Outspan Churchman has a picture on its front cover showing a negro reading a notice outside St. George's Church in Cape Town. The notice reads simply, "Divine service for white men and women of all races to all services at all churches."

Such a notice needs courage. The article which has a block of two from the House of Assembly where a law was recently passed which gives the government the right to prohibit Africans from worshipping with whites.

But what else can the white people of South Africa do but tell Bantus pastor who prays that he may be "made whites to Thee fc. sending Thy only Son to die for us all.

In a world suffocated with color bars, how sweet a thing it is to know that in Thee we all belong to one family.

There are times when we, imprivileged people, weep tears that are not loud but deep; when we think of the suffering we experience.

We come to Thee, our only hope and refuge.

Help us, O God, to refuse to be enslaved against those who handle us with harshness.

We are grateful to Thee for the gift of all men at all times.

Save us from hatred of those who oppress us.

May we follow the spirit of Thy Son Jesus Christ.

The White Christians of South Africa, and Christians everywhere, must echo Amen to that.

"Never use a grandiloquent adjective if you can avoid doing so," advises a grammarian who manifestly couldn't avoid doing it.

Reds Used Labor Body

Montreal Gazette

It would be most unfortunate if the International Labor Organization should allow itself to be made a propaganda forum for the Soviet Union. But it is to be feared that this has already, in some degree, taken place.

At the ILO's 40th annual conference on June 3 a special message from the premier of Bulgaria was read to the delegates from 78 countries. The latter urged the organization to back the Soviet program for outlawing atomic weapons at the same eat way to achieve high living standards and social progress.

About this message, there are a number of disturbing things.

In the first place, it is a break with the ILO's own traditional procedure. The opening sessions of its annual conference have been confined to formalities. Messages from heads of state have been read by delegates of their countries at later sessions of the conference, when normally runs about three weeks. But it is highly unusual for any country to be given a spotlight position at the opening session, 43,000,000—practically equal as this one was. Nor is there any excuse, such as might be made for an address to the ar-

Long before the 800-delegates and advisers from all parts of the world would be gathering at Geneva, Moscow had made clear that it regarded any session of the ILO's conference as a medium for forcing the Western hand in the disarmament issue.

In the third place, it is a notorious that the banking of atomic weapons has been the principal trade of Russia's false "peace movement" for years, movements being commonly launched before some treacherous move. While urging the banning of automic weapons, Russia has always resisted any system of efficient inspection.

Very naturally, there have been protests at the conference against this break with sound tradition. One of these protests has come from Mr. George F. Delaney, international representative of the A.F. of L. He says it is "regrettable that the conference should seek to use this agency for political purposes."

It is no less regrettable that the conference has been permitted itself to be so used.

New Pants For Scouts?

Fort Arthur News-Chronicle

Shorts or longs? This appears to be an important question for the top executives of Canada's Boy Scouts. Since the amalgamation of the Boy Scout movement a half-century ago, shorts have been the prescribed dress. While those within the movement have been content to follow the regulation on ceremonial occasions, there has been a tendency for the long trousers at other times.

In the near future, Fred J. Finlay, chief executive commissioner of the Boy Scouts in Canada, is going to poll scout leaders and parents to see what they think about it. The big question is, are shorts up-to-date or passe? Is the scout movement suffering because shorts are required dress?

The answer to the poll will be interesting. It might be worthwhile also polling boys and leaders on the method proposed out in recent months. That is, to make shorts optional, although no one seems to have a survey to see whether the facts support it.

For our part, we hope the scouts do not abandon their traditional dress. There is something unique in this dress that makes the Boy Scouts apart from any similiar organization. Also we would prefer that the boys be allowed to vote in this forthcoming poll, for on votes, we would wholeheartedly favor the retention of the present uniform.

Passing of Steam

New York Times

People who never have lived near a railroad's right of way probably paid scant attention to the news that the New York Central has scrapped No. 1917, its first steam locomotive.

It was one of 2,000 of them —now pull the Central's rolling stock. Twenty-six years ago the Central had 4,919 steam locomotives hauling their cars along its 11,000 miles of tracks. Today there are none. (The Yearbook of Railroad Information reports that only 3,690 steam locomotives now are in use in the entire United States).

Diesel engines are children who never have seen —or heard a steam locomotive —a depressing thought.

Mrs. W. H. Henderson of Deseronto spent the weekend here with her daughter, Mrs. G. Cameron, Bolsom and Mr. Robson, Foster Avenue.

Mrs. Ralph Weese and Mrs. Reginald Hinchey spent a few days this week in Toronto and St. Catharines.

From our file copy at this time in 1887: The Golden Jubilee efforts from this city to Her Majesty Queen Victoria which was directed by a special committee of the city council has been beautifully illuminated by a Toronto artist. This morning it was sealed with the seal of the city, signed by His Worship Mayor W. H. Bigger and city clerk, Mr. D. B. Robertson and forwarded to its destination.

Cricket was popular here years ago. From our file copy at this time in 1897: In a cricket match played here the Belleville team defeated a team from Picton by an innings and 13 runs. The following composed the Belleville team: Howell, Arnold, Brasier, Smith, Lewis, Thomas, Tennant, Baldrick, McLean, Carre and Goldsmith.

TODAY'S TALK

EXPECT THE BEST

If we would keep filling our minds with the picture of happy things ahead, many of the worries and anxieties about the future would naturally melt away. We always get pleasantly excited when we plan a trip. Why not when we plan a new day—or for days far ahead?

Dickens's character Micawber was always looking for good fortune to "turn up," but people are alive and hopeful turn things up without waiting for someone to turn up good fortune for them. After all, most people are looking after themselves and are, as a rule, not interested in other people. Most people are individualists, looking after themselves. If I know people who are forever worrying about everything. Most of the time it is futile. They bend their entire nervous system in a state of confusion. I have often thought that the average person would be miserable! Most people, however, mind their own business and let us along the way, and to them I would offer encouragement. Expect the best and you can be sure of getting it. Expect the worst and you will inspire you.

Expect to discover the best in people and they will do the same for you. We must be constructive in our thoughts and our attitude toward life. Always expect the best. "When we face the light, the shadows fall behind!"

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

For An Honest Breakfast

In his book Foods and Their Adulteration, the famous Dr. Harvey W. Wiley said many years ago that formerly the maize (corn) kernel was ground between stones and bolted to remove the germ. The maize flour or corn meal thus produced was used directly as a human food. Modern milling operations have exchanged the method of producing maize flour so that the outer bran is removed and so is the germ itself, thus diminishing the quality of the fat (corn oil) in the corn meal.

At the time Dr. Wiley wrote about food, little or nothing was known about vitamins. Today when the modern millers remove the germs, they remove nearly all the vitamins from corn, wheat, or other grain.

Dr. Wiley did say that, while such removal of the germ was important for producing meal or flour for export or storage, "it impairs the nutritive and nutritive value of the product."

"As offered at many of our hotels and some private houses," said Dr. Wiley, "corn bread has been so manipulated" ((I think this means purified, blended, bleached, refined, etc.) "as to lose part of its palatability, without any corresponding improvement of its nutritive properties."

Many readers who have experimented with various recipes for pancakes, muffins, waffles, porridge and the like, made from plain wheat cracked or ground in the old coffee mill or in a hand or power mill, report great satisfaction.

Good eating is only one reason why everyone should replace at least part of the pale starchy stuff in his diet with the real staff of life — the plain grain, freshly ground or cracked. A better reason is that this is the best food source of the vitamin B complex, the deficiency of which, in the modern ultra-refined diet, is responsible for many nervous troubles.

Heather-Fed Pigs Tasty

Halifax Chronicle-Herald

A dispatch from Scotland mentions that a number of "gallant" Scottish delicacy which will provoke anticipation among the knowledgeable, jealousy among the not so knowledgeable. It is described as "heather fed pigs."

Heather bacon is bacon which is produced from pigs fed on heather meal, and which is distinguished by a leanness and a flavor not to be found in ordinary bacon.

Scotland for some time has been experimenting with alternative uses for heather. The most popular from it has been tried on poultry, sheep and now pigs, and apparently the results have been pleasing.

This will come as no great surprise to those who are acquainted with Scotland, where heather has long been known as producing an individual and attractive flavor. A pot of heather-ale has long been esteemed as one of the choicest and most characteristic gifts from Scotland, with its Highland associations and its strong taste. And the same honor formed the basis of one of the oldest drinks known in Scottish history, the heather ale.

And even in the production of cheese, those who have lived in the North of Scotland will not easily forget the individual taste of the heathery mutton, the product of the small hill sheep in the North and in Wyre and Shetland. It had a color and a taste, which were quite distinct from those of the more ordinary grass-fed mutton, and a leg of it swinging in the kitchen was a family event to be remembered.

Design Gave Wrong Idea

Montreal Gazette

The designers had decided that Britain's giant Britannia airliner should be painted a dark blue.

Then an unforseen difficulty arose. They realized that the color obscured the Union Jack on the tail-fins. They must have a thin white line painted around the flag.

This made the flag stand out beautifully. But a difficulty, even more unforseen arose. A grizzled sailor was appalled when he saw what they had done. "You can't put that on," he said, "that a white-rimmed Union Jack means 'no' signals, means 'no pilot aboard'!"

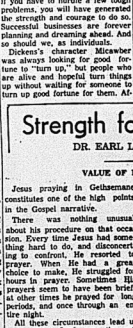
His exclamations of shock and ridicule brought a hasty recalling. All of which shows that politics are not the only subjects citing out of trouble; or, don't be ingenious unless you really know.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The eastern provinces are again visited by numerous forest fires, and out on the wind go millions of cubic yards of valuable timber, and, let us remember, are money in the bank. To our individual account. Even forest fires that are started by us or many cents, sometimes so many dollars, right out of the pockets. Thus, a man guilty of starting a forest fire is worse than a bank robber. Because we have to absorb their losses. We absorb the forest loss.

Lightning, of course, is blamed for a very serious proportion of forest fires, but the fact remains that in the week there were eight fires in the Gogama district of northern Ontario. Four of these were caused by one man who became lost in the bush and built fires to get warmth at night and failed to put them out when moving in the morning. Many are those who would say he deliberately set fire to the bush in the hope of a rescue so found by fire fighters.



Another was started by a fisherman camper who made his lunch fire on the shore and it got away. Two of the others were started by railways. And the most serious, which destroyed 3,000 acres of timber, was in all probability started by a motorist flipping his cigaret butt out the car window. For it started along a road.

While there have been instances of government trying criminal charges against those guilty of starting forest fires, it seems to me that the blame must be laid to the individual. Carelessness and criminal carelessness, or, on occasion, lack of human life in the conflagrations that annually ravage our great forest areas.

Exhortation is not enough. Accidents do not happen; they are caused. Forest fires are not accidents. They are ignited.

How to Prepare Dahlias for Show

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

It is generally conceded that dahlias are a man's flower. I must confess to a fondness for them, too. Their shrub-like plants and big intricately formed blooms give us a lot in return for a little effort. They do demand full sun and are not fussy about the soil. The finest dahlias I have ever grew were planted on the former site of a garage. The soil was clay and a large quantity of cinders. These plants grew lush and produced an abundance of blooms the size of small cabbages.

Dahlias can form a fine border for the edge of your property, or mark the separation between the lawn and the vegetable garden. When used for this purpose they should be planted two to three feet apart and six to eight inches deep. For special show plants space them four to five feet apart and 12 to 14 inches deep. Dig the holes one foot wide and put in a shovel full of well rotted manure or compost. Peat moss may be used if a half cup full of balanced chemical plant food is added. Cover with a three inch layer of good top soil. Drive a stake in the center of the hole and lay the tuber with the eye, or sprout next to the stake. Cover and tramp with the soil firmly. If your tuber has developed a number of sprouts and you wish to increase your stock cautiously, break away only the sprouts are four inches high and dig up the tuber, taking great care not to break the crown. Make a sharp knife cut the tuber to separate the sprouts. Make sure you have a little section of the crown (the part where last year's stock grew). Plant the divisions as before.

THICK, BUSHY PLANT

Keep a shallow basin-like depression around the stake and stock until the plant has four pair of leaves then soil will retain water and plant food. At this time give liquid fertilizer and pinch back plant to develop a thick bushy plant. If you are growing the dahlias for show keep the main stock and two side ones only.

Pinch off color or general use cut flowers allow all the buds to develop. For show purposes allow two buds to a stock to develop. Most gardeners recommend only one bud. The frequency of thrips or other garden pest will damage one bud before it opens. You will then have the other in reserve. When the bud is well developed remove the side bud ahead of the two and cut off the unwanted bud. Feed the plant with liquid manure, or fertilizer and provide plenty of water.

Keep a mulch of loose soil or grass clippings through the summer. Do not cultivate deeply as the plant soon develops a network of roots close to the surface.

A fine sheen and substance is imparted to the bloom by the use of fresh blood. Two days before the show have your butcher grind half a pound of liver for each plant. Mix this with water and use a cup of liquid fertilizer. This will have not tried, but I pass it on from a gardener friend.

CUT NIGHT BEFORE

Cut the blooms for the show, or for arranging for the home the night before they are to be used. Dip each stem in one inch of boiling hot water. Do this quickly so that the cut surface may be sealed. Place blooms in a pail of cold water up to the head in a cool dark place until time to make the arrangment, or take to the show.

Keep the plant leaves and stems pest free by applying at two week intervals one of the all purpose sprays. Renew mulch in August if it has become thin and dried out.

When the first hard frost has blackened the tops cut them off to the ground. It was formerly believed that they should remain in the soil to mature but experiments have shown that the tubers produce better plants the following year if dug immediately, dried and stored over winter in ashes, peat moss, or dry sand.

Vapor Lock Can Cause Missing And Power Loss

By EUGENE MILMOE

Vapor lock is a notorious cause of hot weather stalling and hard starting, but most drivers are unaware that, in a milder form, it also is frequently to blame for missing and power loss complaints that defy diagnosis.

Normally, fuel remains liquid until the mixture is vaporized by manifold heat. Vapor lock results if the lines, pump or carburetor absorb enough enroine heat to form vaporized gas bubbles which block fuel flow to the manifold.

Several conditions encourage vapor lock. The leading offenders are poor engine cooling, binding manifold heat valve, faulty carburetor or choke operation, high temperature (winter) thermostat.

Asbestos wrappings on the fuel lines and shields that deflect engine heat from pump and carburetor have solved the problem for many motorists who were annually plagued by vapor lock.

R.Z. writes: "On my carburetor the accelerator pump level has two hole positions. I understand one hole provides the best fuel feed for summer driving and the other is meant for winter. Which should be used in summer, the inside or outside hole?"

(A) For summer driving, use the shorter stroke: e.g., have the lever linked in the hole nearer the throttle shaft.

O.T. asks: "As an industrial equipment salesman, I do considerable tramping driving in a 1956 sedan. I've read that cold spark plugs are needed in such cases. Is that true?"

(A) Since you haven't any performance complaints, the plugs are using may run cool enough for your needs. However, if the engine misses at high speeds, and or if the plug insulators appear blistered or the electrodes are burned, colder running plugs are probably needed.

From D.D.: "The new car I intend buying comes equipped with hydraulic valve lifters. The car salesman pointed out that these are most desirable in an engine, but he couldn't give me a reason why they are supposed to be better than the solid mechanical valve lifters. Is there a good reason?"

(A) Hydraulic lifters are considered superior because they maintain the tappet clearance required for efficient engine operation. With the mechanical type, regular adjustment is needed to hold correct and uniform clearance.

L.U. writes: "I drive a cab for a living, but try to learn all I can about auto mechanics. Yesterday one of our mainten-ance men in the garage told me that the air vent holes on distributor caps serve as special purpose. Why are the holes there? Is it just a manufacturing convenience?"

(A) The vent holes permit the escape of fuel vapors which are produced during distributor operation. If these vents become clogged, the trapped gases can eventually cause corrosive acids to form and attack distributor metals.

SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT

Be careful about your driving—Be sure about your car.

The Face on the Stamp

She Fought for Women's Rights

By Nicholas Mika

Can you imagine that as little as a hundred years ago a man was allowed to beat not only his dog but also his wife? The women's business was to slave through a day's work of household chores, to fear the Lord and hold their tongues.

But there was a woman in America who did not want to hold her tongue. In fact she had so much to say and caused so much controversy that people called her the female version of Napoleon.

Born in Massachusetts, she was raised like any other girl of her time, education being of no great importance, but learning early to obey and doing the work around the house. Perhaps she was luckier than most girls because her parents were Quakers.

But even as a child she already showed a determined mind of her own and simply insisted to be sent to school and taught anything she wanted to know whether it was considered necessary for a girl or not.

Besides having brains and vigour she was attractive and quite a few men proposed to her. But she refused them all. When a well-to-do farmer suggested that she would make a wonderful wife who could look after his sixty cows she told him not all in friendly to go home and milk his cows himself.

HARD WORKER

Not that she did not want to work. Far from it. She was one of the hardest workers you could find and even as a child hardly ever had time to play. Taught to be humble like women were supposed to be, she turned out to become one of the greatest fighters for the independence of women. But how could any woman be independent in the man-made world of her time? She knew that the married women who worked in her father's cotton mill had not even a claim to their own wages. By law they were compelled to turn every cent over to their husbands. When she saw that most of these husbands spent their wives' hard earned money in the beer parlor or drowning themselves in whisky, she furiously organized a temperance movement.

One day speaking at a public meeting, a man silenced her for a minute declaring that women should listen but never talk. That was all the impulsive young lady could take. If men refused even to be polite to a woman, the women would demand their equal rights. And from that day on she became a never resting crusader for these rights. Travelling through the country from town to town she organized meetings and encouraged women to demand: "I want to fill the positions men are occupying," the newspapers exclaimed, they want to be lawyers and doctors . . . .

Now that was exactly what she wanted, equal rights for men and women — the right for education, the right to vote, the right to possess what was their own.

Her energy never left her. Once when her train got stuck in a snowdrift in the Rocky Mountains, she managed to reach her destination by foot to give her lecture. Her feet were frostbitten, but her heart was aflame. She did not think of retirement until she was eighty years old and even then she never missed important meetings. Knowing that her father would be to short to fully accomplish her tremendous task, she kept reminding her followers never to give up the fight. The women of America worshipped her, and as her fame spread abroad, men began to see in her one of the makers of history.

This remarkable lady who changed the world and gave equal rights to millions of women was Susan B. Anthony.

Susan B. Anthony appeared on United States stamps in 1936.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

SINGING SITTERS

It seems as though there were exceptions to all rules. Consequently, it should not be surprising to learn that although the general rule in Birdland is for males to be brightly coloured and sing, while females are dull and attend to family duties, there are exceptions—usually, though not always, understandable.

Of course we readily understand the general rule. It would never do for the red-winged blackbird, whose scarlet epaulettes edged with gold gleam upon his jet black suit, to hang around his nest and so draw attention to the eggs or young. He stays a little way off to sing and show his beauty.

ONE EXCEPTION

The northern phalarope is one exception to the rule. In this case it is the female that wears the gorgeous costume, and as soon as the eggs are laid she moves away from the nest, leaving all future house hold duties to be carried on by her plainly dressed mate. He not only incubates the eggs, but afterwards takes charge of the offspring until they can look after themselves. Duties are reversed because plumage has been reversed.

Quite a different exception is the brilliant cardinal. His wife usually has two broods, and often three. When she is busy with a second or third clutch of eggs, her willing spouse takes over the care of the children. Then he sings in their bushes and lawns where grasshoppers and weed seeds can be found. He does not forget his wife either, but often brings her delicacies, and has been seen feeding her on a feeding tray. Of course he sings, but she sometimes sings too while sitting on the eggs. Perhaps she thinks that her soft song and soft brown plumage will not attract attention.

The female Baltimore Oriole is the exception in doing all family chores while her gay husband disports at a distance and avoids extremely loudly. But she is one of the few singing sitters, though certainly her pipe is not heard her, for she does it so quietly.

And so wonder the female will start builds alone. Ile is too eye-catching, jet black with fiery red patches on sides, rump, and tail. But demure little Mrs. Redstart, in grey and faint yellow, occasionally is caught sitting on her nest, singing softly. He sings and flits around incessantly.

That wonderfully decorative nose-breasted grosbeak with the mellow contralto voice is the surprising exception. In spite of black, white, and rose pattern, he often sits on the nest incubating—and actually sings while there.

13,000 Soldiers Expected at Ont. Summer Camps

The Canadian Army's Central Command Headquarters at Oakville indicated in a despatch that 13,000 members of Canadian Army (Militia) and the Royal Canadian Army Cadet Corps will attend summer camps in Ontario this year.

Locally, the 22nd Independent Medium Battery (from Napanee) will attend camp at Picton and Petawawa from June 29 to July 6. The 50th Medium Anti-Aircraft Regiment from Peterborough will be at Picton from June 29 to July 6, while the Royal Canadian Army Pay Corps will attend special courses there from July 17 to August 24.

The 27th Technical Squadron of the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers, Belleville, will attend camp at Camp Borden from July 20 to July 27 along with the 28th Technical Squadron from Peterborough.

Members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment will attend summer camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake from July 6 to July 13.

About 1,500 Army Cadets from all parts of Ontario will invade Camp Ipperwash on Georgian Bay from July 31 to August 11. The cadets will receive training in various fields and junior non-commissioned officers will attend a separate course. At the same time, an additional 350 cadets will converge on the army's large establishment at Camp Borden, near Barrie, where they will receive tactical training as driver mechanics, operators (wireless and line), sentry duties and rifle coaching.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Are You Broke in Retirement? Better Check Before You Answer

By THOMAS COLLINS

You are richer in retirement than you think.

Say you get social security if you live in the United States, and a pension totaling $100 a month. Since you don't work to get it, or produce anything, this $100 has to come out of invested wealth.

You can get around 4 per cent safely on invested wealth. At this rate it takes $30,000 to get $100 a month.

However you want to figure it, you are worth $30,000.

Don't kid yourself into believing that you have paid anything like $30,000 into social security and your pension. Add it up. You probably have paid no more than $3,000 into both in your lifetime. Which means that after 2½ years, you are getting the $100 a month free.

Once you're retired, the world begins pushing you around — I know. But on the money, however small, you've got a good deal that gets better all the time.

Just don't die too soon and you will pocket a jack pot.

Willard Hoyt and his wife Isabel have put their Golden Years into a neat package. Maybe they have an idea you can use.

The Hoyts bought a subdivision house in 1946 and arranged the mortgage so it would be paid off in 1956, six months before William retired.

He had been a bookkeeper with a fair salary. His pension and social security, with the mortgage paid off, would "allow us to spend our declining years in peace and security in the house."

NO DECLINING YEARS

But he decided, he says, a few months after getting his pension that retirement didn't have to be his declining years.

"About 1948 they started building more houses around us," he says. "By 1951 they were leveling farms land for miles around us and building houses by the hundreds.

"At the time I retired last fall there must have been 800 raw front yards within a radius of two miles from our house. Come spring, every last one of them would need plowing, raking, grass seed, watering, and mowing.

"And for anything that had to be bought for the job, the nearest store was nearly four miles away.

Mr. Hoyt decided to go into business. He considered everything from rakes to lawn mowers and finally settled on watering hose.

"There was an old barn behind me in the middle of the development that the owner had refused to give up to progress. It had a crib facing the road. I rented it from the farmer for $20 a month, invested $500 in plastic garden hose, hung a big sign out front, and became a merchant. . . .

"This was last March. By April, interest in his establishment had been so heartening that he invested in two dozen rakes. On May 1 he put in a large display of garden and grass seed. In July, if things keep on going like this, he's going into lawn mowers.

ADVICE TO BEGINNER

"There are three bits of advice I'd give anybody who wants to try this," Mr. Hoyt says.

"One—don't be a business fool, but choose a situation that has some promise to it. A lawn business, with all these new homes, was so obvious a child could see it.

"Two—make sure no large established business house is close by and in the same business you want to start. You're an amateur. If you start giving an established firm competition, it'll find 14 laws you've broken in the first week.

"Three — make your wife a partner. We've worked out a plan whereby I open the store at 8 and work until 12. My wife and I have lunch together. She reopens the store at 1 and works until 5. Each of us is free half a day for what-ever we want. Meanwhile I'm introducing my wife into a business that may grow important and that she can carry on alone if she ever has to."

LACY ALLURE

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Blouses galore, blouses beautiful, to add charm to a suit or go together with a separate skirt. Wonderful sweaters, too! Femininity blouse is fashioned entirely of lace bands sewn together. The short sleeves are done in tiers of lace edging. In either white or colored lace this one would do beautifully with a skirt and a cummerbund for pleasant evening use. Orlon cardigan sweaters are very popular and this one is extra nice, a good choice for dress up wear. It, too, goes in for tiers, its front being completely covered with lace except for the rib knit at waist and sleeves. It comes in beige, pink or blue to wear with a matching flannel skirt.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

The story of women seeking, securing and proving their right to participate is a fascinating one and one that is in its infancy. Some women in Africa are brought as brides and paid for in cattle; others are highly respected chiefs of tribes. In some countries of South America, women may participate in community or social life only as the husband gives permission. Such permission often does not come readily, or is abruptly withdrawn if it changes his mind or misses his wife at home. In many, but not all European countries, women fill important roles in government, professional, and community life.

Moslem women are still veiled and shielded in Libya, Saudi-Arabia and Yemen, but in Pakistan and Indonesia, for example, they take their place beside the men in state affairs, in business, and in professions. In the United States women are free to make their own decisions or hold government or business posts but are not yet accorded equal pay for equal work as they are in Burma, and at least in principle, in Sweden and France; nor do they share equally with men in important policy-making posts in government, business, or professions. So it can be seen that women's role and status varies widely throughout the world.

Where women really care about obtaining various freedoms and rights, where they have grouped together purposefully to affect the laws, to persuade the men, to improve their education, to achieve their goals, they have gradually been gaining increased national status, increased community responsibility, increased freedom of choice. Whether this is desirable or not, each reader will decide for herself. But the overall trend is markedly in the direction of greater participation by women in the life of their land.

It is a long step from the centuries' old pictures of women as hewers of wood and drawers of water, more humble, less educated than men, deprived of all legal protection and even elementary civic rights to today's woman executive or woman delegate, speaking on an equal basis with her male colleague at an international congress. But in the past fifty years, countless women have taken this step; many more will certainly take it in the years ahead.

One of the reasons there has been an increasingly rapid progress in this respect in the past twelve years is that in its Charter, the United Nations proclaims its faith in fundamental rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women". The very next year, 1946, the United Nations set up its Commission on the Status of Women to which it gave a monumental task, namely to survey the political, economic, civil, social, and educational status of women in all countries. This Commission has a twofold plan (1) Through painstaking surveys of present legal provisions, to draw attention to the many flaws and loopholes in the protection of women's rights; (2) Through a progress report made public each year with the backing of the General Assembly, to act as a kind of public opinion "pressure group" on nations slow to improve their women's status.

T and Tknows that it is insufficiently informed about the tremendous work being carried out concerning the status of women but that it finds valuable items come to hand we believe it should be passed on without alteration. Next week, we will tell you something about the handbook at development regarding women's rights" which may be of interest — and from the bulletin. ✿

Our weekend thought is contained in the concluding sentences of the bulletin, and written by Begum Liaquat Ali Khan, wife of the first Prime Minister of Pakistan: "Women, by virtue of their basic inherent temperaments, constitute a tremendous power potential; they are the hub of that most vital unit of all life, national or international, namely, the family. I think practical experience bears me out in saying that if you wish to create public opinion for, or against anything, it is the women you must reach. From advertising to diplomacy, this world's outstanding statement when you realize that the Commission on the Status of Women is considered one of the most vital and urgent in the world body.

Mrs. P. Jackman Given Farewell Party by Friends

On Friday evening, June 14, 1957, about 75 friends, relatives and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stegle, of Wellman's, to honor Mrs. Percy Jackman at a farewell party before her departure for Peterborough, where she will make her future home.

A short program of music, songs and speeches was enjoyed.

An address was read by Mrs. George Wilson and a presentation made of a brooch, earrings and money by Mrs. Carman Sills from the relatives, friends and neighbors.

The Wellman's Women's Institute also made a presentation of a nylon purse with the address prepared and read by Miss Emma Rainnie. Mrs. John Carlisle presented the gift.

Mrs. Jackman, taken completely by surprise thanked each and everyone for the lovely gifts and extended an invitation to all to visit her in Peterborough.

Mrs. Jackman has sold her farm to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hadley of Stirling.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee brought an enjoyable evening to a close with everyone wishing Bessie the best.

Those who attended outside of the community were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Philp, Mrs. E. G. Bailey, Mrs. Alma Bailey, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. E. Chisholm, Miss Delia Descent, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jackman, Stirling, Mrs. Harold Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Will Drewry of Harold.

Charlotte Asks Women to Protect Rights

MONTREAL (CP) — Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa's former mayor, says women's efforts have become "resolutionary" rather than "evolutionary."

Miss Whitton told closing session Friday of the Canadian Council of Women that women's hard-won rights must be well nurtured and fearlessly applied.

"Women, their organization, their efforts, the councils of women, too widely have lost the vigor of the pioneer women's movement.

"Women's efforts have become resolutionary when they should still be revolutionary.

"Politically, women have made little impact on the life of most countries, particularly in the wealthy comfortable life of North America.

Miss Whitton, who lost out in her fight for the Conservative federal nomination in Carleton, said that only 30 women ran for 265 seats.

MANY "WALKED PLANK"

"Practically all these women, no matter how competent, were put up in slaughter - house ridings where no male candidate wished to walk the plank for the party's sake," Miss Whitton said.

"Many of the outstanding women's powers lag because they feel they tend to be concerned about their social claims and status, and their innate appeal and appeasement of the opposite sex than about their economic status, the legal status of their children or their own political rights.

Miss Whitton's statements were included in the text of an address issued to the press before delivery.

Versatile Garb Proves Best For Comfortable Travelling

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

If there is one thing everybody but everybody who plans a trip wants to know, it's "What clothes shall I take?" Our mail includes that question more often than any other.

We wouldn't presume to outline a wardrobe with items of clothing you may not even have or want. But we can approach the question with three simple points of departure:

1. Be comfortable.
2. Be practical.
3. Be basic.

Most holidays have two parts—the trip and the destination—and in most instances a set of clothes for each part is indicated.

While you're travelling is when you'll want most to be comfortable, and we're happy to report you can usually get away with it.

The casual dress of the motorist has become so common-place in the American scene that no longer does even the stuffiest maitre d' or hotel manager look askance at the guests who waltz to his establishment in slacks and sandals.

Determined to relax and enjoy himself, regardless of what anyone else thinks, today's traveller has made himself acceptable as is.

Many hotels now have their registration desks to eliminate the necessity of showing your shorts and slacks in the lobby, while others just figure the heck with it, let 'em look and people do.

Only in the finest restaurants in the biggest cities are' guests in casual garb turned away. Managements have come to realize that even big spenders like to be comfortable.

AIR, RAIL TRAVELLERS

Air and rail travellers generally feel obliged to dress up a little because of the public places they pass through, but it's become the usual thing to doff hats, suit jackets and other cumbersome clothes during the trip. Bus travel has always been the most informal.

Being practical is valuable to both ends of your journey. It means, after all, wearing clothes that require a minimum of cleaning, pressing and care—washable and fast handling. They should be light, durable, stain-resistant, pack compactly and easily, and hang out quickly. And if they're washable, so they stand dry overnight is preferably be wearable without ironing.

This, of course, means a wardrobe of miracle fabrics, the greatest boon to travellers since the round-trip discount. Fortunately, most summer clothes have these fibers woven into them today and chances are the blouses, shirts, slacks, suits, shorts and sweaters you now own or plan to buy fill the bill.

They'll add a great deal to your availability, time and enjoyment by necessitating a smaller wardrobe, less packing, and less time devoted to rinsing things out and ironing them, not to mention reduced laundry bills.

Being basic is a trick long known to the ladies and will applied to men. It means having versatile clothes, such as a lady's suit which is sporty when worn complete, casual when worn with a sweater, and dressy when worn with a fancy blouse; or a man's suit the trousers of which can be worn with a sport jacket, and a shirt that can be worn with or without a tie and jacket.

ACCESSORIES MULTIPLY WARDROBE

Easily packed and frequently changed accessories make a big difference in getting the most out of fit to look different. Extra shirts, blouses, ties, scarves, belts, jewelry and the like help you to look as if you've got more of a wardrobe than you do have.

In figuring what and how many to take, there are two more important things to keep in mind that are sometimes glossed over. One is where you're going, and the number of days and nights you'll be expected to dress up.

If you're going to a resort, most of them are in cool climates, which means a light coat and jacket will come in handy. Sometimes driving takes you through chilly mountain regions, and the tendency toward overcooled air-conditioned places makes the problem even more important to consider.

The heart of your wardrobe will be the better clothes you'll wear on the days and nights you'll be going out, and by jotting down the probable number of such occasions and seeing how many combinations of outfits you can make out of the clothes you have, you'll be able to determine with precision just how much to take and avoid one of travelling's biggest pains in the neck — having too much luggage.

Mother's Helper

IF YOU'RE travelling by air, your baby may cry when the plane takes off or lands. Don't try to hush him—his cries may ease ear-drive-like pressure on his ears. Hold him close and let him complete with the motors as a noise-maker.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IS THIS YOUNG MAN'S REACTION TYPICAL MIGHT ONE?

Here is a story on which I would like to have comments from both young men and young women readers, since it touches a subject of vital importance for both.

What I'm interested in hearing is just this. How many would be in agreement and how many in disagreement, with the reaction of the young man who tells me the following experience?

The young man is 22 years old and has been looking forward to marriage in the Fall. Very recently, however, he learned something about his fiancee which shocked him to the point where he's far less certain now that he wants to marry her.

What he learned was that, two years before he ever met the girl, who is now 21 years old, she had had a sex experience with a boy she was going with at the time.

"She told me this herself the other day," he said, "when she happened to be discussing the case of a girl we both knew who was about to become a mother, though still unmarried. Why she decided to tell me then, and why she did not tell me before, I don't know; but she said it had been on her mind all this time and she thought I should know before we married.

"Now, although I still love her, I seem to have lost all faith in her, and I hope you can tell me what I should do."

What I'm wondering is just what this young man means when he says he has "lost all faith" in this girl.

If he means that, because she's one of the tragically many girls today who have had pre-marital sex experience, he feels she might be unfaithful to him as a wife, I think he's making a very hasty assumption. What is more likely, is that he's been disillusioned, rather than realistic, about what the girl. Being in love with her, he no doubt had built up in his mind an idealistic conception of her, and because she failed to live up to his imaginings he feels bitterly toward her.

Right here, I'd like to put a question to this young man. It's just this: Perhaps he's one of the relatively rare young men who have had no sex experience before marriage, but if he isn't, and his girl found this out, would he expect her to lose all faith in him?

As I view it, when the world-wide happy question boils down to is whether a girl who has indulged in sexual intimacy before marriage is basically of good character or whether she is not. Youth and its experience can lead even young people of fundamentally sound principles to make foolish, sometimes tragic, mistakes, and it certainly by no means follows that a mistake made through youth and inexperience will be repeated in maturity.

What I think this young man should do is be fair enough to the girl, and honest enough with himself, to make up his mind what sort of person she actually is. He certainly must have been associating with her long enough, and closely enough, to have a pretty clear idea about this. And it would be completely illogical, at this point, to revise his whole conception of her character on the basis of something she did long before he knew her.

Of course, if he himself is not mature enough to recognize this, but instead feels that he can never trust the girl again, marriage to her would certainly never work out. He would not be happy himself, and he unquestionably would make his wife unhappy.

If he has any idea that it would be noble of him to "forgive and forget," he had better immediately disabuse himself of it. For forgiveness is not called for from him. The girl has not wronged him in anything she may have done before he ever knew her. She has hurt only herself by chiding the edge off that integrity which it always seems wiser to keep intact. Now that she's older, and no doubt has learned to look at things differently, it is utter folly—and cruelty—not to let the whole thing be buried in the past where it belongs, and accept the fact that her real life has just begun.

Whether or not this young man can have a happy and successful marriage with this girl depends entirely on, first, her basic character and, second, on his own.

QUESTION

Mary I . . . ask for some much needed advice? Like hundreds of mothers I am planning a reception for a June wedding. . . . my husband thinks we should settle for a hotel but we have a lovely large garden . . . trouble is I have been laid up for 3 months . . . have to take it easy . . . do you think that with careful planning and a woman to take over the kitchen I could manage to do this without landing in bed again? I have good friends who will bake and family who will help on sandwiches. My main job is to work out preliminaries on quantities and procedure for 80 to 100 people and a punch recipe. I have helped at church suppers and smorgasbords . . . I would have lodge tables set up inside and out and enough people to help out in serving. . . . What I would like to include if we do not have the reception at home . . . I often entertain and always do I have to serve my famous raspberry and strawberry tarts which are made from your recipe . . . I have written it out repeatedly . . . it is usually the men who ask for more of them . . . N.L.M.

SATURDAY

Chili Con Carne, Cole Slaw with Parsley, Hash Brown Bread, Fresh Cherry Pie, Coffee.

ANSWER

Good! I know exactly what you want to do, for I am ambitious too when it comes to doing everything myself. But I am seriously tempted to tell you to put your pride in your pocket, leave the invitation list by half, have the reception at home in the garden (weather permitting) and have caterers come in and serve it. You do not have to have an elaborate or expensive meal.

I am sure that you and your husband and daughter will be ever so happy if, on the day after the party, mother is none the worse for the fuss and fuel. You know too that after an attack of thrombosis fever that you could do permanent damage to your heart by overstrain. It just isn't worth it. However I have mailed to you the releases from last year which give details for amounts of foods for receptions. Good luck whatever you decide.

QUESTION

I think I remember seeing in your column a recipe for Boston Cream — a homemade summer drink. I'm sorry I didn't cut it out now for my father-in-law has come to live with us and is very fond of it. I would like to please him. Edna.

ANSWER

It is quite a shock-recipe so I am pleased to give the recipe.

BOSTON CREAM

(Courtesy Viola O. P.) Boil 4 quarts water and 4 lbs. white sugar to a syrup. Let this cool slowly. Beat the whites of 4 eggs to a stiff froth and add 1/4 oz. essence of lemon. Mix all together and put in corked bottles. For a drink use 1 tablespoon to a large glass of water. Add a pinch of baking soda and stir until it froths. Do not fill the large glass too full, but leave room for the froth.

BRIDE'S PARENTS WANT TO GIVE "REAL" WEDDING RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Because of a very special and unavoidable circumstance in the family of our daughter's fiancé they had a very small wedding instead of the large wedding which they had wanted to have, and which we had planned to give them. The invitations were sent, and there was no reception after the ceremony. But before they left for their brief wedding trip they asked if we would assemble the lists and make plans to send formal announcements of the marriage. They want to send these announcements as soon as possible after their return. Also my husband and I would like to give them a reception, even though "belated," with some features of the usual wedding reception, such as a receiving-line, wedding cake, toasts, and so forth. Do you suggest that this plan would be at all "permissible"?

If you do approve, I wonder if you also would approve of our issuing the invitations for this "reception" with the announcements. In that way would you suggest the form of the reception-invitation? We would like to have it in our home, and on a Saturday afternoon. — Mother

Giving this "belated" reception for your daughter and her bridegroom, would, under these circumstances, be entirely proper, and I heartily approve of your generous plan. Here is a solution: If you wish, but please do have a Wedding Cake, gals toasts, and so forth.

And although it would be most unexceptional to send "reception" invitations with the formal announcements of the marriage, I see no reason why this would not be proper. The cards should be engraved in the same style of engraving as the announcements, and they might read:

Reception
on Saturday, the sixth of July at four o'clock
Twenty Park Street
Haven, New York

R.s.v.p.

(If you prefer, you may name telephone hours, 2-5 or 5-6, or whatever group-hours you think would be most convenient for the majority of guests. Or you might like to name "four o'clock" or "five o'clock" as the most socio-important hour for the cutting-of-The-Cake.)

SELECT NAIL POLISHES TO DRAMATIZE YOUR SUMMER TAN

For sun-browned girls: The "Persian Look" in lipstick and nail polish.

Dame Fashion sprang some surprises on us early this season when she decreed such luscious shades for daytime and evening wear as apricot, subtle mutations of coral, cantaloupe and honeydew . . . tender suggestions of an Eastern garden . . . shades flattering to every type of beauty. And, as we're just beginning to find out, shades especially becoming to the sun-tanned. Many already acquired, or is in the process of acquiring, an enviable sunbronzed hue.

It was inevitable, therefore, that before many weeks had passed, we'd find nail polishes and lipsticks to harmonize and blend them, we did. One of the most luscious is in a shade of "Persian melon." It's vastly becoming to all types of skin and hair, and gives a gorgeous glow against a tan . . . the sort of glow impossible to achieve with the shades you used all during the Fall and even the Spring. So away with your bluish and pink lipstick for the time being and dramatize that tan; you sport to a fare-thee-well. The new shades include fire tips and fingertips (yes, toe-tips, too) that flame, cool lit to such natural town-wear shades as black, brown, grey and beige; keeps marvelous company with your weekend and surf clothes and, what it does for your pretty dancing feet we see, is really dramatic!

In fact, we predict you'll like it so much that you'll want to go even further than applying a mere "Persian touch" to lips and nails. You'll probably want to go all out and, for fun, try out the real "Persian Look" — a look that has to do with skin tone and eyes. Here's how you do it:

With a black eye-liner, draw an upper lid line, extended out with an upswing. Then draw another line to connect from lower lid (leave white space between this and outer corner). Add eye shadow—blue frost if you're blue, green if you're a redhead tanned and a tiny touch of rouge under eyes for highlights. The eyebrow is given an up-and-out line, too, with a brown pencil. Complete the picture with "Persian eyes," be careful in your choice of foundation and powder. Cream powder is best for the "fair of face"; cream beige for the sun-bronzed.

SHANNONVILLE—The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of Shannonville United Church was held recently at the home of Mrs. Frank Doxtator, with 24 women present.

Welcome was expressed by president Mrs. Charles Wood and after prayers were said and a few hymns sung, temperance secretary Mrs. Claude Clarke, gave a reading.

Group leader Mrs. William Ross took charge of the meeting and, after some prayers were said, the Scripture lesson (St. John 21) was read by her.

Miss Sarah Stickney quoted an article about the vacation school at an Indian reservation in Saskatchewan and Mrs. Clarke followed with a reading on missionary education.

More prayers and readings were presented and Mrs. J. L. Gasder thanked her group for their help during the year.

Refreshments were served afterward by Mrs. Doxtator's group.

The next meeting will be held on September 5 at the home of Mrs. Ross Wood. The months of July and August will be brought in at that time.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Beginning of Trinity Season

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, June 16 — Today in the western part of Christendom is the Feast of the Trinity, a day in honor of a purely theological concept that has never been acceptably defined. There is no reason to suppose that we could explain the doctrine of the Trinity, when no one else in Christian history has ever been able to do more than come fairly close, but we can say that it is one thing for Christ to end with the three ways in which he has discovered God, that is His love, has revealed Himself as the Creator of mankind, the Redeemer and the Sanctifier — or, to put it in other but equally conventional terms, as the Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

What this means is that man sees God in the fact that the universe exists, in the person of Jesus of Nazareth, and in the daily presence of God in human affairs. This statement fails to explain the Trinity, just as all others have failed — but it does say that man has experienced God in three ways and one more triple form of expression to talk about Him.

The Christian history of the Church — the tenth century — before it occurred to anyone to set up a festival in honor of so abstract a concept, and even then it took several more centuries for the feast to get into the Church's calendar. Started by Stephen, Bishop of Liege (Belgium), around 910, Trinity Sunday was quickly taken up by the Low Countries, Germany and England, but it was not until 1334 that it became a universal observance.

The Church now begins its longest season, the Trinity season, which continues until Advent, a month before Christmas. The symbolism of this lengthy season refers to the long period of the Church's life under the guidance of the Holy Spirit until the final Advent of Christ, when time shall be no more.

IN HONOR OF THE LAST SUPPER

Thursday, June 20 — When the Christian Church was very young, it almost lost the festival of Corpus Christi (celebrated today), but then it almost lost its "Corpus Christi" is, of course, Latin for "the body of Christ" and the feast today is in honor of the Last Supper, in which the faithful receive the Lord's Body at the altar.

The logical time for a commemoration of this sacrament in the Thursday of Holy Week, the day on which it was instituted, and that was the day on which it was originally honored—away back in the early years. But the great drama and sorrow of the whole Holy Week overshadowed this feature, and it faded away in the general Holy Week observance.

Centuries later, in the Belgian diocese of Liege, a young nun named Juliana had a vision in which it was revealed to her that the life of the Church was impoverished by its lack of a special festival devoted to the honor of the sacrament. For some years she said nothing about her vision, but when she later became prioress of a convent, she felt impelled to make it known. Within 20 years after Urban IV decreed that there be a universal celebration in honor of the sacrament on the Thursday after Trinity Sunday.

Friday, June 21 — The famous Mathers, Increase and Cotton — father and son — are in most American minds the symbols of fanatical blue-nosed Massachusetts Puritanism. No one will deny that they and their contemporaries held theocracy and a stern self-discipline that would not appeal to 20th-century Americans, but old Puritanism, born this day in 1639, must not have been as formidable as we pictures it today.

President of Harvard in 1685, he was sent as a sort of goodwill ambassador to the Massachusetts colony to England a few years later, and it is on record that he arrived in much charm there that he got everything he went after, mainly a new charter for the colony. So great was his friendship with the king that the monarch allowed Mather to choose the colony's next governor.

Acclaimed the most powerful man of his time in Massachusetts, Mather had many devoted followers and many equally devoted enemies. Social reformer, advocate of mass inoculation for smallpox, writer of more than 130 books, interpreter of scientific issues at Harvard, Increase Mather was by no means the narrow-minded bigot an in-accurate history has portrayed him to be.

Monday's 18-hole round will determine the 32 players in the championship flight with others in consolation flights.

After the opening round of medal play, the competitors will go into match play with the two main finals scheduled for Friday afternoon.

Three Named In Book Signed With Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—In brisk and on Broadway the Washington Senators baseball team became Mr. Applegate, a mysterious character resembling the devil, transformed into a moody named Boyd into a player of wonderous ability.

As the story went Boyd changed his name to Hardy when he turned into the game's mightiest slugger and fanciest fielder.

That's the way it was in the novel, The Year the Yankees lost the Pennant, and in Damn Yankees, the musical comedy adapted from the book.

Well, the Yanks and the rest of the American League can take note. The real-life Senators have signed Applegate, Boyd and Hardy.

Frank Applegate is a 19-year-old third baseman who just graduated from Sylvan Hills High School, Atlanta. Bob Boyd, 21, is an outfielder fresh out of Kansas State College. Rob Hardy, also 21, is a first baseman from the University of Virginia.

All three have been assigned to Superior in the all-rookie Nebraska State League.

Minor Baseball

Wilson and Latchford of the Y's Men combined to hurt a seven-inning no-hitter on Friday evening as their club defeated Parkdale 7-0 in a bantam baseball fixture.

Wilson was the winner, allowing no hits in five frames, fanning six and walking three. Latchford also kept the Parkdale hitters at bay without a safety, whiffing five and passing two.

Stratton went the route for Parkdale, allowing only runs on six measly hits. He struck out six and walked four.

John Lewis led the winners at bat with a bases-empty homer in the fifth and a double with one on in the fourth. Stansfield also had two hits with one each for Foster, Wilson and Latchford.

FORCES TO LEAVE

MUNSAN, South Korea (Reuters) — British Commonwealth forces Thursday formally ended their seven-year association with South Korea when the 1st Battalion of the Royal Sussex Regiment slow-marched off a dusty parade ground. The farewell ceremony was the last official act of the Commonwealth contingent.

Sharon's Counsel Wins Open Stake At Richelieu

MONTREAL (CP) — Shawn's Counsel won the $5,500 Open Stake Pace mile at Richelieu Park Friday night. It was the richest purse at the track so far this season.

The six - year - old bay mare owned by the Dennison Motors Stable of Owen Sound and driven by Wilbert Hopkins, came in at 2:09 4-5 to pay $12.10, $5.80 and $6.10.

Smoky Online was second and King Gold showed.

Miss Caldwell Grove Lynchburg Lady from Kemptville, Ont., to victory in the $1,500 3 pace. She stepped the mile in 2:04.

Only other Ontario horse to capture first place was Chief Eden from South Mountain. Driven by Vic Lotman, Chief Eden won the $700 mile D pace in 2:10 4-5. Express Bill from Peterborough was second.

Jenny Lee Harvester from Wallenstein was second in another $700 mile D pace while Dr. Holman from Aultsville grabbed second money in the $1,100 mile C pace.

Third place in a $700 mile D test went to J. Chips from Orono.

JANE WILL CLEANUP

GALT (CP)—Since Jane Oliver, 16, is the only girl on Galt's Stewart Avenue Senators baseball team, it seems only right that she should be in the cleanup spot.

Manager Jon Hall said Friday Jane will bat fourth when the Senators play Toronto Atoms in an exhibition game at Maple Leaf Stadium in Toronto tonight.

Jane, only girl on the rosters of 90 teams of youngsters here, batted three for four in a televised game Thursday night and it was on the basis of this performance that Hall moved her up to cleanup spot.

TRIBUTE TO AN UMPIRE

The Great Umpire called the third strike on a real guy the other day.

He beckoned one of His own, a regular fellow.

Baseball and softball men in this part of Ontario will recall Pat Calladine of Peterborough. Pat died the other night after a more or less lengthy illness. He was in his late forty's.

This department covered a number of softball playdown games between Belleville and Peterborough teams during the past few years in which Pat handled the umpiring duties.

He was one of the better officials, always friendly and popular with players and club officials alike, but he never stood for any nonsense from either team. He will be missed by Belleville and district players as well as by the Peterborough boys.

Claude Tice and George Carver of this paper knew Pat in connection with sport down through the years. Both had great respect for him, as a man, as an umpire, and as a player. Don Thomas of this city is another who knew him well, having umpired with him not too many years ago.

Sports Editor Cec Perdue of the Peterborough Examiner, paid respects to Pat in his column as follows:

"Peterborough lost a fine sportsman in the death yesterday of Pat Calladine after an illness of some months. He was president of the CGE Social and Athletic Club, a former president and life member of the City Softball League, and was for a time on the minor baseball executive. Also an excellent umpire and one-time OHA referee. Years ago, Pat managed a championship baseball team which had his brother Bill pitching on it, and he worked tirelessly for minor ball over a long term. Went in for lawn bowling for a spell and was timer at boxing shows in the city. Pat Calladine played minor league baseball himself, being on the Ashburnham Hillcrests one season, and he starred at softball in the indoor winter loop at the Armouries. Went on to become the best softball catcher in the city for years. In winters he played OHA intermediate hockey and was nicknamed "Rocket." Was with the senior baseball Petes for a time as well. A real hustler as a player and officer, Pat was a sincere fellow with a fine sense of humor, and he made many friends."

This writer, along with Sports Editor George Carver, Mr. Tice and Mr. Thomas and the many others who knew him from this district join with his Peterborough associates in sympathy to his wife and brothers.

HOME RUNS

Apparently there's no Mickey Mantles or Ted Williams in the Belleville and District Softball League, or else they are saving all the power for the stretch drive.

The total number of round-trippers in the 19 games played up until yesterday morn was a respectable 23, but no single batter is off to a big start.

Teams with the longest lead the way with eight, followed by the Merchants with six. Marines have a total of three, Frankford-Sala and Trenton two each, Madoc one. Temple's Bobcats have yet to belt one the distance.

Three batters have connected for two to lead the way. Wayne Brown of the Merchants and Pat Gilmour and Pete Green of Point Anne, are the pace setters. Other Cementmen with one homer each are Jack Elliott, Sr., Doug Hall, John Batchelor and Ray Brannigan.

* * *

Backing Brown on the Merchant roster is Lionel Botley, Doug Bone, Bob Bunton and Denny Hayden with one each. Gerry Goyer, Bob Brooks and Harvey Stoliker have the Marine blasts. Mike Cosgrove and Ernie Curtis for the Shoemen; Bob Burns and Howard Cole for Trenton and Bob Bateman for Madoc, round out the coveted number.

The trend seems to be pretty much the same as last year when the leaders at the end of the season, Doug Hall and Doug Devolin of Madoc, had grand totals of four.

Several years ago the story was different. John Green of the Pointers and John Batchelor, then with the Orphans, slugged it out all season. We can't find the final result but we do remember Batchelor hitting homers in five consecutive games. Oh, for the good old days, eh, Mr. Batchelor.

It could be the grounds for a good argument. Are the pitchers getting better or are the batters getting weaker?

Team Only Half-Game Out Of First Place Despite Loss Of Nine Games in Last 13

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ted Kluszewski has come back swinging for Cincinnati in that crazy, mixed up National League pennant race where the Redlegs have lost nine of their last 13 games but have fallen only a half game out of first place.

Big Klu, making his second starting appearance since quitting the disabled list Wednesday, had four hits, one a two-run homer, and scored three runs Friday night as Redlegs defeated New York Giants 5-4 and junked their losing streak at four games.

Redlegs reclaimed second place behind Milwaukee Braves, who skidded Philadelphia to fourth, 1 ½ games back, with a 10-3 victory on Warren Spahn's three hit pitching. Brooklyn took over third, one game away, on Junior Gilliam's stole home with two out in the 10th inning to beat St. Louis 3-1 and put the Chicago Cardinals 2 ½ games off the pace.

RELF BUCS

Pittsburgh Pirates, who had just swept four in row from Redlegs for a five - game winning streak, were shut out 5-0 by Chicago's last-place Cubs.

Klusewski, a 12 - year - old musclemen who had been shelved by a back condition, showed no ill effects as he belted two singles and a double in addition to his first two of the year. He singled and came around to score the clinching run in the eighth. Willie Mays' 10th homer brought in two runs for Giants.

Hank Aaron connected in two runs for Braves, three with his 18th home' run, while Spahn was breezing against Phillies. Two singles and an error made one Phil run possible in the third bit off Spahn, now 7-3, was Rip Repulski's ninth-inning home run. Don Cardwell lost as Braves tagged him for their second victory in a row.

NEWK ENDS SLUMP

Two walks and a single loaded the bases for Dodgers in the 10th, and when bonus kid Lindy McDaniel came into his windup with a 1-0 count on Roy Campanella, Gilliam let fly. Duke Newcombe won it, on his 31st birthday—two on his 41st pitch.

Breaking a three-game slump with his fifth victory and 11th straight over Cardinals since 1951.

Cubs, who had lost three in a row, swung for hit his against Ron Kline, who lost his ninth, and four relievers. Ernie Banks drove in four runs, two with his eighth homer, as Dick Drott won his fifth.

Walt Dropo, the amiable first baseman who is turning into a tiger, is heading for a big season with Chicago's league - leading White Sox.

One of the main figures in Thursday's brawl between the Sox and New York Yankees, Dropo fumed for hours after being tossed out of the game and in his first appearance Friday night he banged out a 6-for-6 homer in a 10-4' victory over Washington.

The homer was his eighth of the season, equalling his 1956 production, and earned him the regular first base job.

"I'm hot right now," snapped Dropo after a two-bagger. "I plan to stay that way. It's a lot easier to hit when you play every day."

HOLD THEIR LEAD

The win enabled White Sox to hold the league's fast-moving American League lead over New York who whipped Kansas City 5-1.

Detroit defeated Boston 5-4 to keep third place by half a game over Cleveland which swept twin from Baltimore 7-2.

Dropo started the season on the bench. Jim Rivera, an outfielder, was at first. He did a good job, batting .300 and proving a grand slammer in one game and when Rivera was forced to leave the lineup because of a death in the family, he stepped in and poled other grand slams.

The right handed slugger now is batting .272 and has 24 RBIs.

BEST RIGHT NOW

Manager Al Lopez is convinced he is the best left for the first base job for the time being even though Ted Gotreson is when the Sox go to Yankee Stadium to take advantage of the short right field fence.

Dick Donovan had Senators in his hip pocket for the first four. Lemon and Bob Usher homered to bring on relief Bob Porterfield who then gave up a homer to Eddie Yost before getting the final out. Winner Donovan is now 5-2 with 11th, giving up four runs in the first inning. Sox bagged it with six in the fifth—three on Donovan's double.

WINS HIS FIFTH

Tom Sturdivant won his fifth for Yankees, giving up five of the As eight hits to Vic Power and Bob Cerv. Five runs in the fifth put it away for Yankees, with Mickey Mantle's 19th homer adding two runs in the eighth.

Boston ripped Duke Maas for three runs in the first inning, but the righthander then put Tigers into the lead with a two-run homer in the fifth. Jim Piersall's two jolters. Harvey Kuenn's seventh-inning homer and the catcher, giving Maas a 7-3 record.

Bobby Avila's three-run homer in the seventh nailed Mike Garcia's second victory and first complete game. Chi starts as the Cleveland righthander struck out eight in an eight-hitter. Dick Williams, leading the Indians by Orioles for Jim Busby earlier in the day, had three hits, one a home run. Busby was 9-for-5, and filed to Williams for the final out.

Junior Habs Will Not Play In Quebec Loop

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Hockey League was down to four teams Friday night after the first session of its annual meeting.

The new champion Quebec Aces have suspended operations for a year and Chicoutimi Sagueneens, who played a partial QHL schedule last season, decided to operate in amateur ranks next year.

President Marc Drouin of Aces said continued financial losses forced his club to suspend operations for a year.

"The receipts do not justify our continuing," he commented. "But the generous co-operation of the city of Quebec, particularly that of Mayor Wilfrid Hamel."

Sammy Pollock, general manager of Ottawa Canadiens who played last year in the Ontario Hockey League, the Eastern Senior A circuit and the QHL, said the team may play out of Ottawa and Hull in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior and Senior divisions.

Set for QHL play next season are Montreal Royals, Chicoutimi Sagueneens, Shawinigan Falls Cataracts and Trois - Rivieres Lions.

Don Johnson Has 2-Hitter For Maple Leafs

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Luke Easter, at 35 has been in baseball a long time and during his span in the majors and minors he's hit the long ball many times. But perhaps the one he will remember best is the drive he belted Friday night.

The sturdy 6-4, 235 pound first baseman became the first player in the 33 year history of the Buffalo stadium to drive a ball over the centrefield scoreboard in a blast that carried more than 500 feet—as Buffalo Bisons smothered Columbus Jets 11-4 in the second game of an International League doubleheader. Jets won the opener 2-1.

Elsewhere, Lynn Lovenguth's five-hitter gave Rochester Red Wings a 7-0 victory in the twilight game, Richmond Virginians bounced back in the nightcap with a 3-0 decision. Righthander Don Johnson pitched Toronto Maple Leafs to a 6-0 two hit verdict over Havana Sugar Kings.

WINNING DEBUT

And Montreal Royals playing under new manager Al Campanis crushed Miami Marlins 7-0.

Easter's tremendous clout, his 19th homer of the season, sparked a 7-hit Bull Ballo attack in the second game. Jerry Nolan, Buffalo starter, who got credit for the victory in relief of starter Ray Herbert, and Lou Ortiz also homered for Buffalo. Columbus' Ed Burtschy suffered the loss with the bases full and one down in the 8th inning of the second game to put down a final Buffalo uprising.

Danny Schell's bases loaded double in the 8th highlighted a three runs to provide the margin of victory for Richmond and lefty Jim Kite, who picked up his sixth triumph against three defeats, in the nightcap. Lovenguth allowed a walk a man, was behind on only two hitters, and faced only four in the opener. It was his fourth victory and second in three nights for Rochester.

PLAY FAST GAME

Maple Leafs and Sugar Kings played their game in 1 hour and 55 minutes flat. Toronto's Toronto leftfielder Russ Rac had tremendous quite a night Johnson, who walked only one and struck out two while earning his fifth victory against 3 defeats. Johnson's only a single to catcher Sergio Garcia in the third and double play to Daniel Morejon in the seventh. Rac enjoyed a perfect four for four day, including two doubles, a single and home run, while driving in two runs.

Campanis took over as manager of Montreal when Greg Mulleavy resigned Friday. Southpaw Jackie Collum and catcher Al Ronning sparked Royals' victory. Ronning who was behind the plate because John Rosebero was called up to be pinch hitter for special permission to travel to Bulgaria for an official meeting of the 49 - nation sport group he heads.

The department informed Brundage it will not release its seven-year-old ban on travel to Communist-dominated Bulgaria.

TORONTO (CP) — Amiable Murray Tucker, practically ignored by the gallery, methodically toured Scarboro Golf Club Friday to score a surprise victory in the second annual Ontario Professional Golfers Association championship.

The Toronto Rosedale pro shot rounds of 74 and 71 for a three-over-par 145 to win the Tuxedo Trophy and $700 of the $3,500 in prize money.

While close to 100 fans followed a threesome including pre-tournament favorite and defending champion Al Balding of Toronto and Bigwin Inn, Tucker went calmly about the job of battling the high winds. No more than 10 persons followed Tucker's group which included Lou Cumming of Toronto Golf and Country Club and Bob Burns of Ridgeway Cherry Hill.

With the tees well back and the weather playing havoc with drives, only two players, Tucker and Joe Noble of Toronto Thornhill, were able to match or better the par-71 on the 6,436 - yard course.

Noble, with 76-70—146, including the only sub-par round fired by the 57 entries, finished in a second-place tie with Scarboro's Ken Jacobs who had a pair of 73s. Each earned $450.

Noble, in beating par during the afternoon round, eagled the par-four 286-yard 15th with a pretty 85-yard wedge shot.

BIRDIE DID IT

Tucker, among the leaders after the morning round, said he knew he had the tournament wrapped up when he birdied the par-four 362-yard 17th. He decided to play the par-four 292-yard 18th cautiously and was on the green in three, climaxing the day on a 10 foot putt before sinking the next one for a one-over-par five.

George Clifton, 40, of Toronto Maple Downs earned $300 for fourth place with 73-75—148.

Tied for fifth at 149 were Ray Rannard, Hamilton Dundas Valley, 77-72; Gordon DeLaat, Toronto Weston, 75-73, and home pro Bob Gray, 76-73. Each won $250.

In eighth spot at 150 were four players—Canadian PGA champion Balding, 74-76; Hal Butler, Oshawa, 73-77; Cumming, 72-78, and Archie Grimsditch, Hamilton Glendale, who shared the first-round lead with the 50-year-old Cumming, 72-78. Each—got $160.

As eighth-place playoff was necessary since the top eight play in an interprovincial match at Montreal Wentworth June 23 against a Quebec team.

Grimsditch won the playoff after three holes of play with Cumming and Butler. Balding, due to appear at the Motor City Open in Flint, Mich., on the same date as the interprovincial match, passed up the playoff.

LEGEND OF THE BAT

A chief's son, escaping from tribal enemies, asked help of the animals.

A nearby field mouse climbed the tree sheltering the boy and gnawed down branches to conceal him. He escaped his enemies and the Good Spirits rewarded the field mouse by giving him wings—hence the origin of the bat.

Canadian Light-Heavyweight Surprises Experts by Getting Draw With Tony Anthony

NEW YORK (CP)—Tony Anthony, Canadian light-heavyweight champion, was given little chance of lasting the 10-round distance with Yvon Durelle, but he not only went the full route with the New Brunswicker but actually had the better of the early rounds before tiring slightly in the middle stanzas. He finished the fight strong and appeared to have a slight edge on points when the bout was declared a draw.

The unofficial tallies of Dale Shaw, referee, and judges Harry Lenny and Al Berger gave Durelle seven rounds and eight points, Anthony seven rounds and seven points and Anthony's manager Jack Hurley nine in the bout.

Durelle was easy to hit early in the fight all the way, driving his highly respected left hand into Anthony's face with monotonous regularity and clouting the latter's nose on occasion. But in the second after a taunting fight by the boxer.

Durelle weighed 174½, 1½ pounds over the light-heavyweight limit, but Anthony agreed to make the fight to waive the stipulation. The Young New Yorker weighed 174½.

Durelle went down in the sixth round when his handlers protested he should have been called a low blow. The ground of a split second when referee Shaw gave him the benefit of the doubt promptly.

Durelle and Anthony signed to meet carrying the fight to Anthony who two months ago dished out first-rankings notice with a third-round knockout of Chuck Spieser.

Anthony looked little like the sharp-punching artist who dropped Spieser without trouble at Rio Durelle's bull-like rushes kept him off balance.

His best round was the third when he caught Durelle with a right to the head and his corner let the left eye with which Durelle was having trouble seeing clearly. Anthony's left eye was closed at the end of the fight.

Marines Defeat Trenton Jrs. 6-1; Shoemen Hand Madoc 5th Setback

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Turning in perhaps their best team effort of the season, Belleville Gwyn's Marines handed the Trenton Legion juniors a 6-1 setback at the Ski and D. softball game at CNRAA Park last evening.

Excellent pitching by Tommy Thompson, a combined batting attack and good fielding told the story.

Wayne Boyyy's three-run homer in the big inning was good for victory but the Marines added one in the fourth and a pair in the eighth. Trenton got their one run in the seventh uneared. Thompson gave some record-ing him the shutout.

Thompson, twirling his usual deceptive game, fanned five batters, getting one on strikes.

The Juniors ran into trouble with two out in the third. Paul Fenwick singled to left field, went to third and Cole added to his own worries by walking Keith Hendren. Boyyy then hit right for four long shots, two for hits through the infield and the long drive down the third base line for a homer to open the 3-0 lead.

John Green smashed a clothesline double in the fourth and scored lately when Gary Goyer bloooped a two-bagger back of short. It was the first extra of the campaign.

Trenton cut the margin with one in the seventh. Howard Cole tripled with two out and scored when Thompson threw the ball ground ball back to the box. The Marines' counter-attack started in the eighth but his mates played perfect ball afield.

Gerry Goyer, Green, Green walked and Bob Brooks lined a single to centre field. Green scored the outfielder booting the ball to also allow Green to score and Brooks to take third.

First sacker Wayne Boyyy had his batters, as they garnered two othes well hit balls in a good night with the stick. Gary Goyer also went two-for-three with a double and single while John Green banged a double. Singles went to Gerry Goyer, Paul Russell, Thompson and Brooks.

Don Wilman poked a brace of singles in the Marines' offensive attack, Howard Cole contributing a long triple. Bob Burns, Bourg Alexander and Gerry Drake also hit safely.

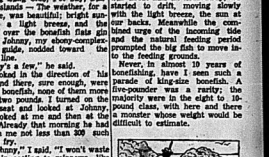
Ottawa Boy May Be Kicker For Argonauts



TORONTO (CP)—A six-footer from Ottawa who trotted out with the Argonauts last season may get the kicking job with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League next season.

Dave Murphy, who used to do some kicking for Ottawa St. Patrick's College, tried out as a halfback with the Roughriders because he couldn't see any point in attempting to beat out Avatus Stone for punting chores.

One of 23 Canadians who turned out at a kicking clinic run by Teddy Morris, Argos' Canadian talent scout, this week, Murphy put on a good display and is in line for further consideration.

Other promising candidates include Tom Harris from Sarnia Intermediates and Stan Waychiuk of Niagara Falls.

Sad Story of Three Lost Fish

For once in my life I ignored my high-pounced, concentrating on the large fish. The first one a sure second-breaker, took the fly solidly and headed off across the flat, only to foul the leader on a piece of floating wood and break off. He stopped while I repaired the damage and put on a new fly. He had me hooked and 50 yards until Johnny grunted and pointed an eloquent index finger. I looked where he pointed and there, coming up a little swash, were two beauties. One was good and the two big fish raced for it. The winner, proud of his catch, gulped the fly right down into the shell-grinders in his throat and I raised my rod and lightened, only to have the fly come back to me with the hook broken off cleanly at the bend.

Once more I repaired the damage with a new fly, the while pondering on the brand of misfortune that would cause a man to lose two certain record-breakers in one day. Again we resumed our drift down the flat. Suddenly Johnny whispered "Look! Look!" pointing to the lake.

There, in water that couldn't have been more than a foot deep, was a huge pickerel. I have had teen us but I cast to them anyway. Sometimes I succeed in doing things and these were no exceptions. As the fly approached them, they moved away. Then they both turned, raced for the fly, and one grabbed it. With that they were away again, speeding up the shore line. The fish with the fly hooked himself.

Instead of heading for deep water, the fish I had hooked followed his partner up the shore-line, moving in shallow water. Fish that passed over a rocky point and I felt the line scrape on the rocks. Then they raced to open water. I did what I could, giving the fish loose line, but I was afraid to put on a halt. I then jammed between two rocks, and swept went another breaker-leader with fly, leader, and part of the line.

Then, as though that were a signal, the sun went under a cloud, the breeze changed and a gale, from the heavens opened to release another tropical downpour. Sadly I reeled in the line. The fish-like—what was left of it.

Years ago I went a little boy, my mother told me that some days would be like that. Nothing to do but accept them as calmly as possible and make the best of them. Maybe I thought that she contemplated the loss of three sure record-busters in the short space of two hours. Perhaps it is difficult to greet such vast ill-fortune complacently.

Contenders in Both Leagues Hoping to Swing Big Deal

NEW YORK (CP)—The deadline for major league trading is midnight tonight and most of the contenders in both leagues still are hoping to swing a deal that might strengthen them.

The one exception is Chicago White Sox general manager who decided to go with what they have.

The most desperate teams are Milwaukee Braves and Cincinnati Redlegs, who fear they won't be able to fight off Brooklyn Dodgers, St. Louis Cardinals or Philadelphia's latest bonus baby, Robin Roberts, for the National League pennant.

Braves still hope to get Red Schoendienst, New York Giants' talented second baseman. Braves officials have been talking to Giants all week.

Redlegs big need is a pitcher, preferably two, are working feverishly on it.

Ruben Gomez is the pawn. Redlegs flirt themselves in the same position as Braves where Giants are concerned. Last winter, Braves could have had Schoendienst. Now the price tag is far higher than two ago. Redlegs could have had Gomez for second string catcher Stan Burgess. Both these things are different.

Yanks have been after a power hitter all repotedly have their eyes on Harry Simpson of Kansas City. They probably would be willing to give up Billy Martin for him.

Most of Friday's activity concerned Baltimore Orioles, who: 1. Sent Outfielder Jim Fridley (3-6) to Boston for handyman Billy Goodman, 31, and adding the batting despite a lifetime .309 batting average.

2. Bought outfielder Dick Williams (.234) to Cleveland Indians, for outfielder Jim Busby (.189 and Bob Chakales (6-7).

3. Bought pitcher Ken Lehman from Cleveland Indians on waivers, probably more than the $10,000 price. Lehman has no record this year.

Amateur and Professional Pacing Field in U.S. Open

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A pair of darkhorses, amateur Billy Joe Patton and professional Dick Mayer, passed a surviving field of 58 today into the 36-hole stretch drive of the topsy-turvy 97th National Open golf championship.

The tawny Mayer, not figured too highly in pre-tourney talk, were the only ones able to crack the Inverness Club's 6,919-yard par 70 layer. They shot identical 70-68—138 scores to take a two-stroke edge and match the tournament's 54-hole record set by Sam Snead in 1946.

Barking at their heels with par 72 layer was Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., winner of the Masters who fired a brilliant 69 to overcome gold than anyone else this year ($59,000), and Ken Venturi of San Francisco, who had been a pro less than a year.

Two of three Canadians entered were still in the running.

150 OR BETTER

players shooting 150 and better qualified for the double - round final.

Among them were Gerry Kesterking of Toronto, 74-77—151, and Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., with 71-78—147. The other Canadian competitor, Rudy Pilon of Windsor, was over the qualifying mark with 80-75—155.

Billy Joe Morgantown, N.C., and Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., had the first and fourth first round leaders, Jimmy Demaret and Ford, respectively, failed to match their opening 68s.

Demaret skidded to 73, while Harbert soared to 76 in the second round. Jimmy slipped to a fifth-place tie with Ben Wininger of Odessa, Tex., at 141, and Harbert to a 21st place deadlock at 147.

The cutoff caught some highly rated talent. Among the missing were such tournament-hardened stalwarts as Ed Furgol, 1954 champion, and Ted Kroll, who piled up 76-76—152 rounds gained in one year. A year ago they tied for fourth in the open.

Favored Attica Wins Feature At Belmont A

NEW YORK (CP)—Hal Price Headley's four-year-old Attica was close to a record in winning the $18,000 Carleton Burke Belmont Park Stakes.

Willie Shoemaker rode Attica to victory in 1:42 3-5, four-fifths off the track record. Next Day was second, five lengths in front of Levee.

As the solid favorite with the crowd of 16,129, Attica paid $3.80 for $2.00.

Mortgage registered by 3 ½ lengths to take down the $6,990 share of the purse. Carafer was second, seven lengths before Pine Shot. The winner paid $24.40 straight.

Grandpa Johnny- Longden, who is hunting another great season as a rider, piloted Solid Rae to victory Hollywood Park in the $12,000 California Newspaper Publishers Association Handicap.

The 1 1-16-mile race was limited to fillies and mares. Solid Rae ran the distance in 1:42 3-5, which ran the distance in 1:42 3-5, beating Myrtle, with Beautillion getting the show.

Yukon Eric Reigns Supreme When Ref Ends Fritz's Dream

By GARRY ALEXANDER

You may be able to pull a lot of wool over referee Joe Golob's eyes but you can't wrestle him, but you this warning, don't ever throw Yukon Eric Fritz anywhere but the mat.

One Mr. Fritz Von Erich did exactly that at Memorial Arena last night and it cost him the main event. Another Eric, this one with Yukon for a last name, was awarded the third fall by disqualification. And just seconds after Mr. Eric was given the decision of victory over the prize of Alaska.

Yukon Eric, however, earned the victory anyway. He had things pretty much his own way throughout the bout and Referee Golob had little effect on the man who I walks like a bear.

Eash man had taken one fall and both were out for a quick rematch when Fritz Von Erich pondon me, shower. The Yukon latching on to Eric Fritz's flippers to get the third heat under way and heaved him into a ring post. Mr. Golob had a grip of the other Fritz per and ended up a referee for the German.

Golob was perturbed to no end. Eric was pinning down but the word was yet to come. Yukon charged, Golob stepped in between and Fritz leaped straight up and Yukon went under and through the ropes onto the floor.

GIVEN BIG CHANCE

This fall the opening German was his big chance. Yukon could hardly bet him around while Golob was on the earnest floor, so Fritz went about smashing somebody. Fumbled for a moment, he big boy back on each attempt to return.

Enter Mr. Golob again, yes Mrs.

Snodgrass, he's still with us, another Eric by tugging at his arm in a rather weak effort to keep the latter on the ropes and to allow your hero and mine to re-enter the ring, queue for two disqualifications and a fall (eventual).

Hitler, quicker than Elvis can burst into a knee-swivel, Fritz latches onto Golob and tosses him into the ringside seats, comes to the floor. That was it. According to the Big Ben of the Fritz Golob took 9½ seconds to climb to his feet and lift Yukon's arm, after the dazed condition had worn off.

See a friend down on the floor with Fritz applying the German curses, unpronounceable as well as unprintable.

Eric took the first fall in nine minutes when Fritz submitted under the power of an Alaskan bear hug. The crew-cut German would not give up and when Yukon left Eric got his dander up. He tried this in the opening minutes of the second fall but was catapulted him back into the ring via the top rope.

The Northern giant appeared to have match wrapped up several times but Fritz managed to escape from back-breakers, bear hugs and body slams to the mid-section chest. He evened the match at all fall each with a drop kick, body slam and shoulder press after eight minutes.

The tag-team bout, Baron Gattoni and Art Neilson vs Chris and John Tolos was one of the best bouts of the season here.

The match was declared a draw after thirty minutes and all three were packed with everything in London Majors Tie for First in Niagara League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Great Lakes-Niagara Baseball League is heading up the two-team race. Friday night London Majors moved into a first-place tie with Hamilton Beavers when they handed Brantford its fifth straight loss, dropping the winless Red Sox deeper into the league cellar.

Dave Kitchen and Dutch Perkins teamed up to toss a four-hitter and spark Majors to the 7-1 win.

At Niagara Falls, Chuck Foster with a homer, double and three singles led a 15-hit attack on three Falcon pitchers as North Tonawanda Isle Views defeated the Kerrins 17-11 in another Great Lakes-Niara game.

WIN FIRST

In the Nickel Belt Senior loop Sudbury Cubs won their first game behind the six-hit pitching of right-hander Alex Duncan — won their first game, and Timmins Combines Hedmen 6-1. A game between Creighton and Frood was postponed.

No games were played in the Ontario Intermediate League.

At Brantford, London broke a 4-4 tie with four runs in the eighth and added two more in the ninth on Don Mayes' inside-the-park homer.

Southpaw Kitchen walked the first Red Sox batter in the ninth and was replaced by Perkins who retired the side.

Dave Hamilton and Les Thomas had three hits apiece as the Majors collected 13 off four pitchers who went the route for Brantford. Gerry Coleman had a pair of singles for the losers.

"Forbidden Women" Tense Drama in New Film

The poignant story of three women who try to re-shape their lives after being trapped in a forbidden profession in Rome serves as the exciting and suspenseful plot in the highly dramatic Excelsior presentation "Angels of Darkness," scheduled for its first showing on Monday at the Park Theatre.

Linda Darnell and Anthony Quinn, Academy Award winner, two of Hollywood's favorite stars, top an important cast in this daring expose drama photographed on location in Rome and nearby provincial cities.

The script brings to life the torment and heartbreak endured by three women whose way of earning a livelihood makes them social outcasts. It also depicts their inner struggles which develop when they get a taste of freedom and make an attempt to escape from their lurid surroundings. Set against the vivid backgrounds of Rome, Linda Darnell portrays the cynical member of the trio who, knowing that she is trapped, in the end returns to the only home open to her.

Photographically, the new production is a triumph in artistry, realism and authenticity, with crowd scenes heightening the impact of the dramatic action.

Prominent in the fine supporting cast are Valentina Cortese and Lea Padovani. Another highlight of the picture is the stirring musical score which lends vivid emphasis to the action and movement of the plot.

First Television Series Start Filming on MGM Lot

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Well, I never thought I'd see the day!"

That sentiment was voiced by a movietown old-timer, and "the day" was when the first television series started filming on the MGM lot. This was complete surrender to the new medium.

MGM is taking the new era in stride. Said Bud Barry, head of MGM's TV operations: "We're in this business to stay."

The first foot in the door has been placed by the durable Thin Man, who has served the lot well since his arrival in 1934. Now The Thin Man emerges as a half-hour mystery show. Peter Lawford and Phyllis Kirk are playing the Nick and Nora Charles roles created by William Powell and Myrna Loy.

Oh, yes, Asta is aboard, too. But not the original fox terrier, of course—not even a relative. In fact, he's played by three different dogs with the same markings.

PLAN OTHER TV FILMS

The show is being filmed on a five-day week—two days' rehearsals, three days' shooting. If MGM can find enough such series, the old lot could be buzzing again.

"We intend to have several going," assured Barry. "No other studio is equipped to produce the quality we can."

Does he think MGM is getting into the field too late?

"Not at all," he replied. "The field is still wide open."

The next big project is a Min and Bill series. Also in the works: a Goodbye, Mr. Chips series, Northwest Passage, and several others.

This is part of the diversification program started by company president Joseph Vogel. It has resulted in $45,000,000 in sales of movies to TV, part interests in three stations and a TV commercial business estimated at $3,000,000 in the last year.

Offers Patterson $250,000 to Defend Title

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Boxing promoter Tommy Moyer says he has offered heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson $250,000 to defend his title in Portland sometime in September.

Moyer proposed Patterson meet either Eddie Machen or Pat McMurtry of Tacoma, Wash., who has confined his fighting to the Northwest. Machen is second ranked in the heavyweight division, behind Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

SPLIT WIDENS IN ARAB BANKS

King Saud of Saudi Arabia (right) greets Jordan's young King Hussein as Saud descends from his plane in Jordan's capital, Amman, for a visit and conference on the growing rift between Jordan and Egypt. Reports from the Mid-East indicated that relations between Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Libya, on the one hand, and Egypt on the other are becoming steadily more strained.

Syria's president Shukri El-Kuwatly, right, arrived in Cairo is greeted in the traditional Arab fashion— handshake, embrace and kiss—by Egytian President Gamal Adbel Nasser. Officials in Damascus said Mr. Al-Kuwatly made the trip to get a medical checkup in Alexandria but with King Ibn Saud visiting Jordan, it did not take Arabs long to see political significance in Kuwatly's visit.

FISHING WAS BETTER AT THE POLLS

Before assuming the duties of the leader of the strongest party in the House of Commons, John Diefenbaker took a day off for fishing in Lac La Ronge, his favorite fishing spot in Saskatchewan. He caught seven pike, but called it a disappointing day. Usually, he said, more and bigger fish can be hooked. He cut his trip short to go to Ottawa.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was reeding the movie page in the paper, saying to pop, Claude Dautry and Molly Picon in have only been married 3 months and they've already decided to go their separate ways. I knew it couldn't last, she said, now pop said, How did you know?

Because it seemed just too perfect, ma said, and I said, G, suppose I ever get stuck on some gerl and she garantees it was love at first sight so I agree to marry her, how will I know it will last more than 3 months?

If I know anything about men whatever happens will be your own fault, ma said, and pop said, If I know anything about women, the high heels will be on the other foot. I can tell even exactly how it is going to bust up, he said.

Oh my, wisdom speeks, ma said, and pop said, You'll fall in love with her because she's so exarmingly different. In the first place, instead of disguizing her face with paint and powder, she has sense enough to realize that nature has done a better job than she could do for herself. And in the 2nd place she looks so bewitching in slacks that instead of waatting hours fussing about clothes she improves the time learning to make the best lemmond merrang pies in recorded history, because she thinks the cutest man in the world is your face herried in a lemffon merrang pie, he said. G, then what happens? I said, and pop said, Her entire carcter changes immeedily—her marriage. She does not seem to realize that a face without makeup is a face without glammer, and nature never intended women for slacks, and there's more to a merr than lemmon merrang pie, he said.

Oh hush and nonsense, ma said. Let him find out himself to his sorrow. That's the only way, she said.

Which it probably is.

He said the language of the Spirit transcends all the tongues of nations, and can be understood. A church that is really out going will grow, but when it lives only for itself will die. "We today must stand up to this challenge, and be prepared to follow the master's command, "Go ye into all the world."

GOVT. RELEASES

Some of the recommended rates represent increases, others decreases They would affect scores of imports from the U.S.

Elimination of drawbacks would mean an importer would not get a refund of the duty on purchases of steel for specific purposes covered by regulations.

Many duty-free concessions on steels imported for use in the manufacture of such items as cooking and heating equipment would be withdrawn, but not on imports for farm equipment and machinery.

The board also proposed grouping many separate tariff items under a single heading, and a switch from specific dollars-and - cents rates of duty to a percentage-of value rate.

LOOKING AHEAD

Officials said the change in ratings would help prevent a disappearance of tariff protection when steel prices in the U.S. go up.

Among the tariff changes are:

1. A 15-per-cent duty on angles, beams and other steel shapes, instead of $3-87 a ton on U.S. and other most-favored - nation imports. It would mean a tariff of $7 a ton at current prices.

2. The specialty steel rate of $5 and $10 a ton on imports from Britain and the U.S., respectively would be dropped.

3. The duty on railway rails would be increased to five per cent or about $7 on British imports and to 10 per cent or $14 a ton on U.S. and other most-favored-nation imports.

On pipe and tube imports, the tariff board recommended tariffs of 12 ½ per cent for British preferential goods; 22 ½ per cent for most-favored-nations imports and 30 per cent for imports from other sources.

The board proposed new tariffs of five per cent British preferential 7 ½ per cent most-favored-nation and 20 per cent on all others for casing and tubing used in gas and oil wells.

STUDY FREIGHT EFFECT

The board also investigated certain aspects of the steel industry such as the impact of freight charges.

On freight rates, it said:

"In the chief steel-consuming markets in Ontario, Quebec and Quebec, favorable freight differentials provide incidental protection to the products of the steel company of Canada (Sault Ste. Marie) and Dominion Foundries and Steel Limited (Hamilton) except in the Windsor area. The degree to which favorable freight differentials assist these producers varies by areas and by products. . .

"For Algoma, freight differentials more often prove a handicap than a help."

In its March 14 report on the waterproof footwear and rubber-soled canvas footwear industry, the board said Canadian consumers seem satisfied with the foreign product both as to quality and price. It comes from Hong Kong, British, India, the United States, Japan and Czechoslovakia.

It recommended no change in the tariff of 20 per cent British preferential, 27 ½ most-favored-nation and 40 per cent general.

Haiti Crowds Battle Troops, Fifty Killed

Mobs Protest Ouster Of Idol, Daniel Fignole

PORT AU PRINCE (AP) — At least 50 persons are dead and 200 wounded after a weekend of violence in Haiti. Still more disorders were in prospect.

The deaths came in official condition, the death toll from Saturday night's carnage may reach well over 100. Angry mobs went on an orgy of looting, burning and stoning in protest over the army's ouster of their idol, provisional president Daniel Fignole. Troops stopped it with sub-machine gun fire.

ENTHUSIASM DAMPENED

The workers from Port au Prince's slums threatened another burst of violence Sunday night. But a clear-cut lashed this unhappy Negro republic in the afternoon, turning the capital's muddy streets into swirling streams two to three feet deep.

The Haitian Prime cable office closed at 6:30 p.m., cutting communication with the outside world.

Fignole, a fiery, fat-cheeked leader and professor of mathematics, ruled New York Saturday night with his wife after being bundled aboard a plane by the army. But his supporters here refused to believe assurances that he would not return to power.

Saturday night's violence was touched off by persistent rumors that Fignole had been executed.

The mobs set fire to eight buildings.

Groups of workers stood stop buildings in the slum quarter, hurling stones at the army patrols. Troops and police retaliated with fusillades of machine-gun fire into the crowds and the slum buildings.

Killed in Crash

ST. GEORGES DE BEAUCE (CP)—One person was killed Sunday and two others were injured in a car crash that caught fire after its back and burned during the collision.

Dead is Louis Cliche, 20. Badly burned and in serious condition in the Cliche Thetford hospital is Mrs. third passenger, Jean Luc Rancourt, 28, escaped injury. All are from this community 90 miles south of Quebec City.

Mrs. Dominique Lebrun, 24, suffered burns on his back and shoulders as he tried to help Cliche and others from the burning wreckage. A native of France, Mr. Lebrun lives in St. St. Georges only four days ago.

Senate Debates U.S. Membership In Atomic Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Senate opens debate today on whether to approve U.S. membership in the new international atomic energy agency. A victory for President Eisenhower apparently was assured.
